BOY KING IN PORTUGAL

King Carlos and Crown Prince Assassinated.

Capitol Graft Trial-Harry Thaw at Matteawan-Student Lost His Life In Fire-Governor Hughes New York's Candidate-Secretary Taft's Recommendations.

A boy king, who henceforth will be known as Manuel II., is today the ruler of the kingdom of Portugal, and the revolution into which the instigators of the bloody events had hoped to plunge the country has not yet in the least engulfed the nation.

All Portugal is overwhelmed at the killing of the king and the crown prince. Though torn by dissensions the past few months, terrorized by crime and bloodshed, uprisings in the streets, outrages with knife and bomb, and always fearful lest these signs of revolution would culminate in some dreadful outburst of passion, Portugal was not prepared for the blow that fell Saturday when King Carlos and Prince Luiz Philippe were shot to death in a public place, where thousands had gathered to greet their home-coming.

Early Sunday morning Premier Franco proclaimed the accesion of Prince Manuel to the throne; the naval and military chiefs and high dignitaries of state swore allegiance to the new king and Portugal still lived under a monarchy.

No more beautiful day could be Imagined than that which hereafter will make the date on which King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz met their death at the hands of assassins. Returning from a sojourn at the king's estate at Villa Vicosa, accompanied by the queen, the crown prince and the Infant Manuel, the sovereign seemingly was in happy mood when he stepped into the carriage in waiting at the railroad station.

The assassins, numbering six in all, boldly ran up to the sides of the carriage and poured in a hail of lead before the stupefied escort could intervene. The king and crown prince, half rising fell back into the cush ions, the blood gushing from many wounds.

The coachman brought his whip across the flanks of his horses and with a bound they dashed away, disappearing into the Arsenal quadrangle. The panic stricken people, who had fled on all sides, could see the queen leaning over the crown prince and her younger son, who also was bleeding from wounds.

Only mounted police accompanied the carriage, as the king had refused military escort. The attack came from the rear, for it was found at wards that the king had been shot in the back of the neck, and it was so entirely unexpected that the murderers had emptied their carbines and revolvers almost before the police knew what was going on, and had turned to flee into the crowds that, now panic-stricken had pressed back before their weapons. Then the guard charged upon them, pursuing them down the streets and riddling three of them with bullets. Hundreds of the people joined in the pursuit and the others of the band of assassins were made prisoners.

Wagonload of Furniture in Court. More than $3,000,000 was paid to Contractor John H. Sanderson for furnishings for the new state Capitol before his bills began to be approved by the board of public grounds and buildings as required by law. This was brought out at the trial of Sanderson, former State Treasurer Matheus, former Auditor General Snyder and James H. Shumaker, former superintendent of grounds and buildings. These bills were put in evidence by FANCY BOOT & SHOEMAKER.

The commonwealth brought down from the Capitol and stored in the court house a wagonload of furniture which it offered in evidence when the trial was resumed Monday. This furniture includes the bootblack stand, for which Sanderson collected $1,619 from the state and paid the sub-contractor $125, and desks and chairs upon which Sanderson's profits were 300 and 400 per cent.

Design to Eliminate Negro Vote. A constitutional amendment designed to eliminate as far as possible the negro vote in Maryland was introduced in the legislature. The measure, which is expected to pass without material change, provides for a property qualification and an educational test. White voters of either foreign or native birth are admitted to suffrage without restraint through special provisions. The amendment was drafted by a committee of leading Democratic lawyers. A majority vote at the polls is necessary before it becomes a part of the constitution.

Jury Find For Widow and Son. The jury in the Schooley-Crawford will contest at Scranton, Pa., declared that the paper presented by George B. Schooley as the last will of Thomas T. Crawford, the millionnire coal operator, is a forgery in their opinion. They found in favor of Mrs. Crawford, the widow, and her son, to whom the property was left by Mr. Crawford. More than $1,000,000 was involved in the contest.

Harry Thaw at Matteawan.

Harry Kendall Thaw arrived at Matteawan Saturday night and was assigned to the observation ward of the state asylum for the criminal insane, where he will remain for a week or two until the authorities can note his mental condition.

Thaw sleeps in a small iron bed in a dormitory where about fifty other men are quartered. An attendant constantly is on guard.

When Dr. Robert B. Lamb, medical superintendent of the hospital, was told that Thaw had been committed to the institution he said the prisoner would have no special privileges. "The first thing to do with him," said Dr. Lamb, "as with all patients, is to place him in the observation ward, there to remain until we note his mental condition. After studying his mental derangement we can then assign him with some judgment to some particular ward in the hospital. He cannot have any special quarters, for all the patients here are treated

Student Lost His Life In Fire.

From the ruins of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity house at Cornell university, which burned Friday, was taken the charred body of J. S. Kiehle, a junior in mechanical engineering.

That any lives had been lost in the fire was not known until a meeting of the fraternity was held at 5 p. m., when a roll call showed that Kiehle was missing. The ruins were promptly searched and his corpse was found near the elevator shaft where the fire originated.

It is supposed that Kiehle was on his way to the upper floor to save "Ted" Seelye of the Cornell crosscountry team, who was known to be an occupant of a room there. Seelye, scantily clad, escaped through a second story window to a balcony porch and down a ladder.

Kiehle was from Minneapolis, and was one of the squad tried out for the football team last fall.

The loss is $25,000.

