Covers all the ground

EFFECTIVENESS.

To obtain the full value of manure it must be evenly distributed—it must cover all the ground. This is a matter of prime importance. The Corn King manure spreaders are so successful in this and all other respects that these machines are regarded as farm necessities.

CORN KING SPREADERS.

The Corn King spreader is a return apron machine and is noted for great convenience and utility. It embodies features which make it unexcelled in design, materials, construction and durability. Among the many distinctive features of this spreader are positive apron control, single lever, vibrating rake, folding seat, durable finish and symmetrical design.

THE RECORD.

The Corn King manure spreaders have proved so satisfactory in every way that up-to-date farmers all over the country are demanding these machines. You cannot afford to overlook the excellent features of these machines. The value of manure spreaders is now fully realized as is the economy of using them. You cannot afford to run your farm or ranch without one or more Corn King manure spreaders. They are made in three sizes to suit all conditions. A few minutes' examination of one of these machines will convince you that there is none better.

CHIMES IN DISCORD.

Methods by Which Great Bells Are Put in Tune.

When certain bells in a chime produce discord they can be tuned. The tone of a bell may be raised or lowered by cutting off a little metal in the proper places. To lower the tone the bell-tuner puts the bell in his lathe and reams it out from the point where the swell begins nearly down to the rim. As the work proceeds he frequently tests the note with a tuning fork, and the moment the right tone is reached he stops the reaming. To raise the tone, on the contrary, he shaves off the lower edge of the bell, gradually lessening or flattening the bevel, in order to shorten the bell, or of two bells of equal diameter and thickness the shorter will give the higher note.

A notable instance of bell-tuning recently occurred at Lausanne, France, where twelve bells, in three neighboring towers, had only seven separate notes, and produced a most curious discord.

Skim Milk as a Fertilizer.

Skim milk as a fertilizer for crops is interesting many farmers abroad, several of whom declare that astonishing results have come from its use. In the vicinity of one farm a dairy had a lot of skim milk that could not be used. Two farmers took the milk and poured it on their lands as an experiment. One emptied seventy-five cans and another 150. Remarkable results have been obtained. Their grass is now seven times as vigorous as on adjoining fields where the milk was not used, but which were covered with commercial fertilizers.

Value of Paper Gas Pipes.

Gas pipes of paper are being made in France. Manila paper is cut into strips equal to the length of the pipes to be made. They are then placed in a receiver filled with melted asphalt and wrapped around a core of iron until the desired thickness is reached. After being submitted to a strong pressure, the paper is coated with sand, cooled, the core withdrawn and the outer pipe surface covered with a waterproof preparation. It is claimed that these pipes are good as, and more economical than, metal ones.

Indian Mine Workers.

The inhabitants of Cape Town colony, South Africa, demand that the British East Indians, who are now employed in the mines, be compelled to register, so that there may not be any further importations of obnoxious laborers. They are equally opposed to Chinese and Indian laborers, while the mining companies and any labor (Asiatic or negro) which will enable them to exploit the mines.

A Valuable Find.

A laborer who was clearing away some rubbish from an old outhouse at Netherhampton, near Salisbury, England, found seven old spoons, each of which was stuck on end in the earth. The spoons have been cleaned, and are of silver and gilt. They are dated 1529, and a local jeweler has valued them at $250 each.

Collecting Forged Art Works.

The ingenuity of collectors in the discovery of new fields having been exhausted, there is still open to them that of collecting the finest specimens of forged or spurious works of art and this is capable of becoming a hobby, scarcely less interesting or admirable than the pursuit of the genuine article.—Art Journal.

Utilizing Cotton Stalks.

High hopes are entertained that much of the fiber of the cotton stalks in the South will soon be utilized for making paper, and scientific students of the boll weevil believe that if the stalks can thus be disposed of at a profit the weevil will do little damage to cotton.

Many Deserted Wives.

During the year 1906 30,000 deserted wives have been relieved by the Berlin poor law officials at a cost of $125,000. A great majority of cases of matrimonial troubles resulted from drunkenness, which breaks up homes, at least temporarily.

Cause of Shipwreck.

Unusual currents, an uncharted rock, and a defective light on Barbers Point are the reasons assigned by Captain Thomas Peabody, in the investigation of the wreck, for the stranding of the transport Sheridan on a reef off Oahu Island.

School for Elephants.

There is a training school for elephants at Ahi, in the Congo State, where twenty-eight elephants are taking lessons. The training operations have produced encouraging results.

Alpine Robbers.

In the Tyrolean mountains two burglars were captured who had made a specialty of breaking into the Alpine refuge huts and stealing the provisions and wines stored there.

Germany's Rich Widows.

