—"Jud" Borland, of Oil City, accompanied by several local hunters, bagged two full grown bears in the woods near Sheffield on Saturday. The encounter was an exciting one, and the Oil City man, who is handicapped by a scarcely knitted broken arm, carried off the honors.—Derrick.

—Cecil Gross, of Marienville, and ex-Commissioner W. D. Shields, of Clarlington, two well known Forest county lumbermen, have purchased the interests of Morrison & Bell in the lumbering operations near Elkins, W. Va., and Mr. Gross will go on at once to personally superintend the business of the firm.

—Good suggestion from the Tidoute News: Apropos of the investigation of the life insurance companies of New York, did the query ever strike you as to how much "fanny" business the fire insurance companies may be indulging in also? It would be a good proposition to institute an inquiry along the fire line also.

—The pupils of rooms Nos. 1 and 2, of the Boro schools, under the direction of their teachers, have recently placed a handsome quartered oak bookcase in each of the rooms, which add much to their attractiveness. The little folks worked industriously to accomplish this and they are to be commended for their efforts.

—The Franklin correspondent of the Derrick has this item of a former Tionesta: J. S. Canfield, who has done a large amount of drilling along Big Sandy, in Victory township, has put in a small plant by which he is reported to be successfully manufacturing gasoline out of surplus gas, by the process recently perfected by a Titusville inventor.

Sudden Death of John Saylor.

Our community was shocked this morning by the receipt of word of the sudden death of Neilltown, this county, of John Saylor, one of Tionesta's well known and industrious citizens. He had been working on a new school building in Neilltown, and this morning left his boarding house, at Mr. Van Wyck's, to go to his work, apparently feeling well as usual, having eaten a hearty breakfast. About half past seven o'clock Joseph Boyer, a fellow workman came to the building and found Mr. Saylor lying on his back a few paces from the building, dead. There were no marks upon him except a small spot of blood on the forehead near the right eye, and no evidences of any struggle. In all probability the cause of death was heart failure. At the hour of going to press a doctor had not yet arrived, and further particulars are lacking at this writing.

Mr. Saylor has been a resident of Tionesta for many years. He leaves a wife and several children.

—G. F. Watson, of Kellettsville, and H. H. Watson, of Gollina, returned Tuesday from a trip through Virginia. While in that state they visited the large lumber operations of Amsler, Campbell, and others, near Marion, and were duly impressed with the large body of fine timber controlled by these gentlemen, who were formerly Forest county lumbermen.—Sheffield Observer.

—The first snow of the season visited us last Thursday, 12th inst., but was scarcely visible down here in the hollow. Out on the hills, however, the blizzard was quite noticeable, and the "beautiful" not melted about as fast as it struck the ground there would have been several inches of it. The weather has been pretty much all right since, for which we're all duly thankful excepting the "gas man."

—At a meeting Saturday night of local business men who have subscribed for stock in the Indiana Copper company, A. J. McCray was selected from the fifteen men to go to Oregon and investigate the property and prospects of the Indiana company. The representative of the company in this city is A. P. Dutton and the meeting at the Brunswick hotel has given him much encouragement for the company's interests in this city.—Titusville Herald.

—Veterans of the famous Bucktail regiment, the Thirtieth Pennsylvania Reserves, dedicated at Gettysburg, recently a tablet where Colonel Fred Taylor, their commander, fell early in the engagement in the "valley of death" where the Fifth Corps did such valiant service. Col. E. A. Irvin, of Curwensville, made the leading address. The tablet is within 50 yards of the monument erected by the state in honor of Col. Taylor and his brave regiment.

—A farmer residing near Mercer, says the Western Press, made up a bill of groceries amounting to $20 from the list of a department store in Chicago, and was about to send the order and money, when it occurred to him to ask a local dealer how much he would take and put up the goods. No mention was made of sending the order away and the grocer figured up the list at regular prices. His figures were a few cents less than $18. There is a moral in this.

—A large dwelling house owned by T. D. Collins, the Nebraska lumberman, and located up near little Coon creek, above the village, was burned to the ground last Friday morning between 6 and 7 o'clock. The house was occupied by H. R. Weaver and family, who saved but little of their household goods, the fire when discovered having gained such headway as to make it impossible to save much from the flames. The loss was a total one, $600 on building and $400 on contents, there being no insurance on the property.

