FOR BETTER JUSTICES.

New Regulations For Appointment by Governor Pennypacker. Harrisburg, Pa., June 13 .- Governor Pennypacker has undertaken to raise the standard of justices of the peace in Pennsylvania, and hereafter he will appoint no person to that office who is not in his opinion wholly qualified to fill it. Applicants, according to the new rule, will give in detail, on a special form prepared by the governor, their age, business or occupation and their qualifications for the office.

The applicant must also be a citizen of the state, give the length of time he has resided in the place where the vacancy exists, and prove eligibility for the office. He must promise to keep the office, if appointed, and accompany his application with letters from reputable citizens, residents of the locality in which the vacancy exists, certifying to his reputation for integrity and capacity.

Justices have heretofore been appointed on the recommendation of the senator from the district in which the vacancy occurred, without regard to their fitness or qualifications.

The governor hereafter will make no appointments unless the applicant makes application on the blanks which he has prepared and meets the requirements he prescribes.

Wife Made His Surrender. Scranton, Pa., June 13.-Joseph Rutalovage, who, it is alleged, shot and killed Alex Bitculscle and badly injured three other men at the Ridge in Archbald on May 30, surrendered himself to Sheriff Frank Becker. For nearly two weeks the fugitive had baffled the efforts of the detectives and police. It was believed that he had gone to New York to set sail for his native land, but this was not the case. Rutalovage was in hiding at the home of relatives in Pittston. His wife urged him to surender, believing that he would be acquitted.

Child Fondles Black Snake

Bloomsburg, June 13.—The three year-old daughter of Peter Buelah, a farmer near here, was placed in a big clothes basket in the yard to amuse herself. Her father and mother heard her crooning and saw her petting what they believed to be a kitten in the bottom of the basket. When the father went out to see her he saw that the supposed kitten was a large black snake. He snatched the child from the basket and killed the snake with a clothes pole. The child was unharmed and cried because she lost
