What Won the Girl. It was in a subway train. On the lap of a woman, apparently her mother, sat a girl of some eighteen months. Next to them was another mother with her two-year-old son. Each woman petted the other's child, and the boy liked the attention and laughed and pranced. The girl maintained a straight face. She did not fret, nor apparently dld she want to cry, but if the word can be used in the case of one so young she was bored. The petting of her own mother and of the other woman clearly had no effect.

Then the little boy entered the lists, Edging up to the child, he put his arms around her neck and said, "I love 'oor Then it was that there broke over the baby's face the first smile that had appeared since the long subway ride from Harlem began. And as for the mothers, the usual and natural comments as to prescience followed.-New York Tribune.

Saved It.
