—Following is the list of letters lying uncalled for in the Tionesta, Pa., post office for week ending January 29, 1908: G. C. Morrison (card), Miss Ruth Carson (card), D. S. Knox, P. M.
—The Franklin correspondent of the Derrick says: C. G. Huff, of President, is attending court in the interest of the residents of that end of the county. They are after a county bridge over Stewart's run. Mr. Huff can give all kinds of reasons why they should have it.
—Edward and Jesse Graham have bought the building which stands near the P. R. station, and will take it down and rebuild into a dwelling house on a lot purchased from J. T. Dale on May street, adjoining the R. A. Fulton property, now occupied by S. T. Carson.
—A man that's clean inside and outside; who neither looks up to the rich nor down on the poor; who can lose without squealing; who can win without bragging; who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat and too sensible to loaf; who takes his share of the world's goods and lets other people have theirs—this is the ideal conception of a true gentleman.
—Jacob Korb, of Tionesta township, had the first two fingers of his left hand badly mangled Tuesday afternoon on the A. F. Ledebur mill, which is sawing out the timber for Blum Bros., on Tubbs run, in Green township. He was working on a slasher saw with a footpower trip and accidentally stepped on the lever when his hand was near the saw. Both fingers were very badly injured back to second joint. He was brought to town, where Dr. George Siggins dressed his injuries. The fingers were not amputated but it is doubtful if they can be saved.

Subscribers, Take Notice!
A new ruling just promulgated by the Postoffice Department means that newspapers extending credit to subscribers will be denied the use of the mails at the usual newspaper rates. Subscribers to all newspapers and periodicals will be affected by this ruling and will be obliged to pay their subscriptions promptly or be taken off the list. The REPUBLICAN will have to enforce the rule, not from choice, but because the matter is compulsory, and in the course of a few weeks subscriptions that are not paid up will have to be discontinued, so don't blame the publisher if your paper should suddenly stop coming. But the better way for all knowing themselves to be in arrears is to pay up at once. Don't put it off. We have no choice in the matter, but must obey the mandates of the postoffice department.

THE PUBLISHER.
—Last Thursday evening while Myron Jackson, of Eagle Rock, was running to catch the train he fell in such a manner at the West end of the river bridge as to strike his chin, resulting in fracturing his jawbone. Dr. Dunn attended him and he was getting along all right at last accounts.
—The ladies of the W. C. T. U. of East Hickory and Endeavor, accompanied by a number of gentleman friends, held services at the County Home last Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. J. F. Scherer, who also favored the audience with a fine vocal solo.
—While hunting rabbits with shotguns, Frank J. Wolford, Bert Haight, Frank Piquinot and Reid Harringer, of Endeavor, Pa., had an exciting time recently with a big bear. After shooting the animal six times they finally dispatched it and drew it to R. W. Beer's lumber camp. It weighed about 400 pounds.—Warren Times.

Quite a number of our subscribers have heeded the notice regarding the new postoffice ruling and have put themselves in position where the new order does not effect them, by squaring up accounts. Subscribers must remember that none are exempt, and that we have no other alternative, but must cut them off unless all arrearages are paid.
—John J. Hosack, 75 years of age, and a life-long resident of Paradise, Mercer county, died a short time ago at his home. A few years ago he was attacked and beaten by two foreign robbers and never fully recovered from the shock. Mr. Hosack was the father of Mrs. T. E. Armstrong and Mrs. Fred W. Infield, former residents of Tionesta's.

—J. N. Gerow has a well appointed lumber mill set up ready to begin operations on Hunter run, a short distance from the mouth of that stream. He will do custom sawing for all who come, large or small quantities, and at a reasonable rate. If the present run of sleighing holds out he will have 50,000 to 75,000 feet of logs to begin on the last of the week.

—As a result of the special meetings at the Presbyterian church, which closed on Thursday evening last, eighteen new members were added to the church roll, and have been taken into full communion with the church. The meetings at the M. E. church are still in progress and are attended by large congregations. Many have signified a desire to unite with the church.
—Clarington W. C. T. U. observed their annual Mothers' Day at the home of Mrs. Hillard, one of the oldest and a charter member of the Union, who, on account of sickness, has not been able to meet with us for some time. After partaking of a good, substantial dinner, we enjoyed the social hour by having read and discussed topics along our line of work. Some sketches were read on the life of the beloved mother of our sainted leader, Frances Willard, which filled our hearts with renewed energy. Press Supp.

