

Smart & Silberberg STORES.

Ample Supply of the Scarce Gray Mixed SUITINGS

Scarce as we've reason to believe they are elsewhere, you'll find here a bountiful supply of the much wanted gray mixtures. All the better grades are represented, ranging from $1.00 to $2.00 per yard, and they're all good values, too.

Oh! By the Way,

We've a bountiful supply of that scarcest of scarce commodities—Lace Buttons for Lingerie Waists. All sizes, too, from the smallest up. Don't forget this little item; it'll interest you later on if it doesn't now.

Make Your Hot Porch Cool

Vudor Porch Shades make this possible; they keep out the hot sun, but admit the cool, refreshing breeze. They give absolute privacy, for no one can look through them from the outside; yet they are so constructed that from the inside you can see all that goes on without.

They can be instantly raised or lowered, with very little effort. A practically indestructible device (operating on the principle of a theatre curtain) accomplishes this. They are light, but exceedingly durable, being constructed of thin strips of Linden wood fibre woven with the strongest seine twine.

Vudor Shades are artistic in the extreme; stained in soft colors that rest the eye and harmonize with any style of architecture. The colors are absolutely indelible and will neither fade nor crack off. Think of the many pleasant hours you can spend on your porch during the hot, stifling days in summer if it is equipped with these shades. Fanned by every cooling breeze, seeing every passer-by—yet secure against the burning rays of the summer sun and the inquisitive gaze of neighbor and stranger alike.

Lucas Paints

It doesn't pay a painter to mix his own paint. Lucas Paints are mixed more evenly and thoroughly by improved modern machinery. They save his time and are better after they are mixed. They spread so easily and cover so thoroughly that he can finish a job with much less labor and in shorter time.

Best of all, they hold their color better, wear longer, and always make a satisfactory job. Ask your dealer.

TIMELY HINTS TO FRUIT GROWERS

F. Z. Hartzell, State Orchard Inspector Gives Some Very Good Advice.

F. Z. Hartzell, State orchard inspector of Forest county having inspected the orchards, desires to give some timely suggestions. The insect known as the oyster shell scale has infested many young apple trees so as to injure them, and unless the insects be killed the trees will die. The best remedy is a solution made by using one pound of white oil soap (common soap will do) and five gallons of water. This should be applied between May 25 and June 1. The canker worm has made its appearance in the eastern part of Forest county and as it appeared in large numbers last year, it is reasonable to expect an increase in numbers and these may seriously damage fruit-trees. The female moth, which lays the eggs from which the canker worms hatch, is a wingless creature. It climbs the trees and deposits its eggs. The worms (caterpillars) may also climb the tree. The remedy therefore, is some method of preventing the insects from climbing the trees and thus feeding on the leaves. The bands of cotton around the trees, or use bands of tarred paper, or, better still, tie pieces of wire netting about the tree so as to form an inverted funnel. If cotton is used care must be exercised that they are made fluffy after every rain or it will become compact enough for the insects to crowd over it. If tarred paper is used care must be used in keeping plenty of fresh tar on the bands, when a few of the insects have gotten on the trees before the trees were banded, they can be killed by using Paris Green as a spray. The seventeen-year cicada commonly known as the seventeen-year locusts will be present in Clearfield and other counties south-east of Forest county and they may also appear in this county as the limits of the brood is not exactly known. It is important that farmers plant no young trees this spring for should the locusts appear many of them will be killed. The insect injures trees by laying its eggs in the small branches, but when a tree is very young they may lay them in the trunk and thus kill the tree. Bordeaux mixture is the standard fungicide and is used to prevent the brown rot of apple, peach, cherry, plum and grape, the black rot of grapes; the mildews on different fruits; and the late blight of potatoes. The formula is four pounds of lime (unslacked) four pounds of copper sulphate (blue stone) fifty gallons of water. Spraying should be begun early in the spring and continued at intervals of ten days or two weeks until the fruit is half grown then use: five ounces of copper carbonate, three pounds ammonia and forty gallons of water. Dissolve the copper carbonate in the ammonia then add the water continue this until the fruit is ripe. Where chewing insects infest the trees add Paris Green to these mixtures. For late blight of potatoes use the bordeaux mixture after the plants are six inches high and continue until the stalks die down in the fall. For potato scab use eight ounces of formalin in fifteen gallons of water, soak the seed potatoes about two hours in this and plant in clean ground, ground that was not planted to potatoes for several years. For plum curculio several remedies are given: spray with Paris Green or Arsenate of Lead just after the buds burst and before the flowers open. Spray again with Arsenate of Lead soon after the petals fall, catch the insect by jarring them on clothes spread under the tree while it is cool at night or in the morning, gather and destroy all fallen plums every day until the larvae are in them. Keep poultry in the orchards where these pests occur.

TAKING HIS OWN MEDICINE.

How He Was Brought to a Realizing Sense of His Duty.

When Dr. John Dewey, now head of the department of psychology at Columbia, was professor at Chicago he had a good deal to say about the training of children. He particularly urged that they should call their parents by their first names. About this time he went home one day to find water trickling through the ceiling of his study, and on investigation found his son converting the bathroom into a natatorium. Mildly expressing his surprise, he was greeted with:

"Don't stand there shooting off your mouth, John; get a mop and get busy before the old woman comes home."—Chicago Tribune.

Objected to Cuts.

Bill—I see a correspondence school is sending out a book showing how to shave oneself.

Jill—Yes, I saw it, but the books wouldn't suit me.

"Why not?"

"Too many cuts in it."

His Choice.

A traveling salesman arrived at home about three in the morning to discover that his wife had given birth to triplets. He was delighted almost beyond control of himself. "My," he said, "I must go right in and wake up Dooley." Dooley was his next door neighbor and a dog-fancier. He pulled Dooley out of bed, got him to hurry on his cothens, and stood him before the triplets. "Aren't they dandies?" he asked. Dooley gazed at them in a semi-awakened state and, still rubbing the sleep from his eyes, replied: "Yes; they're all right. I think if I were you I would keep that one in the middle."—Punch.

His Indignant Protest.

The college freshman, who had doubted himself up on a seat in the smoking car, was found asleep when the train ran off the track.

He was thrown across the back of the seat ahead, and half a dozen men were piled on top of him.

"Oh, I say, fellows," he mumbled angrily, "let up! When you've hazed a chap once, good and proper, that's enough! Cut it out!"—Chicago Tribune.

James 29c for 50 cent Silks
39c for 65 cent Silks
49c for 75c and $1.00 Silks

That tells briefly of a Silk Sale which, considering the qualities of silks and the kind to be sold, should prove a sale of great importance. Silks that so far as real value is concerned should easily command the regular price.

Not necessary to go into argument or detail with reference to the why or wherefore of this sale.

The silks are here, they haven't sold at the regular price, so regardless of what we paid for them or what in our judgment they should sell for, good business would seem to dictate that all slow selling merchandise be quickly disposed of. That's why we're going to accept a temporary loss on these.

Not backward about accepting a loss when it's necessary. Don't hesitate to resort to a very forcible price reduction when occasion demands. That keeps our stocks fresh and clean, up to the minute in point of style.

This is not merely advertising talk—this store is not given to that—but a fact as to quality, original price and present price. Ask us for samples of them, if you're interested. That's generally a pretty safe plan. Lots consist mostly of Foulards, comprising almost every color, a few Fancy Taffetas and Rajah Silk. All perfect goods with the exception of a piece of light blue 75c Taffeta Silk selling for 49c, slightly faded.
