NATIONAL MEMORIAL.

McKinley Mausoleum at Canton, O., Dedicated Monday.

Suit Against Standard Oil—Belcher Stole for 13 Years—Large Entrance List at Cornell—Greene Monument at Gettysburg—Moose Hunter Shot Friend Dead.

Thousands of persons from many parts of the country gathered in Canton on Monday to participate in the dedication of the imposing national memorial to the martyred president, William McKinley.

The memorial was built by contributions from hundreds of thousands of persons in this and other countries and was erected under the direction of the McKinley National association. President Roosevelt arrived at 10:15 over the Pennsylvania road. He was at once escorted to the gathering of school children in front of the Central high school. Here there was a human flag of children and "America" was sung. He was then escorted to the review stand on West Public Square. The parade started past this reviewing stand at 10:45 a. m. Later it passed in review before the military commanders and their staffs at the same point.

The United States army was represented by the Twenty-third Regiment in command of Colonel Phillip Reade; a squadron of the Twelfth cavalry and a detachment of field artillery from the Jamestown exposition.

The Ohio National Guard was represented by the entire Fifth and Eighth regiments. Many of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic took part in the parade. Conspicuous among them were the survivors of the Twenty-third, McKinley's regiment, in the Civil war.

The vice president, members of the president's cabinet, United States senators, congressmen, governors of states, representatives of foreign governments and other notables were present.

Justice William R. Day, president of the Memorial association, introduced Governor Harris as president of the day. Invocation was offered by Rev. Dr. Frank Bristol of Washington, and Governor Harris delivered an address. "The Star Spangled Banner" was then sung. Justice Day spoke on the "Building of the Memorial." Miss Helen McKinley, sister of the late president, unveiled the bronze statue, and James Whitcomb Riley read a poem. President Roosevelt delivered an oration on "McKinley."

Terminals on Four State Lines.

The Indiana Pipe Line company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil, made a profit of $4,091,022 in 1903 on a total investment of $2,228,758, according to the company's figures produced by George Chesbro, controller of the National Pipe Line company, who appeared as a witness in the federal suit against the oil combine. Mr. Chesbro testified that the Indiana Pipe Line company was a common carrier and engaged only in the transportation of oil. From balance sheets of the company Frank B. Kellogg, conducting the government's case, sought to show that the Indiana company was making excessive profits and that it maintained a high schedule of tariffs to prevent shipments of oil by independent oil producers.

Mr. Chesbro testified that the Indiana company transported practically only the oil of the Standard company. The counsel for the government alleged that it will be shown that the profits made by the pipe line company have been in some cases 25 times the actual cost of operation. Calvin N. Payne, who, with H. C. Folger, Jr., owns the Corsicana Refining company of Texas, under examination stated that the tanks and receiving stations at the end of the pipe line of the New York Transit company, also called the National Transit company, at Unionville, N. J., and at the terminals of the pipe line of the National Transit company at Center Bridge, Pa., and Fond Grove, Pa., were built the year the Hepburn law went into effect.

Mr. Payne was stating that he supposed there was some legal reason for building these receiving stations on the state lines of New York and New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New Jersey and Pennsylvania and Maryland, when John G. Milburn, chief of the defendant's counsel, interposed and said he gave the advice.

Greene Monument at Gettysburg.
Veterans of nine New York state regiments stood on their old battlefield on Culp's Hill on Friday and looked with affectionate pride upon the new statue of General George Sears Greene, under whose command they held the hill against a heavy force of Confederates on the night of July 2, 1863. This statue erected by the state of New York, was unveiled and dedicated with appropriate ceremonies under the auspices of the New York Monument commission.

The occasion was made notable by the presence not only of Governor Charles E. Hughes, who made the principal speech, but of Major General Frederick D. Grant, U. S. A., Major General Daniel E. Sickles, U. S. A., retired, and Brevet Major General Alexander S. Webb, the two last named having been actually in command of the troops and both seriously wounded in the battle of the 3rd of July. Twenty-one descendants of General Greene were present, including three sons, Major General Francis Vinton Greene, U. S. volunteer, former police commissioner of New York city; Major Charles G. Greene, U. S. A., retired, and George S. Greene, Jr. The last named unveiled the statue.

