

THE FOREST REPUBLICAN.

J. E. WENK, EDITOR & PROPRIETOR.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1904.

Republican Ticket.

NATIONAL. President, THEODORE ROOSEVELT, of New York. Vice President, CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS, of Indiana. STATE. Supreme Court Justice, JOHN P. ELKIN, of Indiana County. COUNTY. Congress, JOSEPH C. SIBLEY, of Venango County. Assembly, JOHN H. ROBERTSON, of Tionesta. Associate Judge, FRANK X. KREITLER, of Green Twp. Treasurer, WM. B. HARRISON, of Green Twp.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT would make a good baseball captain. In shifting his men from one position to another he rarely makes a mistake.

It is probable that Gen. Miles could see little in the Prohibition nomination for President without the Democratic nomination also. That appendage not appearing to be in sight the General turned tail on the Prohibs.

NINE-TENTHS of the newspaper comments, both Democratic and Republican, are devoted to the tariff and reciprocity planks of the platform adopted at Chicago. The same proportion will undoubtedly hold good throughout the entire campaign. Who says now that the tariff is not an issue—in fact, almost the only issue—which separates the two parties in the contest of 1904?

THE Salvation Army has opened its international congress in London. The worldwide esteem which this once-scuffed-at-form of philanthropy has won for itself is well illustrated by the fact that King Edward sent the congress an especially cordial message of greeting and commendation. About the Salvation Army's faith the world at large knows little; but its works are manifest and lauded it to all men.

SECRETARY SHAW'S estimate last Autumn of a $14,000,000 surplus at the end of the fiscal year was remarkably correct. He did not include in his estimated expenditures anything for the Panama Canal for that was unceremonial and had been provided for; and he did not, of course, include the loan to the St. Louis Exposition. Excluding those two matters the actual surplus was $13,247,674, very close to the Secretary's estimate.

THE Prohibition national convention, in session at Indianapolis, Ind., last week, nominated for president, Dr. S. C. Swallow, the erstwhile Pennsylvania candidate for State treasurer, governor, etc., but the Rev. Dr. has not yet signified his willingness to take the empty honor, giving as a reason the impaired health of his wife, whom he cannot leave to give that attention to the campaign which the occasion would demand. It is entirely likely that he will give it a try anyway. The convention nominated George Carroll, of Texas, for vice president.

GENERAL MILES it appears is not a Prohibitionist, which probably accounts for his refusal to become the candidate of that party. Even the Rev. Dr. Swallow, who has been nominated may not accept. In 1892 this party polled 249,133 votes, but 1896 its total was only 132,007. In 1900 it ran up again to 190,055, though that was some 50,000 short of the number of votes it polled eight years before. There were nearly 14,000,000 votes cast in 1900, and the Prohibitionists got about 1 per cent. of them and then were far behind their former record. No wonder they have difficulty in getting a responsible man to head their ticket.

THE suggestion of practical and thorough men relative to studies in the common schools all call for less diversity and greater thoroughness, but impractical pedagogues are yet able to gain the assent of school boards to the introduction of many fanciful diversions. In a recent speech before the board of regents at Albany, Hon. Whitelaw Reid said on the subject: First, then, we must insist that the common schools really teach, with a thoroughness not yet so generally attained as is useful, the three things that make the common basis for all subsequent work. Their pupils should learn, learn till they really know how to read, write and cipher. Until you make absolutely sure of that let us have fewer frills."

THE condition of the country was described by Speaker Cannon, in his speech on taking his place as chairman of the late Republican convention, and among other good things relating thereto he said: "Let me call your attention to the fact that the people of the United States now have far greater wealth than the people of any other country on earth. Capital is abundant; interest rates are decreasing and capital seeks investment. And while the law prohibits unlawful combinations, great blocks of competitive private capital have been and are being invested in all the industries of the country. It can be easily foreseen that when a legitimate plant comes into competition with a plant that is capitalized for two or three times its value, the over-capitalized plant will go to the wall. It is an open secret that within the last two years the shrinkage from over capitalization has been many, many hundreds of millions of dollars. The property is all there now as it was two years ago; but the wind and the water and the gas have disappeared, greatly to the advantage of the people of the country. And yet, on the average, I say again, our people are better employed, and at a better wage, and have been for the last twelve months than ever before, and notwithstanding this great shrinkage of fictitious values, the millions of people throughout the country who live in the sweat of their faces, do not know thereof, and are not affected thereby."

Terrible Scourge Coming.

