-The horse editor of the Franklin News gives this disquisition on the habits of the squirrel and groundhog, which is new to many of us: "Most people think fortably curled up in their nests all winter, but that is not exactly the case. All the members of both families get out for 57th year, and is survived by his wife a drink and a luncheon occasionally. Groundhog day is not their only time to this week see the sun. When the frost is on the pane, they curl up a little closer and rest a week or two at a time, but at intervals they make little runs to the nearest brook or pond and get a breath of fresh air. Especially are they active as winter begins to wane and in clear, but mild days, one may meet very quiet red squirrels as they trip through the treetops. Field mice keep pretty busy all the time, working in the fence corners where the grass is matted to make them a shelter as they burrow and in swampy land that is not too wet. The minks and muskrats are in retirement a good deal, but they are fishing and digging for roots when the days have a warm bit of sunshine. water rats have their own home, like the beaver, where they can get to water and fish and snails and gather small creatures in the mud, so they can work when they choose and fast when they find it easier. Only the toads and frogs go under ground neglect to feed and seem to "hold their breath" all winter.

Second Affliction Within a Week.

Again the Death Angel has invaded the ome of Mr. E. A. Yetter, of Marienville, and taken one of the bright at and most interesting of the family. Mary Lenore Yetter was born July 20th, 1900, rnd passed away Jan, 12th, 1905, at midnight, following her sister, Effie, just one week, almost within an bour. She had flow een seriously ill very long, the disease, cerebro-spinal menengitis, taking a fatal turn less than two weeks prior. A bright, winsome little creature, full of life and childish joy and mirth, the pet of the household, is thus suddenly taken. And what an aching void is left! Funeral services were held at the house Saturday afternoon, cenducted by Kev. Mr. Adams of the M. E. Church, who took for his text the words of the Master, "Suffer little children to come unto me." and his talk was full of consolation to the bereaved family.

Ended Her Life.

Recently Mrs. R. C. Heath, of Starr, l'a., received the sad news that her sisterin-law, Mrs. J. G. Mattes, of Marion. Kansas, had committed suicide by shooting herself in the head with a revolver, the unfortunate affair taking place on the 26th of December last. Mrs. Mattes had been sick for about three weeks, suffering with a severe pain in the head, causing delerium at times, but on the morning in question she had requested her husband to get some milk for the baby. This he did, little realizing what was in her mind When he returned he found her lying on the floor in a pool of blood, Physicians were summoned but she lived only about an hour. The doctor said the great pains had unbalanced her mind.

Mrs. Mattes was about 24 years of age, of a cheerful disposition, and had been married about four years. Besides the husband, a baby boy aged one year survives. The deceased was a step-daughter of Thomas Purday, formerly a resident of this county, now of Elk, Kansas, and who will be remembered by many of our citizens, especially the survivors of the old 83d regiment, of which he was a member during the Civil War,

New Game Law Proposition.

It is stated that Representative Snyder, of Schuylkill county, will introduce an important bill regulating the hunting and fishing in this state. It provides for all game coming in season the same month, viz., rabbits, hare, wild turkey, pheasants, quail, woodcock, squirrels, etc., November 1 to January 1. A gunner's license is a new feature, which provides that every gunner shall pay a license of $1 a year to hunt, this money to go into the county treasury. From this revenue 25 per cent, shall be used for the propagation of game birds and animals, to go to the county chairman of gunners, each district of the county to receive game and a chairman to be appointed to receive the same. The other 75 per cent. shall go to wardens for protection of game birds, anmals and fish, who will also guard against fires on the hills, valleys and mountains, The wardens may be appointed by councils of cities, boroughs and townships. Every hunter must have his own license and in the event of another person found using a license not his own he and the owner shall pay a fine of $25 or serve 25 days' imprisonmet. The license issued will be good to hunt in any part of the state. This latter feature, if the licenses could be strictly used for the purposes mentioned, would be a good one, but the proposition that the opening of the hunting season be put off until so late as November 1st, is a very poor one. Rather, it would have been better to make October 1st the opening day instead of October 15 as at present, and the closing date December 1 instead of January 1. It is to be hoped that this section of Representative Snyder's bill will meet with a strong opposition, says the Oil City Bliz-

But we fear the opposition will not succeed in its effort to make the wise change which the Blizzard suggests. The eastern and southern hunters will favor any ern counties of bagging the game they propagate, such as woodcock, squirrels, and the like.
