Oil market closed at $1.71. Oil and gas leases at this office. Hopkins sells the Douglas shoes it. The price of oil still has an upward tendency, having now reached the $1.71 mark, and the $2.00 figure is confidently expected before the end of the year.

Following is the list of letters lying unclaimed for in the post office at Tionesta, Pa., for the week ending Oct. 21, 1903: Mr. C. E. Holmberg, D. S. Knox, P.M. New dress goods at our store this week. All the new things in Beaver cloth, Zebalines, Kersays, Broadcloth, etc. We are proud of this showing. Heath & Felt.

The Strootman shoe for ladies, misses and children takes the lead for wear, comfort and perfect fit. Get a pair and you will be satisfied. Hopkins, sole dealer in Tionesta.

C. M. Arner offers his fine driving horse for sale, and any one wishing a nice family horse, with good speed and yet gentle and easily handled, should see Mr. Arner at once.

As usual the White Star Grocery will keep a supply of guns for rent during the hunting season, and will be prepared to fit you out with the best of ammunition for the occasion at reasonable cost.

The schools are closed this week on account of the teachers' institute which is going on at Marienville, and the pupils are enjoying a holiday, which they seem to be appreciating to the fullest extent.

The Forest County Poultry and Pet Stock Association will hold its second annual exhibition in Tionesta on the 22d, 23d, 24th, 25th and 26th of December. Write to F. A. Keller, Secretary, for particulars.

Hurry up orders for trimming are given prompt attention at the Joyce millinery, and they also sell feathers, flowers and ribbons to those who desire to do their own trimming. Everything sold at Joyce's is guaranteed a la mode.

Jury Commissioners Sibble and Wagner, with their clerk, J. H. Robertson, and Sheriff Nobilt, drew a jury for the November term of court last Saturday, and the result of their picking will be found in the REPUBLICAN today.

Young people who desire an education to fit them for business or for the profession of teaching will find the Clarion State Normal School exactly suited to their needs. The instruction is thorough and the expenses are very low.

Chiquita, the smallest woman in the world and the wife of Anthony Woecner, of Erie, lies at the point of death at St. Vincent's hospital, Erie, as the result of giving birth to a son the latter part of the week and she is now in a precarious condition.

Hadn't you better take advantage of the REPUBLICAN's clubbing rate with the New York Tribune Farmer? Twenty five cents additional to your regular subscription brings this great farm journal to you every week for one year. Both old and new subscribers get the benefit of the offer.

Our holidays next year will be two days later in the week than this year on account of there being twenty-nine days in February in 1904—a leap year. The years divisible by four except the century years are all leap years. As 1900 was a century year, we have had no leap year since 1896—and well the girls know it.

Bishop Fallon says that the church social is a matrimonial agency in disguise. We are not quite sure whether this is said in approval or condemnation of the institution. Certainly if young men and maidens get happily mated at the church social and the clergy get the contingent marriage fee it ought not to be regarded as a bad thing.—Ex.

A teacher in one of the public schools of Indianapolis recently in a desire to test the powers of composition existing in a class of eight-year-olds, requested that three sentences be written, each to contain one of the three words, "bees," "boys," and "bear." A small girl laboriously concocted the following sentence: "Bees bees bare when they go in swimming."

It has been published broadcast that Mrs. Dowie, wife of Dowie the Zionite, aged and the three times, had been robbed of $1500 worth of diamonds on the arrival of the "Restoration" army in New York. The question that will strike the average sinner as most peculiar is "what was a great prophet's wife doing with so much jewelry about her person?"

Several large delegations of teachers from this end of the line were early on the way Monday morning to the institute at Marienville. It so happens that the roads are in a rather bad condition at this time of year, but the plucky pedagogues are not easily dismayed by a little bad weather, and are doubtless enjoying the outing in a good degree.

Our townsman, James Canfield, is at the head of a company that has taken a lease of nearly 300 hundred acres in Victory and Sandycreek townships, Venango county, and will proceed to operate the same without delay. The lease is adjacent to some good territory, and it is believed the venture will turn out all right, all of which would be gratifying to Jim's friends hereabouts.

