Following is the list of letters lying unclaimed for in the Tionesta, Pa., post-office for week ending April 25, 1906: Miss Josie Wilcox, Susie Plicks, J. C. Fitzgerald, card, James Black, card.

D. S. Knox, P. M.

Report has it that within the past week or two many residents of Warren have been ill caused by the water they have been drinking, and have been requested to boil all their drinking water. Warren's water supply does not come from the Allegheny river.

Trailing arbutus, the earliest and sweetest of all wild flowers, is beginning to bloom. There is abundance of this fragrant and pretty flower to be had in the woods about here, and many and pleasant are the pilgrimages made to the forest in search of it when the weather is soft and balmy.

The body of Butler Campbell, an aged farmer who committed suicide January 22, by throwing himself into French creek near Sagertown, was found on an island just below that village Sunday. The body was half buried in the sand and was unrecognizable. Identification was made by means of the clothing. He was 77 years of age.

The laws are beginning to "green up" and maples and other softwood trees are bursting their buds. Nature is beginning to assert herself once more and in a short time the glories of spring time will burst upon us in all their grandeur—provided the weather man gives us half a show. Everybody's ready for the transition, and it can't happen too soon.

It is unofficially stated that the schedule of the up-river afternoon train is to be materially changed in a short time, and that it will leave Oil City much earlier, about 7:30. This change will please most people a little bit, and the Oil City fishermen a whole lot, giving them several hours more of daylight wherein to land the big fish and consume the contents of the bait box.

For several days after the appalling catastrophe at San Francisco, the family and other friends of Alex. Dale, who has been making his headquarters in that city, were greatly concerned as to his safety. A telegram received Friday by his brother, J. T. Dale, allayed their fears, however, conveying the welcome information that he was safe and sound. The transmission of private messages from the stricken city was well nigh impossible for several days after the disaster, and people in every quarter of the country having friends in California were naturally very greatly worried.

The third quarterly meeting will be held in the M. E. church at Tionesta this week, beginning on Friday evening. Rev. D. A. Platt, the Presiding Elder, will preach. Sermon followed by the quarterly conference. Preaching services Saturday evening and Sunday morning, followed by the communion. Preaching on Sunday evening by the Presiding Elder.

—Rev. A. O. Stone, a former pastor of the Tionesta M. E. church, has been appointed to a clerkship in the Treasury department at Harrisburg by State Treasurer-elect Berry, as a reward for his service in the prohibition cause in Mercer county last fall. Rev. Stone was stationed at Volant, but has resigned his pastorate to accept the clerkship, which pays $1,800 a year.

—The burning of Oil City's electric power plant on Saturday night has left the denizens of that town in almost utter darkness since, and has entirely, for the time being, shut off travel by trolley. The plant was an extensive one, the property loss being estimated at $250,000, with only about $75,000 insurance. It will likely be some time before the city will come out of its darkness and the people be able to ride on the street cars.

—Manager W. B. Filson, of Monarch Park, today received "Bob," a 14-month-old black bear, from W. J. Grandin, of Tidouite, and it will be one of the attractions at the park. "Bob" is as tame and playful as a kitten and was a pet at the Grandin home. One day recently he was missing and when found was sleeping peacefully in one of the children's beds, having slipped up the back stairs of the house unobserved. Oil City Blitzard.

—About the only topic of conversation during the past week has been the great calamity at San Francisco. It is difficult even with the complete newspaper accounts to realize the scope of the disaster so thorough has been the awful work of destruction. But soon this will have practically passed out of the minds of those who were not directly in the calamity's wake, and other thoughts and topics will take its place. The American people are too busy to think long on one subject.

—Parker B. Wright was accidentally killed while breaking a log pile near his home in the Ponderay valley near Colville, Wash., on March 28, 1906. He was thirty years old and leaves a wife and baby boy to mourn his death. Mr. Wright went to Washington from Pennsylvania about four years ago and for about one year was pastor of the Colville Free Methodist church. Since that time he has lived on a homestead. His parents live near Leeper, Clarion county.—Clarion Democrat.

