FARM FOR SALE—46 acres, one-third cleared, large bank barn; house, spring, orchard, timbered with pine, hemlock and chestnut; three miles from Tionesta. Will be sold for less than half its actual value. Mrs. M. A. Rhodes, Tionesta, Pa.

—The chestnut crop, judging from the blossoms, promises well, but will be two to three weeks behind hand, and the maturing of the crop will depend somewhat on how long the fall frosts will postpone themselves.
—The past few days have been exceptionally fine for harvesting, and our farmer friends have been "going some," as the saying is, in the matter of putting up the nice hay crop that developed so well in the last month.

—Dr. Frank S. Hunter has ordered a new auto which he expects to be driving within the next ten days. It is one of the sort that can "go some," and we look for Frank to bring her down the pike some morning to beat the cars.
—The campers on the island up the river will break camp and return home today. They have had elegant weather for their outing. Sunday was the banner day, when thirty-five were present when the gong sounded for dinner.

—State Commissioner of Highways Joseph W. Hunter, who is making a tour by counties in Western Pennsylvania, says road work is costing more each year and that $100,000 today will go no further in improvements than $75,000 a year ago.
—A young man named Wilson, of Harmony township, had the bones broken in the second finger of his left hand, last Wednesday, by getting it pinched under a walking beam at a well on which he was working, near Pithole. Dr. Bovard attended his injuries.

—Campbell & Henry are tearing down their mill, formerly the Gaston mill, on Tionesta creek, and will move it to the Brown tract, near the Fogle Farm, in Harmony township, where they will saw out about 150,000 feet of oak and chestnut for Campbell & Jamieson.
—Wm. P. Dechant, the tailor, has received a complete line of fall samples for suits, overcoats and trousers. All the latest fashionable weaves and shades. Come in and see them. We feel sure we can please you. Suits from $15.00 up, and all work guaranteed. Cleaning, pressing and repairing promptly done. Remember the place, over Herman's store.

—The partial eclipse of the moon last Wednesday night was a pretty sight, the night for the most part during the exhibition being exceptionally clear and bright. Promptly at 10 o'clock the moon began to enter the earth's shadow, and at its best two-thirds of the disk was obscured. Clouds shut out the whole show before it was over. There is no particular phenomenon attached to this eclipse. It is merely one of the regular eccentricities of the lunar system.

—Daniel Walters is excavating for a new cellar in front of his dwelling and will move his house upon it, bringing him closer to the street. The change will enhance his property considerably both in appearance and value, besides Daniel will then be right in town, so to speak.
—The newspaper man, says an observant exchange, seldom gets credit for the blunders he avoids or the mistakes of others he silently corrects. But he is always sure to hear about his oversights, his errors or his lapse of memory. And yet it may be he is no more unfortunate than other toilers who labor for the benefit of others.

—Fish Warden Hiram Brown has received from W. E. Meehan, State Commissioner of Fisheries, a letter stating that the current report that only ten bass a day may be caught by one fisherman is not exactly correct. There is such a law but it applies only to Lake Erie. It was generally thought that the law related to all streams.—Franklin News.
—The pure food law does not permit the outside display of perishable goods, especially those displayed in front of grocery stores, unless they are enclosed in a case which will not permit of flies, dust, etc., getting on them. Products that have to be peeled or pared before cooking can be put on the outside, but must be eighteen inches above the sidewalk and out of the reach of dogs.

—Too much exercise is as bad as none at all. When taken to the extent of absolute fatigue, it does more harm than good. Old people especially, often injure themselves in this way, particularly if they have kept up active habits all their lives. They will not realize that they are getting weaker with every year and that the amount of exercise which, at one time was necessary and proper, may now be excessive.
—Union service will be held next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock on the lawn in front of the court house. Should the weather be unfavorable the meeting will be held in the M. E. church at the same hour. The services will be in charge of Rev. W. O. Calhoun and the sermon will be preached by Rev. H. A. Bailey. All are most cordially invited to attend the meeting. Good music will be a feature of the service.

