"KNOCKDOWN" BARREL.

Can be Readily Disassembled Into a Small Bundle. The problem confronting shippers in the transporting of fruit and vegetables are many. Millions of barrels, crates and boxes of every conceivable kind are required for the purpose. In the great majority of cases these barrels, etc., are used but once, as the cost of returning them to the shipper is greater than the cost of new barrels. A New York man designed a barrel that seems to have solved the problem, an illustration of which is shown here. It is termed a

Can be Taken Apart. "Knockdown" and can be readily assembled when desired and as readily disassembled when its contents have been removed. It can then be packed in a small space to facilitate transportation. This barrel is made in two sections, preferably of sheet metal, and in form resembles the common type of barrel. The longitudinal edges are divided into tongues, each alternate tongue having double edges, forming recesses into which the interlocking tongues on the opposite section connect. Perfect joints are thus provided, preventing any damage to the barrel should it be handled carelessly in transportation. The circular heads of the barrel fit into grooves top and bottom on the outside of the barrel; fitting into the grooves are bands of wire, both ends of which are connected to a lever. By turning the lever in the direction of the arrow in the illustration, the band contracts, causing the end of the barrel to contract also.

What the Eyes Tell. Steady, widely opened eyes that are not afraid to meet yours mean sincerity and honor.

But the steady, glistening eyes that look through half closed lids at you would indicate a cold and suspicious nature.

Beware of the shifting, faltering eyes that always look away from you.

Small eyes usually mean an alert mind.

If they look straight out at you steady and bright, like a squirrel's, you may expect the right sort of cleverness, a quick tongue and a gift of repartee.

But if the small eyes are more dim and do not look straight into yours, you may look for the wrong kind of cleverness, for little dishonesties and equivocations and for a business sharpness that is willing to sacrifice too much for a little money.

Your large, tranquil "cow like" eyes, on the other hand, are less responsive than the alert, bright, little beady eyes, but once stir them to their depths and they will look infinitely more intense and meaningful than the more impulsive eyes.

Round, protruding eyes show an ambitious nature and a love of action.

The longer eyes show more the temperament of the dreamer.

The most beautiful eyes in the world are clear (that indicates good health) and are set widely apart and rather deep.

That width of setting always gives a certain expression of sweet spirituality.

About That Crape Band. It is astonishing how many persons, both men and women, who give every other indication of culture and refinement, are seen on the streets nowadays wearing crape bands on their coat sleeves. This form of mourning was originally a military one, the British officer's cap, with its ridiculously low crown, not admitting of a band. When he boasted a decoration the medal also was covered with crape.

From the military the sleeve band descended to the coachman and footman, and has long been the recognized servant's mourning when there was a death in the master's family. Then the costermongers adopted it because it was cheap. When one of 'Arry's friends dies the purchase of a black coat is out of the question, so he puts the band of crape around the sleeve of his old coat and lets it go at that.

The well-to-do New Yorker who unwittingly adopts this custom is first cousin to the parvenu who invests in a coat of arms and picks out one with a bar sinister because he thinks it looks just the thing.

The Elephant's Trunk. "The elephant's trunk," says Dr. Ray Lankaster, "originated through a shortening of the lower jaw. Therefore, I am sorry to upset Mr. Rudyard Kipling's explanation that the length of the trunk was accounted for by its having been pulled by the crocodile."

Sore Nipples. Any mother who has had experience with this distressing ailment will be pleased to know that a cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the babe to nurse. Many trained nurses use salve with best results. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

USE OF COLOME'S STOPPER.

French Device for Better Protection of War Vessels.

Among the many inventions tending to the better protection of war vessels is one of French origin called Colome's stopper. The first practical test of this device was during the late war with Spain, when it was employed to close a rent made by a shell in the Iowa. The hole was about a foot above the water-line. As soon as the stopper was inserted the inflow of water, which had begun to flood the deck, ceased.

The stopper consists of a rod having at one end an iron plate, pivoted at the center so that it can be folded backward along the rod. To stop a leak, the rod carrying the plate is first thrust outward through the hole; then a turn of the rod causes the plate, which is weighted at one end, to become parallel to the side of the ship, and in this position it is drawn back by the rod so as more or less completely to cover the hole. Next a cellulose cushion is placed upon the rod, and by the aid of a nut forced tightly against the inner side of the ship over the hole, to suit the size of the hole that may have to be dealt with.

