Of the 92 Men at Work Only 14 Escaped With Their Lives.

Buffalo's McKinley Monument-Four Deaths in Auto Wreck-15 Killed in Trolley Collision-Death of Richard Mansfield-Erie Dividends Deferred

A section of the new bridge across the St. Lawrence river five miles below Quebec collapsed Thursday, carrying scores of bridgeworkers and mechanics into the water. It is estimated that the loss of life is at least 75 and may exceed that number.

The bridge was about a mile and a half in length and half of it, from the south shore to midstream, crumpled up and dropped into the water. Ninety men were at work on this section of the structure and the whistle had just blown at 5:20 for the men to quit work for the day when there came a grinding sound from the bridge of midstream.

The men made a rush shoreward, but the distance was too great for them to escape. The fallen section of the bridge dragged others with it. the snapping girders and cables booming like a crash of artillery. Terror lent fleetness to the feet of the frightened workmen as they sped shoreward, but only a few of them reached safety before the last piece of ironwork on the south shore was dragged into the river.

Near the shore the wreckage of the bridge did not go below the surface of the water and eight workmen who remained above water were rescued and taken to the hospital at Levis.

The steamer Glenmont had just clear ed the bridge when the first section fell. The water thrown up by the debris came clear over the bridge of the steamer. The captain at once lowered boats. The small boats plied backward and forward over the sunken wreckage for half an hour but there was no sign of life. The twisted iron and steel held its victims in a terrible deathgrip.

All the men drowned were employes of the Phoenix Bridge company of Phoenixville, Pa., and sub-contractors of Montreal and Quebec.

Work on the Quebec bridge was begun about seven years ago and it was to be finished by 1909. Subsidies for the work had been granted by the federal and provincial governments and the city of Quebec. The estimated cost of the work was $10,000,000.

The Quebec bridge was remarkable, being the longest single-span cantilever bridge in the world, the length of the span in the center being 1,800 feet, or 200 feet longer than that of the Firth of Forth bridge, at present the world's longest single bridge span. There has been no bridge across the St. Lawrence below Montreal. At Quebec all traffic was ferried across the river. This expense being held responsible for the failure of Quebec to grow, a number of the city's leading citizens secured a charter from the Dominion government to bridge the St. Lawrence. A subsidy of $1,000,000 was secured from the Dominion and another of $356,000 from the government of the province of Quebec, while the city of Quebec gave a grant of $300,000. The promoters put up $650,000, and the Dominion government guaranteed their bonds up to $7,000,000

Railroad Employes Opened Fire . in Self-Defense.

Motorman Wounded One of His Assallants in the Leg-Inspector Shot Man Through the Groin-Men Who Did the Shooting Arrested-Arrested Rioters Released.

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—The labor inion parade resulted in the shooting of two men by employes of the United Railroads. The car men were attacked by the paraders and in self-defense opened fire. The trouble started at Ferry, where it is stated a Sutter street car broke through the line of parade. A mob of labor union men followed the car and at the junction of Sutter street the members attacked the car. The motorman, seeing that his life was in danger, opened fire and wounded one of his assailants in the leg

A block further up an inspector was attacked by the mob. He was suddenly struck in the face and ran from his assailants. They followed him to the corner of Sutter and Montgomery streets, where they overtook him. He drew a pistol and aimed at a burly labor union man who carried bricks in his hands. The inspector opened fire and shot the man through the groin. Six shots were fired. A riot call was sent in to the police and fire departments and a force of police and fire men were soon on the scene

The men who did the shooting were arrested but several rioters who were seized by the police were released.

The labor union men who were in the parade evidently thought that they had the right of way over the streets of San Francisco, for when the cars of the United Railroads attempted to break through the procession there was trouble

What had been an orderly parade turned into a riot.

The cars of the United Railroads had stopped while the parade was in progress, but when the marchers be gan to disperse the cars began running. There was a dense crowd at ferries and the union resented the attempt to run the cars.

The two wounded men moved by the police to the harbor police station. When the police jumped in to quiet the riot a number of them as soon as they made arrests were set upon by the labor union paraders and mobbed. One policeman said after-

DEATH TO BLACK HAND.

Shoemaker Shoots One of Three Mer Who Demand Money.

Blairsville, Sept. 3 .- The first known effort of the Black Hand to carry on Summary of the Week's News Its nefarious practices in Blairsville resulted in the death of one man, the serious wounding of another and the arrest of a third.

The victims are: Guiseppe Guissifo, dead; Frank Ciepinno, stabbed in the back and breast; unknown Italian, in jail at Indiana.

Cieplano is a wellknown shoemaker, who has been a resident of Blairsville for many years. The dead man and the prisoner had been employed by a local agent for a brewery, and little is known of their antecedents.

Late Saturday night as Ciepinno was about to close his shop three men entered and demanded a sum of money, the same amount which has been demanded, it is said, in letters signed with the conventional Black Hand

Ciepinno refused to comply with the demands of the intruders, at the same time seizing a revolver from under his counter and opening fire.

As he pulled the trigger his assailants closed with him, one of them sticking a knife into his breast,

The shoemaker saw one of his would-be slayers fall; then he started for the yard in the rear of his shop and tried to scale a fence. As he did so one of the pursuing Italians stabbed him again. Then they fled. A crowd was attracted by the shooting, and after hearing Ciepinno's story started out in chase of the Black Hand men. One of the two escaped, but the other was arrested and hustled to Indiana on a freight train. The man at liberty was recognized as an employe of the beer agent and efforts are now making for his capture.

The crowd was ugly after the capture of the unknown and for a time it looked as though efforts would be made to mete out summary punishment. However, the sight of the officers' revolvers had a quieting effect, and without mishap the prisoner was escorted to the railroad and hustled Ciepinno is in a serious condition but will probably recover. He was not totally unprepared for the attack, as he had received several Black Hand letters, all demanding money, and all of which he had ignored.

MAN CRAZED BY TAKING GAS.

Attacks the Dentist, Who Strikes Patient With a Hammer, Fracturing His Skull.

Washington, Sept. 3. - George W. Bowers, an engineer, went to the Washington Dental Parlors to have an aching tooth extracted, and a few minutes later was carried to the Emergency hospital with a fractured skull and the affected molar still firm in his mouth. In the meantime he had wrecked the dental parlor and caused a commotion which required a squad of policemen to quell.

Bowers insisted on taking gas against the advice of Dr. R. B. Leonard. When it was administered Bowers started in to break up the furniture and to attack the dentist. Two assistants and a colored porter came to his rescue, but Bowers had them all down and out in quicker time than "it would have required to extract the tooth.

Finally, in defence of his life, Dr. William H. Winter seized a hammer and struck Bowers on the head with it, fracturing his skull. This floored the man and strangely enough brought Stuyvesant Fish, former president of him back to consciousness. He explained that in his delirium he t the doctors were attacking his wife When he reached the hospital he had forgotten all about his toothache. He will recover from the fractured skull.

Dr. Winter is held in $1,000 bail to await the result of Bowers' injuries.