—It is well to be careful about what you put in the basket at church. The New York Press tells of a stingy old maid who dropped two postage stamps into the contribution box. They were two-cent adhesives which she had soaked off a letter received by her grandfather from a friend in British Guiana in 1850. The minister, knowing something about philately, sold them for $1.025. The following year they changed hands at $3.200 and a little while later the new purchaser disposed of them for $5.900 to a German dealer, who let a Russian collector have them for $5,000.

—Sunday was a peach in weather conditions, almost every variety known to this climate being "in our midst." The day began with a snow storm which was followed by mildness and springlike conditions, and then a drenching rain in the evening. By Monday morning the conditions had changed again and another snowstorm was howling, and before evening there was good sleighing in almost any direction. And if the weather man will now stay on his good behavior a while our lumbermen and teamsters will be happy, for there's considerable stuff to be moved if conditions stay right.

—Rooms four and five of the borough school have amalgamated in the formation of a literary society, and have elected a complete set of officers, of which the following are the principal ones: President, Charles Flick; vice president, Charles Weaver; secretary, Jeff. Henry; editor, Robert Huling. Exercises of a literary character and embracing essays, orations, readings, debates, etc., are to be held every other Friday afternoon, which the patrons and public generally are cordially invited to attend, and which will doubtless prove interesting and beneficial to all concerned. The young people seem quite animated over their society and are determined to make it a success.

—Mrs. John Neal died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ida Skinner, at Bradford, Sunday, Jan. 26, 1908. Her illness, which was of several weeks, began with pleuro-pneumonia, and about a month ago she had a stroke of paralysis. Had she lived till the 8th day of February she would have been 85 years of age. Mrs. Neal's home was at Conness, Ohio, where the funeral will be held today, and she will be laid to rest beside her husband who is buried there. Mrs. Thomas Snodgrass and Mrs. J. D. W. Reek, of Tionesta, are daughters of the deceased and are in attendance at her funeral. Other surviving children are Mrs. Ida Skinner of Bradford, and Preston, Bert and Harry Neal. The deceased had visited her daughters here and was known to a number of Tionesta people.

—In the case of Amos Brown and Euphemia Brown, against the supreme tent of the Knights of the Macabees, to recover amount of insurance on the life of a son who was killed by a nitro-glycerine explosion, the jury brought in a verdict for the full amount, with interest added, the award being $2,175.33. A motion was made by the attorneys for the defense for a new trial, returnable at a date fixed. The case was tried at Smethport.—Kane Republican.

—George Ellis, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ellis, while climbing about the front porch of the Hopkins store last Wednesday evening, fell to the cement pavement and suffered a bad dislocation of his left wrist. He was taken to the office of Dr. George Siggins, who was assisted by Drs. J. C. Dunn and F. S. Hunter in putting the injured member back to place. For a time the arm was thought to be broken and was very painful, but he is recovering nicely.

—It often happens that for one reason or another the housewife does not want to use the whole of a fruit or vegetable, such as watermelons, cucumbers, pineapples and grape-fruit. In order to keep the unused portion fresh, remove by cutting straight across one end before peeling the amount necessary for immediate use and stand the remainder with the flat end down on a china dish or enameled pan—never tin—of sufficient size so that no air can penetrate between the fruit and the receptacle. It will keep as well as though it had never been cut.—The Ladies' World for February.

—Springboro, Crawford county, has a real "Western" ranch, stocked with ponies and horses, with a few Angora goats and worked by a man from the plains, who uses a lariat and gives tone to the surrounding country. This kind of stock-raising, rough and ready, near the markets, and costing little, may be successful and Pennsylvania begin to produce large numbers of horses and cattle from its less fertile lands. As for the goats, there are immense tracts which would support them if they were properly managed by men with a talent to make them profitable.—Franklin News.

