Both of the first wells showed up for small producers and this well, which is several locations in advance of number two, is showing up so good that they are confident they have at last tapped the pay streak. The wells have not yet been put to pumping, so that all estimates of what they will do ere mere guess-work. Their operations are at least a hundred miles from any other oil development and have been eagerly watched by the oil men of that section. Mr. Grove will return to Kentucky in a few days. Sudden Death of J. K. Green.

Death came suddenly and without warning to one of Harmony township's well known citizens when, on Saturday morning, 12th inst., James K. Gree passed away at his home at West Hick ory. About 2:30 a. m. he arose with a pain in his stomach. Home remedies were employed and at 7 o'clock he went to the office of Dr. Kerr, who prescribed for him. He returned to his home and laid down upon a couch and seemed somewhat relieved, but about 8:20, as he attempted to raise his head, expired without a struggle or the least warning to the family. The physician gives the cause of death as apoplexy.

Mr. Green was born Jan, 11, 1847, and his death occurred the day after he had passed his 60th birthday. He was the son of the late James and Nancy Green, of Hickory township, and his life was spent in the vicinity of his birthplace. He had been engaged in lumbering and farming for the most part, and in the days of river lumbering he was a pilot on the Allegheny, being an expert in that line. He owned a mill near Eagle Rock, where he spent much of his time the past two or three years. When W. G. beguiled into a style of living above what that he had met with success. Captain J. M. Clapp's Will.

A special dated Washington, D. C., Jan, 14, says; An estate of $2,000,000 is disposed of by the will of Captain John M. Clapp, formerly of Tidioute, Warren county, Pa., dated December 15, 1902, and filed here for probate.

An annuity of $1,000 is bequeathed to his sister, Mrs. Caroline C. McAllister, and should she pre-decease her husband the payments are to be made to him during life. A collection of American and foreign cains is given to his son, John H. Clapp, who is also to have his eather's Masonic jewelry upon his becoming a member of that fraternity.

The widow, Mrs. Anna P. Clapp, is to have in lieu of a dower the share allowed to the widow by the laws of Pennsylva nia, in addition to all jewelry, furniture and contents of the house, 1024 Vermont avenue, in this city: the cottage at Lakewood, N. Y., and the hotel at President

Pa., as well as all horses and carriages. The dividends on Captain Clapp's holdings in the Pennsylvania Rallroad Company and the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Company are to be paid to his three children, Frances C. Hall, Alice J. Clapp, and John H. Clapp. In the event of the death of all the children the stock is to become a part of the estate, and the widow is to have the life use of them, which are to descend to the heirs of the testator.

The sum of $50,000 each is bequeathed be paid in money or property as their mother shall direct. The other daughter, to whom $25,000 was advanced in 1899, according to the will, is to have a further advance of $25,000 placed to her credit by the executors and trustees as a fund to her benefit.

Mr. Clapp directs that five years from his death an appraisement of his estate be made, of which one-third is to be divided among his children, a third of the sum apportioned to go to Alice J. Clapp, a third to John H. Clapp and the remaining third to Frances C. Hall fund. Similar distributions are provided at the end of 10 and 15 years.

The testator provides that the fund set aside for his daughter, Frances C. Hall shall be invested and the net income paid to her semi-annually until her youngest child attains the age of 21 years, when the day to renew his subscription account, fund is to be distributed among her which is his regular yearly custon and is children. Mrs. Anna H. Clapp and atalways promptly attended to. Mr. Al- torney J. J. Darlington are named as executors and trustees under the will.

No mention is made in the will rela tive to the war comrades of the deceased rheumatic stitches now and then, dregs | members of company F, 121st Reg., P. V. which he recruited at President in 1861. It was intimated some time ago that each member would receive a legacy, and the fact that nothing is forthcoming from the vast estate will be a disappointment to many of them.

We're free to admit that we are overstocked on Overcoats. We are not good weather prophets or we would have foreseen this kind of a winter and bought accordingly, but as we did not our only hope is a cut in prices.

As we prefer losing possible profits and in a great many cases actual cost rather than carry goods from one season to another, as the nimble sixpence is the one that makes the money, and who knows but next winter may be colder.

This cut means that you can buy any man's, boy's or child's overcoat that is marked in plain figures and, what's more, sold for those prices.