General Sickles, who commanded the Third corps of the army of the Potomac and who is chairman of the monument commission, presided and delivered an address in the course of which he dwelt on the importance of the Culp's Hill fight as having saved the army from disaster.

National Independence League.

The organization of a National Independence League was decided upon at a meeting in New York, city on Friday of the representatives of state Independence Leagues and others who are in sympathy with the objects of these leagues as outlined in state or local platforms. The national body will be a solidification of minor leagues existing or yet to be formed. Its aims are political and in opposition to the Republican and Democratic parties which the league promoters declare are dominated by corporation interests and no longer representative of the people. The conference was held at Carnegie hall where some 200 men, said to represent 30 states, met at the invitation of the Independence League of this city and were addressed by William R. Hearst.

Moose Hunter Shot His Friend Dead.

Athelstan Gaston of Meadville, Pa., was shot and accidentally killed by Mr. Johnson, his guest, of the same city, while hunting at Triton club preserves at Quebec and Lake St. John Monday. Both left Mr. Gaston's camp with three guides on Monday morning, their object being to try to kill a moose. They succeeded in wounding one and followed up the trail, deceased remaining behind in a boat. Mr. Johnson and guides could not locate the moose and were returning when the former noticed something moving through branches in the distance and fired two shots, the second shot striking his companion in the thigh and the latter dying in two minutes. Inquest held accidental death. Deceased was 70 years old.

The Anglo-Russian Convention.

The comment at St. Petersburg recently on the Anglo-Russian convention is marked by an underlying conviction that the most dangerous antagonist of Russia, as well as Great Britain, is Germany, with which country a decisive struggle is alleged to be impending. Writers characterize the treaty as a guarantee of the safety of Russia and Great Britain's rear, Russia renouncing the far east and middle east in favor of an active policy in the near east, from which Germany had been skillfully deflecting her, and Great Britain reassuring the safety of her frontiers in India in order to be able to use her full strength in opposition to Germany's aggressions.

President Will Not Be a Candidate.

Elihu Root, secretary of state, spent a short time at Little Rock, Ark., en route to the City of Mexico, traveling in a private car attached to Iron Mountain train No. 5. Discussing the possibility of President Roosevelt again becoming a candidate, he said: "President Roosevelt will not be the candidate of the Republican party. He has made a plain statement to this effect, and even if he desired he could not afford to accept a renomination. It is true that there are coming requests that the president allow his name to be presented to our next national convention, but his will not be the case. He will not be a candidate."

His Stealings Covered 13 Years.

Amberst W. Belcher of Kingston, N. Y., charged with robbing the Cornell Steamboat company's machine shops, of which he was superintendent, was indicted and after pleading guilty was sentenced to Dannemora state prison for not less than 18 months or more than four years. Belcher had been prominent in the social, business and religious life of the city. His stealings covered 13 years, during which time it was alleged he sold construction material from the shops amounting to more than $30,000. He is a brother of former Mayor Belcher of Paterson, N. J., who absconded while mayor with funds of the Paterson Savings and Loan association.

Cornell Entering Class Over 1,000.

For the first time the entering class of Cornell has reached the 1,000 mark. Incomplete registration numbered 1,060 as compared with 918 at a similar hour last fall. On that basis President Schurman prophesied a total matriculated registration of 3,700 and a complete registration of 4,500 for the present year. In his opening address President Schurman reprimanded the rustlers of the present week, deprecated the use of slang by college men and advised abundant physical exercise, ample rest and regular hours of study. He declared that universities should not be allowed to become lounging places for rich men's sons.

12 Deaths From Collision.

Eight men were killed, four fatally injured and 17 more or less hurt late Saturday when the Chicago & Wheeling express train No. 14, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was wrecked in the yards at Bellaire, O., a few miles below Wheeling, W. Va. A freight train had just taken a siding for the express. The passenger train, however, failed to pass over the switch and crashed into the freight

PHYSICIAN A BURGLAR.

Dr. Samuel E. Bolin Arrested at New Rochelle.

