—Guns for rent and ammunition for sale at the White Star Grocery. It is time to be thinking of those Christmas presents.
—Some went up Salt River this trip who've never been there before.
—The hottest one yet is "Helios" the radiator gas heater, for sale by McKinley the plumber.
—The subject for Sunday at the M. E. church is "Thoughts for Thanksgiving Day." Services at 7:30 p. m.
—Currants, celery and all the necessary "trimmings" for your Thanksgiving dinner at the White Star Grocery. It is that new suit, right in the pink of fashion, made upon honor and guaranteed to fit and wear, awaits you at this store, Hopkins.

—Rev. J. Paul Stonaker, of Minneapolis, Minn., will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sunday at the usual hours, and also the Sunday following.
—The population of the world is now estimated to be 1,563,300,000. You are only one. Please bear in mind always that there are others.—Bradford Era.
—Furs and wraps, fresh from the makers, better quality and at less than "consignment" prices, at Hopkins. See them.
—Peter Karn and Chris Miller bagged an old coon and three coons one day last week, and didn't moan half try. They, (the young coons) were pretty good sized and their fur was in good condition.
—George Haslet of Guilfordville holds the traps he set last Saturday and found he had three wildcats, a mink and a pine squirrel, all in four traps, one of which held a mother cat and her kitten.

—Through the efforts of the Ladies of the Macabees of East H. colony and Endeavor, those two thriving towns are now connected with a substantial board walk, a feature that is greatly appreciated by those who must travel back and forth.
—W. L. Klinefelter, prohibition nominee for County Treasurer, ran considerably ahead of his ticket in this place. As Mr. Klinefelter made no effort to secure votes it was a nice complimentary vote given him by his neighbors.—Sheffield Observer.

—There will be no jury court next week, all the civil cases having been either continued or discontinued, and the criminal list is of such insignificance as to make the assembling of the grand jury unnecessary. The prosperous times are telling all around.
—Up to the hour of going to press no report has reached this office of any deer having been killed in this county, although the season is now more than two weeks gone. The main reason for this lack of information can be summed up in three little words—there are none.
—Following is the list of letters lying unclaimed for in the Tionesta, Pa., post-office for week ending Nov. 16th, 1904: Mr. C. H. Nickles, Mr. C. G. Brown, Esq., Miss Mary Bloss, W. C. C. Johnston, (card.)

D. S. KNOX, P. M.
—A Kansas City paper published the item: "The business man of this city who is in the habit of hugging the hired girl had better quit or we will publish his name." The next day 27 business men called and paid their subscriptions and told the editor not to give any attention to foolish stories.
—The vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. C. Y. Datar, of Kellestville, from the board of pension examiners for Forest county, has been filled by the appointment of Dr. F. J. Bovard, of Tionesta. The new board will reorganize today, and now consists of Drs. J. W. and W. G. Morrow, and F. J. Bovard.

—Fearing that his terrible dream might come true, Clyde Lawrence, of Sharon, an Erie railroad brakeman, resigned Saturday and announced that he will never work on any railroad again. He dreamed that he was caught between the bumpers, was horribly crushed, that he lost consciousness and came to in a coffin.
—Social functions were quite in order last week in Tionesta society. Mrs. Smearbaugh and Mrs. Wenk entertained jointly in a noon luncheon at the home of the former, on Friday. The same evening Mrs. Henry gave a five o'clock dinner, and on the following evening Mrs. Randall, at the Rural House, entertained similarly.

—The result of the first great annual cock-crowing competition in Paris is that a bird named Tannhäuser has taken first prize by crowing 60 times in half an hour. Toredora, the first day's champion, was second with 38 crows, and Santos Dumont third with 36 crows. One of the competing birds was insured for $2,000 during the period of competition.
—There is an Italian woman in Franklin who has secured rolls of money by begging. Her plan is this: She dresses very shabby and hangs a few rags on a baby which she carries in her arms, and then goes through stores and shops, telling her poverty-stricken story. She could dress in silks if she wanted to and keep from starving for several years to come without doing any more begging.

