STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC BY I. X. L. ICE CREAM COMPANY.

Plant of the Warren Concern Has Been Carefully Investigated.

The public will remember that we had particularly hot and damp weather the latter part of June last, and on Sunday, June 25th, several people who had eaten heartily of ice cream became ill. The cause of their illness was attributed to the ice cream they had eaten. As we have been in the Ice Cream business in Warren for the past ten years, have thousands of dollars invested in the same, have a plant second to none in the country, and had never experienced any complaint of a similar nature before, we determined to make a searching and thorough investigation and ascertain if possible, if the fault was ours. We therefore, on the following day, sent several samples of cream and finished product to Buffalo, by a member of our firm, and had the same analyzed. We also at once commenced a thorough inspection of our plant and creameries in every detail, and promised our patrons that as soon as possible we would make public the result of our investigations. We also procured the services of an expert milk inspector from New York City, and Herbert M. Hill, Ph. D., Professor of Chemistry and Toxicology of the University of Buffalo, and official chemist to the city of Buffalo, and instructed them to make a thorough examination and full report of their investigations. The report of the New York inspector was identical with that of Mr. Hill, which we publish verbatim herewith:

Chemical Laboratory, University of Buffalo, 24 High street, Herbert M. Hill, Ph. D., Analytical Chemist and Assessor. Telephone. Chemist to the City of Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 12th, 1905.

THE I. X. L. ICE CREAM CO., Warren, Pa.

GENTLEMEN:—On July 11, 1905, I visited your ice cream factory at Warren to inspect the premises and watch your method of manufacture. I found the building in unusually good condition, well lighted and with all rooms free from dirt. The floors throughout the building were new and there was evidence that they have been kept thoroughly scrubbed. The cans in which the various materials were packed were clean, new and free from odor. The copper kettles in which the cooking processes are carried on were unusually clean and free from deposit of any kind. The cream before use, I found to be kept at a low temperature so that no changes can take place in it and the period during its freezing into ice cream is so short that no decomposition can take place in that time. I found that the process of manufacture was carried on in a cleanly manner and that the finished product is stored and sent out at so low a temperature that no decomposition can take place. I also examined the various flavoring materials used and found them entirely free from injurious substances and of unusually good quality.

The symptoms in the cases reported and the result of the examination of the samples sent me on June 27 show that tyrotoxicosis, a decomposition product of milk and kindred substances by the action of bacteria was the cause of the outbreak of sickness in your vicinity. I attribute the presence of this material in your products first to the unusually hot and damp weather that prevailed at the time of the outbreak, second to the fact that some of the milk furnished your creameries had not been properly cared for by the farmers, and third to the fact that some material used as stock had been allowed to stand for some time in the factory.

I understand that the farmers have been instructed so that in the future their milk shall be properly taken care of. The care of all materials at the factory I know has been perfected, and with these improved conditions, I feel sure there can be no further trouble from your products.

Respectfully,
HERBERT M. HILL,
Prof. of Chemistry and Toxicology, University of Buffalo.

We at once, upon the receipt of these reports, took the necessary steps to remedy each and every fault. The farmers have been instructed in the proper care of their milk and cream. An expert inspector has been employed to inspect all milk and cream, with instructions to reject all not properly cared for, and that which will not stand proper tests. The care of all materials at our factory has been perfected and precautions are now being taken which will make a re-occurrence of this trouble an impossibility.

We cheerfully take the public into our confidence and invite the inspection of our factory at any and all times, and we say without reservation, that we do not use any preservatives of any kind or description, and that our flavoring extracts are absolutely pure. Samples of our ice cream taken from agents without knowledge have been passed upon by the State Chemists at Erie, Pa., and reported to us by G. M. Pelton, special Agent of the Department of Agriculture of the State of Pennsylvania, that the State Agent found no preservatives in our cream.

We feel confident, therefore, that we can assure the public that a re-occurrence of the recent trouble is now utterly impossible. We exceedingly regret that this unfortunate trouble occurred, but we now submit that, taking into consideration our thorough investigation and steps to make a re-occurrence of the trouble impossible, we have a right to feel confident that the public will appreciate our position and afford to us in the future the patronage and confidence that they have so freely given heretofore.

Respectfully,
I. X. L. ICE CREAM COMPANY,
E. WALKER, Manager,
Warren, Pennsylvania.

Decisions of Local Interest.

The Superior Court last week handed down two opinions of local interest, one being the case of Jesse D. Dawson, for himself and the school district of Harmony township, vs. L. R. Shaw, the action being brought to recover damages for the defendant's neglect to plug an abandoned well drilled for oil purposes, as the law prescribes. The plaintiff obtained a verdict in the sum of $300 in the courts of this county, and the case was appealed. The Superior Court reversed the verdict and sent the case back for re-trial.

Another case was that of Seth McArthur, Trustee, vs. The Tionesta Gas Co., in which the decision of Judge Lindsey was affirmed. It was argued at April term, T. F. Ritchey, Esq., representing the Gas Company. The question arose out of a gas lease wherein the appellant reserved "one-eighth part of the oil, gas or other mineral obtained, to be delivered in the pipe line on the premises." The appellant claimed that the lessee was liable for one-eighth of the gas taken off and sold, in addition to the pressure bonus. The lower court held the lessee not liable, and upon this point the plaintiff appealed. The decision of the Superior Court gives victory to the Tionesta Gas Co., the ruling of the lower court being affirmed.

Bank Book Lost.

The undersigned lost, on the public road somewhere between Shippens, in Barnett township, and Lamona, Jenks township, on Sunday last, a bank book on the Farmers National Bank of Emlenton. In the book was a certificate of deposit on the Lamberton National Bank of Oil City, and three on the Forest County National Bank of Tionesta. The payment on these papers has been stopped at any but the owner. The finder will confer a favor by returning same to the owner, or to the Forest County National Bank of Tionesta. N. M. ## Comfort & Coolness

This is a time of year when we seek comfort and coolness more than anything else. There is a kind of clothing which is made up light in weight and seems to be very well adapted to the torrid weather of summer. After they have been worn two or three weeks they look limp, unshapely and more like draped up rags than genteel clothes. We do not carry that kind. Our light weight suits are made up by first-class tailors and a fine grade of stays used to hold them in shape. Our skeleton garments are made with as much care and fashion as the higher priced suits.
