The state pure food inspectors found "embalmed oysters" on sale in Erie and arrests are to be made. The Harrisburg officials are making a determined effort to prevent the sale of adulterated food in this state.

Several flocks of wild geese passed over town last night, flying southward, and that means to hunt up your winter clothing. The birds were attracted by the lights of the town and were honking very low.

One night last week a P. R. R. freight, near Jamison's station, killed three head of young cattle belonging to Walter Dawson, of Dawson station. A colt was also slightly injured but will recover all right.

Mrs. John Saylor, of this place, has a record for raising squash that will be hard to beat. During the season she harvested thirty from one vine in her garden, the largest of which weighed 32 lbs. and the smallest 8 lbs. Can anyone beat this record?

Workmen are engaged in moving a part of the old Forest House onto a lot just north of J. W. Landers' property, and owned by F. C. Proper. In the spring Mr. Proper will remove the balance of the old building and on the lot will erect a handsome new dwelling.

State Economic Zoologist Surface denies the published story that he is preparing to give an exhibition of eating a big green cabbage worm to prove that it is not poisonous. The yarn grew out of a remark of Professor Surface that he could eat one without fear of poison.

Burglars entered the Falconer, N. Y., postoffice at an early hour Saturday morning and blew the safe, making away with its entire contents. The building itself was partially wrecked, and the safe almost destroyed. The amount of the loss had not been definitely ascertained on Saturday.

Billy Vergith and Fred Donovan are engaged on a contract at Delight, near East Hickory, where they will load and ship 1,500 cords of chestnut wood for the Queen City tannery. They have been obliged to build considerable new road before undertaking to haul much. The contract will require the greater part of the winter.—Titusville Herald.

Arthur Barnes, of Church Hill, cut a bad gash in his right foot with a broad-axe last Saturday morning while hewing timbers on the Landers & Wyman job near Cashup. The great toe was severely cut, while the second and third toes were about severed in the last joint, but will be saved. He came to town and Dr. Dunn dressed the wound, leaving him resting very easy.

One day last week residents of Newmansville and those living along the Tylersburg road were impudently for cash contributions by a man who claimed that his family was in destitute circumstances. When he found the women folks alone in the house, was generally the case, he became quite abusive and made dire threats of violence when told that there was no change in the house wherewith to make any donations. Some of the ladies were frightened almost into hysterics by the fellow's threats, and hastened to gather up what change they could find and gave it to the man in order to get rid of him. One of his arms hung limp by his side, he claiming that he had no use of it. The people in that neighborhood declare they were imposed upon and are anxious that others should be warned.

Sunday night about 11:30 a man passing along the public road at Nebraska discovered a fire under a freight car standing on the S. & T. railway tracks. Investigation revealed the fact that the car had been broken open and some goods belonging to a peddler named B. Goldman stolen. The fire was no doubt an attempt on the part of the thieves to burn the car to cover the evidence of the crime.

Don't forget the lecture at the court house Friday evening, by Dr. George P. Bible, whose subject will be "Fads and Extremes." Dr. Bible delivered the lecture before the teachers' institute at Marienville Monday evening, and the people who heard it say it was very fine. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Epworth League, whose members hope to have a crowded house. Go early and secure a good seat.

Rev. D. A. Platt, presiding elder, will preach in the M. E. church this Wednesday evening. Also on Thursday evening and Friday afternoon at 2:30, after which the quarterly conference will be held. Services in the church Saturday evening, and at the Sabbath morning service the ordinance of baptism will be administered, and Communion services held. In the evening Rev. Calhoun's subject will be "A King De-throned."

The County Commissioners have been making some noticeable improvements about the Court House. The commissioners' and county treasurer's offices have been repainted, as well as the wood-work and doors in the corridor and on the stairway and entrance to the court room. The work was handsomely done at the hands of artist Geo. I. Davis. It very materially brightens up the temple of justice and is much admired by all visitors there.

Work on the new cemetery on the west side of the river has been suspended for the season, owing to inclement and uncertain weather conditions. It has been named and will be known as Mt. Collins Cemetery. The contractors will finish their work on the mausoleum erected by Mr. Collins the present week, but the outside adornments, such as steps and a wide walk in front made of granite will yet be laid, but probably not until next season. The place has been visited and admired by many within the past two weeks.

So far as can be ascertained this morning hallowe'en was observed with much more decency and decorum than is customary on such occasions, and the boys seemed to be having a fine time. Numerous enjoyable parties were held during the evening, but none more so, perhaps, than the one which surprised Rev. and Mrs. Stonaker at the Presbyterian manse, when about fifty of their friends called and administered a fruit shower upon them. During the evening the company took possession of the kitchen and served light refreshments, and a very pleasant time was had by all present.

The Wilbarine pipe line has the pipe ordered and is making preparations to cross the river below West Hickory with a two-inch oil line that will connect with their present line crossing Cropp Hill. The line will be laid down Little Hickory creek and will be pushed into all the oil fields on the west side of the river where there is production enough to warrant it, if sufficient inducement is offered by the producers. This will be good news to all the operators of that section, for it means that much of the oil that has been heretofore sold at the Pennsylvania price will be brought up to the Tionesta price.