One of the worst scourges that has devastated the growing crops and timber lands since the scourge of the great army worm, nearly 40 years ago, is now going on in sections of Armstrong county at the present time and threatens to destroy not only the apples and other crops, but the orchards as well. They are also destroying forests of timber land. The work of the ruin was seen by the writer last Monday in Kiskiminetus and South Bend townships where a green worm, which is known to most persons as the taller or measuring worm, is at work in armies of billions of number. They cut the leaves from the stem and leave the orchard looking black and burnt like, as when the frost has robbed it, except that the stem of the leaves add a blend to the dark color. No remedy has been found and the scourge is so great and has assumed such an alarming phase that state aid has been asked in hopes that some general and concerted work may be commenced by the aid and knowledge gained by the state colleges in the study of pests of this kind and state aid financially to help save the forests and fruit trees of the state, as it is claimed the worms actually kill the trees. We do not know to what extent over the state the scourge reaches.—Leechburg Advance.

A Card of Thanks.

We desire to cordially thank all the old customers of the Tionesta Cash Store for their generous patronage in the past, and hope, by the aid of a big cut in prices and the same careful attention to your wants, to merit a continuance of your patronage. We desire also to remind those knowing themselves indebted to the old firm that we must have a settlement of these accounts at an early date, and trust they will call and adjust the same. BANNS OF MARRIAGE.

A Custom That Dates Back to the Primitive Christian Church. The custom of publishing the banns of marriage dates back to the primitive church, for Tertullian, who died A. D. 240, states that waiting of intended marriages was given among the early Christians.

It appears that the publication of banns was habitual in many places long before there was any general law on the subject, since Gregory IV. (1038-1216) speaks of the banns (from Latin bannum, a proclamation; Anglo-Saxon, ban being given out in church, according to custom. The practice was introduced into France about the ninth century and in 1178 was enforced in the diocese of Paris.

The earliest enactment on the subject in England was an order made in the synod of Westminster in 1200 to the effect that no marriage should be celebrated till the banns had been published in the church on three several Sundays or feast days. This rule was made obligatory throughout the church by the fourth Lateran council held in Rome in 1215. By act of parliament banns must now be given out in England on three Sundays.—London Answers.

THE MAGNOLIA.

In the Himalayas Are Found the Most Magnificent Specimens. The magnolia, so called from Pierre Magnol, professor of botany at Montpellier in the seventeenth century, is a genus embracing fourteen species of remarkably handsome shrubs or small trees, and far more hardy than is commonly supposed. They are very widely distributed in China, Japan and the Himalayas and in Mexico and the United States.

The old world species seem to have been the earliest cultivated, the Chinese preserving the buds as well as using them medicinally and to season their rice. The purple flowered Japanese plant was discovered by Komppfer in 1690 and introduced into England in 1790. The Himalayas possess three varieties, among them the most magnificent of all, Magnolia Campbellii, a conspicuous object in the scenery of Darjeeling, eighty feet high, twelve feet in girth, with flowers ten inches across.

North America has given many distinct varieties, among them the cucumber or umbrella tree, the beaver tree and the favorite Magnolia grandiflora.

THE SPANISH NOVIQ.

A Gallant Who Rarely Weds the Maiden He Attends. A Spanish maiden who is in the least attractive is always attended by a young man. He is called her novio, and it is his privilege to accompany her on her walks, though of course always with either her mother or a maid to play propriety. His courtship seldom ends in his becoming engaged to the young lady, but while it lasts she has to be obedient and loyal to him.

If he should transfer his affections to another fair damsel, the delighted one has no redress, for he is quite at liberty to do so, their friendship never being regarded in the light of a formal engagement. Marriages are settled by the heads of the two families chiefly concerned, and until such an arrangement is made the young Spaniard may be novio to as many girls as he likes, one after another. This custom has certainly more advantages for the men than it has for the maidens, but yet few Spanish girls would care to be without a novio, however fickle he might be.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling on cures with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hal's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

EXCISEMAN BURNS.

The Way an Old Woman Outwitted the Scotch Poet.

