—John Bush has a new dwelling house pretty well along toward completion on one of Liverman and Canfield's lots, near the river bank, and next the old Holmes House lot.

—The canning season is drawing to a close, but the White Star Grocery is yet receiving consignments of fruits almost daily. Get your orders in early or you may miss it. It —Col. L. F. Copeland, the popular lecturer, died recently at his home in Harrisburg. Col. Copeland has lectured in Tionesta, and will be remembered by many of our readers.

—An anxious inquirer wants to know of a good remedy for a falling appetite. We recommend ten hours a day of hard labor. If this doesn't cure, the young man must be in love. It

—There is no gas stove on the market that gives out so much heat for the amount of gas consumed as the handsome new stove called "Helios," for sale at McKinley's hardware store. It

—F. Walters & Co., the up-to-date milliners, have a nice line of trimmed hats and ready-to-wear hats, also, ready-made skirts and fancy neck wear. Call and see them before buying elsewhere. It —The Forest Telephone Co., has declared a 10 per cent. dividend to its stockholders recently. Not a bad "divvy" considering the line extensions and other improvements made during the past year.

—Jerry Adams is having his dwelling houses opposite the REPUBLICAN office re-shingled. The old shingles did very well, being of hemlock and having been on since the buildings were erected, about 14 years ago.

—A flock of forty-one wild geese passed over this place the other day, but as they were northward bound it would seem that we are to have yet a "spell of weather." May it be so, and that everything may be "lovely when the geese honk high."

—The upper leading siding at the Ponsy depot is being extended three hundred feet further down the river to accommodate the loading of the immense amount of chestnut bark and lumber that has been bought up in this vicinity by tannery people.

—The Joyce millinery will have on sale a new line of pattern hats Saturday of this week and all of next week, and a special invitation is extended to school teachers in attendance at institute to call early and inspect them while the assortment is complete. It —Eunice Berlin, an old resident of Pitch Pine, Forest county, was fatally injured at Shippenville, Clarion county, Monday morning. He was aged 78 years and was a prominent citizen. His daughter, Mrs. Sydie, is a nurse in the Oil City Hospital.—Franklin News.

—Indications are that turkeys, which were so scarce last year on account of the long continued wet weather that drowned the young birds following their mother through the grass, will be much more plentiful this year and the price reasonable, so it is hoped, anyhow.

—Pure Food Commissioner Warren has instructed his agents all over the State to be on the watch for adulterated flour the result of the jump in the price of wheat. Unscrupulous dealers in flour have been adulterating their product with any old thing that looks like flour and is cheaper than wheat, and this has come to Commissioner Warren's knowledge.

—An exchange says of Mr. Sibley's meetings in Warren county, that his tour is little less than a succession of ovations. At Russell on Tuesday the rally was held in the afternoon. But notwithstanding that farmers are busy completing their harvest Mr. Sibley proved to be a magnet that left the farming district bereft of men. The Congressman is finding everything harmonious in Warren with no dissension in party ranks.

REASONABLE AND CORRECT.

The "pheasant" is a gamey bird. A fact that doubtless has occurred, to all whose vision has been blurred. When through the brush he swiftly whirled, and hunter's feelings rudely stirred, to utterance of a strenuous word. The "pheasant" is a gamey bird. —Oil City Blizzard.

—Rilda, the 15-year-old daughter of John Brecht, of Hickory township, was taken to the Oil City hospital Sunday, by her physician, Dr. Bovard, where on Monday she was operated upon for appendicitis. The case was a serious one, but she came out of the operation very nicely, and the physicians expect her recovery without much further trouble.

—The new pipe line which the Wilburline Oil Company is laying between its Crop Hill end and the wells on the Curtin lands near Little Tionesta creek, is about half completed, but, as Superintendent Mills informs us, it is the most difficult part, the work will progress much more rapidly from this on, and the connection will probably be made within the next two or three weeks.

—This evening at four o'clock, Mr. Merton Mealy, of Oil City, will lead to the hymeneal altar one of Tionesta's handsomest and most charming young ladies in the person of Miss Iva, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Holman. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride in the presence of about forty of the relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties, and will be performed by Rev. W. O. Calhoun, pastor of the M. E. church.

—The gaming season was opened all right last Saturday, and one might have led to believe from the deserted aspect of the town that a camp meeting was in progress somewhere, while the canning in the surrounding districts might have been mistaken for a squad of skirmishers from the far east war. All the huntmen, so far as we are able to learn, returned safely in the evening, after the manner of "Little Boopie's sheep," and reporting a mighty dearth in the game crop.

—A New York paper says the Standard Oil Company has started work on the erection of the five biggest oil tanks in this country. They are to be built at Van Buskirk's Farm, which occupies a neck of land at Bayonne, N. J., that extends into New York Bay. The tanks will each be 115 feet in diameter and 36 feet high, and will have a holding capacity of 2,719,483 gallons of oil each. The largest tank in the local field has a capacity of 35,000 barrels. The ones mentioned would have a capacity of over 50,000 barrels.

—Every school child knows that Pennsylvania is called the Keystone State, but it is not generally known why. In the Continental Congress at Philadelphia July 4, 1776, the vote adopting the Declaration of Independence was taken by States. Of the original thirteen six voted in the negative and six in the affirmative, making a tie. Then John Morton, heading the Pennsylvania representatives, cast the deciding vote in the affirmative. It was a closer call than we like to admit in this generation. Pennsylvania saved the day and has ever since been styled the "Keystone State."

