Oil market closed at $1.39.
Oil and gas leases at this office.
The newest things in spring dress goods at the Hopkins store.
Next on the list of notable days will be that of good old St. Patrick.
Nothing is reserved at Lanson's closing out sale. Everything goes at bare cost.
Sugar making time will soon be here and there'll be busy times in the "sugar bush."
The White Star Grocery keeps well stocked up in green goods. Finest the market affords.
The subject of Rev. W. O. Calhoun's sermon at the M. E. church next Sabbath evening will be "Laborers Together with God."
Rev. Dr. Stonaker's subjects for next Sabbath at the Presbyterian church are: Morning, "The Sustaining Fact in Life," evening, "The Value of Life."
Crows are on the wing in these parts, and the likelihood is that some time or other we shall have spring. But cautious people are not banking on it too much.
Some people claim to have seen or heard robins already, but this may be one of the "too good to believe" sort. Some times one can scarcely believe their eyes or ears.
The year 1905 is a year of Sundays. It starts and ends with a Sunday, and has more Sundays than any other one day, and also has five months with five Sundays each. Good year, this.
Thorough and accurate scholarship characterizes work done at Edinboro Normal. Send for catalogue. Spring term opens March 28th.

The Clarion State Normal has been the means of starting many young men and women on the road to success. Students may enter at any time and will be charged only for time in actual attendance.
In our report last week of the result of the recent election in Harmony township an error occurred in stating that W. G. Gorman was elected township treasurer. It should have read Dr. W. G. Morrow.

Notice the new announcements in this issue. The column is filling up some, but if any more of our good Republican friends "have a desire" we will make room for them if it crowds out everything else. Nobody barred.
The Republican to-day is hale and hearty at 37 years, this issue completing vol. xxxvii. Twenty-six years that of the paper has jogged along under the present management, and, candidly, it doesn't feel very old although having reached nearly the two-score mark.
Armon Spencer, who was arrested on a charge of setting fire to the barn of James Hunter, in Hickory township, last fall, was brought before Justice Randall Monday, but the prosecution offered no evidence and asked for a continuance of the hearing, which the Justice refused, and discharged the accused.
Friday evening of this week the Presbyterian congregation will tender their new pastor Rev. Dr. Stonaker a reception at the church. All members and attendants of the church are cordially invited to this reception, and it is hoped they will avail themselves of the opportunity to meet the new minister personally.
It is stated on what appears like good authority that ex-District Attorney and ex-County Chairman J. W. Dunkle, of Warren, is to be appointed U. S. District Attorney for Western Pennsylvania, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, succeeding J. S. Young, provided the latter gentleman is appointed a Judge in Allegheny county, as now seems probable.

—Sioux City, Iowa, has a wonderful prodigy in a young girl. She can read one's thoughts and tell the amount of money in a purse without looking at it and make a great heavy table dance a jig. Would it not be a good idea to send her down into Kansas where they are trying to make the "Standard Oil" dance a jig. Every little helps you know.

—Here's a problem that comes from Joplin. Can you figure it out? A man wanted a ticket to Olathe and only had a $2 bill. It required $3 to get the ticket. He took the $2 bill to a pawnshop where he pawned it for $1.50. On his way back to the depot he met a friend to whom he sold the pawn ticket for $1.50. That gave him $3. Now, who's out that dollar.

—Attention is directed to the ad. of the Hobart M. Cable Co., makers of the world famous Burdett Organ, which will be found on the fourth page of this paper. There is no finer organ in the world today than the Burdett, and the easy terms which this firm is prepared to give purchasers are worth considering by all who have in mind the adding of an organ to their household equipment this season.

—A young man who had not been many years a Benedict carefully laid aside a piece of bread the other night and said to his wife: "I wish you could make such bread as mother used to make." The young wife smiled and remarked in a voice that did not tremble: "Well, Jim, I wish that you could make the 'dough' that father used to make." A hush as silent as death fell so suddenly that Jim almost lost his breath and the bread and dough question hasn't come up for family discussion since.—Ex.

—Tionesta is in danger of losing for a time at least, a couple of its desirable citizens in the near future if present arrangements made by them require their absence. Messrs. R. M. Herman and R. L. Haslet have secured the agency of the Willtom Gas Light for the States of Illinois and Indiana, and they will go there to look after the sale of this now famous burner and establish sub-agencies. Mr. Herman left yesterday, and Mr. Haslet expects to follow next week. We wish the gentlemen success but would be sorry to lose them as permanent residents of our town should such be deemed necessary.

