

CLEARANCE SALE!

Opens Saturday Morning, Jan. 30,

Closes Saturday Night, Feb. 6.

Our Sales are not continuous performances, but twice a year we have a sale to close out reasonable merchandise that is not good business to carry over, and for that reason we don't expect nor do we make profits at these sales. On a large number of the articles enumerated there are actual losses. So as a money-saver event it is profitable to buy at our store.

TERMS OF SALE ARE CASH.

Positively no goods sent on approval or charged except at regular prices. Our usual guarantee of "MONEY BACK" goes with every sale.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Great Loss of Life In Harwick Colliery at Cheswick.

Only One Man Has Been Brought Out Alive—Fear That Selwyn Taylor, Mining Engineer, Who Headed the Rescue Party, Is Dead—Two Men Killed in Tiptle.

Pittsburg, Jan. 26.—At 12:15 Robert North and Michael Cain of the rescue party, came to the surface and reported that Selwyn Taylor had been found alive, and that 75 of the miners had been located, the majority of them, it is believed, alive.

Pittsburg, Jan. 26.—From all that can be gathered between 150 and 190 men are lying dead in the headings and passage ways of the Harwick mine of the Allegheny Coal company at Cheswick, the result of a terrific explosion yesterday.

After cage has gone down into the mine and come up again but only one miner of all those who went to work in the morning were brought to the surface. The man is Adolph Gunda and he is still in a semi-conscious condition at the temporary hospital in the rug school house above the mine.

In addition to the miners who were at work when the explosion occurred it is now believed by practically all of the men of the rescue party who have come up the 220-foot vertical shaft for a warning and a breathing spell that Selwyn Taylor, the Pittsburg mining engineer, who plotted the mine and who was the first to reach the bottom after the explosion happened, is also now among the list of dead.

Of those in the mine all are probably dead.

The explosion occurred about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. The first warning was the sudden rumble. A sheet of flame then rose from the deep shaft.

Both mine cages were hurled through the tiptle, 20 feet above the landing stage and the three men in the tiptle were hurled to the ground. A mile was thrown high above the shaft, and fell dead on the ground.

The injured men in the tiptle were brought at once to this city, where Henry Mayhew, a check weighman, and George Waltman a tiptlemann, died. The rumble of the explosion and the crash at the pit mouth startled the little village and the wives and children of the men below rushed to the scene of the disaster but found little encouragement. There was no way to get into the deep workings.

The cages that let the men into the mines and brought them out again when the day's work was done were demolished.

All day long there was a jam of waiting women and children about the mouth of the pit.

There were calls for assistance and for surgeons all from the men in charge of the mine but it was not until 4 o'clock in the afternoon that the first attempt at rescue was made. This was a failure as the two men who volunteered were driven back by the foul air.

Shortly after 5 o'clock Selwyn M. Taylor, a mine expert, and one of his assistants signaled for the engineer to lower them into the shaft. Taylor is still down there. Three times efforts have been made to reach him, but so far without avail.

Thomas Wood, one of the first of the rescue party hauled to the surface told this story of his trip through the mine:

"I was with Taylor and we clambered over three or four falls. Taylor laid out the mine and seemed to know the way. There was one man alive at the foot of the shaft. He was sent up and then we took the mile path to the south level. We saw two men who were alive and notified those who were back of us and then went on. We passed the third, fourth and fifth heading and then through an overdrift into the shaft. I began to feel dizzy and sick and then I saw Taylor stagger and fall. His lantern fell. We tried to lift him up but could not carry him up and I made my way to safety."

W. Cunningham, the mine inspector of the 14th district, reached Harwick last night. He said: "The mine where the explosion took place was inspected, I think, about the 1st of December. There was some gas in there then but I never considered the mine dangerous."

The last inspection blank hanging on the wall in the mine company's office is dated July 17, 1903, but it is evident that a later report has been torn off.

An additional party of 20 went down shortly before midnight.

Three of the rescuers, Becker, Smith and Walker, when they returned to the surface, declared that, in their opinion, all in the mine outside of the rescue party are dead, including Taylor, the engineer.

H. F. Hutchinson who gave out the lamps to the miners before they went to work in the pit said: "At 7:15 o'clock I had given out between 180 and 190 lamps."

Great Damage In Western Pennsylvania by Raging Rivers.

Pittsburg, Jan. 25.—Western Pennsylvania has suffered more than $1,000,000 loss by the flood. The highest point was reached at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon with an approximate stage of 30 feet. Never has there been such a flow of ice which has continued from the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers and their tributaries since last Friday.