"I can't see for the life of me," said Mr. William Bondix, "Why there should be inside of me a vermiform appendix."
"Because it gives," said Dr. Tate, "So grand a chance to operate."

—In accordance with the order of the postmaster general, rural letter carriers are granted permission to observe Thanksgiving Day as a holiday. No delivery of mail to patrons or to intermediate offices will be made by them on that day. Patrons of the local routes will be given their mail by calling for it, but should remember that usual holiday hours will be observed at the postoffice on Thanksgiving Day.

—Mrs. Shotts, wife of Robert Shotts, of Leeper, Pa., well known to many of our readers, was found dead in her bed Friday morning, November 11th, 1904, death being caused from heart trouble. She leaves a husband, four sons and five daughters to mourn her loss, together with many friends. She was a consistent member of the M. E. church for over 30 years, and will be greatly missed by the church and community.

—L. J. Osgood was down from Endeavor Monday on business and paid the REPUBLICAN a pleasant call. He states that the Wheeler & Dusenbury and mill which has been idle for the past five weeks undergoing a thorough overhauling and repairs, will be ready to start up again next week, in better condition than ever for turning out great quantities of lumber. The entire under portion of the mill was rebuilt with oak foundation timbers, making it a very solid structure.

—In pursuance of its annual custom, the Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has just issued an attractive and comprehensive book descriptive of the leading Winter resorts of the East and South, and giving the rates and various routes and combinations of routes of travel. It can be had free of charge at the principal ticket offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, or will be sent postpaid upon application to Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

—When horses were first hitched to vehicles the driver never thought of riding himself, but walked by the side of the road as he held the reins. So as to have his right hand always ready he walked on the left side, and consequently the horse on the left side came to be known as the "near" horse and the one on the right side was called the "off" horse. In that manner the terms "near horse" and "off horse" became general and still prevail to horses hitched as a team.

—We would like to know if any of our readers have hit upon a way of burying apples in a pit in the ground so they will keep well the winter through and come out in the spring without that earthy flavor. We have yet to eat an apple that was buried in an earthen pit that didn't have a taste of the earth, and if anyone has found out a way to bury apples in the ground without having them get this objectionable taste, we would like to have him speak out, not only for our benefit but for the benefit of others.—North East Breeze.

—The December Delineator, with its message of good cheer and helpfulness, will be welcomed in every home. The fashion pages are unusually attractive, illustrating and describing the very latest modes in a way to make their construction during the busy festive season a pleasure instead of a task, and the literary and pictorial features are of rare excellence. In addition, there are the regular departments of the magazine, with many special articles on topics relating to woman's interests within and without the home.

—"Hero" Hobson was delivering a Democratic speech in Columbus, Ind., and was bitterly denouncing the President. Miss Ida Galbraith, a teacher in the public schools, stepped forward and looking him in the eye, rebuked the oscillatory young man in a spirited manner. The story of the incident reached the White House and on Thursday Miss Galbraith received a letter from Mr. Roosevelt thanking her for her action. The letter contained a photograph of the President and Miss Galbraith is about the proudest school marm in Indiana. She is now known as a lovely Republican girl. And Hobson, in Columbus, Ind., is regarded as a political lobster.

—As the cold weather advances the trials and tribulations of the rural mail carrier increase. There are many ways in which the patrons can assist the carriers, aiding them in the discharge of their duties as well as making some of their work less troublesome. When patrons wish to send letters or packages and do not have the stamps, or the carriers request that they place the pennies in a paper and pin the money to the letter or package. By doing this the carrier does not have to remove his glove or mitten to pick the cents from the bottom of the box. When the weather is very cold and it is storming, the carrier's hands become ice degrees numb and it is with difficulty that he can get hold of the pennies, and very often money is dropped and much inconvenience results. The carriers have a difficult time at the best during the fall and winter and the patrons will no doubt be willing to assist them in every way possible.—Tionesta Herald.

