"HONEST INJUN."

How the Chickasaws were Taught the Meaning of the Expression.

Among the earliest comers to the Hatcher country, in western Tennessee, was a Mr. Barnes, a blacksmith, who became a friend of the Chickasaw Indians and often mended their guns without charge. Barnes was a poor man, but obtaining on credit a donkey named Moses, which was valued at a considerable sum, he imported the animal and stabled it at the smithy, says the Youth's Companion. It was the first in that region. One morning he found the door open and Moses gone. He followed a trail to the bank of the river and lost it. The stream was in flood, and he believed his valuable animal was drowned. Unless he found some way to raise the money to pay for it he was a ruined man.

Two months later a trading schooner came down the Hatcher from Bolivar, and on the roof, spread out in the sun, was the hide of Moses, unmistakable in its soft and handsome gray. Barnes related his story to the trader and received the skin, which had been bought at Bolivar from a trader there. As no white man would have shot a donkey Barnes concluded that the Indians, who had never seen one, but who were then hunting on the Hatcher, were the offenders.

To trap them he tried a little stratagem. He organized a shooting contest and offered as a prize "the handsomest skin ever taken on the Hatcher, the pelt of a beautiful animal."

He had shot it and sold the hide at Bolivar. He was delighted to get it back.

This was what Barnes had hoped for. Standing, he addressed the Chickasaws.

"My brothers," he said, "you know me. I am a poor man, but I am a friend to the Chickasaw. I mend his gun for him and deal fairly by him. This animal was my white man's pony. I bought it far away and brought it here. It cost me much wampum, but the price of many Indian ponies. To lose it will lose me all. It escaped me and went to the woods, and there a Chickasaw killed it."

"When I am in Chickasaw country, I obey Chickasaw law. When Chickasaw is in white man's country, he should obey white man's law. White man's law is that whoever kills my pony must pay me for it. What will Chickasaw do?"

The Indians had listened attentively. When he had finished, they went to their ponies, tethered near by. The whites watched them meanwhile with intense interest. The Indians untethered their ponies and brought them up.

"Take um," they said, "Indian have only ponies. Give um all."
"How many?" asked Barnes.
"You say how many."
Barnes appointed an appraiser, who selected a number of ponies equal in value to the donkey. These the blacksmith sold to his neighbors.

LABOR FOR ROOSEVELT

President Popular With Wage-Earners Throughout the Country.

HAS SHOWN INTEREST IN THEM

Continuance of the Nation, He Believes, Depends Upon the Prosperity of the Workingmen.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, Oct. 18.

One of the reasons why Chairman Penrose, of the Republican state committee, is so confident of polling a record-breaking majority for Roosevelt this fall is the unusual interest taken in the campaign by the vast army of wage earners of this state, who look upon the president as their particular friend and champion.

Probably no other candidate for the presidency ever enjoyed the enthusiastic support of labor which is being given Theodore Roosevelt in the present campaign. This condition of affairs is based not only upon his official acts since he came into public life, but upon his personal interest shown on many occasions in the welfare of the workingmen. He has not played the part of the demagogue, which many politicians who start out to get the so-called labor vote seem to think they must do. He has invariably shown that he recognizes the fact that the stability of this republic must depend upon the great army of workers who make possible the great industrial and business development that is witnessed throughout the United States.

All the schemes and artful tactics of the Democrats in this campaign to array the "labor vote" against the Republican ticket, especially in the closely-contested congressional districts, have been signal failures.

A few corrupt labor leaders may have been subsidized here and there to send out campaign literature in the interest of the Democracy, but the vast army of voters among the industrial, manufacturing, agricultural and business interests of the nation will be with Roosevelt and his party at the coming election.

Union labor and those not identified with any organization are of one mind in their support of the Republican party in this campaign. There is nothing either in the Democratic platform or the records of the Democratic candidates that appeals to the workingmen.

The editor of the Labor World, of Pittsburg, in commenting upon the candidacy of President Roosevelt a few days ago, said:

"It is, indeed, difficult to perceive why any trade unionist, or, in fact, wage workers in general should be opposed to Theodore Roosevelt in his candidature for the presidency of the country. Sound objections are not discernible either from a standpoint of logic or expediency. Since George Washington first became the executive head of the country right up to the death of McKinley, labor has not had a better friend at the head of the nation than Theodore Roosevelt. It is extremely problematical as to whether or not he has had an equal in this respect."

