The Valuable Palmyra Palm. A Hindoo poem enumerates 800 purposes to which the Palmyra palm alone is put. Among other things it supplies paper for writing upon, an intoxicating drink called 'toddy,' large quantities of sugar fruit and a vegetable for the table when the plants are young. Palm wine is also obtained from the juice of the saw palm, which yields excellent sugar candy when boiled. The pits of the trunk forms a large part of the food of the natives in many parts of India. Ropes, brushes and brooms are manufactured from the fiber of the leaf stalks.

In Full Dress. "Gosh all henlock!" started Uncle Silas, backing away from the door. "What is the trouble, sir?" queried the footman. "I thought I was getting in the ballroom, and I come within one of hitting right in thar to the ladies' dressing room."

Candid. Mr. Popdjay—How did you like my acting at our dramatic entertainment? Lady Critical—Well, I don't think you made the most of your opportunities. Mr. Popdjay—You don't think so, eh? Lady Critical—No. You had several opportunities to get off the stage much sooner than you did.—London Opinion.

The Wrong Answer. A writer in the Strand Magazine on "Clerical Humor" tells of the unusual behavior of a young candidate who, dismissed on the Episcopal doorstep with a solemn "God bless you!" hastily answered, "Don't mention it, my lord!"

The Briton and Washing. We have come to look upon water as meant primarily to wash in, as an aid to ablation rather than a thing of beauty. A story of a Somersetshire peasant will illustrate what we mean. The individual in question had never seen the sea until he was taken to Westonsuper-Mare on a "choir treat" excursion. Naturally the vicar, the curate and the rest of the tenors, trebles and basses as soon as the esplanade was reached gathered around to see how the first sight of the ocean would strike the natural man. Will it be believed that the words struck from him by the view of "the unfurrowed deep" lying in vast expanse before his eyes were these: "If I'd known what her were like, I'd have brought down a bit of soap and had a good wash." The iron, or, rather, the soap, had entered so deeply into his soul that he could only conceive the sea as a huge washing place.—London Spectator.

A Great Painter's Beginning. Sir Thompson Lawrence was one of the great portrait painters in England. His parents were poor, his father being a country innkeeper. One day Lord Shaftesbury's father and mother stopped at the inn, having their young son, the future lord, with them. In conversation the innkeeper spoke of the genius of his boy in drawing and wished them to test it by a picture of their son. They assented, thinking to gratify a father's pride, but not looking for any evidence of superior talent. The boy came in modestly, with chalk and paper, and in a few minutes had drawn a picture of their son on which the parents looked with wonder. They recognized the genius and the promise of future greatness and befriended the young artist, giving him the help needed to develop his wonderful gift.

So sure are we that Thompson's Barocina will cure any disease of the kidneys, liver and bladder, also backache, headache, laminae, sciatic rheumatism, dropsy, non-retention, palpitation of the heart and nervousness that we will guarantee it to do so. If after taking a bottle of Thompson's Barocina you are not perfectly satisfied with the results, return to us the bottle and we will refund your money as cheerfully as we took it. Thompson's Barocina 50c and $1.00. Ask for a free sample bottle.

GIRLS DRIFT ON LAKE. In Disabled Boat They Summon Help by Waving White Skirt. Chicago, June 27.—Taking off her white skirt and waving it frantically as a signal of distress, Miss Helen Haggerty brought assistance to herself and Miss Mary Postell, who were adrift in a boat and fast being blown far out into the lake. The young women, who live in the North Shore sanitarium at Winnetka, started out in a rowboat. The wind was strong off shore and they were soon some distance from land. When they began to make efforts to row in their oak boat and they tried in vain to attract the attention of people on the shore. Then Miss Haggerty, as a last resort, took off her skirt and waved it.

The signal was seen at the sanitarium and the Evanston life saving crew notified, while Matthew Neidermeyer overtook the girls three miles out, but was unable to bring them in as the wind was very strong and the lake rough. Harvey Wilson of Winnetka also went to their assistance in a small sailboat, and he reached the boat about the time that the Evanston life saving crew appeared at the shore with their boat. The young women had then drifted five miles out into the lake. Wilson took them into his boat and brought them to shore. Neidermeyer was unable to pull ashore in the face of the wind, and the life saving crew took him in tow and brought him in, but the boat that the young women were in was left adrift.

Divorce Granted For Desertion. London, June 26.—The divorce court granted Lady Grey-Egerton (formerly Miss May Cuyler, daughter of Major Wayne Cuyler, U. S. A.) a divorce on the ground of the desertion of her husband, Sir Philip Grey-Egerton. The suit is the sequel of the previous case when the wife sued for a restitution of her conjugal rights and obtained a divorce, which, however, Sir Philip refused to obey.

Wagner's Opera Locks. Wagner, the composer, at one time became afflicted with headaches and determined to have his hair cut. He accordingly arranged with a barber to perform the operation on a certain day. That thingy resolved to make a good thing of it and informed all his customers of Wagner's impending sacrifice. Most of them paid him a certain sum down in advance to make sure of a lock of the great musician's hair. To the barber's horror Mm. Wagner superintended the cutting and when it was over appropriated the whole of the coveted locks. The barber, in despair, confessed that he had sold them many times over, whereupon madam suggested that her butcher had hair very much like Wagner's. And the story goes that that night half Dresden slept with the butcher's hair under its pillow.

Understood His Business. Fashionable Tailor—Go front at once. Two young clerks there after suits. New Man (whispering)—I'm waiting on a millionaire. "Leave him and attend to the clerks.
