Novel Principles Suggested by a French Aeronaut.

M. Sibillot, a Parisian aeronaut has devised a new principle of aeriel navigation which he anticipates will solve the problem of travelling through the air. He has completed the plans of a new dirigible balloon, which, he maintains, will be managable in any weather.

He proposes to carry in his aerial Following the "launching of an Illimachine a refrigerator and a heating nois boom" for Mr. Fairbanks' candiapparatus. By simply pressing a lever dacy for the presidency Sunday night of the former he thus reduces the temperature of the gas, the condensby several Illinois Republican leaders, ation causing the balloon to descend. On heating the hydrogen the gas expands and thus the balloon ascends. By this alternative heating or cool-Chicago Press club. He also held ing of the gas in his balloon he can rise or fall at will without allowing any of his hydrogen to escape.

Certain of His Job.

William Bennett of Gravesend, N. Y., is said to be the only man in the United States who has his job laid out for him until he dies. The city of New York is compelled to employ him at $10 a day so long as he lives and performs his duties. He is a member of the Gravesend Land Fund Commission and was created a commissioner by the city charter-a fact which renders it impossible for him to lose his position until he loses his life.

Coal Tar in Road Coating.

The French have found coal tar better than crude petroleum (and cheaper) as a top dressing for country roads. "Unlike oil," says Consul General Mason. "It hardens when exposed in a thin layer to the action of the air, covering the surface of the road with a practically air and watertight skin."

Detecting a Counterfeiter. . .

BREATHING APPARATUS.

French Device Intended for the Use of Divers. An apparatus which is intended to occupy the place of the atmosphere so far as concerns the necessary breathing to sustain life has been invented by M. Joubert, professor at the Paris Polytechnique. The apparatus is especially intended for the use of divers, or for those whose occupation requires them to enter places where there are noxious gases. The invention consists principally in the manufacture of a substance which the Professor calls "oxylithe." This chemical, which emits oxygen, has the general appearance of a stone and resembles the well-known calcium carbide. By means of this discovery, in addition to a process of absorption of carbonic acid gas, M. Joubert claims to be able to produce a complete "breathing cycle" which will sustain life without the aid of the atmosphere.

Novel Means of Rental.

The old custom of letting premises by the aid of a candle and pin has been observed at Padworth, a village between Reading and Newbury. The candle was lightel and a pin stuck into it. Then bids were called for until the pin, owing to the heat of the candle, dropped out. J. T. Strange secured the tenancy with an offer

Answers Various Needs.

An American travelling through the Ardennes stopped for a cup of coffee at a remote inn. Sugar was not forthcoming and the waitress begged the traveller to be good enough to wait until the party at the next table had finished their game of dominoes, for which the lumps of sugar, duly marked with pencil from one to double six, were serving.

Meaning of the Golden Fleece. It is not generally known that the insignia of the Golden Fleece conferred upon the first Duke of Wellington was that actually worn by Columbus, and, as a special mark of Spain's gratitude, this Insignia was made hereditary, so that the present Duke is the proud possessor of the star worn by the discoverer of America.

Yield of Animal Skins.

The number of skins of fur-bearing animals obtained every year in British America is much greater than it was half a century ago. Muskrats outnumber all other animals trapped or killed for their furs in Canada by a large margin, and these rodents yield about a million pelts annually.

The Average Head.

According to an expert in phrenology the average adult head has a circumference of fully twenty-two inches. The average adult hat is fully 6% size. The sizes of men's hats are 6% and 6% generally. The professors of Scottish colleges generally wear 7% to 8 sizes.
