The Standard Oil company is spending less for advertising and getting more of it than any other corporation in the country.

China seems to have "acquired" a few notions of her own about the open door policy, since little Japan and she became such thick friends.

The old saying that a man must die to beat a life insurance company certainly does not apply to the parties who drew those princely equitable salaries.

The Department of Agriculture is going to try to get along without a statistician. It seems impossible to have a "statistician" but who will run a "leak bureau" on the side.

It is thought in requiring office holders to swear to support the Constitution, they should be required to swear that they will try to stop all "leaks" when they are discovered.

PEAKY has named the new ship with which he proposes to reach the north pole the Roosevelt. But for association with icebergs, it would seem that the Alton B. Parker might be better.

WOMEN are said to be monopolizing the short-story field in literature. When the monopoly is complete the usual method of a reduction in output will arouse less protest than the same method employed by the best trust.

The Clarion County Republican Convention has made the following nominations: For Prothonotary, R. L. Craig; Register and Recorder, W. B. Kiser; County Treasurer, George E. Arnold; District Attorney, John Maffett; County Commissioners, George W. Myers and S. X. McClelland; County Auditors, James O. Craig and J. W. Phillips. John B. Longaker was re-elected county chairman.

The testimony of three hundred and forty-two employers in the Wyoming Valley, relative to the qualifications of graduates of public schools, demonstrated that nearly one-half of the boys seeking employment were clearly deficient in one or all of the fundamental branches embraced under the familiar designation of "the three Rs"; whereupon the Wilkes-Barre Record comments: "It is a lamentable fact that although the public school is supposed above everything else to give pupils a good grounding in reading, writing, arithmetic, language, geography and spelling these branches are imperfectly taught and even grammar grades are taken up mainly by Latin, physics and other branches of study that prepare for the higher education which four-fifths of the children never reach."

The legislature of Arkansas passed an anti-trust law last winter which prohibits insurance companies doing business within that state from making rate agreements with other companies, and the state supreme court has just sustained the legislation in a decision rendered on an appeal by a Connecticut company to test its validity. The law not only prohibits rate agreements within the state, but it excludes companies which make rate agreements anywhere from doing business there. The Connecticut company has appealed to the United States supreme court, upon the allegation that the act interferes with interstate commerce. Up to the present time it has been maintained that each state has the right to fix conditions upon which corporations of this class may do business within its borders, and any other adjudication of the question as it is raised in this case would bring insurance companies within the interstate commerce regulations, which would apply anti-trust legislation over a much wider field than is covered by the jurisdiction of the courts of Arkansas.

It is authoritatively announced from Chicago that many eastern Congressmen and Senators who have enjoyed the hospitality of the railroads for so long a time that they have come to believe it their inherited right, will have to pay fare on their summer vacation trips this year. One of the most prominent eastern railroads has refused all requests for free transportation which have come from the Senators and Congressmen who were either in favor of the Esch-Townsend bill or were lukewarm in their advocacy of the railroad side of the legislation. It is also understood that other eastern roads are following suit, and in consequence there is consternation in the ranks of the United States legislators. There is no mistaking the reason for the "turning down" which the members of Congress are receiving from the hands of the one eastern road. To every request that comes from every legislator who has been placed on the black list a stereotyped letter is sent by the President. The President's letter states that for years that particular railroad has submitted without a murmur to the petty system of blackmail levied upon it by legislators, who had no claim to free rides. This was done upon the theory that when the time came the railroads would have friends who would at least give the railroad side of legislation a careful and fair study.

NO FUSION FOR THEM

Republican Editors of Pennsylvania Lined Up Solidly For the Ticket.

ALL IGNORE DEMOCRATIC TRAP

Republican Clubmen Are Preparing For a Big State League Convention at Easton.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, July 25.

A very gratifying feature of the present political canvass in Pennsylvania is the sturdy manner in which the Republican editors of the state are supporting the nominees of their party and interesting themselves in the work of the preliminary canvass for the success of the ticket.

They realize the importance of the present campaign and its bearing upon next year's contest when a governor, a lieutenant governor and auditor general, a secretary of internal affairs, 22 members of congress and members of the state senate and the state house of representatives are to be elected.

They have all been loyally standing by the administration of President Roosevelt and they recognize the necessity of Pennsylvania Republicans giving routing Republican majorities this fall, so that the president and his cabinet shall be assured that they have the backing of the Republican organization of the Keystone State in their great national undertakings. The intense Americanism of the Roosevelt administration has appealed to the Republican editors of Pennsylvania as it has to the voters of the state generally, and they believe that they can best uphold that administration by urging their readers to stand steadfastly by the Republican party in the state as well as in the nation.

Not Falling into Fusion Trap.

Despite the efforts of Democrats and assistant Democrats or so-called insurgents or Republican party wreckers, who have been striving to divert the Republican newspapers of the state into supporting their schemes for fusion, the editors of Republican newspapers have not only not fallen into their trap, but they have exposed the game and the interest that would be advanced if it were consummated.

The Republican editors of Pennsylvania know how their subscribers stand. They know that the immense army of Democrats in this state are true and loyal to their party colors and that they will be found going to the polls on election day supporting the full Republican ticket.

"I am now getting practically every the Republican newspaper in the state at the headquarters in Philadelphia," said Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, a few days ago, "and I am delighted with the splendid support that they are giving to the nominees of the Republican party. Our candidates are all men of high character and of exceptional ability. They are all admirably equipped for the positions for which they have been nominated. I believe that I can safely predict that J. Lee Plummer, the Republican nominee for state treasurer, and the four candidates for the judiciary will receive at the November election majorities which will exceed those given to any Republican candidates that have ever been elected in this state in an off year."

