FEW people realize how much agriculturists lose annually from the depredations of insect pests. It is estimated by Government officials that the cotton-boil weevil destroyed last year $15,000,000 worth of cotton. The potato beetle cuts off $10,000,000 yearly from the potato crop. The cotton worm has caused a loss of $30,000,000 in one year. And in some years the Rocky Mountain locust has eaton up crops to the amount of $155,000,-000. Fortunately the President takes a deep intarest in the Department of Agriculture which has on hand the great task of devising ways and means to destroy these pests. GLIMPSES OF A BUSY WEEK. City of Brotherly Love, and Some of Its Colonial Scenes and Relies.

[Continued from last week.] Passing along Figh street on our way to Arch, we came to a high brick wall which arroused our curiosity. We had no idea what it enclosed till we turned the corner on Arch street and spied, through the iron grating, an old grave yard. No little amount of interest was awakened and we stopped to look at the ancient tombstones and markers. But imagine our surprise when our eyes fell upon a large marble slab close to our feet and there read, "Benjamin Franklin and Deborah Franklin-1799." At the head of this slab we saw two well worn head stones, the smaller of which told a little of the pathos which entered into the life of the distinguished servant of state whose remains lay so near, and on it we read, "Frances F., son of Benjamin and Deborah Franklin, deceased Nov. 21, 1736, aged 4 years, 1 mo. and 1 day. The Desight of all who knew him," The last sentence was too long to be placed horizontally and was curved, but even then lacked space, so the word "him" was separated with a hyphen, the m being placed above. Having made the choice discovery that we had a glimpse of the old Christ Church graveyard, where not only Franklin and his wife Deborah lie at rest, but also Gen, James Irvine, Payton Kandolph and many others noted in our country's history, we entered the gateway open for visitors. Near the main walk we read the alpha and omega of many lives, but a name of special interest was DeWees, familiar to our Tionesta friends, which we found on a number of headstones. This unexpected visit bringing with it so much interest and pleasure, belped balance our disappointment upon reaching Christ Church, with its record of two centuries and finding it. locked. Carpenter's hall was also locked but one of the ancient landmarks which our fathers have set and which we had the pleasure of visiting, was the birth-

Port Arthur. The sketch was made when Admira chagin drew Makaroff discussing point of strategy with his chief o statí. The admiral, standing, is point ing to a chart. The sketch is full of action and detail.

During his recent visit to Moscov the emperor saw the sketch and cas ually expressed the wish that it might hang on the wall of the cabinet ir which he works. The merchant bought the drawing and the emperor's desire to possess it probably will be gratified

Shake-Up in Cornell Crew.

Ithaca, June 7 .- Another shake-up in the Cornell 'varsity boat was made by Coach Courtney in an effort to strengthen the starboard side. The change seemed to have the desired effect, for in a four-mile spin the weak side showed decided improvement Aside from several individual faults which must be corrected before the boat reaches true Courtney style, the 'varsity is rowing well. After the shift the men rowed in the following order: Stroke, Nutting: 7, Stone; 6, Jones, Foote; 4, Wadsworth; 3, Fereow; 2 Coffin: bow. Boesch.