—The first boats and barges of the season to pass down to the Pittsburgh market were from the Hickory and Grunderville yards last week. Two fleets—four each of boats and barges—comprised the output. The coal flat industry will not flourish to the usual extent during this season, the price of hemlock being such as to make it unprofitable at the price the coal combine has set upon the flats. The lumbermen find that it does not pay to put twenty-dollar material into boats, where an average of only $11 per thousand is realized.

—Franklin reports another case of suicide by the rubber hose and gas process. On Saturday night Charles B. Henderson, supposed to reside at Raymlton, Venango county, put an end to his existence in a manner similar to that employed by the three other men who committed suicide in that city within the past month. The last victim had taken a room at the Grant house, and some time during the night had moved his bed to the stove, disconnected a rubber hose, turned on the gas and inhaled it. He was found cold in death Sunday afternoon. This is the seventh suicide in Franklin since January.

—O. W. and F. C. Proper last week drilled in a well on the Collins lands at the mouth of Fox Creek, in Green township, that promises to open up a new oil field. At 500 feet 21 feet of Clarion sand was found and it was given a forty-quart shot on Monday. The well shows up for a good producer, the oil being of the white variety. Samples brought here show it to be almost as clear as water and remarkably free from sediment. It is to be hoped that more of it may be found. The Proper Bros. have an unlimited amount of territory there and will go right ahead and give the locality a thorough test.

—There is a possibility that the skeleton of the man found in the woods at Quaker Run, on the P. R. R., near the York State line, details of which have recently appeared in the papers, might have been those of Emmett S. Knapp, former chief of police of Meadville. In July, 1903, Knapp arrested a man charged with murder committed in Rochester, N. Y. Knapp took the prisoner from Meadville to the New York state line and delivered him to the Rochester authorities. Since that time he has not been heard from. He is known to have carried a gold watch, such as was found near the skeleton, and the father, who resides at Randolph, has asked the coroner to hold the articles found in order to make further investigation. Knapp was 46 years of age. There is a suspicion that he was murdered.

—Friday afternoon, while Miss Clara Wolf, daughter of Commissioner Andrew Wolf, was driving down Smokey hill a rig driven by a boy from Gollitza attempted to pass, and in doing so frightened her horse so that he ran away, throwing her sister and W. O. Hamilton, other occupants of the buggy, out. Barring a severe shock and fright the ladies escaped injury, but Mr. Hamilton was quite painfully bruised about the body and had his face considerably lacerated by coming in contact with the hard ground. The horse was caught a short distance down the hill by Charles Walters, and a frightful accident possibly averted, as Miss Wolf had no control of the horse, the lines being down on the ground. The vehicle was considerably demolished but the horse escaped injury. The Gollitza rig was also somewhat used up and its occupants thrown out, the wheels of the buggy passing over one of them, Ed. Fox, who changed to be riding with the boy, making several sore places, but not seriously injuring him.

—Mrs. Sidney Smith of Warren, Mrs. Catherine Mathe of Franklin Grove, Ill., and Miss Jennie Wolf of Newmansville spent Saturday with Mrs. A. W. Stroup. Mrs. Mathe and Miss Wolf left Saturday evening for Union City, where they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gillespie. From there Mrs. Mathe will return to her home in Illinois.

—Mrs. H. M. Zahniser sprung a pleasant surprise on her husband Monday evening of this week. The affable H. M. had apparently forgotten that it was his 70th birthday until he reached home in the evening and found a goodly number of his gentlemen friends had "just dropped in" to extend best wishes and congratulations. Nice refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening passed in the company of Mr. and Mrs. Zahniser.

—The current issue of the Illustrated North American, published periodically at Buffalo, N. Y., contains a good picture of our townsman, E. E. Fleming, together with a good sketch of his life, with particular reference to his extensive career as an oil producer. Mr. Fleming has had a large and successful experience in the oil business, and is interested in some of the best territory in this section. He is one of the best posted men in that line in all this region.

Pretty Social Event for Mrs. Helena Aspin.

