THREE STATE ISSUES N

formed has the temperance sentiment State Finances, State Schools and State Good Roads Law.

Republicans, While Impressed With the Importance of the National Phases of the Campaign, Are Ready to Meet Opponents On Any Ground. [Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 .- The Democrats who have been complaining because the Republicans of Pennsylvania are determined to impress upon the voters of the commonwealth the influence which a large Republican majority in this state next month will have upon publie sentiment for the coming national election demand that "state issues" be discussed in the present canvass.

The Republican party managers last week announced that they were quite ready to meet the Democracy upon any so-called "state issue," and they now call upon the Democrats to direct public attention to the condition of the state finances as the most important state issue that can be considered at this time.

The Republican spellbinders point to the report of the state treasurer, made at the end of the month of September showing a balance of $13,939,191,34 in the general fund of the state treasury, with every dollar of this money absolutely protected and drawing interest under the reform legislation passed by a Republican general assembly.

GOOD FINANCE AN ISSUE.

This vast sum, available for state purposes, the public schools and the charities and other laudable objects. represents in a large measure the collection of taxes from corporations. A considerable portion of this money had to be collected by suits against delinquent corporations through the attorney general and the auditor general of the state, both good Republicans.

Republicans of this state have for years pointed with pride to the fact that Pennsylvania has never lost a dollar through any Republican official and that today, as the result of continued Republican administration, her financial condition is better than that of any other state in the union.

That she has any public debt whatever is due entirely to the fact that the bonds representing the same are not due and cannot be called in. There is today in hand specially available for the payment of this public debt a sum considerably more than required to meet this obligation. Pennsylvania is therefore "out of hand to her credit.

Attempts have been made by the Democrats to create the impression that the large balance in the state treasury is being held from its natural channol. Such is not the case. All appropriations made by the last legislature are being paid promptly and as soon as other payments shall become due they will be met with the same prompt-

The revenues of the state have been extraordinarily large during the last two or three years. It is not generally known, but it is a fact, that under the laws of this state the greater the prosperity of the business interests of the commonwealth the greater will be the income to the state treasury.

Everything has been booming recently and the revenues of the state #### have gone up accordingly.

GOOD SCHOOLS AN ISSUE. The assured revenues of the next two years are sufficient to mect all the appropriations made by the last legislature and to pay for the magnificent state capitol now under construction and leave a balance of several millions in the state treasury.

In the expenditures provided for during the next two years there has been allotted to the public schools the sum of $11,000,000, which is far greater than the appropriation of any other state in the union for a like purpose, and there is a new appropriation of $1,000,000 for public roads to be expended under the direction of the newly created state highway department, which is destined to give Pennsylvania the best system of good pub-

e roads in the country.

GOOD ROADS AN ISSUE. This "good roads" legislation presents another "state issue" to which the attention of the Democrats eager for a "state issue" campaign is called. The Republican party stands for this legislation passed at the recent session of the general assembly, which is destined to give a fixed and well considered policy for the betterment of the roads and the highways of the state, so that the means of transportation between the farm and the neighboring market may be improved. As soon as the provisions of the new good roads law shall become better known it is predicted that it will increase in popular favor and there will be a demand for its enforcement with additional appropriations, which will come at the next session of the regislature in accordance with the plans of its Republican advocates and cham-

Cause of Lockjaw. Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exists plentifully in stre-t dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin, as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs given to all known creditors and other may be destroyed and all danger of lookaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumo nia. It is also a certain cure for croup, Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take, When all of these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it.
