QUEER MARRIAGE CUSTOM.

The Malay Bride Has to Have Her Teeth Filed Awny. Some of the national marriage cusoms of other countries are distinctly quaint and interesting and to us appear curious enough. Our conventional white satin and orange blossoms are certainly no real madness apart from the throwing of rice and old shoes. An instance of a curious marriage custom is that of lower Ceylon, where r cocoanut, which is regarded as a sort of oracle, is sacrificed to the deities and traditional, but otherwise we indulge in levils as a solemn offering In Japan the symbolic girdle, so much nore expressive than our simple wedding ring, is the outward sign of marriage, while in Burma the piercing of the ears is the prelude to matrimonial

In Malay, however, the poor bride experiences a bad quarter of an hour before her marriage, inasmuch as she has to have her teeth filed down almost to the level of her gums, a process piteously painful as well as disfiguring. In spite of this pain, however, she is expected to participate in the wedding dance and festivities generally.-Lon-

VARIOUS RADIUM RAYS.

Beyond the Scope of the Strongest Microscope to Determine.

For the sake of distinction the radium rays are known as the alpha beta and gamma rays. Two of these kinds are actual matter. The first seem to be about the size of atoms, they travel enormously fast, but are easily stopped by a thin sheet of metal. The second are atoms a thousond times smaller than anything else known, and they go right through most metals. Both sorts are electrified. The third class of radiations are apparently the Roentgen | geted with a button on his waistcoat, rays. It would seem as if this waste of substance and power could continue for thousands of years, and yet the radium show no sign of growing less. All these rays are far beyond the scope of the most powerful microscope, but are caught and shown by the Crookes screen.

Difficult Horseback Feat.

There are no better horsemen in the world than the cavalry officers of the Italian army, yet even among them there are very few who could perform the feat recently achieved by one of them

To run an ordinary foot race is easy enough, but to run at full speed for several hundred yards holding in one had a spoon on which rests an egg and to reach the goal without dropping the egg is a feat which must be practiced carefully a long time before it can be performed successfully, and as a result there are not many who can be sure of accomplishing it whenever they try. Great, was the surprise when an Italian officer mounted on horseback performed this difficult feat. Moreover, he selected a course in which there were two or three high fences, and these he cleared at full gallop without losing the egg.

Fat Men and Marriage. It is remarkable how seldom one finds a fat man unmarried. It is the thin men as a rule who run to bacheicrhood. It may be urged, going back en a previous sentence, which spoke of matrimony as a weight increaser in men, that this is putting the cart before the horse. It is true, nevertheless, that where you find a fleshy man his tendency is to marry. In matters of color the fair man may he said to have it as against the dark man, and if there be a dash of red in the composition matrimonial probab'lities are thereby increased. The little man has, in this respect, as in some others, pre-eminence over the long man. Women, as a rule, are readier to marry tall men-they admire length-but long men are not always ready to be married.

Strange Coincidence.

There is a mysterious coffinchaped grave in the churchyard at Montgomery, England, on which the rass refuses to grow. According to he local legend, a young man of Montgomery was hanged for murdering his sweetheart. He asserted to the last that he was not guilty, and on the scaffold, declared that no grass would grow over his grave until his innoceace was proved. The prophecy, it is alleged, has been fulfilled to the present day.

An Illusive Plant.

There is a plant in Chile and a "flower of the air." It is so called because it appears to have no root, rock. Each shoot produces two or three flowers like a llly-white, transparent and odoriferous. It is capable of being transported six to seven hundred miles and vegetates as it travels suspended on a twig.

Toilet of the Ant.

A naturalist has been making observations on the toilets of certain outs, and has discovered each insect goes through most elaborate ablutions. They are not only performed by herself, but by another, who acts for the time as lady's maid. The assistant starts by washing the face of her companion, and then goes over the whole body. The attitude of the ant that is being washed is one of inense satisfaction.

Solving the Tramp Question.

The city of Colby, Kan., had 1,000 meal tickets printed and distributed among the housewives of the place. The tickets are good for one meal when countersigned by the city marshal. When a hobo appears at the back door and asks for a handout he is given one of these tickets, which the marshal will redeem for two hours' work on the streets. Unless goes hungry in Colby.

Sale of Asses' Milk in London. This has been a good year for the sale of asses' milk, the consumption of which varies according to the amount of illness prevailing.