—G. W. Osgood's weather record for the month of February sizes up the situation as follows: Snowfall for the month, 17 1/2 inches. The days when the mercury indicated the cold to be below zero were as follows: 2d, 6th, 8d, 8th, 9th, 12th, 14th, 16th, 15th, 17th, 19th, 21st, 20th, 8th. After the latter date the weather continued mild till the last day of the month, when zero was again almost reached, making it one of the coldest Februaries experienced in many years. Counting the last few days of January with the first four of February made one of the coldest continuous spells of weather of which there is any record, lasting about 10 days.

—The humorous comedy drama, "Joshua Simpkins," accompanied by a fine band and an excellent orchestra, will be seen at the Tionesta Opera House, Friday evening, March 17. It is a rural play in four acts, bound together by an interesting plot and produced with special scenery carried by the company. In the third act a realistic saw mill scene is introduced, when a real buzz saw is seen cutting through a real log at terrific speed upon which a human being has been helplessly bound by his enemies and left to an evident death. There is an abundance of comedy in the play, while there are many fine singing and dancing specialties incidentally introduced.

—As a step toward breaking up the evil and hazardous practice of boys jumping on and off moving trains at this station, one of them was arrested last Friday by a member of the company's detective force and taken before Justice Setley for a hearing. The justice placed the boy under bond for good behavior, and especially forbidding him the practice which he had been following, and with a good lecture allowed him to go on his way. The justice also took occasion to state that in the future, boys that might be brought before him on this charge would not escape so luckily, but that the full extent of the law would be administered. It is the intention to break up this evil, and some one is liable to find himself behind prison bars if it is carried on any more.

—Henry R. Stroup, one of the pioneer residents of Rockland township, Venango county, died at the home of his son, Chapin Stroup, of Franklin, on Sunday last. Mr. Stroup is well remembered by most of the older residents of this section, where he spent much of his time in the early days. From young manhood until about 20 years ago he was one of the well-known pilots on the Allegheny river, and during the active lumbering operations on Tionesta creek each spring and fall would find him in the throng that gathered here for the rafting season. Mr. Stroup was born in Rockland nearly 80 years ago. He was a brother of the late John R. Stroup of this place, and of the family of eight brothers only one now survives—Stephen Stroup, of Rockland. Deceased was a member of the Evangelical church.

Death of Mrs. L. M. Cobb.

Lissie M. Cobb, daughter of Samuel and Martha (Bucklin) Sinclair, died of angina pectoris, in New York City, February 28th, 1905.

Her ancestors came to Exeter, N. H., from Calthness, Scotland, in 1636, and in each generation were public spirited citizens, holding positions of trust in local affairs. Her grandfather, with his father and three uncles, served their country during the entire Revolutionary war, wintering with Washington at Valley Forge. After the revolution her grandfather with his family of eighteen children went as pioneers into western New York, settling what is now Sinclairville, Chautauqua county.

Mrs. Cobb was born at Gerry, Chautauqua county, November 16th, 1836. At the age of twelve years, her father dying, she went to New York, making her home with her brother, Samuel Sinclair, for many years publisher of the New York Tribune. In 1850 she married Theodore Barrett Cobb, and in 1868 they moved to Tionesta, Pa., which was her home until 1891. After the death of her husband she went to live with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas D. Dunn, in West Chester, Pa., going with her to New York in 1903, where she ended.

Mrs. Cobb united with the Methodist Episcopal church in Tionesta in 1879, but upon removal to West Chester presented her letter to the First Presbyterian church there that she might be with her daughter's family.

She was one of the organizers of the Tionesta W. C. T. U., and an active worker in the organization in Forest or Chester county as long as her health permitted. She was a daughter of the American Revolution, being Treasurer of the Chester county Chapter for many years, and a valued member of the New Century Club of West Chester.

Gifted with a broad mind, a keen sense of humor, a loving heart, and an energetic spirit, a faithful, loyal Christian, hers was a beautiful life, well spent, and her influence can never be forgotten by the many who knew and loved her here.

The funeral was held in Tionesta on Friday, the remains, accompanied by her daughter, and granddaughter, Mrs. Dunn and Miss Rachel, and Mrs. L. R. Freeman, of Warren, a particular friend of the family, arriving here on the eleven o'clock train. Short but beautiful services were conducted in the Methodist Episcopal church by Rev. W. O. Calhoun, assisted by Rev. Dr. Stonaker and the M. E. church choir, after which all that was mortal of this gifted woman was laid to rest in Riverside cemetery, beside those of her husband and infant son.

The Cow vs. The Hen.

I don't believe in these petty chicken shows. I have one hen and four roosters and don't get any eggs. I don't believe in a man becoming over-balanced with the "hen-pecked race." Trot out your cows! I have a cow seven years old and she's the mother of eight calves. She's the mother of two as pretty heifer calves as you ever looked upon. Come and see 'em. No charges. Men that will follow the "hen-pecked race" remind me of the man that was "hen-hearted, with no soul." Trot out your cows!
Geo. MATHA, German Hill.

