

THE Smart & Silberberg STORES.

Just Plain, Common Sense.

There may not be much literary ability displayed in our advertising. We do not believe in turning verbal hand-springs or somersaults to attract the attention of our buying public. But we believe in using common sense in our public announcements. There's a vein of common sense in most folks; to reach that vein is what this store is after, and we try to reach it by talking plain, straight-from-the-shoulder facts concerning our methods, merchandise and prices. Sometimes we hit, sometimes we miss, but we try to hit every time.

100 Dress Suit Cases at $1.29 each.

Like every other item which we advertise as special, this one is far beyond the ordinary. These suit cases are well made, strong and attractive. In appearance they look like a much higher priced case. They are made on strong steel frames, covered with fibre leather; much more wearable than an ordinary quality of real leather. Sizes 22, 24 and 26 inch, and all at the same price, $1.29—that is, as long as they last.

25 High Priced Tailored Gowns $10 each.

We have laid out 25 of our choicest tailor-made dresses for selling at $10 each. Some of these cost Smart & Silberberg twice that amount, and not a suit in the lot but what cost considerably more than $10, the price asked. They are all new, stylish and desirable. Colors are mostly Black, Brown and Navy. You see many suit advertisements in the papers lately, but we doubt if this offer will ever be equalled.

50 Women's Dress Skirts at $4.85 each.

An exceptional opportunity to buy a most serviceable skirt with great economy. Women's Dress Skirts made of Cheviots, Voiles, Broadcloth, Pan Cheviots and Mohair in Black and Blue. Skirts that were sold during the season at $7, $8 and $10. This price very special, $4.85.

Women's Shirt Waists at Half Price.

COMPANY NOW OWNS ZIEGLER.

Letters Transfer Mining Property, but Family Controls the Stock.
Carbondale, Ill., Aug. 9.—In the midst of a strike and at a time the most critical in the history of Ziegler it has just come to light, through the filing of two deeds, that the vast property has passed from the control of the Ziegler Coal company, a corporation formed in Delaware several months ago and capitalized for several million dollars.

In one of the deeds the grantors are Lady Curzon and Joseph Leiter, executors of the will of the late Levi Z. Leiter, and in the other conveyance the grantors are Mrs. Leiter, the widow, and the children, with the exception of Lady Curzon, and Seymour Morris, trustees of the Levi Z. Leiter estate.

These two deeds convey to the Ziegler Coal company all the interests which the estate had in the property, consisting of 7,500 acres of land, including mineral rights, for a consideration of $498,500. This consideration does not represent the full value of the property, but presumably embraces that portion which can be conveyed legally and still follow the expressed provisions of the Leiter will.

J. Ogden Armour Returns Home.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—J. Ogden Armour has returned from the East, where he went just prior to the settlement of the first strike of the packing house workers. The news of the second strike was a great surprise to him and his return to Chicago is believed to be for the purpose of assisting the other packers with his advice as to the course to pursue in dealing further with the strike. Mr. Armour declined to discuss the labor trouble in any of its phases or to indicate the nature of any plans he may have in mind.

Just Looking.

"Did you say your husband was out looking for work?"
"No, I believe he's out looking at work. There are some men digging a cellar down at the corner, and he doesn't seem able to get any farther."
—Philadelphia Press.

Too Easily Met.

Gunner—Yes, sir; I have an awful hard time meeting expenses. Guyer—Wish I could say the same. I meet them altogether too easily—never get out of sight of them, in fact.—Philadelphia Record.

CASEY FOUND HIS MATCH.

When He Spoke "As Man to Man" the Truth Came Out.

Judge Marcus Kavanagh of the Superior Court, used to be colonel of the Seventh Regiment the famous Irish regiment of the Illinois National Guard. So strict was the rule of admission to the regiment that before a man was placed on the muster roll he was obliged to prove his nationality. This proof was secured by sending the candidate, in charge of a corporal's guard to the wind-swept corner of the Masonic Temple. He was also given a pipe full of tobacco and a single match. If standing at the corner, he was able to light his pipe with the one match he was adjudged worthy of admission to the regiment.

