

THE Smart & Silberberg STORES.

Prepared to Meet Every Dress Goods Need.

Our story on Dress Goods today pertains to nearly all the fall weavings which are found in the Dress Goods world. It is a good time now to take up the matter of the new gown or suit. There are the very light weight materials for dressy gowns and there are the medium weight fabrics for street dresses and tailored suits. The products of both foreign and domestic looms are well represented. They are shown in a full range of plain colors, the most favored of which are blue, brown, green and wine. There are also of fancy mixtures, plaids, checks, stripes and amber effects. 50c, 65c, 75c and a dollar; all the lines particularly well represented.

As Usual, Our Millinery Will Set the Standard.

Our regular formal opening will be somewhat delayed this season, owing to the illness of our head designer, Miss Beemer, but from present observations the delay will be atoned for by the extreme high class of our patterns. Date of display will be announced in a few days.

"What's What" in Headgear.

Both hats and turbans will be good this season. The tiny turned up affairs so fashionable last spring are with us again—if possible more striking than ever. Hats with straight, indented and drooping brims are also shown. Small hats have soft, in lieu of stiff crowns. Some velvet hats are perfectly plain on one side, that is, no trimming whatever around crown. Some of the large velvet hats have draped crowns, others soft, tan crowns; also striking unique conceits in Scotch turbans.

A COSTA RICAN VOLCANO.

Pen Picture of Poas and Its Environs Surroundings.

On the island of Costa Rica is the remarkable volcano of Poas. The crater has an altitude of about 8,500 feet. The traveler who makes the ascent on reaching the lip of the crater finds himself at the brink of a vast perpendicular sided pit, at the bottom of which lies a methodical pool of yellowish water. The scene of deadly stillness and desolation is unbroken by any indication of life. The almost vertical walls are devoid of even a vestige of plant growth; not a bird wings its way through the air; the surface of the pool is without a ripple, and even the human voice seems strange and insignificant. Suddenly the silence is broken by a great and startling under-ground rumbling, and a huge column of a dark colored fluid is thrown to a vast height from a spot near the center of the lake. The column ordinarily rises to a height varying from 250 to 500 feet. Almost instantly a vast cloud of vapor is evolved which surrounds the column and rises to an immense height. A thousand feet below the lip is the lake or pool, along the shores of which it is necessary to move about with care because of numerous concealed holes filled with a slimy substance, consisting mainly of sulphate of lime with a large excess of sulphuric acid. This hardens in a few moments when exposed to the air, and consequently the pits are covered with slight shells that render it almost impossible to distinguish between them and solid ground. If a foot goes through this thin crust it will be found that in a few days the shoe will be destroyed, as the steam cannot resist the acid action. The lake at closer view is discovered to be covered with clouds of vapor and it is impossible to see for any distance. Among other gases, sulphur dioxide is present in considerable quantities, and at times the smell becomes almost unbearable. At close range the water is grayish in color, and it is so acid that it almost burns the tongue when tasted. The dark cloth moistened with the liquid instantly becomes red and is ultimately destroyed. The temperature at the shore, while varying considerably, ranges around 115 degrees F. During one of the greatest eruptions known a tremendous column of dark liquid rose to an estimated height of 2,000 feet and was about 300 feet in diameter. The waves produced on the lake by such an outbreak are formidable, and long after the eruption has ceased the whole crater is filled with the roar of the troubled waters.—Chicago News.

THE CHURCH ON EMERY

At the Erie conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which closed its annual meeting last week at Meadville, the following was adopted as an amendment to the report on temperance:

Resolved, That we denounce any party or man who places brewery, church and school in the same category.

In a letter to Editor Likens, of Uniontown, some weeks ago Lewis Emery, Democratic nominee for Governor, wrote:

However, had I been at home I would not have withheld my donation from that brewery, no more than I would from the churches, schools and hospitals * * * I should have been derelict if I had not come forward and done my part.