A Newcomer in an Exclusive Section. Woman Who Had Suffered From Burglars Furnished the Information Which Led to Dr. Bolin's Arrest. How He Fooled the Police.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Early yesterday morning Dr. Samuel E. Bolin of 16 Summit avenue, New Rochelle, was arrested on a charge of burglary by Detective Scott and Policeemen Devenagh and Chenoweth. The arrest was made as the physician stepped from a trolley car from New Rochelle. He was locked up in the New Rochelle police station and later was held in $3,000 bail by Justice Vanauken, before whom he was arraigned.

The arrest surprised the residents of the Highland Park district, where Dr. Bolin has recently bought an expensive house. The doctor was supposed to have come from the Bronx, where, according to his story, he owns valuable property. Mrs. Haug, who lives in Hugenot street, furnished the information which caused Dr. Bolin's arrest. Her apartments were entered recently by a burglar who got away with several hundred dollars worth of jewelry, clothing and silverware. Mrs. Haug has been worrying a great deal about burglars ever since and soon after 7 o'clock last Wednesday morning she heard some one working away on the door of a hardware store at 4 Mchouff street, in the rear of her apartment. She sent her husband after the police, who arrived in time to see the man run from the store and jump over a fence. They fired several shots at the supposed burglar, but he disappeared. Then they started to search the neighborhood, thinking that the man might have hidden near by. As they were entering the apartment house in which Mrs. Haug lives the police were confronted by a hatless and coatless man, who demanded to know what all the shooting was about and who they were anyway. He seemed very much interested when told that a burglar hunt was on and offered to assist.

Suggesting that perhaps the police might have been mistaken in supposing that their man had been the one seen running and that the real thief might be still hiding in the hardware store, the stranger led the way into the basement of the store building. While the police were searching the dark corners they lost sight of their helper. They could find no one in the apartment house who knew any one corresponding to the man in shirt sleeves, and they were very much puzzled to account for his strange appearance and disappearance until Dr. Bolin was arrested.

One of the policemen who took part in last Wednesday's burglar hunt is certain that the doctor is the kind man who offered to help them find the thief. The police believe that Bolin ran into the apartment house after leaving the hardware store in the rear and then coolly presented himself as an indignant householder who had been disturbed by the shooting. Bolin denies that he was in the neighborhood of the hardware store at the time. He insists that he is the victim of mistaken identity.

Dr. Bolin told his captors that he was connected with the staff of the Mt. Sinai hospital, but the hospital authorities deny that they know him. No one in New Rochelle knows anything about the doctor except that he moved there recently with his wife and hung out his physician's sign. The police are looking up his record.

SENATOR BORAH'S TRIAL.

Prosecution Confronted by Task of Connecting Senator With Fraud.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 1.—The second week of the trial of Senator Borah, charged with complicity in the Idaho land frauds, began yesterday before Federal Judge Whitson, with the government attorneys still confronted by the task of connecting the defendant with the alleged unlawful combination. During the first six days of the trial the name of Senator Borah was seldom heard, and the evidence adduced in behalf of the government had to do mainly with the activities of former Governor Steunenberg.

It seems to be the policy of the defense to admit for the purpose of Senator Borah's case that conspiracy did exist, but to contend that Senator Borah knew nothing of its formation or existence and that he acted in good faith as attorney in handling land matter. Senator Borah continues to express confidence that he will be completely exonerated.

Cleveland, Oct. 1.—President Ban Johnson of the American league has notified President Kilfoyle of the Cleveland club that unless the $300 fine imposed against the latter for alleged dilatory tactics in the game at Detroit Sept. 13 is paid Manager LaJolie will be suspended. OVERWORKED OPERATOR.

Blamed For Disastrous Wreck on the B. & O. at Bellaire, O.

Wheeling, Oct. 1.—Prosecuting Attorney Shepard of St. Clairsville has nearly completed his investigation into the disastrous wreck on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Bellaire, O. He said that a warrant would be issued for Tom Buckingham, operator at block signal station No. 6, at the end of the double track, whose blunder, it is said, caused the death of 10 persons and injury to over 30 others. It was said that Buckingham had been on duty 36 hours before he made the fatal mistake.

"God knows I am sorry I did it, but I absolutely couldn't keep my eyes open," Buckingham is reported to have said to one of the trainmen. The operator is quietly waiting to be called by the authorities when the investigation begins.

