Oil market closed at $1.85. Oil and gas leases at this office. Hopkins sells the Douglas shoes...

Just a few ladies' coats left. You can have them at almost any old price. Heath & Feit.

In all this floundering around in snow drifts, zero atmosphere, etc., there is still one consolation left us. The days are getting perceptibly longer at either end.

There are still some odds and ends, remnants, etc., to be had at Hopkins' store, for almost the asking. If in need come early for they will be gone before long.

A successful revival meeting is in progress at Buck Mills, Kingsley township, under the ministrations of Rev. A. H. M. Zahniser, of the Free Methodist church.

Purity and freshness is the combination that guarantees satisfaction at the White Star Grocery. Groceries, bread, cakes and cookies and fruits and vegetables, fresh every day.

If the gentleman who dropped a pair of furred kid gloves on the street a day or two ago will bring up a nice "Henry Clay," he can secure his property by making the proper identification.

Monday was another hummer, such as we've been having this winter pretty regularly, and in anything like ordinary years would be counted a record breaker. But being only 26 below zero it don't "cut much ice."

There is no advertising medium like the home newspaper. People cast aside circular letters and pamphlets without a glance, but the local paper is read clear through, and the advertising columns carefully studied.

Rev. A. H. M. Zahniser and wife, of Mayburg, were very agreeably surprised on Thursday last by a visit from about thirty of Kelleysville's liberal ladies, who brought cash, provision and a corresponding amount of good cheer.

A subscriber who was in arrears to a rural paper was dying, and the editor dropped in to see him. "How do you feel?" asked the pencil pusher. "All looks bright before me," gasped the subscriber. "I thought so," said the editor. "You'll see the blaze in about ten minutes."

The Republicans of Tionesta township nominated the following ticket at their caucus last Saturday: Road commissioner, E. F. Patterson; school directors John Wolf, George Allison; auditor, J. F. Kestner; clerk, R. A. Biocher; assessor, J. B. Egan; judge of elections, Chas. Wertz; inspector, Wm. Thomas.

The Republicans of Kingsley township, at their caucus last Saturday, nominated the following ticket: Road commissioner, Charles Southworth; school directors, Chris. Zuendel, E. E. Zuendel; treasurer, U. S. Day; clerk, W. C. Sizle; assessor, J. M. Zuendel; auditor, George Klinefelter; judge of elections, Jacob Wray; inspector, Harry Rudolph.

The following startling bit of news is copied from the Kane Republican: "The ouster party given in the basement of the church last evening was attended by a large crowd, despite the fact that many other attractions were offered in the city. George Shreiber was successful in carrying off the first prize, a handsome umbrella. Elmer Hart won the booby prize."

Thieves, who brought a two-horse sled with them, broke into a clothing store at Clearfield on Wednesday night and carried off $1200 worth of the stock of the proprietors, The Deidrich-Goldberg Company. A heavy snow obliterated the tracks made by sleigh and horses and the robbers got away. This amount of goods would start a fair sized cross-roads store on pretty good footing, unless the goods were marked too high, which might be the case in this instance.

Sermonizing on the old saying, "Boys will be boys," the Bradford Era says: "And it may also be added that boys will be men—if they live long enough. Boys ought to be good, but they are so full of human nature that they are not so good as they might be. There are boys who like to stay out late at nights. Some of them get drinks under false pretense, representing themselves as being of age, when they are minors of very minor mental development. They are taking their first lessons in dissipation and are laying up troubles for themselves in the form of habits which will some day be a curse to them. Bartenders are usually careful about giving drinks to minors, but they cannot tell by intuition how old a youth is, after he has reached the size of an adult—and after he has become an adult in lying. Boys of that sort should receive special parental attention which, too often, is neglected."

A decision that is likely to prove of interest to justices of the peace was handed down by the supreme court several days ago. It decides that justices can only issue warrants and receive information in those districts for which they were elected. In other words it is illegal for squires elected in the township to maintain offices in the town. Competent authorities say that the commissioners can refuse to pay the justice's fees on cases received when the magistrate was out of his bailwick.

Friday and Saturday evening's of last week Prof. B. L. Rockwood, of Indianapolis, speaker, and Will D. Blair, of Philadelphia, singer, held large audiences in the M. E. church, the meetings being under the auspices of the National Division Sons of Temperance. After the meetings an invitation was given to all who wished to enroll as members of the order, and nearly one hundred signatures to the pledge were secured. A division of the order will be chartered and organized in this place in a short time.

By the blowing of a lace curtain against a gas jet in the house of Peter Toy, at Foxburg, Pa., a fire was started that consumed the building, and burned to death his six-year-old daughter, Margaret, on Sunday morning last. The child was asleep on a couch, and her predicament was not discovered until too late to save her. When the body was recovered it was found that both arms and legs were burned off. One other building was destroyed, and several others severely damaged by fire and water.