Many friends in this section will be pained to learn of the death on the 23d inst., of Frederick Pettigrew, a former resident of this county, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pettigrew. The young man left this section several years ago with his mother for Washington State, locating at a place called Pittsburg. A short time ago he contracted typhoid fever and was being cared for at the hospital in Tacoma, where his death occurred as above stated. The funeral was in charge of the Odd Fellows lodge of which he was a member, and was held on the 25th inst. The deceased was aged about 27 years, and is survived by his parents, four brothers and three sisters. He was an industrious young man of good morals and was very popular with all who knew him.

The well on the Charley Smith land above town fails as yet to be a producer and the excitement last week seems to have been for naught. The Marienville Oil and Gas Company, which owns the well, has decided to investigate the regions below a little farther and will drill deeper, at least another hundred feet. We had thought great things were in store for our readers this week, as the well, when we went to press last week, was down some 2200 feet and the indications pointed very favorably but the unexpected happened, the drill penetrated the sand and showed up well but there seemed to be not much sand. Every indication was favorable for oil and the necessary preparations were made accordingly. It is still hoped that oil in paying quantities may yet be found and that the prayers of our citizens may be answered.—Marienville Express.

Last Saturday night a gang of seven Syrians who gave their names as H. Handon, Chas. Handon, Hesse Handon, Solomon Handon, H. Hutton, Chas. Hutton and Joe Hutton, and who were traveling through here on their way to Punxsutawney, as they said, each carrying peddling packs, and driving an old horse and a ramsnack vehicle, forced an entrance to the Oldtown school house, two miles from Tionesta, and proceeded to make themselves comfortable for the night. The authorities were notified of the indignity and Sheriff Noblit with a posse went up and brought the lot down and gave them quarters in the county basille. Monday they were brought before Squire Setley, who placed a light fine on them, but with the costs the amount ran up to $4.70. This was too much for the impudent nomads and they concluded they would "board it out." When the Sheriff found them in the school house they had a roaring hot fire going and were quite loath to part with their comfortable surroundings. After a few hours' confinement in their native "gibberish" they announced that they had decided to pay up and were accordingly discharged. The "hoss" was left with liverman Urey for his two days' keeping, and it now looks as though he had got the hot end of the deal at that price.

It is up to somebody to influence the State officials to an extent necessary to interest them in employing means to combat the ravages of typhoid fever in Cherrytree township. Down at Enlenton they seem to have more than their share of that disease. The borough authorities should bestir themselves to discover the cause and then to use every means in their power to wipe it out.—Franklin News. The State officials don't seem to be bothering much about epidemic, but are content to show their authority in "enforcing" the compulsory vaccination law, and hampering school boards, teachers and citizens with all sorts of annoyances. It seems to be the first consideration in any epidemic or outbreak of contagious disease to "isolate" families from all comforts or necessities, and then claim all the credit of having saved the community, provided any one escapes the grave.

The Pittsburg Post of the 24th inst. has the following concerning a gigantic deal in lumber: "Lumbermen in the Pittsburg district are interested in an extensive deal for timber lands, completed last week, in which Pittsburg is concerned. It consists of the purchase of a half interest in the United States Spruce Company, with general offices at Martin, Va., and with 40,000 acres of the finest spruce timber in the country, along the Norfolk & Western railroad. The deal involves between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 and includes two railroads of modern construction and standard gauge, with a total of 35 miles of track, a modern double band re-saw mill and a productive capacity in spruce of 40,000,000 feet a year. The purchasers are the present owners of the Pennsylvania Lumber Company of Sheffield, Pa., with mill operations in Forest county, and offices in Pittsburg. The new owners will ultimately reorganize the United States Spruce Company and elect new officers."

The Glamour of Success.

An exchange puts it in this reasonable fashion: Amazing financial deals by insurance officials caused some men to think them very able indeed. Recent exposures show that their work was not so very wonderful after all. The burglar is more clumsy, but robs in about the same way as did these great financiers. That these insurance leaders had brains no one can deny, but their accomplishments, though not to be imitated, prove that there is a chance for any well equipped man to advance to great heights if he will follow certain courses of education. We all know that any good quality of stone will take on a beautiful luster if polished long enough, and the secret of most successes is that the men who made them have kept educating themselves, a thing any man may do. Lincoln could not have filled a presidential chair when he was first in politics. He rubbed along with the brightest men he knew, kept polishing his wits and finally got them sharpened so they cut down all opposition. Roosevelt owes much to his ability to get into contact with highly efficient, thoughtful men. Carnegie, Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers, Tom Lawson, and other men most in the public eye because of financial exploits, have surrounded themselves for years with the most brilliant and reliable lawyers, business men and industrial captains. They have made the world their high school building and hired for themselves teachers. They made their failures their instructors and now handle millions as other men handle pennies. Bright men, of course, but mostly educated into their tremendous power. Beside them the average man seems weak, but it is practical education and business polish that the mass of mankind lacks. If any workman of good ability will continually set himself to study causes, associate with the brightest minds he can reach, stick to the laws of his country and keep his moral life clean, he may achieve wonderful things.

