-The question has been asked as to whether candidates at the recent February election are obliged to file expense accounts. While the law does not specify which elections are included, it makes it the duty of all candidates for public offices to file accounts, and allows 30 days in which to do so, so that March 19th is the last day for filing such accounts, The act requires that all expense accounts of $50 or over shall be itemized, but if the accounts are less than $50 an itemized account need not be made, but in either case the statements must be sworn to. The proper blanks are to be had at the Commissioners' office, with whom they must be filed when made out. Gored By Enraged Bull.

John Curll, a well known farmer living near Newmansville, narrowly escaped being gored to death by an enraged bull last Friday morning. He had gone to the stable to release the stock, and had occasion to administer a little drubbing to the bull which was acting surly. The infuriated animal thereupon tore loose from his rope fastening and attacked Mr. Curll, who was unable to get away. After a desperate encounter in which the bull succeeded in tearing a great furrow along the spinal column of his victim, Mr. Curll managed to get out of the stable, and was helped to the house by members of the family who had come to his relief. A physician was summoned who was obliged to insert several stitches in order to close the wounds, and at last accounts the unfortunate man was in a fair way to recovery, although it may be her friend, Mas. Fire at Loleta.

A correspondent of last week's Marienville Express gives the following account of the burning of the home of A. F. Brockway, who is known to many of our readers in this section, and who resides near Loleta, about four miles bevond Marienville:

"Sunday morning the residents of our little town were shocked to learn that during the night or early morning, the home of Mr. L. Brockway, who lives about a mile from the mill, had been completely destroyed by fire, the family barely escaping with their lives, Mr. Brockway, who goes to work at midnight, had gotten up as usual and having built a fire to do some cooking, must have left the fire burning too high, and in some unaccountable manner the home caught fire while the rest of the family were sleeping. The flames spread so rapidly that the family were lucky to get out in their night clothes before the roof fell in. The home being so far away nothing was known of the fire by the residents of Loleta until almost seven o'clock. As soon as the affair was made known, our kindhearted citizens gathered together clothing and such other articles as was necessary to make the family comfortable for the time being, the family having gone to the Raybuck home some distance away. scribed a sum of money for the unfortunately family. The Brockway family have certainly been unfortunate, as it will be remembered that they have had a great deal of sickness and two deaths occurred in the family within a very short time last summer. Mr. Brockway Monday, accompanied by his young son, carried no insurance on his property and it was a total loss. Our sympathy goes out to them in this unfortunate affair."

To Contest Capt. Clapp's Will.

A dispatch from Washington, D. C., states that Mrs. Frances C. Hall, of Pittsburg, daughter of John M. Clapp, formerly an oil operator, who died October 17, 1906, leaving an estate valued at $2,000,000, has filed an answer to the petition of Anna M. Clapp, her mother, and Joseph J. Darlington, who were named as executors, for letters testamentary. She states that, though some of the property and estate of her father may be in the District of Columbia, his legal res idence was at Lakewood, N. Y., where the will should be filed for probate. Mrs. Hall admits the existence of the "paper writing, purporting to be the last sound disposing mind, or whether its execution was not procured by fraud or undue influence, she neither admits no denies.

The will in question was dated December 15, 1902, and appointed Joseph J. tator's wife, as executors. To his sister, Mrs. Caroline C. McAllister, was bequeathed the sum of $1,000 and $1,000 per annum for life, and at her death this sum per annum to be paid to her husband, James L. P. McAllister. To his wife the testator bequeathed, in addition to the portion of his estate to which she would be entitled under the laws of Pennsylvania, had he died intestate, all personal effects and household furniture in their home, in Washington, D. C.

All stock of the Penusylvania Railroad Company and the Chicago & Northwestern Railway is to be held for the use and benefit of his children, Frances C. Hall, Alice J. Clapp and John H. Clapp, each to receive one-third of the dividends, The remainder of the estate is to be divided, $50,000 each to Alice J. Clapp, John H, Clapp and $25,000 to Frances C. Hall, in addition to a similar sum given the last named as a loan in the fall of

At intervals of five, 10 and 15 years the executors are directed to make an appraisement of the value of the estate and pay to each of the three children named an equal share-the estate to be finally equally divided at the end of 15 years. The devises to Mrs. Hall are to be kept in a fund, she to receive the inome only, and at her death it is to go to er children. The reason of this is that Mr. Clapp opposed the marriage of his daughter. Attorney Henry E. Dayis, who represents Mrs. Hall, will not discuss the case, but it is understood the feature of the will to which his client objects is that the estate is tied up for such a long period with only an income available. The other heirs will contest the petition filed by Mrs. Hall.

Answer To Question.

The question has been asked me, "What companies are in the Trust, or as they style themselves, The International Harvester Company of America?"

My answer is: The Deering, Milwaukee, McCormick, Champion, Plano, D. M. Osborn & Co., Minnie Harvester Co., Aultman Miller & Co., and the Keystone Manufacturing Co. They have succeeded in getting the 20th century Kemp Manure Spreader. These people are trying to put down all competition, and their success lies entirely with the farmer.

I handle a full line of Independent goods, including the Johnston Harvester Co.'s full line. I will be around to see you. or you can write me. Yours truly.
