Republican Ticket.

STATE.

Governor, EDWIN S. STUART. Lieutenant Governor, ROBERT S. MURPHY. Auditor General, ROBERT K. YOUNG. Secretary of Internal Affairs, HENRY HOUCK.

COUNTY.

Congress, Hon. N. P. WHEELER. State Senate, JOHN K. WILSON. Assembly, T. D. COLLINS. District Attorney, A. C. BROWN. Coroner, Dr. C. Y. DETAR.

Don't be deceived by this lying and howling about the capitol expenditures. You will hear nothing of it from the mudslingers after the election is past.

HAVING made no claim to the contrary up to this hour, it is evident Emery would still be as willing to contribute to a brewery as to a church, school or hospital.

AND they say Isaac B. Brown, present secretary of internal affairs, and who for the past 20 years has fattened at the public crib, has joined the Democratic fusion bunch, because the Republican party is too corrupt. Well, if the fusion ticket can stand that, it deserves to win.

THE same gang of liars and mudslingers who were yelling fraud and corruption last year are around this year. They "lifted the lid" and found every dollar of the people's money intact, and barrels of it, too, and when the election is over things will be found to be in apple order, with everybody happy and prosperous, despite the efforts of the rotten old Democratic party to get hold of the reins of government and give the country another backset.

CONGRESSMAN BURKE, of Allegheny county, in his address at New Castle, declared that State Treasurer Berry is more guilty than either Governor Pennypacker or Auditor General Snyder if it is proved that money was illegally spent in the State Capitol construction. He argued that if wrongful expenditures were made before Berry assumed the state treasurer's office he should have exposed them at once. If made since, Burke claims Berry is responsible, being the legal guardian of the state funds.

THE invitation of Governor Pennypacker to the editors of the three leading newspapers of Philadelphia to come to Harrisburg, where books, papers, contracts and every facility for making a thorough and complete investigation of the new capitol expenditures would be thrown open to them, has well nigh taken the wind out of their sails. But you can't stop a liar's yawp by proving him such, so the howling will go on till election day, no doubt. Nevertheless, Pennsylvania has the grandest capitol building in the world, the people are proud of it, and no amount of lying will save Emery from getting a good and well deserved licking next month.

"I CANNOT and will not stand upon a platform that before my election promises reforms and then have the party to which I belong fall afterward to enact the necessary legislation, for if such failure could possibly occur, I would instantly and without reservation take the people into my confidence and tell them frankly and emphatically who is responsible for the failure to carry out such promises, and place the responsibility where it belongs, so that the people could deal with them as they saw fit."—Edwin S. Stuart. Does any honest voter want a better guarantee than that, and coming, too, from a man of such known integrity as Mr. Stuart?

HAVE you any interest in the personal ambitions of Lewis Emery? Will he help you any? Not if you are an honest voter, probably. Why, then, should you help him to gain power? He represents no great organization to which he is pledged. He has no special abilities, no plans for improvement worthy of the name, which he can be trusted to carry out. He is not vouched for by any party which will stand up and say: "He is ours; we are responsible for him, now the election is over." It is not probable that the so-called "Lincoln party" will be alive after November, and no other organization assumes the burden of his personal ambitions. Especially should the young man who wishes a place in the political world of the present time refuse to support this Arab of the political deserts. To vote for him is to endorse a man without a political country, a traitor to the Republican party, a parasite and a burden upon the Democratic body and a candidate shut out from the Prohibition household. It is better to support a known power in public affairs than an unknown quantity of uncertain value.—Franklin News.

TRUMAN DOUD COLLINS.

Truman D. Collins.

T. D. Collins, of Nebraska, the Republican nominee for member of Assembly for Forest county, is well and favorably known to every resident of the county. For many years besides caring for his extensive business interests he has unselfishly devoted himself to public improvements and has actively aided in the furtherance of all enterprises tending to that end, and it can truthfully be said that no more public spirited citizen can be named. In view of his prominence before the people at this time, a brief history of his active and eventful life will be of interest to our readers.

