Oil market closed at $1.78.
You can get it at Hopkins' store.
Tomorrow is the stone over which many a business man has stumbled.
Hopkins, the bargain maker, is selling goods at the lowest figure these days.
F. R. Lanson has purchased a large store at Siverly and will dispose of the goods at hardpan prices in that place.
We're desirous of making room for our fall stock and so have many bargains in all kinds of goods for you. Call early, Hopkins.

You can't make a boy believe that one good turn deserves another after he has blistered his hands turning a grindstone.
Fall session of the Edinboro Normal opens September 10th. Those who wish to attend should engage rooms early. Write for catalog. John F. Bigler, Principal.
The price no longer cuts any figure in the sale of summer goods. They are all marked for the slaughter and you get these practically at your own figures, Hopkins.
The Oil City Blizard very truthfully observes that a small ad. in a newspaper that is read is rather to be chosen than a big one in a sheet that is only fit for wrapping purposes.
If you have put off buying till you could get bargains, then catch on now, Hopkins has marked all warm weather goods for slaughter, and they are going at ridiculous prices.
The services at the M. E. church next Sabbath evening will close the present conference year. As all the reports of the year's work will be given it is especially desired that there be a large congregation present. Services at 7:30.
Mrs. William Buza died at her home at Knox, Clarion county, on the 20th inst, aged 88 years. She was the mother of Rev. R. A. Buza, a former M. E. minister in Tionesta, and is survived by her husband aged 89 years, and four sons and two married daughters.
Last Friday Orrin Henry, employed on Frank VanNaughton's lumbering job near Fox creek, Green township, cut his left foot severely by a mistroke of his ax. The gash is several inches long extending over the instep, and will lay him up for several weeks. Dr. Bovard is attending him.
Contractor Bigley expects to complete the new state road between Tubbs run and the Hopkins farm within the next two or three weeks. It will be a fine stretch, about one and three-quarter miles in length, and will be greatly enjoyed by the public which will make good use of it.
W. P. Black let the contract for drilling a well, and the work was begun Monday morning, on the old William Huddleson farm, between the county home and Little Hickory creek, on the river bank, the property being now owned by Theo. Huddleson, from whom Mr. Black secured the lease.
The others' meeting of the W. C. T. U., set for last Saturday evening in the M. E. church, was postponed to the coming Saturday evening. Mrs. Watson, the retiring superintendent of that department, wishes us to announce that the meeting will be in charge of the new officer elected Tuesday evening.
The Borough schools will open next Monday morning, Sept. 20, for an eight months term. The townships of Barnett, Green, Hickory and Kingsley will begin their schools on the same date, and Tionesta township begins on Sept. 16th. Harmony, Howe and Jenks township schools began last Monday.

References to the jury list for the September court discloses the fact that no grand jury was drawn, there being no criminal cases on the docket. This has become such a common thing that it fails to elicit comment. There is promise of a full week of court however, there being many important civil cases to be tried.
James H. Elkin, brother of Justice John P. Elkin of the State Supreme court died at his home at Indiana, Pa., on the 20th, inst., as the result of an attack of typhoid fever contracted at Chelsea, Ind. Two weeks prior. Deceased was largely interested in the oil business of that section with his brother Justice Elkin and others, among whom was Theo. Huddleson, at present visiting his old home here. He was aged about 45 years, and a man universally loved.
One of the most remarkable stories we have read recently is The Little Fear, which is in the September number of The Ladies' World. It is a nature story, but so true to nature that it entirely escapes presidential condemnation. You should read it. There are several other good stories in this number, and a lot of other matter most interesting to ladies, including the preparation of the school wardrobe, school luncheons and general hygiene. The magazine is always a marvel at the price. If you would like it send 50 cents to the REPUBLICAN.

The blackberry crop doesn't seem to be of such proportions as to glut the market this season. As yet none have touched this market, and it is said the yield is not nearly up to the average of past years. Too bad; it's the best berry that grows out doors.
W. A. Mathers a well known citizen of Jefferson county, spent a day or two in this section last week in search of material for the big dog show in connection with the county fair to be held in Brookville next week. He found several fine specimens and some of the owners promised to put their canines on the bench and enter the prize contest, and if they do, it is likely some of the prizes will come to Forest county.
Pennsylvania railroad detectives, who are spending a few days in Warren arrested two men Tuesday for jumping on a passing train in the Fourth Ward. They appeared before Justice Perry Wednesday morning, and as it was their first offense they were dismissed with the payment of the costs. The railroads are determined to stop train jumping if possible. On the Fourth of July four men were killed between Erie and Ridgway by jumping on or off moving trains.
There are five candidates for the Youngville postoffice, Postmaster Jackson having died on Wednesday. They are C. L. Coryth, Republican County Committee man, A. M. Schnell, Justice of the Peace Mead and Morris, and H. E. Swanson. Congressman Wheeler is in Europe and no action is expected until he returns. The business of the postoffice will be conducted by Henry Hokanson, the efficient clerk of the office, under the supervision of the bondsmen Rufus and W. J. Mead. The salary of the office now is $1,400 per year.
The following appeared in a North Dakota newspaper, some time early in the spring: "It is reported that one of the newly married, fastidious ladies kneads bread with her gloves on. This seems strange, but there are others. The editor of this paper needs bread with his hat on; he needs bread with his shirt on; he needs bread with his pants on; and unless some of the delinquent subscribers of this 'Old Flag of Freedom' pony up before long, he'll need bread without a blamed thing on; and North Dakota is no Garden of Eden in the winter time."