—Harry Kelly, a genius of Eastville, Pa., has forwarded to Washington an application for a patent on a lunch-box which he claims will do away with the littering up of picnic grounds and preclude the necessity of lugging around an empty basket after the lunch is eaten. It is to be made of the same material as ice cream cones, and the picnickers, after eating the lunch, are expected to eat the lunch basket also.
—Dog days began on the 22d inst. and will continue until the latter part of August. A great many people are under the impression that these days are so called because dogs go mad during this period, but this is not the case. Dog days date back to the ancients and are called by this name on account of the dog star Sirius rising at the same time as the sun. The time differs slightly each year but the changes can always be found in the almanac.

—State Game Commissioner Kalbus declares the rainbow trout from California are driving the native trout out of the streams of Pennsylvania and that there is grave danger of Pennsylvania trout becoming extinct. The commissioner also sharply criticizes the practice of placing trout fry in streams, saying that fingerlings, or short trout, should be put in. They have more chance to grow. And that's what any sensible sportsman knows who has given the matter a little attention.
—Be natural. Do not try to impress people with your importance. If you are really important they will find it out. If you are of no account you will not deceive anyone by acting as though great interests rested in your keeping. The day of pomposity is past, we hope never to return. More people than ever before are intelligent and able to judge those with whom they come in contact. This means that they are able to judge you and place a true rather than a false estimate on your abilities.

—Tionesta and All-Titusville will come together on the Tionesta ball grounds tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, a game having been arranged for that hour. It will be the first real game of the season on the home grounds, and as about all our old team will be in the scrimmage, including our own "Billy" Bankhead, who has been doing good work in the box for the Elkins, W. Va., league team, the game ought to be an interesting one to local fans. Turn out and see the fun. Think we'll do 'em.
—Peter Grove Haslet, one of Venango county's oldest and most highly esteemed citizens, died on the 23d inst., at his home in Oakland township, in which community he had spent most of his long life. He was aged nearly 80 years, and was a brother of our late townsman, Samuel H. Haslet. J. Brooks Haslet, well known to many of our people, is a son of the deceased. Robert and James Haslet, nephews, and William Hood, an old friend of the deceased, attended the funeral, which was held on Friday last.

—The Free Methodist camping at Pleasantville begins tomorrow and will close August 11th. Those from this place who have engaged tents are, H. M. Foreman and family; J. G. Bromley and family; J. C. Bowman and family; Wm. Hunter and family; Mrs. Linda, Mrs. Bradbury and Mrs. Sutton; Mrs. M. L. Rhodes and children. M. N. Hepler and family will have charge of the boarding tent. Others in attendance from the first will be, Charles Anderson, Miss Amy Anderson, Mrs. Sarah Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas.
—The oil regions have fared pretty well in the matter of appointments under the state administration recently. George B. Jobson of Franklin, was appointed one of the ten meat inspectors created under the Lutz law, and is said to be experienced in meat inspection work and a skilled veterinarian. The salary is $1,800 a year. Among the appointments announced by Highway Commissioner Hunter in the reorganization of his department are the following: Deputy State Highway Commissioner, Roy D. Beman, Meadville, $3,500; Assistant Commissioner, George W. Ensign, Warren, $3,000; District Engineer, C. F. Hamilton, Franklin, $2,400; engineer, Stuart W. Jackson, Meadville, $2,000. All of the appointments have been approved by the Governor.

—The Wilburine Pipe Line Co. is running a branch line down the river, connecting from its line at the mouth of Little Hickory creek. The line has or will cross the river at the falling springs, below Dawson Station, go up Jamieson run to reach the new production there and on to the Stewart run field.
—A Brookville correspondent of the Punxsutawney Spirit, under date of the 27th inst., gives the following rather startling item: "Through some error it was rumored on our streets the other day that Mr. A. W. Cook, the well known lumberman of this place, and his son, A. Wayne, Jr., had been drowned in an accident in Washington state. All fears as to the truth of this report have been set aside by the receipt of letters from Mr. Cook, who is sojourning in Idaho at present, looking after timber interests."