This is the time of the year that merchants are stocking up for the winter's trade, and purchasers are looking around for the best bargains obtainable. A word to the buyer, if you will look over the "ads" in this paper it will be of material benefit to you. All of our advertisers are strictly reliable and carry nothing in their line but the best in the market at the lowest possible prices.

Although there has been no languishing in society affairs in this community during the past season that we have observed, yet it might not be out of place perhaps to suggest an old fashioned corn husking bee to vary the monotony. A function of this sort, with pumpkin pie accompaniment, would bring back recollections of yore to the mind, besides teaching the young people the art of real fun-making as it used to be.

H. C. Allen, for upward of twenty years city passenger and ticket agent for the Nickel Plate railroad at Erie, has resigned his position. Mr. Allen is well known in this county, having booked many passengers from this section on his popular excursions to the far west, and his retirement will be generally regretted by those who have been the recipients of his uniform courtesy. He is succeeded by A. C. Showalter, of Dunkirk.

The Lady Macabees of this place gave a fine banquet at the home of Mrs. G. T. Anderson last Wednesday evening, in honor of a class of new members that had recently united with the Tent. An elegant time was had, with many good things to eat. The entertainment consisted of games, social chat, and general merry-making until the "wee small hours" gave warning that it was time for the happy throng to disperse.

The Rev. R. W. Hingworth will be publicly installed as pastor of the Presbyterian church in Tionesta on Thursday evening next at 7:30. Rev. S. F. Marks of Tidicut will preach the sermon; Rev. H. F. Earsman of Edenburg will charge the people, and Rev. Dr. Conway of Brookville will preside and propose the constitutional questions. The public is invited to attend the installation exercises and hear the addresses which will be delivered on the occasion.

A weather sharp predicts an open winter and says Christmas will be as warm as any day this week has been. He bases his opinion on the fact that which hazel is in blossom, which he claims to be an infallible sign. Time alone will determine this.—Ex. Yes, then there are the hornets' nests, which are built high up on the branches of saplings, a dead sure sign of a mild winter. But then there is the goose bone to be reckoned with, and the corn husk too, by the way. We'll all know more about it along sometime next April.

We wonder if all our Republican friends realize that an election will take place in this great big prosperous State in less than two weeks from this day? Whether they have thought much about it or not it is a fact nevertheless, and it is important that they take a serious thought over the matter, to the end that every one so shapes his affairs as to get out and cast a ballot. There has been no great fuss about the election this year, and it is just as well that there hasn't been, but that doesn't lessen a man's duty to his party in the least. Don't forget to vote.

The Blizzard advocates the enactment of a curfew ordinance for Oil City. There is no question about such a law being a good thing for any community in which children are allowed the freedom of the streets at all hours of the night. In Tionesta the ordinance has been in force for four or five years, and we don't believe any parent or citizen would care to see it abrogated. After the ringing of the bell there is comparative quiet, and the sight of a boy or girl under sixteen years of age, unattended by some older member of the family, is almost unheard of. The curfew properly enforced is all right.

The gaming season was auspiciously opened on the 15th inst., about half the population of the town, more or less, turning out with guns, dogs, and the attendant concomitants, but the amount of game brought in can hardly be said to have been commensurate with the expense attending the occasion. On the day following the opening our worthy Sheriff hid himself to the woods for a few hours, and came back with five nice grouse, plump and fat, dangling at his belt. Mr. Nobilt had no dog, was not acquainted with the lay of the ground, and makes no claim to any particular expertness with a shot gun. But such is luck.

The main excitement in the West End is over a school boy who, his parents, claim, was unjustly and wrongfully punished being tied to a chair. The kid's relatives don't sing, "Blest be the tie that binds," very heartily. But after the smoke has cleared it will be found probably, that the pupil wasn't punished enough. The old-fashioned rule is best. When a boy is punished in school give him another at home. We have a good deal of sympathy for a woman who is trying to govern a lot of untamed savages and teaching them a little sense, when they run wild at home and are sent to school mainly to get them out of the way.—Warren Mail.