There are 50,000 idle men because of the flooding of mills in Allegheny county alone. There is a loss of $200,000 to the river interests and every rail road but the Pennsylvania was stalled and was not able to run trains in and out of the two cities until today.

The rivers are stationary today. Allegheny City has suffered most. Federal street, the leading thoroughfare, is covered with water for a distance of 1,000 feet. Street-car lines are tied up and hundreds of wagons are ferrying people from a point near the Pittsburg and Fort Wayne station to the Pittsburg shore. The Fort Wayne railroad is running trains every 10 minutes to the union station, Pittsburg.

The First and Fourth wards of Allegheny are flooded. In most cases the water is up to the second story of the houses.

The temperature has gone down considerably and a slight snow is falling. The Allegheny is still full of running ice, but it is much thinner.

From the headwater points on both the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers the reports show them to be either stationary or falling. At Oil City the Allegheny is falling six inches an hour and at Warren the river is stationary. At Greensboro on the Monongahela the mark is 15 feet, 6 inches and falling. Colder weather with snow prevails.

As yet no loss of life has been reported, but suffering in the flooded portions of Pittsburg and Allegheny has been general.

WENT THROUGH A TRESTLE.

Locomotive and Passenger Coach Go Into a Stream—No One Killed.

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—A passenger train on the Newark and Pomeroy railroad plunged through a trestle over the White Clay creek, two miles from Avondale Friday night, the trestle having been weakened by the flood. The locomotive and a passenger coach plunged into the water.

When the engine fell the engineer, Clarke Paxon, and the conductor, Amos Osborne, both of Newark, Del., leaped into the stream, and swam to the opposite bank through the floating ice.

Neither was injured with the exception of a few bruises. After the engine had fallen the passenger coach dropped upon it, and this probably saved the passengers from drowning. All finally made their way to the bank of the stream in safety.

Five Lives Lost by Flood.

Sharon, Pa., Jan. 25.—A bridge near here was washed away in the flood, and four foreigners who were standing on it were drowned. A man and his wife, who attempted to ford the swollen stream at another place, were swept away. The man perished, but his wife was rescued.

Intense Cold In the West.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—The temperature at points near Grand Rapids, Ia., ranged from 42 to 57 below; at Des Moines, Ia., a blizzard is raging; at Milwaukee the thermometer is 22 below, the coldest since 1887. Nebraska cities report intense cold.

Is Performing Wonders.

Thompson's Barosma, Kidney and Liver Cure

Is not only performing wonderful cures, as the following statements will prove, but all the cures have been permanent, there being no return of the disease or any of the symptoms after a lapse of many years.

E. K. THOMPSON & SON, Titusville, Pa.—Dear Sirs—Several years ago I was taken with kidney and bladder disease, and suffered with terrible pain, besides losing control of the action of my kidneys and bladder. A number of doctors had my case at different times, but I received no benefit, and was given up as incurable and fully expected death would relieve my sufferings. A friend recommended BAROSMA and I began taking it. At first I could see little change, but after taking about six bottles, I began to get better. I continued to use it and today am entirely cured. I am an old resident of this county and am well known in this section, and consider myself a walking advertisement for your TRULY WONDERFUL medicine, BAROSMA.

Yours respectfully, NATHAN BURDICK, West Hickory, Pa.

The first bottle did me so much good that I bought the second and it cured me of female weakness, with which I had been troubled more than two years. I gained in strength and flesh and have been well ever since. This was six years ago.

Mrs. M. GROVE, Plum, Penn'a.

Snow and Ice Clogged Fire Engines.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 25.—While many families were being drowned out at Gilberton by the high water from the floods, a fire started from an overheated stove, and burned a block of houses owned by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal company, six families being rendered homeless. The fire companies were unable to use the food water, because the snow and ice clogged their steamers.

Relief For Steel Workers.

Pittsburg, Jan. 25.—To employees of the Carnegie Steel company and its many constituent concerns there was paid during the year $180,652.17 from the Andrew Carnegie relief fund. The statement of the disbursements of this philanthropy was posted Saturday. The amount covers $106,655 for accidents, $46,824 for deaths, $27,172 for pensions.

Radium Earths Discovered in Texas.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 25.—Vast quantities of earth containing radium activities have been discovered in the Llano mineral region, situated near here. Scientific men who have been making an investigation of these earths assert that they will produce more radium than any other known deposits in the world.