—A joint installation of the officers of Capt. Geo. Stow Post and the Woman's Relief Corps was held last Wednesday evening at their hall. Comrade Geo. W. Robinson acted as installing officer for the Post, but owing to the prevailing sickness only part of the new officers were present to be installed. Following is the list as elected: Commander, L. Agnew; S. V. C., S. Fitzgerald; J. V. C., J. B. Eden; Q. M., S. C. Johnston; Chap., C. A. Hill; O. D., G. W. Robinson; Post Surgeon, J. N. Dunn. The officers of the Corps were installed by Mrs. Sule M. Sharpe, past Department President, and are as follows: President, Mrs. Mary L. Thompson; senior vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Snowden; junior vice president, Mrs. Garry Holeman; treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Agnew; secretary, Miss Alice Agnew; chaplain, Mrs. Sule M. Sharpe; conductor, Mrs. Emma Hunter; guard, Mrs. Marie Hopkins; assistant guard, Mrs. Eva Smearbaugh.

—At the close of the exercises, on the invitation of the Corps, all present adjourned to the Hill restaurant, where a fine oyster supper was served.

Gas Explosion at Mayburg.

A terrific explosion of natural gas occurred at Mayburg yesterday morning about 8:00 o'clock, which destroyed a power house on the Cook oil lease, but luckily injured no one. The building was located at the outskirts of the town about one-fourth of a mile from the general store, and when the stuff let go every house in the place was shaken. In the building was a complete gasoline plant, fitted up with machinery for extracting the fluid from the gas. Frank Richards, who was on tour at the time, had left the building about ten minutes before and gone to breakfast, and thus probably escaped being instantly killed, as the building was literally blown to atoms. Strange to say the machinery was little damaged, and the fire which caught from the explosion was easily extinguished.

Mr. Richards thinks the explosion was caused by the valve blowing off the compressor, thus forcing the strong pressure of gas into the building instead of the line, and that the igniter set off the explosion. The building was a large one—40x30 feet.

Fatal Recklessness at Sheffield.

While kneeling in prayer on Saturday night, preparatory to retiring, Wm. Trenough, of Sheffield, Warren county, was mortally wounded. The deceased was a bookkeeper in the employ of the Polish Chemical works at Sheffield. A Polish couple had been married that day and in the evening a large party of their fellow countrymen came to the house and indulged in a noisy celebration, among which was the reckless firing of revolvers. A bullet fired by one of them shattered the glass in the Trenough home and lodged in the front part of Mr. Trenough's throat, severing the wind pipe. The wounded man went to his bed room but was unable to tell his wife what had occurred and went from her room into the bath room, where he died. Nine of the foreigners were arrested but it was impossible to learn which man out of the many had fired the shot that took the life of Mr. Trenough, and they were fined for disorderly conduct and discharged. The deceased was about 45 years of age and is survived by his wife, two children and his aged mother. He was prominent in church work and an ardent and prominent member of the Prohibition party.

Death of Thomas H. Marshall.

Thomas Hindman Marshall, aged 84, bank director, stock raiser and one of the pioneer citizens of Dayton, Pa., died Sunday, Jan. 26th, at Redeflyffe, Forest county, from an attack of grip and pneumonia. He was born at Dayton, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall. In his early 20s he entered into partnership with his father and his brother, William Marshall, in conducting a large farm and merchandise store, the partnership lasting until the death of the father and brother. In 1885 he organized the Maple Creek Lumber Company, which purchased about 6,000 acres of timber land in Barnett township, Forest county, which has about all been manufactured into lumber, and much of the land in and about the village of Redeflyffe has been cleared, cultivated and cut up into farms. It was in this, his adopted home, where he delighted to pass his time, and much of it was spent at Redeflyffe.

At the time of his death he was senior partner in the firm of C. R. & T. H. Marshall, general merchants at Dayton. Among the other enterprises in which he engaged was the Dayton Union academy, of which he was a founder and liberal supporter, and which later developed into the Dayton Normal institute. He was universally respected and esteemed for his sterling integrity, fearless honesty and clean morals. He was a charter member of and a regular attendant at the United Presbyterian church, and was well known for his liberality. In 1850 he married Miss Rosetta Neal, who died two years ago. The following children survive: Silas W. and D. Duff Marshall of Dayton, Robert N. of Parnassus, and Rev. C. H. Marshall of Evans City, and Mrs. E. E. Good of Sacramento, Neb. Services were held at Redeflyffe Monday and the body was taken to Dayton for interment today.