Now there's sense for you, to our notion. Our friend George comes mighty close to hitting the nail on the head. With a good cow that will yield up a nice batch of pure, fresh milk every morning and evening there's a chance for the cook to do something. A hundred and one things of the most palatable sort may be prepared in the culinary art if the milk supply holds up, as every good householder will tell you. True, you want an egg or two now and then, but how are you going to get it with this new-fangled fancy chicken craze so rampant, keeping the price up to any where from 25 cents to $5.00 per 13? Of course, it is not expected that the egg market is going to be greatly glutted with George's way of going at it—four roosters to one hen—but that is neither here nor there, and the preponderance of roosters over hens is not always so large as that in the average henery. Nevertheless, the price of hen fruit is forever tending toward the higher mark, and such being the case, where are our egg-nogs finally to come from? And, speaking of egg-nogs, reminds us that there's where the cow comes in again, for without the milk your "nog" is flat as dish-water and never, never will touch the spot. To be sure, there's more than eggs and milk needed to make a good "nog," but the other two ingredients—sugar and—well, "sugar," are always to be had at the regular price, if you've got the price. Sure! Give the cow a chance along with the hen.

Eagle Rock Happenings.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klabbatz of Byromtown, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Catlin last week.
Mrs. Edward Martindale and little daughter, Betha, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Vincent Saturday and Sunday.

C. R. Cunningham made a business trip to Rolla last week and since his return has been on the sick list.
On account of the train being so late last Thursday evening, there were no services in the M. E. church. Rev. Mowrey of Hickory could not reach here.
Wm. Jones was an Oil City visitor Saturday.

Miss Sagle Ball was visiting friends in Oil City Saturday.

Mrs. Wm. White was at Oil City Saturday doing some shopping.
Wm. Devine, of Rolle, accompanied by his wife, was in town on business last week.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. McCrea died Friday, Feb. 24, and was buried the following Sunday. Torsoy.

Letter to N. G. Cole, Nebraska, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—Here's a paint that's being sold to bargain-hunters: 10 per cent. lead 50 " " zinc 20 " " barytes 30 " " whiting

Barytes and whiting are sand and white-wash, not paint.
Some people must like gold bricks. The name of that paint is—"pure lead-and-zinc." The dealer who sells it says it's as good as Devos.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOS & Co.,
New York.
P. S.—James D. Davis sells our paint.

Congressman Smith Speaks for the Allegheny River.

Representative W. O. Smith, of Punxsutawney, in a speech in the house at Washington on the river and harbor bill, exploited the Allegheny river and showed how it was being discriminated against in favor of southern streams with not nearly as much commerce. He then, in a jocular manner, took a fall out of the custom prevailing in his district of giving a representative only two terms. On this point he said:

"Personally, I shall probably not partake in the deliberations of this body when the next river and harbor bill is under consideration, but the Allegheny will still be there. The district which I have the honor to represent does not permit the congressional service of one individual to cover the advent of two river and harbor bills. Members from that district are necessarily transitory and ephemeral in their legislative life. Their constituents would be proud to see one of their representatives become chairman of the committee on ways and means or speaker of the house, providing those honors could be attained by a service of one or two terms; but they do not believe in making a monopoly of congressional honors. They favor a generous distribution of these things in order to make them reach as far as possible. The only man who ever received more than two terms in our congressional district was the Hon. John Covode, who out a considerable figure in the stormy sessions just preceding the war of the rebellion. Mr. Covode picked up considerable information and a lot of acquaintances and experience that were useful to his constituents and the country. He also picked up a cuspidor once when engaged in a colloquy with a member from South Carolina and in order to emphasize the point he was trying to make, threw it at the gentleman's head. But since that time no representative from that district has been permitted to get too familiar with his colleagues and fresh blood has been kept in circulation continuously.

"It is simply because I do not want the Allegheny river to drop out of sight here simultaneously with the present member from the Twenty-seventh district that I make these remarks at this time, otherwise, my successor might have some difficulty in locating the stream in the minds of gentlemen, or even persuading them of its existence. The systematic improvement of the Allegheny river on the lines recommended by Major Powell should be taken up when the next river and harbor bill is under consideration three years hence, and each bill thereafter should contain an appropriation for two or three locks and dams until the additional eight are built and the improvements extend to Monterey. By that time its benefits would be so plainly apparent that the improvements could be continued without difficulty to Oil City, and even as far up as Tionesta, the region of the 'buffalo sucker,' and the original habitat of the distinguished philosopher and poet, Peter Couver."