The Erie conference represents one of the largest church memberships in Northwestern Pennsylvania, embracing an influential portion of the population. It will be noticed that the conference was careful to avoid partisanship and refrained from mention of Mr. Emery, preferring to confine its record to an expression upon the general proposition in a dignified way; but the meaning is plain.

In this connection it is proper to direct attention to Mr. Emery's recent diversion at Erie and Clarion, where he urged women to take interest in politics. In the line of his plan to appeal to every possible element of discontent with existing conditions, he has put himself on record in favor of woman suffrage, and he wants the women of the State to help him out. If there are any women who feel disposed to join in his campaign it is to be hoped that they will not overlook his assertion that the brewery is on an equal plane with the church, the school and the hospital. Outside the home the foremost fields of endeavor, to which women devote unselfish labors and for which they make many sacrifices, are the churches, schools and hospitals. Women are the very life-blood of the church, and without them our hospitals would soon close down. What do they think of the theory of Mr. Emery that they should devote the same high service and the same heroic energy to the brewery?—(Pittsburg Gazette.)

EMERY AND LABOR

Emery L. Castle Reviews Legislative Record of His Opponent For Governorship.

NOT A FRIEND OF WORKINGMEN

Generational Disclosures of Opposition to or Neglect to Vote Upon Bills For Wage Earners

Homer L. Castle, who has been making a tour of the coal regions, has been paying particular attention to the labor record of Lewis Emery, Jr., the Democratic candidate for governor, while he served as a member of the general assembly at Harrisburg.

Mr. Castle points out that Mr. Emery occupied most of his time in pressing for legislation which would advance his own interests in the oil fields, he being an independent oil operator, and that labor got very shabby treatment from him when the various bills in the interest of workmen were before the senate.

Here is what Mr. Castle said: "When a member of the house of representatives in 1879, Lewis Emery, Jr., opposed a bill for hospitals for the injured and indigent miners, he opposed the passage of a law giving to the laboring men their wages in money, he dodged several bills for the comfort of the injured, the inspection of mines and the limiting of the hours of labor."

"He was a member of the senate for the session of 1881. Four bills came before that session that were of particular interest and importance to the laboring people, especially of the anthracite coal region, in their struggle to better their condition and carry on their unequal warfare against capital. First, senate bill No. 168, bill to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in the coal mines. Second, senate bill 416, entitled, 'An act making an appropriation for a hospital for injured persons in the anthracite coal regions. Third, senate bill 58, an act known as 'The mechanics' lien act,' to secure to laborers their wages. Fourth, house bill 157, entitled, 'An act for the better protection of the wages of the servants, laborers and mechanics.' As a Dodger.

"When each of these bills was before the senate, Mr. Emery was very conveniently absent and dodged the vote on them. I argue from this that when his services were needed to assist the laboring men against the corporations he either voted squarely against the laboring men or else he declined to vote, throwing the benefit of his influence in favor of corporations. Such a man can not be trusted to either enforce existing laws or recommend new laws against any corporation in which he might have an interest.

"I want to take up in detail Mr. Emery's acts as a member of the senate of 1883 and 1885. Senate bill 390. This was an act requiring the corporations operating bituminous mines to make better provisions for the safety and comfort of the miners. With Mr. Emery's usual care for the interest of the corporations he dodged a vote.

"The other bill to which I want to call attention was senate bill 328, entitled, 'A supplement to an act entitled, 'An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in coal mines, and providing for the furnishing of props and timbers to the miners in the mines. Mr. Emery was again absent from his place in the senate and failed to record his vote in favor of the interests and life of the workmen.

And Where Was Emery?
"In the sessions of 1885 there were two noteworthy bills.

"In the borough and township of Plymouth, in Luzerne county, during the year of 1885, there broke out a fever scourge which was very disastrous to that community, and there was a bill proposed known as senate bill 327 and 328.