A meat war is on in Youngstown, Ohio. A local dealer there advertises the following prices for first class meat: "Chuck roast, 7c; chuck steak, 8c; tenderloin steak, 10c; sirloin steak, 10c; lard, 8c; other prices in proportion. Only 10 pounds will be sold to a customer at these prices, but free delivery is given." The trouble is that this "war" is too far removed from "our midst," like the Russo-Japanese embroiglo, and we in this latitude get no fun out of it. When it comes to meat wars and general provender wars, we like to be in the thick of the battle.

The first contract for a road to be constructed under the Sproul road law is ready to be awarded and Crawford county has the honor. It will be for a road to be constructed between the Tionestaville limits and those of Hydetown borough, says the Courier. The road is nearly two miles in length and the bid which has been accepted will approximate $11,000 for work and material. The name of the successful bidder has not been made public, but as soon as some slight changes are made in the specifications the contract will be concluded. The work will be begun early next season and completed before fall if present plans are carried out. Tionestaville people contributed $5,000 toward the "good roads" fund but this will not all be used in the construction of the thoroughfare mentioned.

Again the oldest inhabitant is scratching his muddled cranium to find in his memory a winter to match the one we are just now struggling through. It's likely he'll be obliged to throw up the job, for it is a hard one. With already about a dozen weeks of a steady run of sleighing and the winter just begun, with two-and-a-half to four feet of snow almost anywhere you've a mind to go, and all the weather sharp predicting still more to follow, we opine that the winter of 1903-4 will take the record and hold it for the century. Many are shaking their heads and predicting dire calamities "if this should go off with a sudden rain," but there's no use crossing the bridge till you get to it, and so it's best to keep cool while you can, since fretting won't help it. Old Probability may fool 'em all yet.

Noting the story about Henry Miller's 17-year-old son, published in this column's last week, our friend H. Shotts, of Tylersburg, sends in an account that "sees" the former and goes it five better. Mr. Shotts has a brown Leghorn hen that was 22 years old last spring, and is doing good work yet, putting her share of the high-priced hen-fruit in the nest as regularly as the season comes around. The old gal was 14 years old before she evinced any desire to hatch a brood of chicks, and is now laying as well as the rest of his stock. Last year she hatched out a nice brood of chicks and took as good care of them as she did when still in her teens. Mr. Shotts vouches for the truth of this remarkable story, and to those who know him, his word is all the proof that is needed. We think he has the record, and doubt whether anyone can take it away from him.

Fire Fatality Narrowly Averted.

A dwelling owned by the Watson Lands Lumber Co., at Mayburg, this county, and occupied by Frank Rahorn and family, was burned to the ground last Sunday afternoon. The fire started in the kitchen, and immediately gained such headway that it was impossible to check it with the limited water supply at hand. In the house was Mrs. E. L. Littlefield, a daughter of Mr. Rahorn, who had been sick and was still confined to her bed, and it was with difficulty she was rescued from the flames. In the excitement attending her rescue the little four-year-old son of Mr. Rahorn was missed, and it dawned upon the horror-stricken parent that his child was still in the building. He rushed through the flames into the dining room where he found the little fellow crouched upon the floor and nearly suffocated from the smoke, but not burned any. The father was considerably burned about the face and hands, though not seriously. Very little of the household effects were saved. The property loss will amount to about $500, with no insurance.

The misfortune comes with double force upon Mr. Rahorn, who lost his son, aged 17 years, about two weeks ago, from typhoid fever.

YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS.

G. W. Robinson was in Warren on business Monday. Wm. Copeland, of Meadville, is visiting his numerous friends on German Hill.

Miss Lillian McCrea returned Friday from a week's visit with friends in Oil City. Miss Chloe Green was at home from Tidouine on a visit to her parents over last Sabbath.

Gordon Haslet has taken the place of Linus Shriver as baggage smasher at the Pennsy depot.

John Agnew, of Jefferson county, was the guest of his brother, Leonard, a portion of last week.

Misses Emma Hulings and Georgia Nichols, of Oil City, are guests at the Rural Home for a week or two.

Geo. Shimp, Newt. Zahniser and Chas. Conger have returned to the Indiana oil fields after a month's visit at home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gallup and little daughter, of Youngsville, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Horner.

Mrs. John Conway and two children, of Titusville, who were guests of the former's sister, Mrs. S. S. Canfield, returned home Monday.

Achieve W. Heath, who was over from Riceville, Crawford county, to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Taylor, returned home last Friday.

Ex-Sheriff J. W. Jamison and wife drove over to Elk City, Clarion county, Saturday and spent a few days pleasantly with the former's mother.

Miss May Clark, who has a steady situation in the dispatcher's office of the Pennsy at Oil City, was up to see her mother between trains yesterday.