A story is told about Burns in his capacity of exciseman. Old Jean Davidson kept a small whisky shop and was suspected of putting more fresh water into her liquor than was lawful. Burns accordingly came with his apparatus and at once detected the irregularity. "Now, Jean, ma woman," he said, "I canna tak this to Dumfries this night; 'ts over late. But I'll seal it wi' the king's seal and return to lift it in the mornin'." When he had gone to his lodging Jean fetched the village cooper, who removed a hoop from the barrel and bored a hole, through which the adulterated liquor was drawn off and stuff of regulation strength put in. Then the hoop was refixed, and Jean, with a brave heart, awaited the gauger. In the morning up came Burns to claim the keg. "One minute, Mr. Burns," said Jean sweetly. "Ye might jest test that whisky to convince me, since I canna see how I could have been makin' sic a mistake." "It means breaking the king's seal," said Burns, "but I'll just fix an another." So the sample was taken and tested and of course found to be all right. Burns was bewildered. "Was there naught wrang wi' me, Jean, last night?" he asked. "Weel, Mr. Burns, 'tis na for me to say. Weel, I just thought ye were fully sauer wi' your wee tester."

TORTOISE SHELL.

In Working It Gentle Heat and Pressure Are Mainly Used. A tortoise shell is harder and more brittle than ordinary horn. Heat and pressure are practically the only means which can be employed in working it, and it is impossible to work tortoise shell at a great heat, since the coloring pigment easily liquefies and obscures the shell, thereby greatly lessening its value. Heavy pressure is also impossible owing to its brittle character.

The plates of the carapace, or back shell, are first separated from the skeleton by the application of gentle heat and then flattened by a similar process. The superficial irregularities are next rasped off, and the material is polished, ready for molding into any desired shape.

Larger or thicker plates are produced by a process which requires great care and attention. Two surfaces are first rasped and cleaned and are then gently heated and pressed together. The heat liquefies them, and the pressure effects a perfect union, making an invisible joint.

Tortoise shell combs are cut by the highly ingenious turning machine, so called because two combs are cut from the same plate, so that the teeth of one dovetail into the spaces of the other, avoiding all waste.

Bells and Thunderstorms.

An instance of the absurdity of some of the notions held by our ancestors was the notion that the ringing of the church bells had a counteracting effect in a thunderstorm. It was supposed that the vibration of the air caused by the movement of the bells resulted in the dissipation of the electric fluid in the air. The belief was so common at one time that the bells were rung as soon as signs of an approaching thunderstorm were seen. Science now holds a contrary opinion. Not only does the sound have no possible effect on the air, but the vibration caused by the sound of a bell upon a cloud charged with electricity may cause it to discharge its contents upon the ringer of the bell in the church tower.

A Clergyman's Prayer.

An old clergyman in Maine in a dry season exchanged with a brother from the southeast. The congregation was made up of men, half farmers and half fishermen, and the soil was sandy and poor, while his in the interior was fertile and rich. He opened his prayer as follows: "O Lord, I have been asked to pray for rain, and I do so, but thou knowest, O Lord, what this soil needs for dressing."

Sleeping in Japan.

The Japanese never sleep with the head to the north. This is because the dead in Japan are always buried with the head in that position. In the sleeping rooms of many of the private houses and of hotels a diagram of the points of the compass is posted upon the ceiling for the convenience of guests.

Enjoyed the Evening.

"Did you enjoy the evening of grand opera?" "Did I?" answered Mr. Cumrox enthusiastically. "It was grand. I sent mother and the girls there, dismissed all the servants and then went down and smoked a cigar right in the parlor."—Washington Star.

One Lady's Recommendation Sold Fifty Boxes of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets.

I have, I believe, sold fifty boxes of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets on the recommendation of one lady here, who first bought a box of them about a year ago. She never tires of telling her neighbors and friends about the good qualities of these Tablets.—P. M. Shore, Druggist, Rochester, Ind. The pleasant purgative effect of these Tablets makes them a favorite with ladies everywhere. Sold by Dr. J. C. Dunn.

A CONTINENTAL STRAIN.

Many men and women are constantly subject to what they commonly term "a continual strain" because of some "innatural or faulty trouble." It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and despondency. They cannot, as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health-destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower 25c; regular, 75c. At J. D. Davis.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by Dr. J. C. Dunn.

"A NEW FARM FREE."

One that is sure to suit you with the same buildings water and fences you have now. How is it done? Simple enough. Just use the "easy draft" and "easy to hold" Le Roy Plow that with no more horse power than the other makes will cut down and turn up a new farm under the old one. This soil has rested for years and will bear good crops. Buy the "Le Roy Plow" and you will use no other. Sold by Lawson Bros., Tionesta.

House and Lot For Sale.

A six room house in good repair, fitted throughout with natural gas and city water, situated on a large lot with a number of fruit trees, on Vine street, Tionesta, is offered for sale. For particulars call on or address J. O. Taylor, 239 Center street, Oil City, Pa. j 21

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.
