Richard Mansfield's Will.

The will of the late Richard Mansfield, who dled a week ago, was filed for probate in New York on Friday. The entire estate is left to the deceased actor's wife, Susan Hageman Mansfield. Mrs. Mansfield's attorney stated that the personal property of the estate amounted to $10,000 and that there was no real estate. Enormous prices, it is said, have been offered the widow for the plays which the actor owned, including "Beau Brummel," "A Parislan Romance," Prince Karl" and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." David Gerber, counsel for the estate, said the plays would probably be let out on a royalty basis. Slays Wife's Betrayer.

Britt's lack of coolness was partly responsible for the miserable ending of the fight. From the first tap of the gong Britt appeared over-eager. Thinning Ranks of G. A. R.

The Grand Army of the Republic is holding its 41st national encampment this week at Saratoga. Fifty thousand visitors are expected. This may be the last encampment heldelsewhere than in Washington, D. C. At the business session of the organization a resolution will probably be introduced fixing that place as the permanent meeting place of the organization hereafter. It is also probable that within a few years the annual encampment will become only a meeting of delegates, for the veterans, it was said by Grand Army officials, are becoming too feeble to attend these meetings in a body and to take part in the annual parade. Statistics made public Monday give the membership of the National Grand Army of the Republic at 202,000. The organization loses annually three per cent. As the average age of the members is 60 years, the organization will exist, it is estimated, for 25 years more.