Sam. W. Coleman, of McDonald, Pa., spent the past week with his mother, in this place, and shook hands with numerous Tionesta friends during his stay.

Daniel Brown, father-in-law of J. K. and E. Mealy, former Forest county boys, died at the home of the former, in Tiona, on the 6th inst., aged 79 years.

Miss Maude E. Fogle, of Perry, Forest county, was married at Olean, N. Y., Dec. 30th, to J. B. Curtis, of Fillmore, N. Y. Mr. Curtis was formerly a resident of Fagundis.

Quite a number of Tionesta's society ladies have accepted the hospitality of Mrs. Maria Andrews, at Kelleysville, today, where the hostess will serve a "farmers' dinner" at 12 o'clock, noon, at her home.

Hugh M., Charles F., and Frank R. Thomson, engaged in the Ohio oil fields, were here last week in attendance at the funeral of their mother. The former is accompanied by his little boy, and will remain with friends for a couple of weeks.

G. Clark Brown, at one time a citizen of this town, and well remembered by many of our townspeople, died at his home in Tidouine on the 11th inst., of Bright's disease, after an illness extending over several years. Mr. Brown was united in marriage in 1890 with Miss Eolita M. Knight, who, with one son, survives. The deceased was a member of the Macabees in good standing, carrying an insurance of $2,000.

John O. Clark, for the past eight years engaged in the mining districts of Colorado, very agreeably surprised his parents and many Tionesta friends last Friday afternoon by dropping in upon them, accompanied by his wife and two children. He was looking well, and reports that he left the other Tionestans, Sam Q. Clark and "Davey" Hildans, in a good state of preservation and prosperity. John does not expect to return to Colorado, having accepted a position with the United Gas Co., near Bradford, with whom he was employed before going west.

An Important Decision.

J. M. Bemis & Son vs. H. A. Shippe, Collector of Taxes of Jenks Twp. Bill in Equity. The plaintiffs in this case reside outside of the county of Forest, but are engaged in manufacturing lumber into lumber in Jenks township, Forest county, and own a large tract of timber, the same having been purchased from the Penn Tanning Co., and have erected a large stationary saw mill, with a capacity of forty thousand feet per day, said mill being erected on a warrant adjoining the timber tract, on lands leased from the Penn Tanning Co.

The assessor valued the mill and machinery at $5,000, and returned the same to the County Commissioners, who assessed them under the Act of 1834 as real estate of said plaintiffs. Taxes were levied by the County of Forest, school directors of Jenks township, and the road commissioners of said township, and the duplicates were placed in the hands of the defendant for collection.

The plaintiffs alleged in their bill that the taxes were illegal, and requested the court to issue a mandamus on the defendant to restrain him from collecting the taxes in his duplicate. The case came before Hon. W. M. Lindsey on Bill and Answer on the 23rd day of December, 1903, and on January 18, 1904, the court rendered a decision in the case in which he holds that the taxes were legally assessed, and that the act of 1834 makes mills such as this real estate for the purpose of taxation, while by the acts of the parties they are technically personal property. He says to hold otherwise would open the door to fraud, thus allowing persons the right to purchase large tracts of timber and then lease lands on which to erect large and valuable mills and evade their share of taxation by saying the mills and machinery thereto belonging are personal property and not subject to taxation.

The bill was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff. The plaintiffs were ably represented by D. I. Ball, of Warren and the defendant by A. C. Brown, Esq., of Tionesta, Pa.

Mayburg.

Where is that January thaw? Three feet of snow in the woods makes it hard times for the lumbermen. It is almost impossible to move logs or bark just now. Many of the men of the logging and bark camps are going home on account of deep snow. It is not often that winter comes in the middle of November and stays right through, but it does some years, and as this is leap-year, she will have to have her own way about it.

I wrote you last week about the sickness and misfortune in the burg, but it makes one feel good to be able to write something good. One of the best things I have seen this winter took place on Thursday afternoon, when Mayburg was invaded by about 40 ladies from Kelleysville that came in two large sleds and four or five sleighs. Drove right to the preacher's, Rev. Zahniser, and surprised him and his wife by presenting them with about $30 in cash and $30 or $40 worth of groceries and dry goods—the ladies were at their very best, and when the ladies of Kelleysville make up their minds to be at their best you see they displayed all those qualities that go to make up a beautiful and loving woman, filled with noble deeds and a loving spirit. God bless you, ladies, your act was not only generous, but it was done beautifully, and the neighborly spirit of it was grand.

Well, the Cook Lease boys got their first well flowing Monday. It did it up fine. In three minutes after the air was turned on the well made a good flow and kept at it till noon.