A pleasant event was given last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williams, of North Drake street, by the members of the Camping Club in honor of one of their number, Mrs. Helena Aspin, whose marriage to James J. Landers, of Tionesta, will take place shortly. Mr. Landers was also a guest of honor at last night's affair. The party was in the nature of a shower to Mrs. Aspin and many gifts of a miscellaneous character were bestowed upon her. About thirty-five were present and the evening was socially spent.

Muscle was one of the attractive features, the orchestra giving several selections. A clever number which had been arranged by Mrs. Williams was sung by a quartet comprising Miss Allen, Mrs. Coleman, Mr. Williams and Mr. Jepson. The selection was a play upon many of the popular songs of the day particularly appropriate to the occasion. Fine refreshments were served.

Two Houses Burned at Mayburg.

On Thursday last the quiet of our little town was abruptly broken by the alarm of fire. The fire was discovered to be in the house occupied by Geo. VanValin. Although heroic efforts were made to stay the flames they proved futile and rapidly reaching the house occupied by Frank Rayborn, and in a very few minutes both houses were enveloped in flames. The heat from the burning buildings was almost unendurable and for a time it looked as though the entire town might be wiped out. Had the wind not been favorable no power could have saved the town from destruction. The town is well supplied with water plugs and other facilities for fighting fire, but unfortunately the mill was shut down for repairs and there was not sufficient steam to work the large pump properly. This is rather unfortunate for Mr. Rayborn. Just two years ago he was burned out, saving little or nothing of his household goods. James Mack and wife, who were staying with his brother-in-law, Mr. VanValin, were also considerable losers, saving only the clothing they had on. Mr. VanValin lost most of his household goods also. The buildings were the property of the Company, and no doubt will be quickly replaced. The loss will probably exceed $2,000, with no insurance.

Caught Cold While Hunting a Buzard.

Mr. Wm. Thos. Lamorgan, provincial constable at Chapeau, Ontario, says: "I caught a severe cold while hunting a buzzard in the forest swamp last fall. Hearing of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy I tried it and after using two small bottles, I was completely cured." This remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds. It will loosen and relieve a severe cold in less time than by any other treatment and is a favorite wherever its superior excellence has become known. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

Ninth Annual Commencement.

The ninth annual commencement exercises of the Tionesta High School were held in the Court House, Tuesday evening, April 24, 1906. The room was very prettily decorated with palms and flowers, the class colors, pink and green, being used to good advantage. The class motto, "No Victory Without Labor," also in the class colors, was a prominent part of the decorations.

The number of graduates this year was twelve—a very entertaining and instructive program was rendered by them to the great enjoyment of the people who filled the building to overflowing. Rev. W. O. Calhoun, pastor of the M. E. church, offered the invocation.

The Salutatory was given by Lenora Ritchey, who gave it in a very pleasing manner. Her principal thought was self-dependence, concentrated thought, and perseverance with proper aim in view.

The Cross of Crescent, by Evelyn Grove, was a vivid description of the contest between the Mohammedan and the Christian religions from the birth of Mohammed to the fall of Constantinople, relating as prominent the battles of Tours, War of the Crusades, and the widespread belief of Mohammed through Asia and Africa.

The Progressive Nation, by Olive Childs, was a short synopsis of the relation of the United States to other nations. The prominent part was always an antagonist to despotism, a strong advocate of arbitration, the promoter of free schools and first in the line of progress.

Cleopatra contra Catalina was given by Roy Hood, a Latin oration consisting of sixty lines of Cicero's first oration against Catalina, for the purpose of representing a part of the course of study.

The readings, "A Roman Legend," by Sarah Carson, "The Green Mountain Justice," by Louis Foreman and "Diamond Cut Diamond," by Alena Gerow, were delightful features of the evening and showed great talent on the part of the young ladies.

The Class History, by Maude Canfield, was written in the narrative form and gave an account of the class in the several studies taken up by them during the past year. A subtle vein of humor ran through the composition and it was thoroughly enjoyed.

The Class Prophecy in the form of a conversation between Essie Scowden and Emma Arner, was very bright, sly and highly humorous.

Chimney Corner Graduates, an essay by George Hunter, was very interesting. He clearly proved that all education is essentially self-education and in the truest sense every graduate is a chimney corner graduate.

