United States Senator Hoar died Friday morning at Worcester, Mass. at 2 o'clock. He maintained to the last a wonderful fight against death, and for the last 12 hours his pulse and breathing were so faint that neither could be scarcely detected.

BENATOR GEORGE F. HOAR.

George Frisbie Hoar was born at Concord, Mass., in 1826; graduated at Harvard, studied law and graduated at Dane law school; settled at Worcester, where he practiced; was city solicitor in 1860; member of state house of representatives in 1852 and of the state senate in 1857. Elected representative to 41st, 42nd, 43rd and 44th congresses. Was an overseer of Harvard college 1874-1880; presided over the Massachusetts Republican conventions of 1871, 1877, 1882 and 1885; was delegate to national convention of 1876 at Cincinnati and of 1880, 1884 and 1888 at Chicago, presided over the convention of 1880. Was one of the managers of the Belknap impeachment in 1876; was a member of the electoral commission in 1876; regent of the Smithsonian institution; was a member and has been president of many historical and scientific societies; was trustee of the Peabody fund; was elected to the United States senate to succeed George S. Boutwell; took his seat in March, 1877, and was re-elected in 1883, 1889, 1895 and 1901. He has lately published Recollections of his Congressional Lafe.

BOODLER'S CONFESSION

Charles F. Kelly Relates Story of St. Louis Combine.

Kelly Names a Politician Who Gave Him $15,000 to Keep Out of Reach at the present time. of Grand Jury-Plots to Intimidate and Discredit Circuit Attorney Folk. Price of Votes.

St. Louis, Oct. 4.-In a written confession Charles F. Kelly, speaker of the house of delegates during a period to the life of the boodle combine, re lates the story of that combine.

lighting deal, for which he says a boodle fund of $47,500 was divided be tween the 19 members of the combine at Julius Lehmann's birthday party. He declares that a go-between gave him the boodle fund and that he took it to Lehmann's house and that he there divided it.

"We had a fixed schedule of prices," he said, "for various bills, according to the value of the franchises or privileges given. We hardly ever received less than $1,000 for the combined vote On one or two occasions, though, we got as low as $50 each for our votes, and some of the boys took $5 each.

"Our combine was not along party lines, Both Democrats and Republicans belonged to it. My experience has been that boodlers line up according to their own interests and not under party standards. Democrats and Republicans in St. Louis usually nominate men to go to the house of delegates for the money they can make out of it. "Each party man votes for his own fellow and either one that gets in serves those who rob the city of franchises. I believe this has been tolerated in St. Louis, because the heads of so many of the large corporations of the city used to think it less trouble to buy what they wanted than to elect honest men to the house of delegates. "There are many other things I can and will tell later on, but this will do now. This, in brief, is my story and the confession of my infamy. I be lieve, though that if the people of St Louis allow this man (a prominent politician is named) to go on and control both political parties and put his men in office, the public will be just as guilty as I am today. "I am now suffering the penalty o my crimes, am degraded and disgraced. I shall endeavor for the rest of my life to atone for the wrongs

Kelly declared that the politician be mentions paid him $15,000 of the $50, 000 promised on condition that Kelly would keep away from the grand jury Kelly went to Europe, intending to re main until after the statute of limita tion had run out on the lighting deal By a miscalculation, Kelly said, he came back too soon and was arrested Kelly added: "I know from my own knowledge and from the statements made to me by those on the inside that bribery has been going on in the municipal assembly of St. Louis for the past 25 years. Hardly a bill passed that body in the last quarter of a century unless it was paid for. We did not fear exposure and punishment. "When the present prosecutor (Cir cuit Attorney Folk) commenced his war on us, we tried to intimidate him by threats of assassination and when his had no effect we laid all sorts of traps for him, without success. Then some decided that the best plan would be to start a newspaper and libel him so fiercely as to draw his fire by taking up his time in libel prosecuting, or if he did not, his influence would be weakened and destroyed.

"Although we could find nothing after a thorough search to make attack on, libels were deliberately made up for the purpose of affecting public sentiment. This plan was participated in, not only by members of the house of delegates under indictment for boodling but by prominent financiers of St. Louis who feared exposure and by those who gave us the money." Of the combine, Kelly had this to

"We never thought of passing a bill out of which any money could be obtained, unless we were paid for our votes. We went about it in a business like way and had combine meetings at stated times and fixed the bribe price which we were to receive for our votes, by a majority vote of the combine. Then we would select one of the combine in whose honesty we had confidence, to go out and get the money.

"Among ourselves, understand, we and a high code of mora's, and it was considered extremely dishonest for a member of the combine to accept bribe money without dividing it among his fellows."

The history of his case shows him to have been a martyr to science to his devotion to the solution of the mysteries of the X-ray and fluoroscope. For 16 years Mr. Dally was employed in the Edison works and seven years ago became assistant in the X-ray experimental department, where continuous exposure to the mysterious power of the rays induced the cancerous growth on his hands which finally caused his death, after intense suffering, and the successive amputation of both his arms.
