Dip Parker vote twice for Bryan for regularity's sake, or because he believed in tree silver?

Mrs. Hanna has sent the Republican National Committee a check for $5,000 accompanied by an explanatory letter which repeats her desire to aid the cause for which her beloved husband fought and died, and of which Theodore Roosevelt is now the official head.

WHAT are the Democratic leaders to do with Bryan, anyway? To ignore him altogether, to decline his services positively, may convert his dissatisfaction to offend not only the independent vote. but the gold-standard Democrats. To revert to an old semile, the Democrats with regard to Bryan are in a position very much like that of the man who is holding the wolf by the ears. They cannot let go at once and they cannot hold on much longer.

THE effort of some Democrats to make it appear that August Belmont and David B. Hill are not in favor with Judge Parker is over drawn and will deceive no one. They have resson to know that their prominance in the campaign will not be helpful to Parker, and therefore they are willing seemingly to take back seats. But it was Hill's management and Belmont's money that secured the nomination for Parker and no one knows that so well as he does. Belmont is on the executive committee of which Sheehan, some what notorious in New York polities, is chairman, and Hill will not be for-

The Vice-Presidency.

The notification of the Vice-Presidentia candidate at Indianapolis last Wednesday completed the ceremontal occasions which open the campaign on the Republicae side. Nothing remains now but the formal letters of acceptance which will more claborately discuss the issues. The speech of Ex Secretary of War Root is distinguished by its plain deliverance respecting the Democratic nomination for the vice-Presidency. He is entirely courteous to Mr. Davis; he recognizes his personal worth; but he does not hesitate to speak frankly and seriously on the gravity of naming a candidate who is heating and economy in gas. Vice-President ought to be qualified in every way, physically, intellectually and morally, to take up the duties of the Presidency. He ought to be prepared in an emergency to carry on the policies in operation under the decree of the popular will. He ought, therefore, to be in full accord with the President and conversant with his work. In the election of Senator Fairbanks all this would be secured. He would be in close relations with the President, and would be equal to any require-

The speech of Mr. Fairbanks in response to the notification was brief, tasteful and sensible. He properly left to the President the more extended discussion of the issues, but what he said was right to the point. He dwelt particularly on the money question, and clearly outlined the contrasting positions of the two parties on the subject. He also emphasizes 'be obligation of maintaining protection and enforced its relations to the property of the country. The speech sustains the universal impression of the good sense, sound judgment and trustworthy quality of the candidate,

A Delicate Refusal. Levassor, the well known French comic singer, once took part in a charity concert in Paris and after the performance was invited by the promoters to supper clong with the rest of the performers. When all were seated at table Levassor found under his napkin an Easter egg out of which five pieces of gold dropped on its being broken. "Ah, I perceive you have got to know that I am fond of boiled eggs." the comedian gayly remarked to his entertainer, 'but you are probably not tware that I only eat the white and must therefore ask you to give the rolk to the poor,"

HEALTHY MOTHERS.

Mothers should always keep in good odily fealth. They owe it to their nildren. Yet it is no unusual sight to children. Yet it is no unusual signi to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Boschee's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house-for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes.
