BONI AND COUSIN FIGHT

Quarrel Began in Church at a Funeral Ceremony.

Railway Receipts Stolen—Prohibition in Georgia—Choice For President at Primaries—Pettibone and Moyer Freed—Husband Held as Suspect. Gift of Defaulted Bonds Refused.

Count Boni de Castellane of Paris, from whom his wife, who was Miss Anna Gould of New York, was recently divorced, and Prince Helie de Sagan, who on several occasions was reported to be engaged to Mme. Gould, had a personal encounter at the Church of St. Pierre de Chaillet, while a service to the memory of Lady Stanley Errington, a relative of both men, who recently died in England, was in progress.

Beginning inside the church, where Count Boni claims the prince insulted both him and the sacred edifice, it was resumed at the doorway, where Count Boni, followed by his brother, Count Jean de Castellane, overtook the prince. Count Boni spat in his cousin's face. Then came the clash of canes, followed by a rough-and-tumble fight on the pavement, which ended in the gutter, where the men finally were separated by a big butcher.

Count Boni at the moment of intervention was holding down the well-nigh insensible prince, while Jean, according to eye-witnesses, was administering to him a severe kicking. When the police arrived the butcher was holding the two principals in the fight, who were covered with mud. The prince was bleeding profusely from a wound in the right temple where he had been struck by Count Boni's heavy stick. With the butcher's hand on his collar Boni was haranguing a crowd which had gathered as to why he had spat in the prince's face.

The police invited the two men to go to the station house, and this, after some disputing, they agreed to. All three of them, bespattered with mud, accompanied the police, and followed by several thousand persons, they marched off to the station where they made "explanations."

Both Count Boni and the prince gave their own version of the quarrel, each claiming that the other was the aggressor, but the prince alone lodged a complaint, charging the brothers with assault.

Robbery of Street Railway Receipts.
Two men, Frank Whitney and George Carlisle, are now under arrest at Rochester, N. Y., as a sequel to the robbery by three men in a big black automobile of Sodus Bay car No. 112, Tuesday, and their escape with a strong box containing $2,859 of the receipts of the Rochester Street Railway company. Both men are locked up at police headquarters on charges of grand larceny, first degree, and accused also of complicity in the highway robbery. A third man suspected is at large, but may be arrested any time.

The plunder was taken to No. 37 Clifton street, the home of the brother-in-law of one of the party. When the house was searched a suitcase was found in which was all the missing money, a lot of silverware and a set of burglar tools. When George Carlisle later entered the house, and saw the detectives and sheriff's officers, he fired two shots at Detective Wiedman, and in a hand-to-hand fight was badly beaten before he surrendered. The detectives were unhurt by the shots.

The silverware bears the marks of the Fifth Avenue hotel in New York city. Drills, bits, a bottle supposed to contain nitro-glycerine, and time fuses, were also found in the room. The police think that Carlisle is a New York yeggman, as there have been a number of yeggmen robberies about the city recently.

It is also thought Carlisle is implicated in the recent yeggmen's robbery at Port Byron, N. Y. He is about 20 years old. Whitney is about 25.

Prohibition in Georgia.
The most notable feature of the first day of prohibition in Georgia was the refusal of Judge W. R. Newman, in the United States circuit court, at Atlanta, to grant an injunction pending litigation which would prevent the operation of the prohibition law. Papers in the case were filed late Tuesday on behalf of two brewers, one in Chattanooga and the other in Cincinnati. Judge Newman simply filed a memorandum reading as follows:

"After careful consideration an injunction pendente lite will not be granted. This being true, it is unnecessary to call on the defendants to show cause."

The lawyers for the plaintiffs said that the decision of Judge Newman did not have the effect of throwing the proceedings out of court, but that the case would come up in the regular order of business and that it was expected that it would be ready for trial in about two months.

In the meantime prohibition is in effect in every district of Georgia.

Notwithstanding predictions that the enforcement of the law on the first day of the new year, which is a recognized holiday in all parts of the state, would bring about disturbances there was not the slightest disorder.

The saloonmen in Atlanta evidently believed that the legal aspect of the situation will not have the effect of putting them back into business, for they were busy ripping out fixtures

LEGISLATURE OF 1908.

James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Re-Elected Speaker.

Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., of St. Lawrence Leader of Republican Majority and George M. Palmer of Schoharie Minority Leader—Bills Introduced in Senate and Assembly.

The New York state legislature of 1908 convened Wednesday, completed the necessary organization, heard the second annual message of Governor Hughes and adjourned until 8:30 p. m. on Monday, when the real grind of the session was begun. This preliminary recess is unusually short and indicated the desire of the leaders to get promptly to work and reach final adjournment at the earliest possible date.