—Supt. Morrison has issued an elaborate program of the teachers' annual institute which is to be held at Marienville, beginning October 30th and lasting till Saturday, November 4th. He has a corps of well known instructors engaged for the occasion, together with some excellent musical talent. The evenings will be taken up with lectures and other attractive entertainments and it is expected to make this the best institute held in the county for many years, the Superintendent having spared no pains nor expense to get the best for the occasion.

—Last week's rain gave the lumbermen of this section a good boost, in that a nice rise in the creek allowed, practically all the boats and barges from Grunderville, Hickory and Nebraska to get started for the lower markets. This will put the material out of the way of a possible freeze-up later in the fall, something that happens now and then, and the owners and jobbers are doubtless much relieved by the "outlet." Collins, Darrah & Co., of the Watson Lands Lumber Co., of Nebraska, have started or have here ready to start a total of 24 boats and 7 barges. The boats were loaded with an average of 50,000 feet each of good hemlock lumber, or 1,200,000 for the run, which was in charge of the jobber, Lyman Cook. The Warren Lumber Co., of Grunderville, started 12 barges and 8 boats, and the Forest Barge Co., of Hickory, 12 barges.

—P. R. R. passenger train No. 32, due here at 8:25 p. m. from Olean, N. Y., was delayed at Hickory on Wednesday evening by a collision with the side of a lumber train on the Hickory Valley road that intersects the P. R. R. The passenger train, in charge of Engineer Peter Crahan and Conductor A. W. Dickinson, was on time and well under control when the lumber train started across the track with a string of empty steel gondolas, but it was impossible to bring the passenger train to a full stop before the engine had plunged into the side of the lumber train. A 100-ton gondola was struck in the center and carried ahead of the engine the length of the passenger train and two others derailed. The rear drivers of the passenger engine and the tank, baggage car and smoker immediately behind it were derailed, blocking the main track and siding. The Hickory Valley track was considerably torn up. Fortunately no one was injured. A relief train was made up at Oil City and transferred the passengers and baggage with a delay of less than two hours.

—WANTED.—A competent girl or woman for general housework, small family, good wages. Call or address, Mrs. W. H. Corrin, 409 West Second St., Oil City, Pa. 4

—Mrs. A. Dunn, of Tidoute, was a guest of Miss Arietta Robinson last Thursday.

—Miss Jane Moore, of Oil City, was a guest of the Misses Smearbaugh a day or two of last week.

—Miss Nellie Carson, of West Hickory, was a guest of Tionesta relatives the first of the week.

—Miss Edith Brumbaugh, of Edenburg, was a guest at the home of Thomas Mays a few days of last week.

—Miss Lela Goodrich, of the Central House, spent Sunday in Titusville with her father, who is ill in the hospital.

—Baggage-master L. W. Bessey, of the P. R. R., accompanied by his wife, were guests of friends here Sunday.

—Miss Dora Gerow was home from Warren over Sunday, where she is attending the Hoff Business College.

—Mrs. Henry Dove returned to her home in Warren, Friday, after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Butler.

—Mrs. Steven Johnson and little son went to Pittsburg last week to join her husband, who is employed there at carpentry.

—Fred Bristol, who went to Buffalo a couple weeks ago, is employed as chef on a large steamer plying between Buffalo and Chicago.

—J. H. Zesky and Geo. Beveridge, of Oil City, and H. C. McDougall and Edward Black, of Franklin, spent Sunday with Tionesta friends.

—J. T. Dale went to Muncie, Ind., last Wednesday, on business connected with an oil lease in which he and other Tionesta parties are interested.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Scott, of Oil City, and the former's sister, Mrs. Bert VanGiesen, were visiting friends in Tionesta and vicinity last Saturday.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulton spent Sunday with friends in Clarion, driving over Saturday evening and returning Sunday evening.

—Miss Daisy George, of Tionesta, and Milton Hepler, of Newmansville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Reed Tuesday and Wednesday. The former is a niece of Mrs. Reed.—Embleton Herald.

—Philip Emerit is still unable to move about with any degree of ease or safety, having sprained the ankle of his "good" leg about two weeks ago, causing him a good deal of pain and inconvenience.

—Mrs. Wm. H. Varnam, of Mercer, and Mrs. Ross Zahniser, of Jackson Center, Mercer county, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Zahniser. The former is a sister and the latter a sister-in-law of Mr. Z.