Mill shut down for want of logs. Too much snow. Township elections again on hand. Great care should be taken in the selecting of road commissioners, who, in harmony with the county commissioners, should take advantage of the State offer of aid on all public roads, Kingsley township has good roads, but they ought to be much better. There is enough money wasted to give us turpikes everywhere. I do not say it's boodle or graft, but it's lack of skill and business qualifications and business experience. Time and cash is wasted year after year. It would not be tolerated for a moment in a first class business. I don't see why it should be in one of our most important departments of township, county and state affairs. Wake up for good roads and properly spent taxes. Put business into it and the results will be surprising. I remember last spring, a gentleman driving in our neighborhood through the muddy roads above us, "Why," said he, "here's a good streak, the horses seem to know it." Yes, they do know it, and the pockets well know it. Well, let us have good roads.

Congratulations. Mr. John H. Cullom, Editor of the Garland, Texas, News, has written a letter of congratulations to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as follows: "Sixteen years ago when our first child was a baby he was subject to croupy spells and we would be very uneasy about him. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in 1887, and finding it such a reliable remedy for colds and croup, we have never been without it in the house since that. We have five children and have given it to all of them with good results. One good feature of this remedy is that it is not disagreeable to take and our babies really like it. Another is that it is not dangerous, and there is no risk from giving an overdose. I congratulate you upon the success of your remedy." For Sale by Dr. J. C. Dunn.

Sensation is not salvation, but salvation will include sensation.

Auto's Not a Menace to Farmers.

The experts who hunt new things to worry about are now figuring trouble for the farmer from the increased use of automobiles. Soon the power wagon will do the work of the horse in cities and be common in every county district. This, they say, will reduce the demand for feed of all kinds. The grass will remain uncut in the meadows, oats will be used only for chicken feed, corn will be in so little demand that it will be fed to the hogs, ruin will sit down to sup in every farm house. These doleful predictions were made when the steam trains first began to displace the stage coaches and trucks that handled the passenger and freight traffic of the world, they were heard again when the bicycle appeared and now they are ushering in the automobile. Soon the airship will be said to threaten agricultural prosperity. We presume, however, that mankind will continue to eat as much as ever. The cow also will not lose her appetite and sheep will continue to feed on grain and hay. The great American hog will thrive as of old and the demand for breakfast food will not diminish even if the whole world forsakes the horse. Potatoes and cabbages will taste good and be bought for some time yet, and the chances are that if during the next ten years every horse in the cities and towns should be replaced by machinery the honest farmer would not notice the difference. The railroads benefited the rural regions most and the march of invention will never harm the man who toils. There are no farms where a horse will not be always needed, and if they become cheaper the farmer will be able to have more and better teams. Let the auto come and welcome. The farmer will find no fault. So thinks the Franklin News, and we agree with it.

A Newspaper Worth Reading.

The Pittsburg Times is a conservative, careful newspaper for particular people. Its statements of fact and comments on them are concise and correct. Its departments are in charge of experts, and its authority in all matters pertaining to the events of the world at large and of the community it represents more particularly is recognized. It has no Sunday edition, and its position in that regard in Pittsburg is as unique as its thorough reliability in every way. Staunchly Republican in political policy it yet gives all the news of all parties. Its moral tone is high, and churchmen of every creed find in its columns more news of their interests and work than in all its contemporaries combined. Sports are given the prominence they deserve and no more. The news concerning them is bright, timely, and adequate, for the work is done by a master. Industrial matters are accorded the prominence they merit in a Pittsburg paper, while the stock market is given the attention that has brought the Times into the front rank of financial authorities. Above all the Times is a model not only of brevity of statement but of dignified simplicity in its typographical appearance. Each issue of the Times is a day's history of events the wide world round. Its price is one cent daily or $1 a year.

Pennsylvania Railroad Tour to California and New Orleans Mardi Gras.

A personally conducted tour to Southern California will leave New York, Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburg, by special train over the Pennsylvania Railroad, on February 11. The route of the tour will be via New Orleans, stopping at that point three days to witness the Mardi Gras festivities. The special train will be continued through to Los Angeles, from which point tourists will travel independently through California and on the return trip.

The special train in which the party will travel from New York to Los Angeles will be composed of high-grade Pullman equipment, and will be in charge of a Pennsylvania Railroad Tourist Agent. The round trip rate, $250 from all points on the Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburg and Buffalo covers transportation and all expenses on the special train to Los Angeles, including a seat for the Mardi Gras carnival. From Los Angeles tickets cover transportation only, and will be good to return at any time within nine months, via any authorized trans-continental route, except via Portland for which an extra charge of $15.00 is made.

For complete details and further information, apply to ticket agents; B. P. Fraser, Passenger Agent, Buffalo District, 307 Main street, Elliott Square, Buffalo; E. S. Barrar, Division Ticket Agent, Williamsport, Pa.; or Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, Pa.