—There is but one sentiment expressed throughout the state, with reference to the ballot used at the late election, and it will be strange indeed if the ticket is not changed at the earliest opportunity. In Forest County a great many votes intended for the candidates for Congress, Legislature and the county officers were not counted. And the same condition of affairs existed in all parts of the state. Dr. Snyder, the well known Auditor General of the state, says "there must be some change in the form of the ballot that will insure a voter that he has voted for all the candidates he wishes to vote for. I am satisfied that thousands of votes for state and county tickets were lost because of this ballot." State Banking Commissioner McAtee, who resides in Pittsburg, says "The Republican candidates on the state and county tickets in Allegheny County lost 16,000 votes because of that abominable ballot. It was the worst ballot ever devised, and fooled many into the belief that they were voting the entire ticket by marking in the square opposite the names of the Presidential candidates, when as a matter of fact they were voting for the electors."

Instantly Killed By Falling Tree.

Lawrence Blum, son of Henry Blum, whose farm is located on Pigeon hill, two miles from this place, was instantly killed by a falling tree yesterday afternoon. He was engaged with his father's horse in skidding ties on a tract of land up near the county home. The men who were making the ties were felling a tree, when the young man was near. As the tree began to fall they called to him to "look out!" He was watching it, but in its descent the tree fell against a dead tree, which was knocked over and caught the young man and crushed him to the ground. His companions ran to him, but the tree had done its fatal work. It was found that his neck, back and one leg were broken. The body of the unfortunate young man was removed to his home at once, the parents having first been made aware of the frightful accident.

Lawrence was aged about twenty years, and was one of the sturdy, energetic young men of his community; full of life and ambition, and a general favorite with all who knew him. His tragic death is a crushing blow to the fond parents, and has cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood. Deepest sympathy is expressed on all sides for the father and mother, and all relatives in this heartrending fatality.

Heavy Loss By Fire.

A serious loss that entails a heavy burden upon the owner, was occasioned by the burning of a large farm barn in Hickory township, this county. At exactly ten minutes to four o'clock, last Saturday morning, the large barn (36x48) belonging to James Hunter, who lives about three and a half miles east of Endeavor, was discovered to be on fire by his son O. B. Hunter. The alarm was given and Mr. Hunter and his sons ran out and made an attempt to save what they could. The fire at this time was breaking through the roof and when the horse barn doors were opened, the flames took a downward course, driving the men from the barn, and nothing was saved. The loss includes five head of young cattle, 285 bushels of oats, a lot of corn, buckwheat, hay and straw. Mr. Hunter also lost all his harness and farming implements. A peddler named Wolf Rosen, of St. Marys, who was spending the night with Mr. Hunter, also lost his horse, but saved his wagon loaded with goods, which had been run into a shed for safe keeping. Mr. Hunter is of the opinion that the barn was fired, as he was up about the house between two and three o'clock, and everything was all right at that time, and the large barn doors, which were always hooked on the inside, were standing wide open when he and his sons arrived at the barn. The total loss will exceed $4,000, upon which there is an insurance of but six hundred dollars. Mr. Hunter has for years been a jobber for Wheeler & Co., and he will be compelled to replace about everything he lost in order to fulfill his contracts.

Death of James Brumbaugh.

James A. Brumbaugh, whose serious illness from typhoid fever has been noted in this paper, died at his home in Tionesta, on Sunday evening, Nov. 13th, 1904, at 8 o'clock. He contracted fever while at work at Eagle Rock, where he was employed as filer on the saw mill at that place, about three weeks ago. During his illness he received the best of care, being in charge of a trained nurse from the beginning, but the disease was of a type that baffled all efforts. Mr. Brumbaugh was born at Goltz, Pa., April 5, 1873, where he spent the greater portion of his life. Being of an industrious and energetic turn of mind he was seldom idle when he had employment. He moved to Tionesta about a year ago, and by his quiet, gentlemanly bearing made many friends, all of whom are pained to learn of his death. He leaves his wife and two daughters, besides his mother, Mrs. Wm. Watson of Tylersburg, one brother and two sisters, all of whom have the deep sympathy of their neighbors and friends in this great bereavement. Mr. Brumbaugh was a member of the M. E. church, and lived a good Christian life. Funeral services were held at his late home yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. O. Calhoun. The deceased was also a member of the Odd Fellows, the members of which order did much in kindly acts and attentions during his sickness to alleviate his suffering. Today the body will be conveyed to Salem, Clarion county, for interment, and will be accompanied by a delegation of Odd Fellows.

