All Pattern Hats Exactly Half Price.

The headlines of this page practically gives our millinery story—every pattern hat—either New York creation or the product of our own workrooms, no matter what the origin may be, is made exactly half price.

Pattern Hats. You know what that term signifies, don't you? It means the choicest of materials fashioned by the first millinery workers. They are the perfect hats, very different from the ready-to-wear sorts of common counters. These Pattern Hats all have style and individuality.

$6 to $8 Dress Hats, $5.

Distinctive affairs they are too. Some are original conceptions, others copies of high cost foreign ones, but of course in less expensive materials. But don't judge them by the price. Be assured such quality and style are seldom obtainable for such little outlay.

Stylish Sailors, 98 Cents.

The very best shapes, the right straws, all colors. You can have white, black, navy, or brown, as good a hat as you can buy elsewhere twice the price.

Farewell to Some Fancy Dress Goods.

Nothing amiss with them—styles right, qualities dependable. Fact is they've overstayed their welcome, being lingerers from lines which cannot be duplicated.

$1 and $1.25 Goods at 79c.

Imported Suitings in plaids, checks and stripes—also stylish mixtures.

Curious, Indeed.
"Curious thing, that automobile accident in New York the other night, wasn't it?"

"Which one?"
"The one that is reported in this morning's paper. Haven't you read about it? The man who was running the machine started down Broadway, and after passing Wall street, he turned on all the speed he had, paying no attention to other vehicles and laughing at the policemen who commanded him to stop. Having arrived at the Battery, he went right on at the rate of fifty miles an hour, going over the sea wall into the bay, where he sank, with the machine on top of him. The man and the two women who were with him were rescued, but it is feared that one of the women will not survive."

"The fellow was craxy."
"Certainly he was. But that was not the curious part of the incident. It appears that neither of the women was an actress or a chorus girl."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Original.
"My wife is a most original woman," said Brown. "Why, when I proposed to her instead of saying, 'This is so sudden,' she said, 'Well, I think it's about time.'"

WAGON-LOADING MACHINE.

Appliance Which Does the Work of Several Men.

The loading of a farm wagon with hay, manure and other such commodities will be greatly facilitated by the use of a new hand-operated loading device which has been recently

Lifts Material Quickly.

Invented. The operation of loading with a pitchfork is a tedious one, and it is difficult to get the shovel loaded to its full capacity.

The new apparatus consists of a framework of sufficient proportions to reach over and around a wagon. This framework supports one end of an incline, one end of which rests on the ground, the other resting at a point just above the top of the wagon. The pitchfork is secured to a rope which passes to the top of the framework and down on the other side to a drum, around which it is secured. This drum is operated by a hand crank. The points of the pitchfork are thrust into the material being handled, the work of raising the load is taken up by the man at the crank and in this manner large quantities are handled with little effort.

How to "Plump" Poultry.

A valuable point in reference to "plumping" the poultry. This is done by dipping it, after plucking, in water—nearly or quite boiling for ten seconds and then plunging immediately into cold water. Another way of plumping is to place the dressed fowls in trough-like boards, pressing the breast up and forcing the flesh over, bending the legs forward, and placing weights on the bodies. The troughs should be in rooms as cold as possible. All dressing should be done when the flesh still is warm, successful dry plucking, especially, depending on this.

Turkeys should never be scalded. If the tail and wing feathers are removed the latter should be taken out with a twist, as a straight pull will set them. Dry-picked turkeys are worth two cents a pound more than those scalded, as the flesh is brighter and appears more toothsome.

Demand for Mules.

The demand for mules in old Mexico is something phenomenal. Thus far the supply for that country has been drawn from Missouri and Tennessee, both of which grow a great many excellent mules. They are in demand for use on cotton, cane and rice farms. Mules have been found most excellent animals for work in warm climates, and for many years the cotton and rice plantations of our southern states have drawn heavily on the surplus mules grown north. This growing demand has in the past few years greatly increased the growing of mules here, and the demand for them is shown by market quotations. The mule is very easily and cheaply grown, and is ready for work much younger than horses are, and endures hard work under unfavorable circumstances much longer.

Feeding Chickens Turpentine.

Turpentine given to chickens internally is said to be one of the best remedies for limber neck. The turpentine not only acts as a cure, but as a preventive as well. Bread pills soaked in turpentine is the best way to give it. An ordinary full grown chicken may be given turpentine a teaspoonful at a time, but the experiment is rather dangerous as the fowl may strangle. Consequently the turpentine should be given in the feed.

Watering the Sheep.

Feeders should see that their sheep have plenty of water. Some operators have water constantly before their sheep, while others prefer to take their stock to the water troughs at certain periods, allowing them to remain there for an hour or so at a time. The water should be kept fresh and not allowed to spill around the feed lot.

Feeding Cows in Winter.

In winter a cow must have something to take the place of the succulent food she gets when on the pasture in the summer season. Sugar beets or mangels, together with bran or chopped peas and oats, mixed with alfalfa hay or corn fodder constitute a very good ration.

Treating for Leaf Curl.

One of the most serious diseases among peach trees is the leaf curl. Professor Seby, of the Ohio station has succeeded in stopping the ravages of this fungus by spraying with a lime-soda-sulphur-vitrol solution.

Colic and Diarrhoea.

Pains in the stomach, colic and diarrhoea are quickly relieved by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

Navy Newspapers.

Many vessels of the British fleet are equipped with first rate printing outfits, and papers are issued weekly for the amusement of the officers and crews. I have seen several of these, and they are chuck full of wit and humor. Some of the American war vessels also have papers, to which all who please may contribute. Not a few of the common seamen are able writers, and because of the "liberty of the press" they are not a bit afraid of committing "lese majeste." A good hit at the commanding officer or one of his lieutenants is hugely enjoyed. It is the one and only way of squaring accounts. The newspaper habit was started about twenty-three years ago by the officers of the trans-Atlantic steamship Gallia, a giant in her day, and great advances can now be made since the introduction of wireless telegraphy.—New York Press.

One Good Reason.

Two old friends on the street, locking arms, strolled slowly along, discussing various topics. Personal ones were touched upon at last, and, after exchanging family salutations for several moments, the judge asked the major:

"And dear old Mrs. —, your aunt. She must be rather feeble now."

"Buried her yesterday," said the major.

"Buried her? Dear me! dear me! Is the good old lady dead?"

"Yes; that's why we buried her," said the major.

DR. KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. It is composed of vegetable ingredients and does not heat or inflame the blood but cools and purifies it. In all cases of kidney troubles, liver complaints, constipation of the bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy, and with a warmth and fullness of words which more business certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Your druggist has it. Silks at a sacrifice.

The Washington weather man sent out word Saturday that warm days so anxiously looked forward to by all were due to arrive Monday—that we might reasonably expect real summer weather at that time.

Too late to prevent sacrifice sale of costume silks planned a week or ten days ago to take place here this week. This might not be considered good merchandising by some storekeepers to sell at a reduction in price just at a time when merchandise should show a profit. We're not disposed at this time to give the matter of profit any consideration whatever. There's a thousand dollars' worth of silks here that had the season not been so backward would have been sold. So whatever plan promises quickest disposal will be employed at this time. Look at these prices:

30c and 40c Wash Silks, 25c yard. Black and white Check Taffetas, 47c yard. Table $1 Foulards, 67c yard. $1 Fancy Fancy Taffetas, 67c.