The following from the Philadelphia North American will be of interest to dealers hereabouts: "In reference to an order issued to cigar dealers Oct. 1st, in which they were told that to fully comply with the internal revenue laws they must either break up empty cigar boxes or wash off the revenue stamps. Internal Revenue collector McCoch yesterday received a ruling from United States Internal Revenue Commissioner Yerkes in which he says that to meet the stamp on empty cigar boxes the stamp must be scratched on three sides. Heretofore it has been the custom when a box was empty of the cigars to simply scratch the stamp across the top of the box."

At Kittanning on Tuesday afternoon of last week the annual meeting of the Allegheny River Boatmen's Association was held with a large attendance. Burgess Clark delivered the address of welcome and A. J. Ivory of Ford City responded. The following officers were elected: President, A. G. Mahaffy, of Tarentum; First Vice President, W. K. Hudson; Second Vice President, C. H. Fry; Secretary, Hugh Simons; Treasurer, D. G. Fry. Resolutions were adopted in which the boatmen approved the actions of the Allegheny River Improvement Association, and commended the raising of all bridges along the river, and urged that the slack-watering be continued. The matter of establishing a funeral fund was continued until the next meeting. Tarentum was the place selected for holding the session in October, 1904.

May Confess. A dispatch from Mayville states that Dr. Chapin, charged with a criminal operation on the person of Miss Eva Confer, who died at Findley Lake last week, is expected to make a full confession and commend himself to the mercy of the court. It is claimed that Mrs. Myron C. Gallup, proprietress of the boarding house where Miss Confer had roomed, has confessed to the operation and stated that it was performed in her presence. She says that Miss Confer failed to rally and died almost immediately.—Titusville Herald.

A Pleasant Occasion. The Ladies of Hickory Hive gave a banquet on Saturday evening last, to which the Ladies of Nebraska Hive, their Sir Knights and sweet hearts were invited. The invitation was graciously accepted and, remembering the good time we had just one year ago last Saturday night, forty-one of us prepared for the occasion, arranging for a special train on the S. & T. railroad to Ross Run, and from thence were taken over the mountain by one of Mr. Wheeler's locomotives attached to one of the "side door palaces," arriving at Hickory in good time, where we were royally entertained. We expected some sort of surprise, and were not disappointed when we arrived at the hall. After a general handshaking the assembly was called to order by the Commander. Remarks were called for from Commander Goodwin of Nebraska, who spoke in the interest of the order, after which Sir Knight J. M. Fox of the visiting delegation was called on, who spoke encouragingly of the growth of the order at his home. He said he had the most of his speech in his hat, and had lost the hat on the way over. Sir Knights Gayley, Haugh and Hunter also responded to calls for remarks, after which Sir Knight Gorman of Hickory was called on and responded with a nice speech. We were then escorted to the dining room, where we found the tables groaning under the weight of good things, which were stowed away with a relish. After visiting a short time the train was ordered out and we started back over the mountain.

The Ladies and Sir Knights, one and all, declare they never had a pleasanter time, and all were loud in their praise of the Sir Knights and Lady Bess of Hickory. We wish also to thank the superintendents and train men of the two railroads for their kindness. ONE OF THEM.

Better Than Pills. The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle and so agreeable that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and aid the digestion. For sale at 25 cents per bottle by Dr. J. C. Dunn.

The groom is one of Tionesta township's prosperous farmers and has a pleasantly located home in which to install his happy bride. The REPUBLICAN joins the many friends of the young couple in this section in extending congratulations.

RECENT DEATHS.

CHARLES LEON CLARK. Charles Leon Clark, only son of Joseph and Sadie Hopkins Clark, was born May 30, 1889, and died October 18, 1903. Again the mystic curtain has receded and another of our dear friends has solved the mystery. The deep sense of loss makes a sorrow heavy to be borne. The heart is sad, and the world seems darker as we assume the duties of life. But in the darkest hour the star of hope shines brightest, and

"Tis sweet, as year by year we lose Friends out of sight, to muse How grows in Paradise our store," for Leon has entered into rest. Fourteen brief years of life and love and beauty were all that were needed to leave a precious memory. And surely, as we remember that "to live in hearts we leave behind is not to die," the influence of the young life that has so recently left us, will linger, like the sweet fragrance of the rose, as long as the petals of memory remain with all who knew our young friend.