Two or three asses' dairies still hold their own in London, one being within a couple of hundred yards of the Marble Arch, where "milch are kept on the premises. From this establishment the milk is sent all over the country in sealed bottles, the price being 6s. per quart.

"Singing Insects" of Japan. More than three thousand persons in Japan make a good living by breeding, training, and selling what are known as " singing insects." The insects somewhat resemble our crickets, being known in Japan by the name of kusa-hibari. The music which they make resembles that of a liver bell, and, though rather mo-

CURIOUS, AIDS TO SPEECH.

Methods Adopted by Well Known

Speakers and Writers. Readers may have noticed that many persons while speaking-public orators included—have a knack of doing something which appears in an unaccountable way to assist the flow of words. Sir Walter Scott has supplied an Illustration of this. When at school he could never succeed in getting above a certain boy in the class until he discovered that this boy, while repeating his lessons, continually fid-At the first opportunity that offered, Scott cut the button away, and his object was gained. When the boy was called upon to construe, his hand instinctively sought the button, and, being unable to find it, his memory completely failed him and he went in disgrace to the bottom.

Mrs. Cowden Clarke, the compiler of the well known concordance to Shakespeare, has told of a similar peculiarity on the part of Madame de Stael, who had a habit when talking of taking a scrap of paper and snipping it into bits with a pair of scissors. The idiosyncrasy of Gibbon, the historian, was to take a pinch of snuff between his fingers when he recounted an anecdote, and invariably drop it at the point of the story.

A Mystery Explained.

One of the strangest of stories of false imprisonment comes from France. A woman was sentenced to imprisonment for life for having caused the death of her husband and brother. The three had lived together at Malaunay, near Roeun, in a cottage, the lower part of which was used as a wineshop. When the woman was sent to prison other people took the wineshop, but the new tenants suffered, the man from fainting fits, his wife from nausea, from which she died. Another couple tried their fortune, but they too were overcome by the "spell of the accursed place," as they thought it. They were subject to fainting and loss of memory. At last a scleatific examination of the premises was made. Then it was found that a lime kiln adjoined the inn. In the wall dividing it from the cottage were many fissures, so that whenever lime was burnt monoxide of carbon es caped into the inn. This was the secret of the deaths for which the woman was suffering. She was brought out of prison after six years of servitude.

The Quality of a Mirror.

In the mirrors of to-day tthe light is reflected by a layer of silver or an amalgam of tin, but a proportion of light is lost in the process of reflection and the image is less luminous than the original. The value of a looking glass is usually estimated by the thickness of the glass, because the thicker it is the stronger it must be. But, speaking scientifically, thick glasses are defective because the outlines of the image reflected are less clearly defined.

Habits of Domesticated Animals. The dog is the most widely distributed of the domestic animals. He lives in the lowly but of the African savage and is the companion of the Greenland Esquimaux, the most northern inhabitants of the wrold. He is, in fact, the inseparable companion of man and is found whereever the human race exists. His haband is never fixed to the earth. It itat is thus extended further north twines round a dry tree or sterile and further south than that of any other domestic animal.

Uses of Cocoanut.

Oriental coals not being well suited for the production of large quantitles of illuminating gas, and gasoline not being readily obtainable, the government Inboratories in the Philippines have adopted a method of preparing gas from cocoanut oil. The oil is slowly poured into red bot cast-iron retorts, and a gas of a high quality is given off, with the production of very little tar.

Medical Value of Flowers. It is now established that flowers and the perfumes distilled from them have a salutary influence and constitute a thearapeutic agency of high value, and that residence in a perfumed atmosphere forms a protection from pulmonary affections and arrests phthisis. In the town of La Grasse, France, where the making of perfumes is largely carried on, phthisis is unknown

Passing of the Glacier.

According to experts who have been studying the question, the death and total extinction of the prethe tramp follows this procedure he historic glacters is only a matter of time. In the Dauphine Alps seventeen main glacters have been under close observation since 1890, and all have shrunk steadily during the period, some of them as much as fifty feet a day.

Zone of the Silkworm.

The silkworm girdles the earth between the fiftieth parallel of north latitude and the Tropic of Cancer, being found further south only in Siam and Cochin China. In other words, it lives wherever the mulberry and other trees on which it feeds are found in perfection.

Selling Snow in Italy.

EDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. It is composed of vegetable ingre-dients and does not heat or inflame the blood but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the ac-tion of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REM-EDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Your druggist has it.
