A London Banquet of 1582. A Spanish visitor to London in 1582 describes a banquet of that day. "I will tell you no lye," he begins cautiously. "I saw such kindes of meate eaten as are wont to be sene and not eaten-as a horse rosted, a cat in gely, little lizars with whot broth, frogges fried and divers other sortes of meates, which 1 sawe theme cate, but I never knew what they were till they were eaten." The "quaking custard" of that period was a huge dish in the middle of the table, into which, "at a private signal, the city fool suddenly leaped over the heads of the astonished feasters, who were instantly bespattered with this rich and savory mud." Undeterred, however, by this masty behavior, the itizens not only ate plentifully of the ustard, but even took some home to their wives. Nor were the women of those days backward in demanding exsensive dainties for themselves, it ceems, for an essayist of 1601 sarcasticilly asks: "Who will not admire our vice dames of London, who must have cherries at 20 shillings a pound and seascods at 5 shillings a peck? Yong cabliettes of a spanne and chickens of an meh?"

Slaves In Scotland. Were there once slaves in Scotland? A volume on Scottish Industrial and social history in the eighteenth and nincteenth centuries has some passages on the subject:

A shrill scream was heard, and when the whipper in threw himself from his horse and gained the threshold he saw a sight which probably no fox hunter has ever met before or since. A white faced woman stood clasping a child in her arms, and right there in the cradle, from which the infant had just been snatched, eighteen couple of fierce hounds were struggling to devour their fox,

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

Bulletin.

THE CALL OF THE SEA.

"The water is fine; come in !"

This is the call of the sea, the generous invitation of Old Neptune to partake of the delights of his realm, and it comes clear and distinct from each of the points in the greatest chain of seashore resorts in the world-the wave-washed New Jersey coast.

Gay Atlantic City; witching Wildwood; New Cape May in the first flush of its rejuvenation; Sea Isle City, Ocean City, with their smaller sister-resorts nearby; Asbury Park and Long Branch where sylvan shades meet incoming billows-each echo the call to young and old : "Come one ; come all !"

Unequalled opportunities are offered to pay a visit to the Southern New Jersey sea coast resorts in the great seashore excursions of the Pennsylvania Railroad now being run at frequent intervals.

From Buffalo, Rochester, Erie, Titusville, Kane, Renovo, Canandaigua, Elmira, and other stations in Northwestern Pennsylvania and Western New York the remaining date is August 26.

Tickets are sold to Atlantic City, Cape May, Wildwood, Sea Isle City, and Ocean City at very low rates. These tickets are good for return passage within fifteen days, including date of excursion, and are good to stop off at Philadelphia on the return trip within limit.

Full details of these fine outings beside the sea may be obtained of Ticket Agents.