—Tuesday of last week, at a stockholders' meeting of the Jefferson County Gas Co., held in Warren, Pa., Wm. Richards, of Mayburg, was elected president of the company, and A. W. Richards, of Findley, Ohio, was elected general manager, resigning his position with the Logan Gas Co., and moving to Warren. Wm. Richards is a prominent stockholder in the Jefferson company, which owns 10,000 acres of good gas territory in that county, and has 37 miles of eight inch line running into Warren, where they supply refineries, manufacturers, etc. They also own 50 miles of telephone line.

—A shocking fatality occurred at Tidoute Thursday night. Section men going to work Friday morning found the body of Lewis Norton lying on the tracks, mangled almost beyond recognition. It is supposed he had been in town during the night, became intoxicated and while on his way home laid down on the track to sleep and was killed by a freight train. Norton was unmarried. In recent years he had been employed at a number of different sawmills in that vicinity. He was a veteran of the Civil War and a member of Col. Cushman Post, No. 311, of Tidoute.

—A "never-failing remedy" for nervous headache is described by scientific authority thus: It consists simply of walking backward, but the method of walking is an important factor in the cure. The pace should be very slow, letting the ball of the foot touch the floor first, then the heel. A ball or narrow room serves the purpose best. The theory underlying the cure is that the reflex action of the body brings about the reflex action of the brain; thus the pain induced by nervousness, which is said to be the result of too much going forward, is driven away by a simple process of reversal. It wouldn't hurt to try it. If it doesn't cure it won't kill.

—The W. C. T. U. held a meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 11th. After the regular business meeting a prayer service was conducted by Mrs. Derickson, Supt. of Evangelical Work. Under a very able committee plans have been laid for the work of the coming year, programs have been arranged and printed, and it is earnestly hoped that all members will be in regular attendance and that a greater interest will be taken than ever before. The curfew ordinance was a subject of discussion and the disgraceful manner in which its enforcement is being neglected was a matter of much comment. The W. C. T. U. has decided to take the matter in hand and see that this commendable law is more vigorously enforced in future.

—Says the Oil City Blizzard: Frank Eichner and Fred Steman, a pair of Oil City's crack shots, have arrived home from a hunting trip with a bunch of nine ducks which they had finished with their trusty shotguns. They were passing a farm house in Forest county and spied the fowl swimming in a small pond. The lady of the house was asked what she would charge for one shot at the duck gathering and her reply was a quarter of a dollar. Steman paid the price and banged away, and after the smoke had cleared one lifeless duck was starting him in the face. Eichner fired a quarter, gave it to the lady and fired four beauties, at least ten feet apart, succumbed to his errorless aim. Ten shots killed the remaining four quackers and the lot cost the hunters three dollars. Cheap enough at that price.

Death of James S. Henderson.

James Siggins Henderson was born at East Hickory, Pa., March 21, 1854, and died October 14, 1904, at the age of 20 years, 6 months and 23 days. He was the youngest son of James S. Henderson, a life-long resident of this place, and Nancy Louisa Henderson, now deceased. He was married October 14, 1903, to Kliza M. Wadsworth, now of this place, formerly of Townville, Pa. He is survived by his wife and seven-weeks-old baby girl, his father, two brothers, Frank J., of East Hickory, and John T., of Eagle Rock, and two sisters, Mrs. W. P. Crouch, of East Hickory, and Mrs. N. E. Holmes, of Nebraska, Pa. He was well known in Nebraska and Eagle Rock, having been employed at both places in the capacity of locomotive fireman, and was carried to his last resting place by six fellow workmen from these places.

This was one of the saddest deaths that has been known in this community in recent years, having occurred on the first anniversary of his wedding. He was taken ill with typhoid fever at his home in Eagle Rock, and after a few days was removed to the Oil City hospital, where the best skill that the city and hospital afforded was obtained for him, all of which was of no avail, and within less than a fortnight from the beginning of his illness he passed away, surrounded by all his nearest relatives.

His body was brought to his father's home in this place on the afternoon of the day on which he died, where it remained until Sunday, when at 11 o'clock it was borne to the M. E. church, followed by a large concourse of friends, not more than half of whom could gain admittance to the church. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Mowery, pastor of the M. E. church. He was laid to rest in the family cemetery. We say "laid to rest," because he had found that rest which the Savior gives to those who seek Him.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to his brothers and sisters in their loss; to his aged father, sorrowing for his youngest born; to the grief-stricken young wife, robbed by Death of her young husband, and to the baby daughter, to whom her father will be but a name.

East Hickory, Pa., Oct. 15, 1904.

Letter to D. W. Morrison.

Tionesta, Pa.

Dear Sir: You are a teacher: here's one for your boys:

If the painting costs two or three times as much as the paint, and one paint goes twice as far as another, how much are these two paints worth?

If Devos is worth $1.50 or $1.75 a gallon, how much is the other one worth?

How much is a gallon of paint worth, anyhow?

The answer is: Depends on the paint.

The reason is: Paint isn't always paint. There are true and false paint and short measure.

How much is a short-measure gallon worth? How much is false paint worth? How much is Devos worth?

There are millions a year in the answer to this last one.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOS & Co.,

P. S.—Jar. D. Davis sells our paint.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know that there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by Dr. J. C. Dunn.