Truman Doud Collins was born in Cortland, Cortland county, N. Y., March 7th, 1831, and is a son of Jabez C. and Adeline (Doud) Collins. At the age of nine years he moved onto a farm with his parents and assumed the life of a farmer-boy. He had an inherent fondness for study and made good use of all his spare time in attending public school. At the age of fourteen years he took charge of the farm, on which there was a debt, and by the time he was nineteen years of age had cleared off the debt and turned the farm over to his father in a fine state of cultivation. During this time he realized more his need of a good education and engaged in the commission business, buying country produce and shipping it to New York, to secure money to pay for his education. He attended the Cortland academy in the winter months and during the spring and summer studied nights to keep up with his classes. In this he succeeded so well that when his classes graduated he had acquired two and a half years ahead on a college course. Soon after this he started out in the world for himself, securing employment in an engineering corps on the Delaware & Lackawanna Railroad, being given the lowest place in the corps, that of stake driver. He made the mental resolve that he would be at the head of the corps before the end of a year, and he was. He was promoted step by step until he was made superintendent of a whole division, having full charge of all construction work, including masonry, grading, and building bridges, in which he had never had any experience. But he succeeded and received the highest commendation from his superiors. It was here that Mr. Collins secured the excellent knowledge of civil engineering which he possesses. He remained with the railroad company for three years and was offered any position he desired on the road but did not accept. By economy and frugality he had saved a few thousand dollars and in 1854 he came to Venango county, Pa., by which union they have one son, Everett Stanton Collins, who now has charge of all his father's western interests.

The remarkably successful career of Mr. Collins demonstrates what may be accomplished by integrity, energy and perseverance. His word was his bond. He is in every sense of the word a self-made man. A man of unbounded ambition and far-seeing in all business affairs, he is just the kind of man the people of Forest county want to represent them at Harrisburg, and the voter who walks up to the polls in November next and casts his vote for T. D. Collins and the whole Republican ticket, will feel that he has performed his whole duty to his county, state and nation. Mr. Collins is the largest employer of labor in the county, and his employees never have cause to complain. He is charitable to a fault, as the people of his home town have reason to know. Politically he has always been a staunch Republican and is deserving of the united support of his party. Religiously he is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church and is a liberal contributor to that church and to all movements for the propagation of the principles of Christianity, in which his wife takes a most active part. He is a man of rare personal charm and one of the most companionable of men. He will be elected to the office to which he aspires by a large majority, and in so doing the voters will honor both themselves and him.

storms of that period, in which many strong firms went to the wall, realized handsomely on his investment. About 1866 he formed a partnership with S. S. Holbrook. This continued for several years, during which time they purchased the property at Nebraska, Green township, consisting of 8,000 acres of the finest timber land. About 1876 he purchased the interest of Mr. Holbrook and for the next ten or twelve years conducted the business alone, until the present firm of Collins, Darrah & Co. was formed. From this time on Mr. Collins' manifold operations are like the open pages of a book to our people and are too numerous to be chronicled in so short an article. Among his business interests may be mentioned the following: Collins, Darrah & Co., and Collins & Kreiter, Nebraska; Collins & Watson, Gollins; Watson Lands Lumber Co., Mayburg; Salmon Creek Lumber Co., Kellettsville; stockholder and president Citizens National Bank, Tionesta; president and owner Sheffield & Tionesta R. R.; Curtis, Collins & Holbrook, San Francisco; Pennsylvania Lumber Co., Sheffield, Pa., and California; president Ostrander Railway Co., Ostrander, Wash.; stockholder Castle Rock R. R., Castle Rock, Wash. His holdings in the west are very extensive, being lumber interests in California, Oregon and Washington.

Mr. Collins was married April 26, 1864, to Miss Mary Stanton, of Rockland, Venango county, Pa., by which union they have one son, Everett Stanton Collins, who now has charge of all his father's western interests.