—Mrs. A. Boyd, of Siverly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Alt, of Leeper, whose illness we mentioned last week, underwent an operation for appendicitis Saturday at the Oil City hospital. She rallied nicely and will recover without further serious trouble.

—Chester Downey, of Porkey, and Miss Tillie Dean, of Cooper Tract, both in this county, were married on the 6th inst., at Jamestown, N. Y. They will begin housekeeping at Henry's Mills, where the groom is employed as pumper for the South Penn oil company.

—Mrs. Helen Bates of 51 North Brown street, who has been quite ill at the city hospital, was reported somewhat better yesterday.—Mrs. Lawrence H. Gibson, of Tionesta, who has been visiting her father, E. J. Lesser, left Sunday for Pittsburg.—Titusville Herald.

—H. S. Brockway, Esq., of Marienville, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, has been a visitor in town for a few days past. Early in the summer "Squire Brockway" injured one of his legs which laid him up several months, and at present he is obliged to "wear crutches."

—S. S. Canfield, who has been confined to his bed for more than two months with a severe illness, was out for the first time last Saturday, having driven about town for a short time. He seems to be making good progress toward recovery and will doubtless be his old self again shortly.

—Misses Helen Smearbaugh entertained a large party of young ladies in honor of her guests, the Misses Davis, of Greenville, Pa. Saturday afternoon Mrs. J. H. Robertson had a large number of Tionesta's fair young daughters at dinner, honoring the same young ladies. The Misses Davis returned to their homes yesterday.

—The marriage of Miss Mary Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dawson, to Wallace Russell Brown, was one of the notable society events that occurred at Tidoute, where all of the parties reside, on the 10th inst. The parents of the bride are well known to many of our citizens, and there were quite a number of guests present from West Hickory and Endeavor, this county.

Mayburg.

George Hartman, who has been seriously ill for the past couple of weeks, is now convalescing.

Some of our sports attended the ball at Kellettsville Saturday night.

Our nimrods are bagging abundance of game at present.

A number of our school children were vaccinated with the usual results, viz: sore arms, absent from school, sickness, etc.

G. H. Long and wife, who were abroad on a visit, have returned home.

Mrs. E. L. Littlefield is on the sick list. The Buck Mills school house was destroyed by fire last week. This is the second school building burned in the past year at that place.

Dr. Detar of Kellettsville is a daily visitor to our town now-a-days.

Our school is progressing nicely under Miss McCrea's stock of "Patience."

—There is something wrong with the girl who doesn't know that a young man is in love with her until he mentions it.

Buck Mills School House Burned.

For the second time within a year the school house at Buck Mills, in Kingsley township was destroyed by fire, the latest occurrence being on Wednesday night of last week. The origin of the fire was thought to have been an over pressure of the gas stove being connected with the high-pressure line, but this theory is exploded by the statement of the teacher, Miss Nellie Myers, to the effect that she turned off all the gas before leaving the house in the evening, and this is the condition the throttle was found in the next morning. The further fact that the building which occupied the same foundation was mysteriously burned during the early part of last winter, leads strongly to the conclusion that the fire was of incendiary origin. What motive any one could have for such despicable work is hard to conjecture. The loss to the district on building, furniture and supplies will foot up about $800, on which there was an insurance of $500, carried through the Arner agency of Tionesta. Work on a new building was started yesterday, which will be located in the center of the village, the ones destroyed being half a mile above the town.

There is No Doubting This.

Some weeks ago we published an item about a wonderful crop of tomatoes raised by our friend and a former well-beloved minister of the Tionesta M. E. church. There may have doubted the story, but there is no longer room for such skepticism for here is the document that settles it in the minds of those who may have had any doubts:

CONNEAUTVILLE, Pa., Oct. 14, 1905.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—I received the FOREST REPUBLICAN bearing date Sept. 27th, containing a marked article concerning tomatoes I raised the past season. I suppose you questioned the truth of the article, as it appeared almost incredible that so much could be raised on so small a piece of ground, but as they were all weighed and sold by the pound I am able to give you the exact figures. My garden was 100 feet long by 50 feet wide. 40 by 45 of this was set to tomatoes, the rows being three feet apart and the tomatoes set about two feet apart in the row, containing 366 plants. I sold by actual weight 2,183 lbs. for $136.31, selling the first on July 23 at 10 cents per pound. The price held at 10 cents for about two weeks, then fell to 8c, 7c, 6c, 5c, and finally to 4c per pound. Besides selling these, we used all we wanted during the season, canned 40 quarts, brought with us a crate when we moved, and gave away a number of baskets that were a little inferior and which I did not care to put on the market. I estimated that there were at least enough of the tomatoes not sold to make 14 tons of tomatoes in all. Of other vegetables I sold $22.21 worth from my garden, making in all $158.52 worth sold from the patch. Of course, we ate all we wanted ourselves, put up pickles, etc., and brought with us 2 bushels of beets, 13 bushels of onions, box of celery, parsnips, and twenty pie pumpkins. We also had one corner of the garden in strawberries, which furnished us all the strawberries we needed for table use during the season. Now I acknowledge this looks rather fishy, and I feel that I tell it at the risk of my reputation for veracity, but I have the figures and money that tell the story and vouch for the truth of it. The most of these things were handled by two of our merchants, Thomas and Clark, of Conneaut Lake. Yours truly,

O. H. NICKLE.

Double Tragedy Recalled.

The superior court has just affirmed the decision of the lower court of Lawrence county that the wife of Leonard M. Johnson died first and the decision will enable the heirs of the man to secure the small estate left by the wife. The case revives one of the sensational crimes of this county. Viola Cousins was born in Mercer. Soon after reaching her 18th year she was married to Leonard Johnson, of New Castle. The married life of the young couple was unpleasant, and in the fall of 1903 she left her home in New Castle and sought refuge at the home of her uncle, Orlando Longstreth, whose home is near Gilzina in Green township. Johnson tried several times to effect a reconciliation with his child wife but was unsuccessful and became morose. On the forenoon of December 13, 1903, he appeared at the home of the uncle of his wife and in the presence of her aunt mortally wounded his wife. He fled and in a short time a posse of neighbors, headed by the Sheriff of Forest county, took up the trail through the snow, and about a quarter of a mile from the house found the dead body. He had committed suicide. The death of his wife was not instantaneous and in disposing of her small estate relatives of both the husband and wife made claims, the question hinging on which of the two died first. The Lawrence county court followed the usual precedent of deeming the wife the weaker and therefore deciding that her death occurred before that of her husband. The case was carried to the superior court and the decision affirming the final decision was rendered last week.

Letter to L. J. Hopkins,

Tionesta, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—When you see a well-dressed man, you like to say: "There's a sample of my clothes. That man is worth two of himself as he was when he came to me."

We have the same feeling. Our paint on a house is worth twice as much as old-fashioned painter's paint, lead-and-oil. It looks the same when first put on. In three months it don't. In three years it decidedly don't.

Lead-and-oil chalks off in three years; it is considered a first-rate job that lasts three years.

Devor lead-and-zinc is about as good in three years as it was the day the painter left it.

Zinc is the secret of it: no secret at all. A good many painters know zinc; some mix it in with their lead. We grind it in; not a little; good deal.

It's the zinc and the grinding that does it. You can't mix zinc by hand. We grind it in by machinery.

Painters are finding us out, though some painters are slow.

You know that it pays a good man to wear good clothes. How many customers have you that know it?

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOR & CO.,
New York.

MERCILLIOTT.

Jenks township was called upon last week to give up one of its oldest and most highly esteemed citizens when Peter Y. Mercillott was taken, his death occurring on Thursday, Oct. 12, 1905. About a year ago Mr. Mercillott experienced a stroke of paralysis, from which he never fully recovered, and about two weeks ago he was seized with a second stroke from which he rapidly declined until the date mentioned, when death claimed him. The deceased was born in Philadelphia, March 7, 1830, and at the time of his death was aged 66 years, 7 months and 11 days. At the age of 12 years he came with his parents to this section, locating on the farm which has since been his home, about two miles north of Marienville. In 1860 he was united in marriage with Miss Barbara Anderson, who, with seven children, three boys and four girls, survives him. At the breaking out of the civil war Mr. Mercillott enlisted in Co. B, 135th Regt. P. V., and served his country for the full term of his enlistment. During all his long life among the people of Jenks township he had borne the universal respect of his neighbors, who had frequently called him to serve in township affairs until he had at various times held about all the offices of trust, and that with credit to himself and his community. For many years he had been a member of the M. E. church and in its faith he died.

The funeral was held from his late home on Saturday last, the interment being in the Marienville cemetery, an escort of his comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic attending and laying the body to rest with military honors.