—Home-keeper M. G. Raub returned Monday early yesterday from Detroit, Mich., where he attended the K. O. T. M. convention last week. He states that he has seen articles going round to the effect that Dr. St. C. Wineland has defeated the K. O. T. M. This report is false, as a decision was given in favor of the K. O. T. M. The Judge, in handing down his decision, said that the Maccabees had a perfect right to change their rating when they did and would be open to censure had they not done so.—Bradford Star.
—From August 4-10, Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, secretary of the General Assembly's committee of Evangelistic Work for the Presbyterian Church, will be at Chautauque, New York, as in many previous years. His presence during Bible week is always attended by most interesting sermons and devotional hours which are enjoyed by a very large audience. It is no unusual thing to see 2,000 or 3,000 listeners meeting with Dr. Chapman in the daily devotional hour from 10 to 11 o'clock, on the morning of a busy week day.

—R. S. Pierce, a prominent citizen of North East, Erie county, died on the 16th inst. and was buried on the 19th. Mr. Pierce will be kindly remembered by many Forest county people, having resided at old Braceville, in Hickory township, when that thriving lumbering town was in its palmy days. He was very much esteemed by all who knew him and counted his friends by the score. A year ago Mr. Pierce visited Tionesta and renewed old acquaintanceships, and at that time seemed to be enjoying good health. Heart trouble caused his death.
—This seems to be a good season for snakes, and the papers of the country are filled with snake stories, but not every paper can have a representative of it "bug" do the killing. Yesterday afternoon C. S. Kirshartz, collector for the Times, slaughtered a fine rattler at the corner of Glade and Conewago avenues. The reptile had about three feet of length and a supply of button and rattles. When sighted it was sunning itself along the edge of the sidewalk, and a number of barefooted children were playing in the vicinity.—Warren Times. Go slow, Charlie. Mind, you never saw many snakes when you lived here.

—A law now on the statutes prohibits the shooting of any except a male deer with horns that can plainly be seen. A doe, fawn, or spike buck cannot be killed, but only those bucks whose horns are developed and which can plainly be seen by the hunter. The object of this is not only to protect the game, but to protect the hunter. The statistics show that hundreds of men are killed by careless hunters who see a bush waving or a movement in the underbrush and blaze away at it only to furnish a subject for the coroner. State Game Commissioner Kalbus was instrumental in having the new law passed, and says that there will be very few accidental killings in Pennsylvania hereafter if the hunters obey the law, and hold back their fire until they are certain the target is a male deer with horns.
—The striped, snorting two-mile-a-minute, life-risking automobiles have been aptly designated as a freakish futility. They are a public nuisance, and their maniac drivers have incurred the enmity of farmers, and all others who drive horses and have been compelled to take to the woods when the racing benzine-tank comes in sight, says the Oil City Blizzard. And these are positive facts. Unless more rationality is displayed in the running of these death dealing devils the people will finally take the law in their own hands, and there will be something doing besides recklessly frightening horses, causing runaways that result in smashing vehicles and maiming and often killing their occupants. More sense and decency must be exercised or sooner or later there will be internal warfare.

—Although an old cake-maker, I have just learned how to test cakes, so they will not fall or be sticky. When you think the cake is done, remove from oven hold to your ear, add if it "sings" loud put it back where you had it; if it "sings" very faintly, put in cooler part of oven, or if oven is very hot, leave the door un-latched or slightly open. When it does not sing at all, you could drop it and it would be all right, provided it was made correctly. I turn mine out of tin as soon as removed from the oven, either on the molding-board or on the bottom of a clean tin. Then you can pick up cake, cake and all and carry a tender cake where you want it without danger of breaking. If it sticks to the tin, run a sharp knife under it close to the pan, then place on plate or other layer of cake.—The Ladies World for August.
—The citizens of Kane were greatly shocked last week when it became known to a certainty that one of their number had perished in the disaster to the steamer Columbia, which went down in Shelter Cove bay, off the California coast, on the night of the 20th inst. J. C. Durhan and Franklin E. Ulf, both leading citizens of Kane, were passengers on the ill-fated vessel, the latter reaching shore on a life raft, while Mr. Durhan is among the missing. The two men left Kane about four weeks ago to look after their interests in the Pacific coast states, and had taken passage on this boat intending to go to Portland. Word has been received from Mr. Ulf, who was a former Tidouite citizen, that he was safe, but all hope of Mr. Durhan's rescue has been given up. He is survived by his wife, whose great bereavement is shared by the entire population of the city. No disaster in recent years has affected the people of Kane like this.