RECENT DEATHS.

FREDERICK.
Henry Frederick, a resident for many years of Green township, this county, died at his home near Muzette on Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1905, of typhoid fever, which he contracted about three weeks ago at Hallowell, Elk county, where he had been engaged in drilling. He was aged about 50 years and leaves a wife and five children. The funeral was held Friday, the interment being in the cemetery at Gultonville. The deceased was a good citizen who bore the respect of all his neighbors. Mr. Frederick was a member of the school board of Green township at the time of his death.

WALTERS.

Catherine Trump Walters, nee Paup, was born in Adams county, November 6, 1829, and died at the home of her only child, Mrs. J. C. Bowman, in Tionesta, at an early hour last Wednesday morning, October 25, aged 75 years, 11 months and 19 days. When about ten years of age in company with her parents she came to Clarion county, where they purchased a farm near Lickingville. In 1850 she was united in marriage to the late Daniel Walters. They began their married life on a farm near Newmansville, where they resided until before the death of Mr. Walters, which occurred about twenty-five years ago. After the death of her husband she resided with her daughter until her death. Mrs. Walters was the oldest of ten children. Of the family only two remain, a brother, Oliver J. Paup, of Portland, Oregon, and Mrs. Christ Seigworth, of Lickingville. In early life she united with the Lutheran church and so remained until she came to the home of Mrs. Bowman, when it being no longer convenient to attend that church, she placed her membership in the Methodist church. Her christian life was worthy of imitation with simple and child like faith in the promises of the scripture. Heaven was not a far off place but the home she was ready to enter. Her last sickness was protracted and at times painful, but she did not complain, only waiting for her release which came at last, and peacefully as a child she fell asleep to waken in the Father's mansion. Brief services were conducted Friday at 12 o'clock at the home by Rev. W. O. Calhoun, after which the body was taken for burial to the Walters church at Newmansville, and where services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. A. Zahniser.

BATES.

From the Titusville Herald we take the following sketch of the life of Mrs. Bates, whose death was briefly noted in the REPUBLICAN last week:
"The death of Mrs. Margaret H. Bates occurred Wednesday morning at the Titusville hospital. After a long illness borne with patience and fortitude, she quietly and without pain drifted from sleep into eternal rest. Her last conscious thoughts were regrets that she could not have spared others the care and sorrow that come with sickness and death.

"Margaret Helen May was the daughter of H. H. and Frances May, names identified for many years with the material development and best welfare of Forest county. She was born in Tionesta, Dec. 18, 1841, and in the home of her girlhood was married Jan. 18, 1868, to Henry Snow Bates of honored memory in this town, where together they made their home until Oct. 30, 1890, when her life was saddened by her husband's death. But she took her work up again bravely and cheerfully and for fifteen subsequent years gave unflinching devotion and service to her family and friends.

"Mrs. Bates possessed intellectual gifts and attainments of a high order. With Mr. Bates she helped to found the East End Shakespeare club in 1880. She was a charter member of the Woman's club and her interest was unflinching in everything that could promote the welfare of the community in which she lived. She was a lifelong Presbyterian and to the stern high principles of her Puritan ancestry she added a broad tolerant faith in humanity and that charity which made her a type of the true Christian woman.

"Mrs. Bates leaves two brothers, Wm. May of Louisville and Benjamin May of Chicago, and three sisters, Mrs. Archibald Kelly, Mrs. Susan M. Sharpe of Tionesta, and Mrs. John Legnard of Waukegan; two step-sons, Rev. Harry S. Bates of Massillon, O., and Rev. Charles Bates of Barnstable, Mass. Besides these, four children mourn their mother's loss, Archibald K. Bates of Louisville, Mrs. Avery Warner Skinner of Onida, N. Y., Mrs. Chas. A. Black and Miss Mary Bates of Titusville."

Many friends and relatives attended the funeral which was held from the residence Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Samuel Semple of the Presbyterian church officiated. Interment took place in Woodlawn cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. E. C. Hoag, Samuel Grumbine, Harry Howland, F. B. Howland, D. Colestock and Edward Smith. Among those from out of town who were present at the funeral were, Mr. A. K. Bates of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Skinner of Onida, N. Y.; Mrs. Susan Sharpe, Mr. and Mrs. B. Kelly, Mr. S. D. Irwin and Rev. Mr. Sionaker, all of Tionesta; Rev. Harry Bates of Massillon, O.; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Legnard and B. W. May of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Kelly of Canton, O.; Hon. and Mrs. C. Heydrick and Miss H. G. Irwin of Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lamb, Mrs. A. W. Brown of Pleasantville, and David Lamb of New York.
