RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

Another Fishing Tug Escape From Canadian Cruiser.

Corporations' Campaign Funds-1 Deaths In Factory Fire-Destructio. of Togo's Flagship-Resolutions of Tainted Money Tabled-Russo-Japa nese Armistice.

The fourth of the fishing tug inco dents of the past week took place t mid-lake Erie Sunday when the Cans dian cruiser Vigilant riddled the bij steam tug Harry G. Barnhurst of Eric Pa., with small shells from the rift on the patrol boat.

Captain Nick Fasel of the tug ad mitted after he escaped that the Vig flant could have sent her to the bottom if Captain Dunn had so de tending the present lines of the comsired. They ran more than eight miles under full head of steam before they crossed the boundary line and es caped from the Canadians.

More than 30 shots struck the ves sel and of these 15 of the small shellr landed with telling effect on the upper parts, so the boat careened to one side with the mass of wreckage wher she came into port. Having beer used formerly for a pleasure steamer the Barnhurst is of large size and welfitted with steam equipment.

It has become quite the custom for the Erie fishermen to cross the line regardless of strict orders from the companies employing them, and hav ing exciting brushes with the Vigilant They never think of surrender when there is a chance to run way. The Barnhurst lost a large quantity of nets firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and first vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, was the principal witness before the special legisla tive committee which is probing life insurance companies and his tes timony was replete with revelations in the development of finance as ap plied by insurance companies. The climax of the day came when

Mr. Perkins was asked concerning an entry of $48,702 in a ledger marked "ordered paid by the president."

Mr. Randolph, the treasurer of the New York Life company, who had been on the stand earlier in the day, had been sharply questioned as to the purport of this entry, but he was unable to explain it. He thought no one but the president could. Mr. Perkins had been called to testify as to some other transactions and after the recess he was asked to produce the check. It was made out payable to J. P. Morgan & Co. and Mr. Perkins frankly stated it was a contribution to the national Republican campaign committee, and had been paid to Cornelius N. Bliss. Mr. Perkins said:

"This payment was made after very careful deliberation. It must not be considered an ordinary contribution to the campaign fund. It was paid because we felt the assets of the New York Life Insurance company would be jeopardized by a Democratic

Mr. Perkins said contributions were also made in 1900 and in 1896. As an illustration, witness said the first contribution made was in 1896 by President McCall, who is a Democrat. "He contributed to the McKinley campaign fund and voted for McKinley because he felt it was in the best interests of the policy holders of his company."

Explosion and Fire In a Factory.

The explosion of a fuse, followed by a fire, in a building of the Climax Fuse company at Avon, Conn., caused a panic among the 20 employes in the building and resulted in the death of 11 persons and injuries that doubtless will prove fatal to at least two others.

The town having no fire department, there was no way of coping with the flames which spread rapidly and in less than an hour after the explosion those who were unable to escape were burned to ashes. A great crowd that collected saw the bodies of mea and women roasting in the fire and were powerless to even check the flames.

The exact cause of the accident may never be known, but it is believed that in an effort to burn out a stoppage in one of the machines James Joyce caused an explosion of a fuse with the hot iron he held in his hand.

Those who were in the room where the explosion occurred and who came out of the place in a condition to tell about it say the explosion was not a severe one and ordinarily would not Inflammable material nearby, however, was set on fire and the room soon was a mass of flames. In an instant there was a mad rush for the doors and windows and during the scramble many were pushed back into the building, while others were severely burned.

Togo's Flagship Burned.

Fire started in the Mikasa, Admiral Togo's flagship, while at anchor in the harbor of Sasebo. It spread with great rapidity, ex ploding the after magazine an hour after the fire had been discovered. The Mikasa sank in shallow water and it is believed the ship can be repaired. Rescuing parties were sent from the various warships in the harbor and there was heavy casualties among them. The Tokio correspondent of the London Daily Times says that the casualties resulting from the loss of the battleship Mikasa are 5 killed, 251 missing and 343 wounded.

The correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph at Sasebo, Japan in a dispatch describing the disaster to the battleship Mikasa says the reason the fate of so many of the crew is unknown is that a large de tachment was sent below to battle with the flames and that the men were unable to reach the deck when the vessel foundered. It is believed the actual damage to the vessel is comparatively slight, according to the correspondent.

Direct Cable to Japan and China.

Through American enterprise the way has been won to connect the Western continent by direct submerine lines with the empires of Japan and China Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Commercial Pacific Cable company announced that his company has se cured the necessary concessions to enter Yokohama, Japan, and Shanghai, China.

The cable connections with both Japan and China will be made by expany which run from San Francisco through the stations of Honolulu Midway and Guam to Manila. Japan will be reached by laying a cable from Guam direct to Yokohama. The cable to China will be laid from Manila to Shanghat.

Resolution on Tainted Money Tabled. Dr. Washington Gladden at Friday's session at Seattle, Wash., of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions of the Congregational church introduced ha resolution protesting against the invitation or solicitation of "tainted money' The resolution was referred to the usiness committee for report at the proper time. There was no discussion.

By a vote of 46 to 10 the American board of foreign missions of the Congregational church decided to table all resolutions on the question of "tainted money." Dr. Gladden made a long speech in favor of his resolution on the subject.

Woodruff to Move to Syracuse.

TRADE WITH GERMANY.