He states that a short time before the Chicago train was due he saw a number of foreigners working with the switch to the track the freight was on, while at the same time he called up Bellaire by phone and was told that the freight had left. Just as he hung up the receiver he heard the crash.

BIG COPPER USERS ESCAPED.

Westinghouse and General Electric Said to Have Bought Two Years' Supply at 16.

Pittsburg, Oct. 1.—What is alleged to have been a scheme on the part of the copper interests to squeeze both the Westinghouse interests and the General Electric is hinted at in an official statement made by one of the Westinghouse board.

The Westinghouse and General Electric people are the heaviest users of copper in the world. That the recent jump in copper prices was aimed at these big consumers is alleged, but it is said that both had got beyond range of trouble. The Westinghouse interests have caused it to be announced that they have not purchased an ounce of copper this year nor need they purchase any to fill their contracts within the present year. One year ago the Westinghouse people got a tip that a squeeze was coming and they bought heavily at 16 cents, laying in a supply for almost two years before the prices were shot up to 26 cents. It is understood that the General Electric company did the same. The dropping of rates to 15 cents recently caused the statement to be issued here. It is said here that copper is to be returned to 25 cents.

Visitor Killed in Auto Smash.

Pittsburg, Oct. 1.—One man was killed and four seriously injured in an automobile wreck at Jones avenue and Beechwood boulevard early yesterday morning. The dead man was George E. Cooper of Harrisburg, a visiting delegate to the State Firemen's convention, and three of the injured are said also to have been visiting delegates. The fourth injured man, according to reports, was County Commissioner James A. Clark.

Mistaken For Burglar and Killed.

Zanesville, O., Oct. 1.—John Wilson, a farmer of Meigsville township, Morgan county, was mistaken for a burglar by Earl White early yesterday morning and killed. Wilson had spent the evening at McConnellsville and on his way home stopped at the home of Johnson Lightizer, evidently mistaking it for his own. He was trying to enter the front door when White, a farm hand, shot him dead. Wilson leaves a wife and one child.

Making Elder Berries Pay.

Wooster, O., Oct. 1.—Farmers owning land on which elderberries grow are more than making up for the shortage in other fruit. A local firm engaged in the canning business has been paying $5.25 a bushel for the formerly despised elderberries, and has already canned or handled 1,000 bushels. Formerly they went to waste. The manufacturers hope to secure 500 bushels more before the crop disappears.

Famous Engine Comes Back.

Pittsburg, Oct. 1.—After an absence of over 50 years the old Good Will fire engine returned to Pittsburg yesterday. Bought from the Good Will volunteer fire company of Pittsburg in the early fifties by popular subscription, the old fire-fighting apparatus saw service in Greensburg many years. Today it is in its old-time condition and it will be examined with interest by visiting firemen. It will be on exhibition during the firemen's convention.

Titusville—In memory of their son, C. F. Emerson, Honorable E. O. Emerson presented to the Titusville Presbyterian church a magnificent chapel, costing $20,000.

CZAR ASKED SCHWAB'S AID.

Friends Say Russian Government Wants to Americanize Shipbuilding Works.

Pittsburg, Oct. 1.—The announcement from St. Petersburg to the effect that the Russian admiralty is engaged in plans for the reconstruction of its navy has caused a renewal of the reports here that Charles M. Schwab has been requested by the Russian government to lend a helping hand in reorganizing the steel works of Russia, so as to enable the admiralty to construct a fleet in Russia.

It is said that Mr. Schwab has been asked to aid in financing the reorganized Russian steel plants with American capital and to engage sufficient American skilled labor to hustle the work along, which the Russians seem unable to do themselves.

Last year Mr. Schwab visited Russia, ostensibly for the purpose of getting orders for guns and ships. Mr. Schwab's friends here say, however, that he was requested to visit Russia in an advisory capacity and to assume the financial management of the rehabilitation of the labor steel plant.

Within the last few days it has been announced from St. Petersburg that the latter concern and other shipbuilding plants to be constructed are to be managed as outside corporations, but that the Russian admiralty would stand back of these plants as stockholders. It was shown to the Russian government by Mr. Schwab, it is said, that more headway could be made by contract work than by having the ships built by the government.