Cost of Sunday Holiday. According to a Paris newspaper, a competent authority estimates that the yearly cost to the railroads of France of giving their workmen a day off each week will be from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000. It will be remembered that the Sunday rest law, exempted the railroads from its provisions, the intention being apparently, to take up the needs of railroad workmen at a later time; but the railroads conferred with each other and agreed to grant the seventh day rest voluntarily.

College Statistics. Figures concerning the students matriculated at Cornell in the last twenty years indicate that 42 per cent. have come from private schools and 58 per cent. from public schools. Of private school pupils 153 were dropped after the first term and 111 from public schools, and the percentage of failures among the public school graduates is much lower than those of private schools. Consequently, the Cornell faculty favors withdrawing the privilege of admission by certificate from private schools.

Pulsations of a Watch. The lifetime of a good watch is fifty years. In its daily duties the balance vibrates 18,000 times every hour, 432,000 times a day, or 157,680,000 times a year. The hairspring makes a similar number of vibrations and an equal number of ticks from the escapement. If it is a really good watch multiply 157,680,000 by 50, which gives 7,884,000,000 pulsations for fifty years. The chances are that the watch may even then be in serviceable condition.

Smoke Affects Physique. A London County Council Committee reports that the smoke of large towns like London and Manchester has a deteriorating effect upon the people's physique. The smoke-laden atmosphere diminishes the vitality of those who habitually breathe it, and shortens their lives. The genius of the members of the committee was scarcely required to point out this obvious fact.

The Mohair Industry. Mohair is likely to become an important product in the United States. At present, however, there are probably not more than 1,000,000 pounds of the substance grown here. It comes from the back of the Angora goat, three or four pounds being secured from each animal. The price varies from 25 cents to $1.25 a pound.

Detecting Flaws in Metals. To detect hidden cracks opening from the surface of metals, the surface is first moistened with kerosene, and is then dried off with a cloth. It is then coated with chalk. After a little while the oil works out of the little cracks and stains the chalk. A sort of diagram of the hidden fissures and defects is thus produced.

Freight Carrying on Rivers. A European river, forty feet wide, handles as much freight as an ordinary American railroad, while the Rhine carries more business to a block than half the Hudson River. Splendid tugboats, fine barges and handsome swift steamers do the work, with anchored chain boats to pull the big loads up the rapids.

Women in Swiss Colleges. In six Swiss colleges no fewer than 2,193 women are now studying. The majority of the enrolled female students are Russians. The women are most largely represented at Berne, where 486 are enrolled, almost all in the medical course. Lausanne has 399, Geneva 343, Zurich 276 and Basle 14.

A Freak Tree. A tree that is a freak of nature is the Asiatic star tree. It grows sixty to eighty feet tall, and for a height of about forty feet the trunk is wholly bare. From that point there spring a number of tangled limbs, and these, grouped together, emit a phosphorescent light.

Exorbitant Premiums. "What would you think of a 99 per cent premium?" said an insurance agent. "A premium of $800,000 on a $100,000 policy. Hardly worth taking out, eh?" "Such a policy was once taken out, though, on a ship thought to be lost. It is a common thing on overdue ships to take out policies at 80 or 85 or 90 per cent. On the Bulgaria and the Croft in 1889 policies at 90 per cent were taken out, and on the Adelaide Mary, even after two of her lifeboats had been picked up, a policy of 92 per cent was issued.

One Evil Chases the Other. Visitor to the West Indies (who has been warned against bathing in the river because of alligators, but has been told by the boatman that there are none at the river's mouth)—By Jove, this is ripping! But, I say, how do you know there are no alligators here? Boatman—Well, you see, sah, de alligator an so turrible feared ob de shark.—Punch.

English Men and Women. Englishwomen are inherently shy, and half the bad manners with which we are credited as a nation is the result of this shyness. Englishmen suffer from it to the same extent, only in their case shyness is merely self-consciousness and part and parcel of an immense conceit.—London Ladies' Field.

Saw Her Chance. Wife—Mrs. Flarup threw a flirtation at her husband last night because he accidentally sat down on her new bonnet. Now, I couldn't do a thing like that. Husband—You couldn't? Wife—Of course not. I haven't any new bonnet.

Took Her Part. Mamma—You must always remember to take your little sister's part. Tommy. Small Tommy—I do. I took her part of the cake not five minutes ago.—Chicago News.