"Organized labor has ever been demanding equality; a fair show in the race. This has always been the dominant cry of trade unionism. No man as executive head of the nation has done more toward establishing this equality than President Roosevelt."

Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, has been visiting the manufacturing centres of the country, and has had among his audiences many thousands of workingmen, and his remarks have invariably been applauded vigorously. In one of his recent speeches he made these timely statements:

"The Democratic party has always assumed that the one requisite to human happiness and prosperity is cheap living expenses. The Republican party, on the contrary, has always urged the importance of high-priced products, whether that product be a day's work or the result of a day's work. The Democrats promise the best market in the world in which to buy, and we promise the best market in the world in which to sell. Both have been signally successful in bringing about the promised conditions."

"Every time the Democratic party has had control of both houses of congress or the presidency it has reduced the price of food and clothes and wages to a minimum, and the Republican party has never had control without enlarging the American market, both for wages and the product of wages. The Democratic party always advocated the open door in America, as well as in Asia, and it assumes that if the United States will swing its doors wide open, then the world will emulate our generosity. Democrats express their theories of reciprocity after this manner: 'If we will give the world its share of our trade, then the world will grant us our share of its trade. This sounds very sweet, but before we consummate the exchange we had better inquire what the world's market is worth. The aggregate export of the world's market is about $10,000,000,000. Thus the Democratic party, in effect, says: Give the world its share of our $20,000,000,000 domestic trade, and we can get our share of the world's $10,000,000,000 export trade."

"We do get our share of this export trade, and we get a larger share than any other nation, and more than one-eighth of the aggregate. I recommend that the Democratic proposition be rejected."

BATTLE OF SARATOGA.

Soldiers' Monument Dedicated on 127th Anniversary.

Schuylerville, Oct. 18.—The dedication of a monument to heroes of the civil war took place here yesterday in connection with the celebration of the 127th anniversary of the battle of Saratoga.

The weather was clear and bright. Owing to the severe frost the early morning was a counterpart of the historic day commemorated. The monument which was dedicated is of Barre granite and as it stands has a total height of 17 feet, including the base, sub-base, pedestal and the statue. The statue is that of a soldier standing at rest and is six foot six inches in height.

The parade of veterans was led by General W. B. French of Saratoga Springs, marching from the site of Burgoyne's headquarters past the field to the monument, where the exercises took place.

Former Assemblyman Charles F. McNaughton, a one-armed veteran, presided, and after prayer by Rev. J. M. Webster, Colonel H. D. Ellsworth of Canton spoke on the historic associations of the day. A poem "The Arms They Bore," was then read by Wallace Bruce of Brooklyn, and an address delivered by General O. O. Howard of Burlington, Vt.

He reviewed American history from Ticonderoga, Bunker Hill, Saratoga, Yorktown and the battles of the civil war and spoke of the lessons of patriotism trained from a study of American history.

The Saratoga County Civil War Veterans' association met later. The next annual reunion will be held at Waterford in 1905. These officers were elected: W. W. Lavery, president; J. S. Stafford, J. R. Gibbs and Philip Head, vice presidents; Jerome Ball, secretary, and John D. Rogers, treasurer.

A New Idea About Life Insurance.

Ever try to insure your life? Notice the extreme care taken by the medical examiner to find the exact condition of the kidneys? Thousands of people are annually rejected by the insurance companies because they have kidney trouble. Most of those people do not know it. It is an insidious disease, with various symptoms, deceiving the doctor as well as the patient. Neglected long enough, it proves fatal. Heartburn, palpitation, dizziness, sluggishness, indigestion, loss of flesh all indicate that your kidneys are not properly performing their functions, or that your liver is disordered. Thompson's Barosma is an absolutely infallible cure for all kidney and liver disorders. The worst cases yield to it immediately. Thompson's Barosma works like magic—a strong statement, but one borne out by thousands of authentic testimonials. I had been confined to the house with Kidney Complaint for seven weeks and was most of the time in bed. Some time before I had been refused life insurance, as I was told I could not live many months. At the suggestion of the druggist, who was a friend of mine, I began taking Thompson's Barosma, Kidney and Liver Cure, and I am happy to make the statement, which my wife will affirm that five bottles of Barosma completely cured me. Also I refer to any of my neighbors as to the above facts. ORSON HOPKINS, Townville, Pa. All druggists, 50c and $1.00.
