Republican Ticket.

STATE. Governor, EDWIN S. STUART. Lieutenant Governor, ROBERT S. MURPHY. Auditor General, ROBERT K. YOUNG. Secretary of Internal Affairs, HENRY HOUCK. COUNTY. Congress, Hon. N. P. WHEELER. Assembly, T. D. COLLINS. District Attorney, A. C. BROWN. Coroner, DR. C. Y. DETAR.

TO REPUBLICANS.

We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch, and working in harmony with the Republican National Congressional Committee in favor of the election of a Republican Congress. The Congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be central throughout the campaign. We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscriptions of One Dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National Campaign Text Book and all documents issued by the Committee. Help us achieve a great victory. JAMES S. SHERMAN, Chairman, P. O. Box 2063, New York.

MR. BRYAN would have more competition in his party if the Democratic nomination under present circumstances was worth the effort.

It seems from Mr. Bryan's definition of himself that he is now to be classed as a conservative radical, more conservative and more radical than ever before.

PUTTING the breweries on a level with the churches, as candidate Emery does, may catch the votes of all who believe in morality and christianity, but will it?

FRENCH thrift is proverbial, but the Chinamen who work in foreign countries send home $50,000,000 a year. John beats Poor Richard in understanding the value of a penny saved.

Why did the Republican Congress defeat the Tillman bill which provided for exposing and punishing contributions to party campaign funds? exultantly shouts our neighbor, the Vindicator. Don't know, unless it was to save a lot of the Democratic corporationists from going to jail.

"FARMER" CREAMY is cute as the best of 'em. He has been re-nominated as a legislative candidate in his county, as well as having the Democratic nomination for Auditor General, and is holding out to both. He is cock sure of election to the legislature, and a bird in hand is worth a whole covey in the brush.

CANDIDATE Emery says he was not at home at the time the brewery enterprise was started in his town of Bradford. "However, had I been at home, I would not have withheld my donation to that brewery no more than I would to the churches." Lewis is nothing if not smart. He endorses both the breweries and the churches in the same breath. One's as dear to him as the other, evidently. There ought to be no trouble in that man getting all the endorsements going. He's just the style of man the people of Pennsylvania want for their "reform Governor." isn't he?

THE fusion Democrat-Lincolinites in counting election chickens figure on carrying this Congressional district in November because the Democrats got a plurality of the counties composing the district last fall. That's playing long chances, you bet. The Republicans of the district have a candidate, Hon. N. P. Wheeler, that can't be beaten by any mongrel combination. His private and business record is too good to be made the football of scheming or disgruntled politicians. In fact his nomination strengthens the Republican tickets all along the line from State to local candidates.—Tidoute News.

A COMMITTEE of the Democratic-Lincoln party held a meeting in Harrisburg last Friday at which the following resolution was adopted: "That it is the sense of this joint conference of the Democratic and Lincoln party executive committees that fusion on senatorial and representative candidates is desirable in order that a reform governor may be supported by a reform legislature. This conference recommends such action to the respective parties."

This is fusion on all local offices endorsed. And this is President Roosevelt and his splendid administration to be turned down in the name of "reform." It needs no prophet or mind above the ordinary to see that with the election of Emery and a Democratic legislature this fall in Pennsylvania Bryan will carry the country two years hence. We don't don't the voters are ready to return to "soup-house" times just to please a few malcontents of the Wannamaker stripes.

LAST year the Department of Agriculture sent out 35,773,400 packets of flower and vegetable seeds. The amount of seed required to fill these packets would fill twenty-eight cars of 30,000 pounds each. The work of packaging the seeds is done by contract. The contractor is paid at a flat rate for so many thousand packets. Most of the work is done by machines and about seventy-five men and women are employed.

THE War Department has given orders to the authorities at Manila to keep the department informed daily of the spread and development of the cholera in the Philippines. The disease is of the most virulent type. Men who are in the best of health and walking the streets one hour, are in the death agonies the next. The ignorant natives pay no attention to the warning not to eat uncooked fruit and vegetables, although they are almost panic-stricken over the ravages of the disease.

"You claim to have been drunk but 'once in your life, when a boy'. In this I rejoice with you, remembering that the word drunk is a variable term. One admits he has been drunk only when he awakes in the guardhouse; another when dragged out of the gutter; another when he has had a midnight 'bout' with the boys, and on his return home has lost the key or the key hole or both; while others admit that a glass of beer or wine or champagne produces an abnormal state, though to the onlookers invisible. * * * You say 'None of us love whiskey and we rarely drink it.' We answer, people differ in their tastes and appetites. Some prefer gin, others rum, others brandy, and still others beer or champagne. Some of the most dangerous drunkards in the world are wine and beer drinkers. They 'rarely drink whiskey.'" —From Dr. Swallow's letter to candidate Emery.