Present Agreement to Be Terminated, Says Goldberger.

Pleaded For a Reciprocity Treaty In the Sense of President McKinley's Last Political Utterance-Admittee That the Majority of Americans De sired to Maintain High Tariff.

Berlin, Sept. 19 .- A farewell dinner, under the auspices of the American Association of Commerce and Trade in Berlin, was given at the Hotel Kalser hof to Frank H. Mason, the retiring American consul general here, who is to succeed John K. Gowdy as consul general at Paris Charlemagne Tower, the American ambassador, presided. He proposed the health of President Roosevelt and then that of Emperor William and the members of the imperial family.

Director Von Koerner, head of the department of foreign commerce, who was delegated to represent the imperial government, made the first address. He said that the relations between Germany and the United States were manifold and rested on a firm basis. No two countries in the world had made such progress in the past few decades as Germany and the United States. The director closed by wishing great prosperity to the United States.

Privy Councillor Goldberger, who is one of the close advisers of the German government in commercial matters and the author of a book on the United States entitled the "Land of Unlimited Possibilities," insisted that the United States and Germany belonged together economically, each supplementing the other.

He dismissed the idea of any milltant customs policy, which he said could only please the commercial rivals of both countries. He admitted that the majority of the American people now desired to maintain the high protective tariff and were opposed to commercial treaties with unconditional most-favored nation treatment for long periods.

Must End Existing Agreement. Germany, on the other hand, as a consequence of its present commercial policy, must terminate its existing rondack camp, and since leaving there agreement with the United States. Otherwise it would be quitting the paths of its commercial policy as already constitutionally determined on The protocol of the armistice signed and would be acting contrary to the last week between Japan and Rus- spirit, if not the text, of the treaties already concluded with seven European countries.

These, the speaker said were econo mic facts which must be understood and which could be dealt with without acrimony.

Herr Goldberger pleaded for a reciprocity treaty in the sense of President McKinley's last political utterance, but said that so far as possible equivalent advantages must be given. He urged fair play in executing and administering whatever arrangements might be made and added that he hoped the forthcoming negotiations for a treaty would bridge over all economic differences between the two great nations.

Ambassador Tower, after dwelling at length on the personal aspects of Consul General Mason's departure, said: "The present time is most favorable for the purpose of commercial intercourse because there is a very strong interest felt in Germany in the affairs of the United States. It is a growing and friendly interest, constantly tending toward sympathy with the United States and to a good understanding. The relations of the two countries have never been as good as

"Mr. Mason is leaving us at a time when his further assistance would be most useful here. I regret especially his departure at this time, for a discussion is likely to take place within The public square of the Can- the next few months involving the subject of the relations between the United States and Germany in which great interests are concerned, so great indeed that I feel no effort should be spared on either side of the ocean between Russia and Japan. Announce- to protect them from the unfortunate consequence of a disagreement between the two nations. "For my own part, I have been most careful to keep the government of the United States informed regarding the situation in Germany; my single hope and desire being that an ultimate agreement will be reached which shalt be fair and just to each of the countries and beneficial to the trade of both."

Mr. Mason said that the present harnony in the commercial relations of Germany and the United States was creditable and profitable to both countries, and how to preserve it was a subject near to the hearts of all present.

Complex and Serious Problem

The speaker continued: "The pro blem is a complex and serious one and let us frankly recognize its difficulties. Its solution will probably involve concessions on both sides which may be difficult, especially on the part of our own government, to harmonize with existing laws and estab-"The condition of Baron Komura lishred economic principles; but we all hope that, with patience and good will on both sides, a satisfactory ar rangement may ultimately be reached

There are now 18,375 troops in the Philippines, including 5,181 native scouts, and General Corbin recommends that there be no reduction in this force. He says the conditions as to peac in the islands are better than at any time since American occupation with the exception of Samar. A reduction in expenses amounting to a million and a half dollars is reported as har ing been accomplished during the ad ministration of General Corbin.

Brigadier General J. M. Lee, com manding the department of Texas, in his annual report favors the re-estab lishment of the canteen. He says that 80 per cent of the soldiers driak stim ulants. No More Campaign Contributions. New York, Sept. 19 .- Mr. Mortor was asked if the contributions of the New York Life Insurance company to the McKinley and Roosevelt campaign funds had been equaled by that of the Equitable. "As to that," he answered, "I cannot say. I am only con cerned with the future of the Equit able, not with its past." "Will it be the policy of the Equitable in the future," he was asked, "to defray part of the campaign expenses of pres idential candidates or other seekers for public office?" "Not any more replied Mr. Morton.

Organization, Aided by Members of Union League, Make New Nominations For City Offices. Philadelphia, Sept. 18 .- New Impetus was given the political contest here between Mayor Weaver and the re form element by Saturday's develop ments. In order to regain whatever prestige it might have lost since the mayor began his crusade for good mu nicipal government, the organization alded by a committee of 21 prominent citizens, all members of the Union League, selected a new local ticket to be voted for in November.

At night three town meetings were held under the auspices of the city party as a protest auginst the methods of the organization. The principa, speakers were Mayor Weaver, Charlet Emory Smith, former postmaster gen eral; Wayne MacVeagh, former attor ney general, and former Minister to Italy Potter. Five days before Mayor Weavet broke with the organization, the regular Republican convention nominated candidates for the judiciary, sheriff coroner and city commissioners.