In the absence of partial failure of the luscious blackberry, or the toothsome huckleberry, what's the matter with the plebeian elderberry, which never failed? Once despised and almost forsaken, the elderberry has through years of struggle 'von its way to favor upon the table of the epicure and is now considered a delicacy as a jelly-producer, and a sure winner at the pie counter. Don't sniff at the elderberry. It's a famine-breaker in a berry famine, and is always there with the goods. When all other crops are raked and ruined by rain or drought depend upon it, the uncut elder will produce its berry with delicious regularity and unerring certainty.
Last week's "Free Methodist" contains an obituary notice of Mrs. Margaret A. McGarvey, wife of Rev. Robert McGarvey, a former well liked pastor at this place. She was born in Clearfield county, Pa., Feb. 10, 1854, and died at Cleveland, Ohio, June 30, 1907, of tubercular peritonitis, after an illness of three weeks duration. She is survived by her husband and two sons, the only children. The writer truly says that "many will remember her because of some quiet service rendered in a time of need. She was a woman of few words, but full of kind and generous deeds. In her christian life she was reserved and unostentatious, yet always happy and of a contented mind."
A story is being told to-day of a Franklin man who was short-changed at the circus yesterday. An attaché of the show flashed a lot of change in a crowd of people and wanted to know if any person would accommodate him by taking $20 worth of it. The Franklin man produced a $20 bill and handed it over to the fellow who immediately departed. After he had gone the man found that he had received only $12. Some of his friends began to chide him about it, which brought forth this reply: "Oh, well, that twenty was a counterfeit that I had been trying to get rid of for a long time." - Franklin News.

Some people in this locality will appreciate the good point of this story since the visit of the Van Amburg show.
Hon. A. W. Smiley, justice of the peace at Foxburg, on the Allegheny Valley division of the P. R. R., arrested the conductor of a freight train recently for blocking a crossing 35 minutes. Mr. Smiley fined the train himself from his office, and when it seemed as though those who wished to use the crossing would be obliged to wait much longer he went to the agent and requested him to have the crossing opened. The agent appealed to the conductor to cut his train but he refused, at the same time insisting the people go to a warmer climate. Mr. Smiley then placed the offender under arrest and took him to his office where he fined him $10. As the man did not have the amount of fine with him the Squire allowed him to go on his own recognizance, but at the same time he made out a copy of the papers in the case and forwarded them to the railroad company. Mr. Smiley's course has been approved by the people of the town, who have on more than one occasion been subjected to inconvenience because of the crossings being closed beyond reason.
Ridgway papers are strenuously protesting against the alarming reports published in the newspapers of the country concerning the typhoid epidemic in that town and maintain that these reports are greatly exaggerated. The Daily Record says: "Who is it that is responsible for sending out these reports the Record has no way of knowing, but the people of this community do not need to be told that they are shameful exaggerations. There are not one hundred cases of typhoid and there has not been a single death thus far from the disease. Our people are not dying off by the score. Neither, so far as the people of Ridgway know, have typhoid germs been found in the water. It is suspected that there are, but as yet, there has been no bacteriological examination of the water, although one is to be made by the chemist of the State department of health soon. Neither is the town being deserted. A few persons have their children away, but the great body of the people are still here and intend to remain. Business is going on as usual and general alarm is in no wise manifested."

The following was handed the correspondent by one of the members of the Kellettville Concert Band:
On Thursday, August 22, our band, composed of thirty-two pieces, went over to Marienville to furnish music for a harvest home picnic, or more commonly known as the Buckwheat Reunion. We left Kellettville about 7:30 a. m. over the Six Mile R. R. in the beautiful palaces observation car owned by the S. & T. R. R. On arriving at Six Mile, the end of the road, we walked a distance of about two miles over the turnpike leading from Six Mile to the public road, where we were met by comfortable rigs which took us to the balance of the way, arriving at our destination at about 9:30 a. m. On arriving at Marienville we occupied the band stand for some time and then looked up the photographer and using A. M. Neely's store front as a background, had our pictures taken. After this we marched to the beautiful grove, where a most excellent dinner was waiting for us, prepared by the kind ladies of Marienville. In the afternoon we were taken to the ball ground where we watched a very exciting game of ball. This concluded our day's program, with the exception of a concert given on the street in the evening. We, as the members of the band, desire to most heartily thank the people of Marienville and especially the ladies, who prepared the dinner in the grove, for their excellent treatment, and we hope it may be our pleasure to visit Marienville in the future.

We Want to Say
A few plain matter-of-fact words. This is a peculiar store. There is not a store anywhere that is more anxious for your money. But no store in existence will give you more for it and no store in existence will do as much to protect its customers as this store. We are not the only honest store in Oil City, but we go to extreme lengths with our honesty and we do so simply and solely because it pays. We have no smart clerks, no small tricks, no petty misrepresentations or humbugs. The swarthy laborer with his tin paul has to pay the same price as his kid-glove neighbor, and our constant study is to sell only reliable goods and to sell them as near the actual cost of production as it is possible to do.
We don't want your money until you are satisfied you are getting more for it than you can get anywhere else and you can have it back any time you call for it. You don't even have to tell us why you want it back, it is enough for us to know that you do. If you wish to do business with that kind of a store, drop in today and get acquainted.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Better Than Three Doctors.
Three years ago we had three doctors with our little boy and everything that they could do seemed in vain. At last when all hope seemed to be gone we began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a few hours he began to improve. Today he is as healthy a child as parents could wish for.—Mrs. B. J. Johnston, Linton, Mass. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.