The Valedictorian, Marie Dunn, said farewell for the class of 1906 in a pleasing manner. She called the attention of the class that higher schools were waiting for them, but this school, since it was their home school, would be remembered long, and that parting was but another phase of nature at all times not understood.

The program was interspersed with selections by Stricker's Orchestra, of Warren.

Sweet little Elizabeth Bowman acted as flower girl and carried off first honors.

The Class Address, by Dr. J. George Becht, of the Clarion State Normal School, on "Lead a Hand," abounded in practical suggestions not only to those in the educational world, but for people in every walk of life. The genial doctor has many warm friends here.

The presentation speech, by T. F. Ritchey, showed his deep interest in the welfare of the schools. He complimented the graduates on their year's work and gladly gave them their reward—a diploma.

The Class of 1906 go out well equipped for the battles of life. They have proved that they are willing to put forth every effort to realize their ideals, and in this for the past year they have been aided by an able, conscientious principal and by an excellent Board of Directors, whose first thought is to promote the welfare of the schools in our town.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered at a union service on Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church, by the pastor, Rev. Paul J. Sloaner. It was an able discourse and was listened to with rapt attention by a large congregation. We present the sermon on the fourth page of this issue. Read it.

Death of Mrs. Krotzer.

Thursday evening last Mrs. Wm. F. Blum was summoned by telegram to the bedside of her only sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Krotzer, near Kittanning, Pa., whose serious illness resulted in her death on the following evening, April 23, 1906. Deceased was the wife of David Krotzer, and was well known to many of our people, the family having resided at Newelltown, this county, a number of years, and had frequently visited in Tionesta. Mrs. Krotzer was born in Clarion county, July 30, 1844, and was united in marriage with David Krotzer, at Franklin, in 1860, and six children resulted from this union, as follows: Mrs. M. L. Bowser, of Appleold; Albert, of Sharsburg, and Robert, of Kittanning.

Death resulted from a second paralytic stroke which occurred on Sunday, April 15th, the first one having occurred on Memorial Day, 1905. There was great hope for her recovery but as the week wore on she gradually grew weaker and died enured at the time noted. Early in infancy Mrs. Krotzer was a highly honored member of the Lutheran church, and St. John's congregation of Kittanning in her death loss a devoted and earnest worker. Besides her husband and children, one brother, Rev. Christ Ochsenschlager, of Richmond, Virginia, and one sister, Mrs. Blum, of Tionesta, survive.

Rheumatism Makes Life Miserable.
A happy home is the most valuable possession that is within the reach of mankind, but you cannot enjoy its comforts if you are suffering from rheumatism. You throw aside business cares when you enter your home and you can be relieved from those rheumatic pains also by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application will give you relief and its continued use for a short time will bring about a permanent cure. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

For San Francisco Relief.

The Forest County National Bank has been asked to receive subscriptions for the relief of sufferers by the San Francisco horror on behalf of the Pennsylvania Branch of the American National Red Cross, and has expressed its willingness to act in such capacity, and to transmit all moneys to Mrs. A. J. Cassatt, treasurer of the society, 8th and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia. The bank will accept for all sums contributed and forward same promptly to the Red Cross society. It would seem unnecessary to make more than mere mention of this fact in order to start the subscriptions. The appalling condition of the people of San Francisco surely appeals to benevolent humanity. All classes are suffering for the necessities of life and doubtless will continue to do so for some time to come. The American heart has responded nobly to the call of distress that has come out of this lamentable disaster, and yet the need is very great. Let the response continue to be prompt and generous.

Letter to L. J. Hopkins,

Tionesta, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—How easy it is to get things mixed! This comes from our agents, Messrs. B. K. and G. W. Stickle, Rockaway, N. J.

A Rockaway man was going to paint two houses, a year ago, lead-and-oid. They induced him to paint one Devore, by agreeing to bear any loss it might bring him.

One of his houses chalked-off, and he called for a settlement.

The boot was on the wrong foot. Lead-and-oid is the chalk; not Devore. It was a mistake, not a bunco.

If Devore chalked-off as lead-and-oid does, it wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance in the market.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVORE & Co.

P. S.—Dunn & Fulton sell our paint.