Germany has rich widows. The engagement is announced in Cologne of Prince Heinrich von Hanaus to Frau Oelbermann, who is over sixty years old. Her husband left her a fortune of $30,000,000.

—My arm was covered with twenty-one running sores and swollen to twice its natural size. San-Cura Ointment removed the pain, drew out the poison and healed the arm in an incredibly short time. B. D. Dutton, Titusville, Pa. San-Cura Ointment, 25c and 50c. Dunn & Fulton.

—Gently moves the bowels and at the same time stops the cough. Bee's Laxative Cough Syrup. Contains Honey and Tar. No opiates. Best for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Satisfaction guaranteed. Children like it. Mothers endorse it. Sold by J. R. Morgan.

Forbidden Games.

Almost every one of England's popular games has at one time or another been made illegal. Scotland is the home of golf, yet in 1457 the Scottish parliament passed an act entailing severe penalties on any one caught playing the game.

Edward III., Henry IV. and Henry VIII. all strongly objected to football, and Queen Elizabeth made it an offense punishable by imprisonment to play football. There is a record of sixteen people being imprisoned at once for breaking this law.

Football is still under a ban in some parts of the world. Two of the Swiss cantons refuse to allow it, and in Turkey it is absolutely illegal, and those who dare to play it are punished.

Among oddities of laws about games must be mentioned a French decree of the thirteenth century. By the king's command the gallants of the court were forbidden to play tennis "in their shirts." Whether his majesty of France insisted upon coats only or whether the unfortunate players were doomed to retirement in complete suits of armor does not appear.—London Graphic.

Agriculture in Africa.

Excepting perhaps some Malayan tribes the African negroes are said to be the finest agriculturists of all the natural races. The Bongos are said to have a greater variety of garden plants around their huts than are found in the fields and gardens of a German village. Irrigation is practiced. The Angolans, in the Kongo district, have practical irrigation. The Wachangos show wonderful skill in irrigating their terraced hillsides by tunnels of water derived from the main stream. "They have a clear mode of irrigating equally a given surface. As the little canals of water are always elevated above the cultivated plants, they will tap them at a convenient spot above the beds to be watered and then turn the stream into a rough conduit made of the hollow stems of bananas cut in half, the end of each stem overlapping the next. Then as the water enters the last joint it is freely turned right and left, distributing the vivifying stream in all directions."—Southern Workman.

Too Cold For Overcoats.

"You do not find any one wearing overcoats in Alaska, even in the winter," said a man from that territory. "The principal thing to be careful about is keeping the head, hands and feet warm. In that part of Alaska where I have been the only land transportation is by dog sleds, and to follow them one has to drop into a dog-trot beside the sled. An ordinary suit is plenty thick enough to keep you warm, and an overcoat is dangerous in that temperature. Trotting alongside a sled wearing an overcoat would make you perspire, and the bitter cold would freeze the perspiration. The men there wear a fur cap that covers every part of the head and face except the eyes, and there is only a little peephole for them. Wool lined mitts are worn on the hands and moccasins with woolen stockings on the feet."—Baltimore Sun.

Tragedy of a Wooden Leg.

A man who travels on a wooden leg says: "About the worst accident we ever heard of befalling a wooden-legged man is the time one such unfortunate was going home after being to a late supper, along about 3 o'clock in the morning, when his leg went through an auger hole in the grub plank sidewalk, and he kept circling about that hole all night thinking he was going home. The editor of this paper wants it distinctly understood that we cannot vouch for the truthfulness of this story."—Kansas City Journal.

Gounod's Progress.

"As you advance further in your art," said Gounod to a young poet, "you will come to think of the great poets of the past as I now appreciate the great musicians of former times. When I was your age I used to say 'I' at twenty-five I said 'I and Mozart' at forty, 'Mozart and I' now I say 'Mozart!'"

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is, in fact, the popularly translated thoroughly revised in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation.

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

CHARLES C. NOTT, Chief Justice.
LAWRENCE WELDON,
JOHN DAVIS,
STANTON J. PHELPS,
CHARLES B. HORTON,
Judges.

DRESS GOODS.

A hundred and forty-two pieces of new Dress Goods since January 1st, in addition to regular stock of staples, enables this store to offer wide selection of newest weaves and most wanted shades. Fully half of these were bought to retail for $1 and have accordingly been marked to sell at that very popular price. Representing what we consider the best range of $1 Dress Goods we have ever assembled. Many of these—fully half of them—are of our own direct importation. Designs and colorings owned and controlled by us for this city.

Two of the most recent arrivals we select for mention here. Both retail for $1 yard.

One is a mohair fabric, check design, one a light grey, the other a champagne with a large overplaid.

The other $1 suiting is a 45-inch batiste showing a heavy knotted thread at intervals, a fabric with lots of tone and character. Colors are black, two shades of blue, tan, green and gray.