During the Spanish-American war Col. Kavanagh took his regiment into camp yearning for active service. There was a private in the regiment named Casey. Casey was, in a way, the butt of the regiment. He was always getting into trouble and his native Irish wit was always getting him out again.

The regiment wanted to do some fighting and its members chafed against the confinement and strict discipline of camp life. All sorts of excuses were presented by members who wanted to slip back to Chicago for a few days. Col. Kavanagh got to be sadly cynical.

One day Private Casey managed to slip by the sentinel in front of Col. Kavanagh's tent and presented himself before his commanding officer, with his right hand at salute.

"Colonel," said Casey.
"Casey," said the colonel.
"My wife is lyin' at th' point of death in Chicago," said Casey, rubbing his eyes with his coat sleeve. "I'm after askin' you to leave me four days' leave av absence."

Col. Kavanagh looked at Casey and Casey looked at the colonel. There was that in Casey's eyes which seemed to belie his tears. The colonel put his right hand into the inside pocket of his coat. He pulled out a sheaf of letters.

"Your wife's illness must have been sudden," Casey, said the colonel. "I got a letter from her only this morning saying that the only peace and quiet she had since she married you was since you've been down here in camp."

"Colonel," burst out Casey, the tears vanishing from his eyes, "may I speak to ye as man to man?"
"You may, Casey."

"Not as a private speakin' to his commandin' officer?"
"As Mike Casey speakin' to Marcus Kavanagh."

"No guardhouse, no matter what I say?"
"Say what you please, Casey."

"Will, thin, colonel, there's the two biggest lars in th' camp under your tint roof this minute. I'm not married at all, be gob."—Chicago Tribune.

Beresford as a Boy.

Like many other boys who have risen to eminence, Lord Charles Beresford was the despair of both his parents and teachers. On his thirteenth birthday the choice of a calling was put before young Beresford by his father asking him whether he would enter the army or the navy or take up orders. "Well," he concluded, "what is it to be?"

"The navy," was Beresford's immediate reply.

"And why the navy, boy?" pursued the father.

"I'd like to be an admiral, like Nelson."

"Pshaw! Like Nelson! Why Nelson?"

"Because I want to."

"But even if you were to join the navy, why do you think you will ever become an admiral?"

"Because I mean to," was the curt and emphatic reply.—Tit-Bits.

A Loyal Haytian General.

Some years ago a Haytian general wrote to a Paris optician to supply him with a glass eye. The optician, flattering himself that a successful eye would secure for him a Haytian decoration, devoted his utmost intelligence to the production of a splendid glass eye. Six months elapsed; a small box reached him from Hayti. A cross glittered in his imagination, but, to his horror, within folds of cotton was his original eye, accompanied by the following note:—"Sir—The eye you forwarded to me is of a tint that resembles that of the Spanish flag, and I am too patriotic to wear any but the color of my country." The optician proceeded at once to the admiralty, there ascertained the colors of the Haytian flag, and then manufactured a scarlet and green eye, which he forwarded.—Exchange.

Nobody Injured.

A man came in the police court at Ottawa the other day carrying a friend on his back. The judge said: "What's the trouble?" The man said: "Judge, this man is a friend of mine, and his name is Gun. Now, judge, Gun is loaded. I know its against the law to carry a loaded gun on the streets, so I brought him here!" The judge said: "Gun, you are discharged," and the next day the report was in the papers.—Haworth (Ill.) Natural Gas.

Her Monologue Way.

Mrs. Hunter—Mrs. Spokane was here this afternoon. When she went away she said she had enjoyed every moment of the time. Wasn't that good of her?
Mr. Hunter—Every moment, eh? Gave you one of her regular monologues, I suppose.—Boston Transcript.
