When a lad or lass of a dozen years turns up his or her nose, and displays a lack of gratitude, because a gift is not more valuable, it is good evidence that there has been a plethora of presents before. And it is much the same with the grown folks. The husband whose wife has about everything she desires, experiences more and more difficulty each succeeding year in finding something suitable and satisfactory. RECTOR OF ST. LUKES. Ashburnham, Octario, Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Ashburnham, Ont.. April 18, 1903.—I think it is only right that I should tell you what a wonderful effect Chamber-iain's Cough nemedy has produced. The day before Easter I was so distressed with a cold and cough that I did not think to be able to take any duties the next day, as my voice was almost choked by the cough The same day I received an order from you for a bottle of your Cough Remedy. I at once procured a samile bottle, and took about three doses of the medicine. To my great relief the cough and cold had completely disappeared and I was able to preach three times on Easter Day. I know that this rapid and effective cure was due to your Cough Cores. I make this testimonial Cough Cure, I make this testimonial without solicitation, being thankful to

In ancient times the beds we read about were simply rugs, skins or thin mattresses which could be rolled up and carried away in the morning. At night they were spread on the floor, which in the better class of houses was of tile or plaster, and as the shoes were not worn in the house and the feet were washed before entering a room the floors were cleaner than ours. After a time a sort of bench, three feet wide, was built around two or three sides of the room about a foot above the floor and, covered with a soft cushion, was used during the day to sit or lounge on and as a sleeping place at night. The bench was sometimes made like a settee, movable and of carved wood or ivory.-London Standard.

CLIMATIC CURES.

The influence of climatic conditions in the cure of consumption is very much overdrawn. The poor patient, and the rich patient, too, can do much better at home by proper attention to food diges-tion, and a regular use of German Syrup. Free expectoration in the morning is made certain by German Syrup, so is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night tion due to coughing, the greatest dan-ger and dread of the consumptive, can be evented or stopped by taking German Syrup liberally and regularly. Should you be able to go to a warmer clime, you will find that of the thousands of consumptives there, the few who are bene-titted and regain strength are those who use German Syrup.