Chairman Andrews declines to discuss as unworthy of notice the many false and malicious reports that are being circulated from Democratic headquarters in the interest of the Democratic nominee for state treasurer, and proposes to continue to direct the Republican forces along the lines mapped out at the beginning of the canvass.

The policy of the Republicans in the present campaign will be to enlighten the voters of the state at all times on the real issues of the contest and to leave nothing undone toward perfecting the Republican organization in the several counties, with the view of getting out the largest possible vote on election day.

Among the many disappointments that have come to the Democrats and their insurgent allies who have been preaching fusion for the fall campaign, the complete collapse of the fusion schemes in Beaver county is the latest.

Beaver County In Line.

Here is a striking case in which the editor of a Republican newspaper was quick to see the trend of popular sentiment toward the Republican party and decide not to be swayed from the logical position of a Republican newspaper. There was a hot contest over a judicial nomination in Beaver county, and although the result was not entirely satisfactory to the Beaver Falls Tribune, the editor of that paper last week came out manfully in support of the full Republican ticket and placed at the top of his editorial page the complete list of the Republican candidates. This instance is cited not because this is an extraordinary or unusual action, but because it had been heralded from one end of the state to the other that Beaver county Republicans were all torn up, that one of the leading Republican newspapers would support a fusion movement, and that the state as well as the local Republican candidates would be sacrificed at the polls.

"Beaver county will be in line for the entire Republican state ticket," writes Chairman Charles H. Stone, of the Republican county committee. "There need be no concern about fusion in our county, and I am sure that Mr. Plummer and the other nominees on the state ticket will be delighted with the majorities that will be rolled up in Beaver county this fall."

Beaver county presents a condition of affairs such as will be found in other counties where the Democrats have been banking upon alleged Republican dissensions.

The Republican lines are being formed throughout the state, there will be no comfort given the enemy anywhere, and there will be a magnificent showing for the cause of prosperity and progress when the election returns shall be received.

Tomfoolery at Weddings.

Guests at weddings are either suffering ethical strabismus or else there is a microbe of madness which seems to be terribly contagious. Every day we record instances of practical jokes at weddings which are disgusting. The limit has been reached in Pittsburg, where a bridal couple were hauled around the street in a circus cage. Two generations ago, and to some extent now in the rural regions, the chivareo, or "horning," was in great vogue and highly esteemed, but it has fallen into disuse unless under exceptional circumstances.

Until recently a shower of rice and old shoes was considered the only necessary accompaniment of the "going away," but that has become too tame. Trunks and suit cases tied up with white ribbons, carriages and homes covered with signs betraying a doubtful humor are had enough, but of late kidnapping the groom, making a couple lose a train or hauling them around as wild animals are antics that have been highly approved by those who are invited to what is the most important event in the lives of the pair.

Such things are disgusting. In these days of two frequent divorce and separation they still further tend to throw discredit on the marriage relation, the most solemn and holy of all human existence. The young people who conspire to make the young married couple uncomfortable little think of what they are doing. It is not only undignified, but the consequences are sometimes serious. It is a debased form of humor and is cruel in that a nervous overwrought bride is often made to suffer pain at a time when her heart should be full of joy. The wedding bandits should go—Philadelphia Press.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Child Not Expected to Live from One Hour to Another, but Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Dewey of Agnewville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says.

"I happened to think of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got a bottle of it from the store. In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well." This remedy is for sale by Dunn & Fulton.

The Good Old Way.

A severe cold or attack of the grippe is like a fire, the sooner you combat it the better your chances are to overpower it. But few mothers in this age are willing to do the necessary work required to give a good old-fashioned reliable treatment such as would be administered by their grandmothers, backed by Boschee's German Syrup, which was always liberally used in connection with the home treatment of colds and is still in greater household favor than any known remedy. But even without the application of the old-fashioned aids German Syrup will cure a severe cold in quick time. It will cure colds in children or grown people. It relieves the congested organs, allays the irritation, and effectively stops the cough. Any child will take it. It is invaluable in a household of children. Trial size bottle, 25c; regular size, 75c. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

Service of Writ of Foreign Attachment.

A. Sperry vs. Ward C. Oille and Albert E. McKeen, partners doing business under the firm name and style of Oille & McKeen.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Forest County, No. 8 September Term, 1905.

A Writ of Foreign Attachment in the above entitled case having been issued to the Sheriff of Forest County, returnable to the Court on Monday of September, 1905, the Plaintiff, by his attorneys, suggests to the Court that the defendants are the owners or have an interest in certain real estate situate in Forest County, Pennsylvania, but do not reside within the State of Pennsylvania, but reside at North Tonawanda, State of New York, and further suggests that the same is not in the possession of the said real estate in Forest County. Therefore plaintiff moves the Court for an order directing the Sheriff to serve the said writ by publication agreeably to the Act of Assembly in such cases made and provided.

A. C. BROWN, Plaintiff's Attorney.

ORDER.

And now, June 22, 1905, the within motion is granted, and it is ordered that the Sheriff of Forest County cause to be published notice of the said writ on Ward C. Oille and Albert E. McKeen, by publication in the FOREST REPUBLICAN, a weekly newspaper published at Tionesta, Forest County, Pa., for six weeks in succession, and in the Warren Mail, a weekly newspaper published at Warren, Warren County, Pa., for six weeks in succession.

By THE COURT.

[Abstract of the Record.]