Colonel Archie E. Baxter of Chemung, after twelve years service as clerk of the assembly, closed his functions in that capacity by calling the house to order, presiding during the re-election of Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of Livingston county, and then going over to Ray B. Smith of Onondaga, for six years his assistant, who was elected clerk in his place in accordance with the action of Tuesday night's Republican caucus.

The prayer at the opening of the senate session was offered by Right Rev. William Crosswell Boone, the venerable Protestant Episcopal bishop of Albany.

The senate got to work at once, and nearly a score of bills were introduced. The assembly consumed several hours in effecting permanent organization and drawing seats.

Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., of St. Lawrence will be leader of the Republican majority on the assembly floor. This became apparent when in the assignment of seats he took that which by immemorial custom is accorded to the majority leader, Assemblyman Phillips of Allegany, his rival for the leadership, will be chairman of the committee on judiciary.

Assemblyman George M. Palmer of Schoharie, as the choice of the Democratic caucus for speakership, returns after a year's absence from the assembly to the position of minority leader.

Chanler and Wadsworth Spoke.
In opening the session of the senate Lieutenant Governor Chanler said a few words of a complimentary character, expressing the hope that the coming session would prove pleasant to the members of the senate and profitable for the people.

In the course of his brief speech of acceptance Speaker Wadsworth said: "The people of the state this year had but one channel through which they could express their opinions on the general policy of the state government, and that was in the election of the assembly. This house composed of members chosen in 150 districts throughout the state constitutes the latest and most authoritative expression of the public will. We are expected to take up our duties promptly and to conduct this session in a manner befitting the popular branch of the government. With judgment unworried by any outside influences, owing no allegiance save to the people who have sent us here to represent them, we can make the session of 1908 a success."

Sixteen bills were introduced in the senate, most of them of more than local importance. Senator Saxe introduced the bill of the Wainwright National Guard commission, designed to conform the National Guard organization with that of the United States army.

The Governor's Recommendations.
Among the recommendations in the governor's message are the following:

The available balance or surplus in the state treasury on Sept. 30, 1907, amounted to $13,578,138.47, as against $11,291,145.29 at the end of the previous year.

The state debt increased during the last fiscal year from $10,630,660 to $17,290,660. This was due to the issue of bonds for canal and highway purposes.

The amount of canal improvement work now under contract amounts to $22,400,000, contracts have been awarded during the past year amounting to $7,067,000, and plans have been finished for the award of contracts amounting to $7,042,000. The state engineer estimates that plans for the entire work will be completed in from ten to twelve months. It is of manifest importance that this work should proceed with all possible speed consistent with expert care.

During the past year 385 miles of state roads have been built, and 564 miles in addition have been contracted for. Plans are ready for 1,093 miles of road. It is understood that of these last bids will be received in January for 201 miles and that the remaining 892 miles represent roads for which the counties have already appropriated their share of the cost of construction, but for which contracts cannot be let until appropriation of the state's share has been made by the legislature.

Banks and Trust Companies.
The recent financial disturbance has directed attention to the importance of amending the law relating to banks and trust companies. There is much reason for gratification in the fact that for the most part our institutions were found to be sound and that only a few were compelled to give way despite an unparalleled strain. But every practicable means should be adopted to prevent repeti-

MOUNT ROYAL SIGHTED.

Reported 250 Miles West of Fastnet Light, Ireland.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 7.—Hope for the safety of the Canadian Pacific steamer Mount Royal, long overdue at this port, from Antwerp, was revived last night by a cable dispatch from the Liverpool manager to the head officials of the line announcing that a steamer resembling the missing vessel had been reported 250 miles west of Fastnet light, southwest of Ireland.

The Canadian Pacific officials feel certain that the steamer sighted is the Mount Royal, and the Lake Manitoa has been dispatched from Liverpool to assist her.

Some excitement in shipping circles was caused by the report that a steamer had been sighted towing another off Bryer Island, near the entrance of the Bay of Fundy. When Bryer Island was communicated with the lightkeeper said that two two-masted steamers bound up the bay had passed at 3 o'clock, but that one was not towing the other. He further said that neither boat was Mount Royal.

The Canadian Pacific Railway steamer Mount Royal left Antwerp on Dec. 7 for St. John, N. B. She carries 304 immigrants and a large cargo. She is not a fast steamer but never before has occupied more than nineteen days in the passage. Fears for her safety have been felt for several days.

The steamer's passengers are principally from Southern Europe and Russia. She has a crew of about 160 men.

Men Laid Off in Railroad Shops.
Albany, Jan. 7.—It was announced here that the New York Central and Hudson River railroad had laid off 200 additional men in the West Albany shops. This is the second "lay-off" within a few weeks, the total number now involved being about 700.

It is said to be the result of orders received from New York and is part of a general plan to reduce the pay roll 12 1/2 per cent and is expected to affect also the Boston and Albany division.