'Swallow Can't Swallow Emery. The Rev. Dr. Silas C. Swallow, whom the Democrats were landing to the skies no great while ago for his honesty and bravery in slashing right and left at all sorts of political corruption and personal debauchery, has broken out again. This time in a new place, by writing a letter to candidate Law Emery, and asking some durned stunning questions of that much-abused and saintly office-holder. The doctor wants to know a few things pertinent to the question before Lewis lands the Prohibition endorsement along with all the other isms already dangling at his belt. Up to the minute of going to press the fiery Lewis had failed to definitely answer these posers, although he does admit, in a letter to a friend, that just once in his life he was a little "how come you so," but that was in his youthful days, and presumably should not count now. The doctor's letter to Mr. Emery follows:

"Judging from expressions heard on every hand by prominent Prohibitionists the Prohibition party of Pennsylvania is anxious to place your name at the head of their State ticket for governor, as two other parties have already done. "However, reports come to us presumably originated by your business enemies, that cause some of our people much trouble, and a denial or explanation from you might help us over a hard place. If these allegations are true you can see that it would be suicidal for our party to nominate you. If not true we have reason to believe from our knowledge of your characteristic frankness and candor in dealing with men that you will promptly deny these statements and thus place your Prohibition friends in a good position to make a good fight for you, and in so doing bring reformers in Pennsylvania a fair election and an honest count, without which the manufacture of public sentiment for high ideals is all in vain. "It is alleged that you were instrumental in securing a brewery for your city of Bradford; that you are financially interested in the manufacture of liquors and that your son is an officer in the brewing company. "It is declared that you place intoxicants before your guests in your own home, and that thus young men have been started downward in lives of debauchery. "That you have drunk and treated others to intoxicants at public bars, and that while in Philadelphia, during the last few months, you became so intoxicated as to be unfitted for interviews with your friends, and had to go to bed to sleep off the debauch. "That before retiring you were swagging through the corridors of the hotel displaying a roll of bank bills and boasting of what you would do if made Governor. "That you state further that your reform movements in Pennsylvania have been confined to a defense of your own private business, and to offensive movements against those politicians supposed by you to be allied with corporations which were, directly or indirectly, hostile to you and your business. "An early denial of any or all of these allegations will enable your Prohibition friends to intelligently take up the question of your nomination at their gathering in Pittsburgh July 17."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75. RECENT DEATHS.

WHITE. The death of Charles W. White, oldest and only remaining son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. White, occurred at his home here at an early hour Tuesday morning, July 17, 1906, after an illness of but a few hours. Mr. White was born in Forest county, Pa., in 1834, and came to Chautauque county when a young man and has made his home here since that time. He was married to Miss Myra Gifford in 1881. His father, mother, wife and one son, Clayton G. White, survive him. Mr. White has been one of the most extensive dairy farmers in this locality and has a wide circle of friends who will sympathize with the family who are left to mourn their loss. Mr. White has always been a man of exemplary habits, a hard worker, and a man with little time for pleasure or recreation. The funeral was held from the United Brethren church at Magnolia, Mrs. Clara Watson officiating. The profession of beautiful flowers showed in a measure the esteem in which he was held by the many friends which he has made in his years of residence here. Interment in Magnolia Cemetery. F. A. B. Stow, Chautauque Co., N. Y., July 20.

GREAT SALE. Semi-Annual Clearance of Ladies' and Gentlemen's Goods at the Monarch. The Monarch Clothing Co.'s great semi-annual clearance is attracting people to Oil City from a dozen counties. Hundreds of bargains in ladies' coats, waists, skirts and children's dresses are to be had. Very pretty dresses at 30c and white linen skirts for ladies at 60c and 80c are selling like pancakes. Ladies' white linen Eton suits at $2.98 and covert jackets at $2.98 are an awful bargain. Boys' suits at $1.88 and men's good all wool worsted suits at $3.98 are remarkable values. Men's all wool trousers at $1.50 and good working pants at 60c are less than cost of manufacture, and the beauty of all is the goods are all new and of this season's manufacture. Sale continues for 10 days only, ending July 31.

—An actor seldom retires until he is played out.

Old Chronic Sores. As a dressing for old chronic sores there is nothing so good as Chamberlain's Salve. While it is not advisable to keep old sores entirely, they should be kept in a good condition, for which this salve is especially valuable. For sore nipples Chamberlain's Salve has no superior. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

Why the Skin Chaps. Everybody knows that, generally speaking, the effect of cold is to contract and that of heat to expand. This general law of nature finds no exception in our bodies, and when any portion of the body gets cold the blood vessels which traverse it contract, with the result that the flow of blood is diminished. Subsequent exposure to heat causes the blood vessels to resume their former size and, if anything, to slightly exceed it, owing to the reaction on the effects of the previous cold. The result of these different operations is very naturally to crack the surface of the skin and form the unpleasant little wounds which we call "chaps." This annoyance may be prevented by exercising care not to expose the hands to the extremes of cold and heat. If the hands do get thoroughly chilled, care should be taken to see that they are warmed again as gradually as possible. Anything like putting them to a hot fire and thus inducing a rapid change in their condition cannot fail to induce "chaps."

Dean Swift. It is related of Dean Swift, whose satirical wit furnished many of the keenest epigrams found in the history of this different type of literature, that two lovers came to his house one stormy night to be married. The dean having retired for the night, the rap at his door soon brought him to a window overlooking the expectant couple. Learning out of it and over them and learning the object of their errand, he exclaimed to them without any veiling delay, "Join your right hands."

Then, pronouncing them "man and wife," he added the following rhythmical elaboration of the Scripture "What God hath joined together let no man put asunder: Here, under this window, in stormy weather, I join this man and woman together. Let none but he who made the thunder E'er put this man and woman asunder.

Planting For Winter. In planting for winter comfort must receive the first consideration. The rude north wind must have its force broken. This may be accomplished by planting evergreens for wind breaks. But it is best to attain the end without the formal array of a straight border, which is often too assertive. The out-buildings should be placed to do part of the work, but so as not to show too plainly that this was in view. Between the buildings groups of evergreens may be placed so as to make a pleasing variety, add a beauty of their own and effectually complete the wind breaking circuit. In all our northern states the northwest wind is the enemy whose assaults must be guarded against. But we have severe winds from the north and northeast, and these points should also be effectually covered. — James Wood in Garden Magazine.