The remarkably successful career of Mr. Collins demonstrates what may be accomplished by integrity, energy and perseverance. His word was his bond. He is in every sense of the word a self-made man. An Awful Cough Cured.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. She stopped coughing and got stout and fat." writes Mrs. Ora Bussard, Dubuque, Ill. This remedy is for sale by Dunn & Fulton.

Six months ago I was very thin, pale and weak. In the morning I would feel dull and sleepy and not rested. I had made up my mind to go out of business, when a friend urged me to try Thompson's Barosma. Four bottles of Thompson's Barosma restored my health entirely, and I gained 55 pounds in weight. C. L. Schultz, 129 Robin Street, Dunkirk, N. Y. Dunn & Fulton.

Sick Headache Cured.

Sick headache is caused by derangement of the stomach and liver. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets correct these disorders and effect a cure. By taking three tablets as soon as the first indication of the disease appears, the attack may be warded off. Get a free sample and try them. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

My wife ran a rusty nail into her foot. The foot swelled and pained her so that she could not put it to the floor. San-Cura Ointment drew out a poisonous brown pus and she is now perfectly well. Eugene McKenney, Plum, Pa. 25c and 50c. Dunn & Fulton.

If Adam had eaten the apple first he would probably have declared that Eve dared him to.

Torments of Tetter and Eczema Alayed. The intense itching characteristic of eczema, tetter and like skin diseases is instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Salve and many severe cases have been permanently cured by its use. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

A WHIRLWIND FINISH

Pennsylvania Republicans to Close Campaign With Great Guns On the Stump.

SECRETARY SHAW, OF CABINET

Will Be Here, and Speaker Cannon, Senator Knox and Others Will Speak For Stuart and the Whole Ticket.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.

Colonel Wesley R. Andrew, chairman of the Republican State Committee, has planned a whirlwind finish for the Republican state campaign.

After several conferences with Chairman J. S. Sherman, of the Republican congressional committee, he has mapped out a schedule of mass meetings in different parts of the state at which many speakers of national prominence will make addresses in support of Edwin S. Stuart for Governor and his colleagues on the state ticket, and for the Republican candidates for Congress.

The fact that Pennsylvania now has the largest delegation of any state of Republican members of the House of Representatives makes this an important political battle ground, and President Roosevelt has expressed his self upon several occasions upon the importance of rousing Republicans of Pennsylvania so that there shall be no congressional losses next month.

He realizes that the fusion campaign in Pennsylvania and New York are likely to interfere seriously with the plans of the Republican managers for the election of Congressmen. He dwelt particularly upon this phase of the situation when he had Chairman Sherman and Senator Penrose at the White House recently to go over the general political situation.

The President has requested Secretary of the Treasury Shaw to make at least two speeches in Pennsylvania, and he may make others, although up to date he has been scheduled for but two.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, Speaker of the National House, is billed for two Pennsylvania speeches, and Senator Beveridge for two. Congressman Watson, of Indiana, member of the ways and means committee of Congress, is among others who have been assigned by the national congressional committee to make addresses in Pennsylvania for the whole Republican ticket between now and November 6.

The Stuart Itinerary.

Progressive Matrimony.

"You can always tell a young husband from an old one by the way he acts when he goes after a bucket of water," says Uncle Hiram. "Three months married, he swings the pump handle, whistles and casts covetous glances at the house as though some one were looking at him from the window. One year married, he swings the pump handle more slowly, smiles occasionally and seems to be annoyed because the meal is late. Two years married, he looks sour and grim, kicks the cat over the coal house and looks at the house as if he would like to choke somebody. Three years married, he sits on the doorstep and smokes while his wife works the pump handle."—Kansas City Journal.

The Great Chain.

The "great chain," the links of which were two and one-half inches square and one foot long, each link weighing 140 pounds, was stretched across the Hudson river at West Point, just below Fort Clinton, May 1, 1778, to prevent the British warships from ascending the river. The total weight of the chain was 180 tons, and its length was 460 yards. Parts of it are still preserved at West Point.