Shields-Butterfield.

Miss Daisy, daughter, of Mrs. Rachel Butterfield, of Crown, Pa., and Arch F. Shields, manager for L. S. Clough & Co., of McCays, Pa., were united in marriage according to the beautiful and impressive rites of the Roman Catholic service at St. Mary's church, at Crown, Pa., on Wednesday morning, November 9th, 1904, at 9 o'clock, very Rev. P. J. Sheridan, V. G., assisted by Rev. Joseph B. Keegan, of St. Mary's Parish, celebrated the nuptial high mass and performed the ceremony which made the happy couple man and wife. This was one of the most notable weddings that has taken place in that section in many years. The bride and groom are justly popular in the community in which they live, the former being a finished musician who has spent much of her time in Oil City, where she has for the past year or two conducted a successful music class. She has appeared before Tionesta audiences, and has many warm friends among our young people. The groom is one of Forest county's most excellent young men. The wedding presents were many, varied and beautiful, but none were more appreciated, perhaps, than this one, described by one who was there and saw the beautiful collection: Near the display and resting on a chair was a bed quilt seemingly out of place amid its magnificent surroundings. But like many a modest individual the real worth was there and it will receive many of its new owners' thoughts and much regard when its more showy neighbors are relegated to the china closet or oblivion. For the quilt is an heir-loom, made many years ago, nearly 100, by the grandmother of the bride when a little girl; its many stitches testify to the care with which the girls of that day were taught. It has come down through the many years, unsoiled and unspoiled and may it long survive to teach the young ladies of those degenerate days that there is something more important in life than lawn tennis and frivolity generally. It was presented by Mr. Leonard Agnew, of Tionesta, uncle of the bride.

—Major B. J. Reid, one of the oldest and best known attorneys of this section, who practiced for years in Clarion, and was a frequent visitor to Tionesta during the sitting of courts, is dying at the Mercy hospital, Pittsburg, of pneumonia. His age, nearly 81 years, is largely against his recovery.

Court Proceedings.
At adjourned argument court held last Friday, Nov. 11, 1904, Judge Lindsey handed down the following important decisions:
In the case of Hunt vs. A. E. Stonecipher, an equity proceeding, the Court held that under the act of 1859 on A. E. Stonecipher, who is now a resident of the State of Indiana.
In the matter of the settlement of the estate of Matthew Elliot, deceased, exceptions were filed to the final account of the Administrator. The Court sustained some of the exceptions and the Administrator was surcharged to the amount of $422.
In the case of Commonwealth vs. Dawson the Court arrested judgment on the second count of the indictment for the reason that the second count should have been quashed on account of duplicity, but over-ruled the motion for a new trial, and imposed a fine of $50 and costs upon the defendant on the charge of assault and battery.
A sanitary agent was appointed on application of the school board of Kingsley township to act for six months.
There being but two cases for trial at the November sessions the Court directed that the Jurors be notified not to appear.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
From Napier New Zealand, Herald: From two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain's Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by Dr. J. C. Dunn.

Cabbage Snake Comes North.

The recently discovered cabbage snake which has caused a number of deaths in the South has made its appearance in the North near Hazelton, Pa. Mrs. James Shuster made the discovery while making her winter's supply of kraut. The serpent is over a foot in length and is white in color, although under a glass it shows uniform green spots. Certain species of aders nest in cabbage heads and it is supposed that the cabbage snake is a partially developed adder.—E. X.

Editor REPUBLICAN:—As I consider it my duty to warn the people through your columns against the cabbage snake recently discovered in cabbage raised in my garden in Concord township, by my daughter Lulu, while cutting cabbage for cold slaw, the snake was perhaps 18 in. in length and white in color and under glass showed signs of life also jointed and a very nasty looking reptile.
Respectfully yours,
A. CABR, Karnes City, Butler Co., Penna.
