This to the county court. Judge Bouton settled the contention the other day by ordering the alleged fisherman to pay the fine of $540, with $40 more in the way of costs, or be incarcerated in the county jail for 540 days. It was a very bitter dose, but the offender was compelled to make arrangements to pay the bill, or go to jail for 540 days-one day in jail for each dollar of fine.

-It is certainly essential to the best development of all children that they mingle freely with others of their own age. E. altogether probable that his interests have suffered materially by washing out were on their way home from a visit of railroads and the carrying away of many of the great booms, and probably some stock that had been rafted.

Last Friday morning John Huddleson who resides with his parents on the old John Thomson farm, at Stewart Ron. Harmony township, discovered that some time during the night an old mother bear and two cubs had passed through their fields going north. Summoning assistance the trail was taken up by himself, George Dawson, Charles Harger and John Mong, residents of the vicinity. The trio of bears was followed for several miles and finally routed by the hunters within a mile or so of Fagundus, near West Hickory creek. One of the cubs, being too closely pursued by three dogs which the hunters had with them, climbed a small tree and thereby lost his life. while the mother and other cub made less than a hundred pounds, and was "rolling fat." It was brought to town on the evening train and exhibited to many interested spectators. A number of Mr. Dawson's friends here were remembered in the distribution of the steaks, and the editor, hungry for bear meat, was not forgotten. And it anybody tells you the meat of a young bear is no good tell him he don't know what he's talking about and charge it up to us. It's all right, and we're greatly obliged to George for the nice "hunk" left on our table.

J. W. Lusher, of Titusville, a former Forest county citizen, succeeded in cap turing a 300-pound bear near the head waters of Queen creek, in Hickory town ship, on Saturday, after having followed the big fellow for nearly four days and traveling fully 75 miles. The bear had crossed the river near Thompson's eddy merry chase through a large portion of Warren and Forest counties, but John "roosted right on the track" and finally was rewarded for his staying qualities by the capture of as fine a specimen as us nally comes down the pike.

Evidences of the plentitude of bear in this latitude are not wanting these days, bits if the rate of increase keeps up. One crossed the river at Trunkeyville, Monday. It's a dull day that does not develop at least one healthy bear story.

an assistant assessor in Middle Howe township, to fill a vacancy. Owing to the absence of W. H. Hood, constable of Tionesta borough, he was given until the regular argument court in December to file his returns. The case of Dr. F. J. Boyard et al. vs. the Tionesta School Board, was presented relative to the payment of costs and attorney fees in a previous injunction proceedings. The Court granted a rule to show cause, and set the regular argument court as the time for hearing the case. A short session of Juvenile Court was held at which the case of the Commonwealth vs. Cecil McClelland, Mrs. Anna Fenstermaker, of East Hickory, being the prosecutor, was heard. The boy, who is about twelve years of age, seems to be incorrigible and beyond parental control, and after several witnesses were heard the Court decided to send the boy to the Reform School at Huntingdon, Pa., for a term pending his good behavior.