—Six months ago I was very thin, pale and weak. In the morning I would feel dull and sleepy and not rested. I had made up my mind to go out of business, when a friend urged me to try Thompson's Barosma. Four bottles of Thompson's Barosma restored my health entirely, and I gained 55 pounds in weight. C. L. house bill 689, entitled, An act making an appropriation for a temporary hospital and other relief for the destitute sick in the borough and township of Plymouth, in the county of Luzerne.

"Again Mr. Emery, who is ever ready to pay money to supply a brewery to a community in which he is interested, was not interested enough in the life and health of these suffering people in Luzerne county to be present and record his vote.

"Senate bill 228 of the same session was a bill to provide for the establishment and the maintenance of a home for disabled and indigent soldiers and sailors of Pennsylvania. The vote on this bill is found on page 1946 of the Legislative Record of the session of 1885, and so little cared this man, who, when the war was on, contented himself to stay at home and make money rather than to go to the rescue of his nation, and so little was he interested in the soldiers and sailors of this state, that he again absented himself from his place in the legislative halls.

"Let us finish Mr. Emery's legislative record by taking up his conduct as a member of the senate of 1887.

Senate bill 354, house bill 66, a supplement to an act relating to the lien of mechanics and others on buildings. This was proposed by the laboring interest for the better protection of their wages. The vote on this bill will be found on page 2123 of the Legislative Record of the session of 1887. Mr. Emery, as usual, is absent. Senate bill 422, house bill 242, an act making appropriations for the state hospital for injured persons in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania. The vote on this bill is to be found on page 2580 of the Legislative Records of the session of 1887, and still Mr. Emery was absent.

Robin Redbreast.

The country people of England, as well as of several other countries, have an idea that the red of the robin's breast was caused by a drop of blood which fell upon it at the crucifixion. According to the story, the robin, commiserating the condition of Christ, tried to pluck the crown of thorns from his brow, and, in doing so, got its breast wet with the blood flowing from the wounds. The color became permanent, being transmitted from generation to generation, and thus, according to the legend, the robin is a perpetual reminder of the sufferings of Christ.

She Got the Blessing.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised remedy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. It is composed of vegetable ingredients and does not heat or inflame the blood but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its going there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Your druggist has it. James Fall Season, 1906 Silks and Dress Goods

Oil City, Pa.

Every Importer and Manufacturer of Silks and Dress Goods, with whom orders were placed—some of them months ago—have fulfilled their contracts. The most splendid assortments, constituting by far the best values, we have ever assembled. Already these have been inspected and admired by those in our home city. Never has any previous effort of ours received such high commendation or more hearty praise. Now, to those at a distance who cannot come to the store we will be pleased to mail samples. Just kindly state in your letter—a postal card will do—what color is preferred and just about what price you would care to pay.

Dress Goods embrace all the new weaves, such as Batistes, Voiles, Broadcloths, Taffeta Cloths, Tartan Plaids, Shadow Plaids, grey and other fancy mixtures, ranging from a very pretty Plaid at 19c for Children's School Dresses, to finest of Imported Habit Cloths at $3.50 yard.

50c Dress Goods.—Worthy merchandise, styles as desirable as the dollar a yard ones, only of course the fabric is not so good. These come in Plaids, Neat Mixtures and in plain colored Panamas, &c.

$1 Dress Goods.—From the statement that nearly one hundred different weaves are shown at a dollar, you'll get a slight impression of what "unlimited assortment" means here. Now from among this great showing of dollar dress goods you may obtain any fashionable weave or color.

A Few Silk Specials.—A 19-inch Taffeta in a full line of colors including black and white at 58c. Equal in quality to that sold by many stores at 75c yard.—A 27-inch Glace Taffeta in colors and black 69c yard.—A 24-inch All Silk Crepe de Chine at 65c yard, colors white, black, pink and light blue.—19-inch Fancy Silk Plaids 85c yard, dollar value.—36-inch Black Taffeta at 98c yard.—36-inch Black Taffeta at $1.19 yard.—36-inch Black Peau de Soie at 98c yard.
