-According to G. W. Osgood's record of the past winter's snow fail, which he kest with a good deal of care, there were a total of 701 inches, covering the entire winter period, divided as follows: October ! inch, November 2; inches, Decemer 137 inches, January 327 inches, Febroary 177 inches, March 51 inches, April inches. These measurements were aken in the borough and can hardly be said to give the full amount of snow fall for the reason that often much of the now would melt before it could be measured, and a test taken on the hills would have given a more accurate record. There were 23 zero mornings during the winter, February 16 being the coldest, 21 degrees below.

> -An interesting contest took place at the Alvin theater, in Pittsburg one day last week, in which the friends of Miss Emma Kiser, of Wilkinsburg, a former Forest county girl, were interested and won out. Manager Harry Davis had offered a prize of 20,000 of the Leader's European tour votes to the lady who received the highest number of votes at the matinee which was to be held at the theater on a certain day. The friends of Miss Kiser, who is one of the leading candidates in the Leader's contest, rallied to her support and she easily won the 20,000 votes offered by Mr. Davis. The occasion proved one of the interesting and attractive events of the season, and thousands of people were present when Congressman James Burke, of Pittsburg, made the presentation speech to the popular young lady. This large addition to Miss Kiser's already great number of votes practically wins for her the trip to Europe along with 39 other young ladies during the coming summer, a fast which her large circle of Forest county friends will be greatly pleased to learn.

TERRACE KING :-

Mr. W. F. Kribbs, a member of the well known livery firm of Kribbs & Ray, of Kellettville, Pa., was here recently and had on exhibition the famous Terrace King, registered

No. 40,456. This horse, which is a beauty in every respect and attracted great attention while in town, is a bright bay with two white feet and a white strip in his face. He is sixteen hands in height, weighs 1190 pounds, and was bred on the famous Village Stock Farm, at Aurora, N. Y., but was foaled, in June.

1900, on the Terrace Farm, near Titusville, Pa. He is a handsome young borse, very promising for a race horse and will be a sure winner in the show ring. He is without a doubt as fine a bred horse as there is in the State, and should sire race horses and his class of show horses that would be an honor in the community. We think Forest County should be proud that there is such a handsome, well bred stallion in the County as Terrace King.

Terrace King's sire was The Beau Ideal, with a record in 1904, of 2:151, and who aired also Prince Ideal, Jr., with a record of 2:15); Prince Favorite, Jr., 2:21, and Princess Helen, Jr., 2:16). The Beau Ideal is one of the best bred horses in the world. Terrace King's dam was Satoris, a daughter of Mambrino Klog. Satoris was also the dam of The Abbot, with a record of 2:031; The Monk, 2:051, and Shadow Chimes, 2:05. Our space will not permit a more extended notice of the progenitors of this famous horse, whose records are among the best in the world, both as to trials of speed and in open contests for beauty in the show ring.