No one knew Leon but to love and honor and respect the little gentleman. No one was jealous of another's affection for him, for he was too unselfish and loving in his disposition to antagonize a rivalry. It falls to the lot of few to be so rich in friendship as was Leon. It seemed that everybody loved him as we saw the multitudinous pause before the bier and wipe away the tears of sorrow that stole down the cheek. His friends were legion, and were found among all classes and conditions of mankind, all of whom had some word to speak of kindness shown. His young life was most exemplary, not only in the home, but in the school, on the playground and in all the social relations of life. The secret of this beauty was his supreme trust in God. It helped him to bear the intense suffering of his last illness with the patience and fortitude of a true Christian soldier.

When his suffering had passed beyond the skill of his physicians, his mother (whose mission as such has been all that implies the holy name of mother) directed him to the Great Physician as the only one who could help him, to whom he replied, "I am, mamma, I am trusting the dear Jesus, with all my heart, with all my soul, with all my strength and with all my mind." And with this beautiful testimony he "fell asleep."

His "going home" is a heavy loss to his parents, and we do not exaggerate when we say to the entire neighborhood, He is missed in the church, the Sabbath school and the Christian Endeavor Society whose services he never missed when well and strong. And the many beautiful floral offerings that almost filled the room in which he lay in state on Sabbath last, bore a silent testimony to the love and worth of his young life.

Funeral services were held at the house on Sabbath afternoon at 2 o'clock, and were beautifully conducted by Rev. Mr. Illingworth of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Felt. Mr. Illingworth spoke feelingly of the courtesy and manliness of the boy who had won a place in the hearts of all who knew him. The interment was in Riverside cemetery, a very large concourse of sympathizing friends attending the obsequies.

JOHNIE STITZINGER. Johnie Stitzinger, aged about 13 years, died at the hospital at Dunkirk, N. Y., at five o'clock on Monday morning of this week, as a result of an attack of appendicitis. Three weeks ago last Saturday the boy's sister, Miss Alice Stitzinger, matron of the hospital, took him to Dunkirk, where an operation was performed. He seemed to be recovering nicely from his trouble when other complications set in which were beyond the power of medical skill to alleviate, and at the hour mentioned death ended the little fellow's sufferings. The body was brought here yesterday morning and funeral services were held at the home of his elder brother, R. C. Stitzinger, in the afternoon, conducted by Rev. O. H. Nickle, the remains being laid to rest in Riverside cemetery. During his long and severe illness Johnie bore his great suffering with wonderful patience and fortitude, scarcely ever murmuring when his pain seemed almost unbearable. A sorrowing mother, Mrs. Anna Stitzinger, three brothers and six sisters, are left to mourn the loss of a loving son and brother.

Good Kinds of Boys' Clothing.

As a rule we tell about Boys' overcoats in September. Luckily the weather has not until now urged us to say anything on this topic. For this advantage we are thankful. We have been enabled to get unusually well prepared to meet all comers. In the language of the boys themselves, we are "good and ready." Ready with a line of prices that will appeal strongly to all who appreciate a full equivalent for their money. A half dozen suggestions: $3—Boys' Oxford Grey Overcoats, sizes 3 to 8; wide skirt; emblem on sleeve. $3.50—Boys' Blue Chevots, fast colors, sizes 3 to 8; red flannel lined; emblem on sleeve. $4—Boys' Oxford Mixed all wool clothes; double-breasted; fine pearl buttons; sizes 3 to 8. $5—Boys' Fine Mixed Chevots; fine brass buttons and belt; sizes 3 to 8; and a garment that would sell for a dollar more. $5 to $10—For the older boys; sizes 9 to 16; we have a good coat as low as $5, others at $6, $7 to $10; everyone all wool and well made.