Governor Hughes Strongly Endorsed. Governor Hughes was strongly endorsed for the Republican nomination for the presidency, and the administration of President Roosevelt was commended in resolution, unanimously passed by the New York Republican county committee at a meeting in the Murray Hill Lyceum Wednesday night.

The resolution further favored an instructed delegation to the Chicago convention from this state for Governor Hughes, which should use all honorable means to secure his nomination until "he is either nominated or directs the withdrawal of his name from the consideration of the conven-

The committee, under the resolution, pledges itself to do all in its power to secure from congressional conventions and the state convention the adoption of resolutions instructing for Governor Hughes.

Speaker Cole Indicted.

Speaker John N. Cole of the Massachusetts house of representatives, whose home is at Andover, was indicted in Essex county on a charge of violating the public statutes in requesting a reduced rate of fare on the Boston and Maine railroad for a large number of persons. The indictment is in 123 counts, and the statute provides a penalty in each case of a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000. Speaker Cole heard of the action of the jury before he left the state house and issued a statement claiming that while he had recommended reduced fares for a number of "worthy students," he had not violated any statute and that the proceedings were instituted and partly paid for by political Recommendations by Secretary Taft. Secretary of War Taft returned from Ohio to Washington and later appeared before the house committee on military affairs, where he urged a variety of legislation, includat Benguet, P. I., for recruiting purposes; a general increase in pay for the army, percentages to be determined by the president; the establishment of a rifle and artillery range for the department of the East, the site to be selected near Washington by the Porto Rican regiment; changes in the organization of army scouts for the good of the service, and the reception Philippine cadets.

Responsible For Theater Holocaust. The jury which has been investisating the disastrous fire at Rhoades Opera house at Boyertown, Pa., in which 169 persons lost their lives, returned a verdict at 1 o'clock Thursday morning. The verdict in part is as follows: "We are of the opinion that Mrs. Monroe and the deputy factory inspector are largely responsible for the disaster on account of negligence. We request the prosecuting attorney of Berks county to arrest and, if possible, convict Mrs. Monroe, owner of the stereoptican machine, and Harry McC. worse Italy will send a warship to Liswill dispatch a warship to that port if tate. the Dowager Queen Maria Pia expresses a wish to leave that country. Lisbon, Feb. 4.-Under a new regime, with a new king and the establishment of a new cabinet, Portugal seems to be for the moment at peace. There is an underlying current of revolutions, however, and the strictest measures are being taken to preserve order. Yesterday an official statement was given out that perfect order existed throughout Portugal. Franco, the once dictator, was forced to resign because of the bitterness of the people against him and the new cabinet will strive for the welfare of the fatherland under the presidency of Rear Admiral Do Amaral. Another official statement was given out that the president of the cabinet will be supported by all the groups of Monarchists, who have agreed to forget previous differences.

Franco's Position Impossible. The situation for Premier Franco after the assassination of the king and the crown prince became impossible. During the days which preceded the tragedy and during the tumultuous manifestations on the streets, with the later discoveries of vast stores of arms and bombs, public opinion backed him in his effort to maintain order, but the murders changed the entire complexion of the situation. He has not been on the streets since his meeting with the king after the latter's arrival from Villa Vicosa, but all possible places where he might be have been closely watched and guarded The new cabinet, which is composed of the strongest members of the various factions, but all opposed to Franco, has drawn to it a strong patriotic supporting movement. During the night Admiral Do Amaral and the chiefs of the Monarchistic parties held a protracted session and laid out a program looking to the pacification of the people.

Word has been received here that a British fleet, the number of vessels not being stated, passed Oporto this orning bound for Lisbon.

Plot to Kill Whole Family.

The investigations of the police show that the murders were carefully planned. On Saturday the assassins met secretly in the back room of a cafe and there laid out every step of the plot, which they were enabled to do as all the details relating to the homecoming of the king had been made public. To each was assigned a post in the work of shooting down the members of the royal family, but lots were drawn for the selection of each particular victim. Those who drew Queen Amelie and Prince Manuel failed to carry out their bloody task.

The chamber in the palace where repose the bodies of King Carlos and the crown prince has been draped in mourning and arranged to represent a chapel. The biers are surrounded by lighted candles and Queen Amelie widow of the king, and the Dowager Queen Maria Pia, his mother, watch continually at the side of their dead

The body of the king is clad in the uniform of a comander-in-chief of the army, while the prince wears a uniform of a captain of the Second Lancers. Several masses for the repose of the souls departed have been said in the mortuary chamber. The funer ing the establishment of an army post als will be held Feb. 8 and the bodies will lie in state probably beginning tomorrow. It is expected that the funerals will be attended by the Prince of Wales, Prince Charles of Bourbon, the Duke of Aosta, the cousin of King Victor Emmanuel, a special French embassy and detachments of the fordepartment; the continuance of the eign regiments of which the late king was honorary colonel.

For a year the Maryland people have been working on the shaft to an the Fronbeiser coal and while the mining engineers have hustled carnenters and stonemasons and architects have also been busy. St. Michaels is the name selected for the new town which is going up around the mining operations, and it promises in time to be a lively rival of South Fork.

One feature of the transformation the reopening of the clubhouse of the famous South Fork Hunting and Fishing club, which John L. Sechler of this city has occupied while directing the real estate developments in connection with the building of St. Michaels. Mr. Sechler has found a number of interesting documents and relics of the old club, most of them records of the club steward.

It will be seven or eight months pefore the Maryland's shaft is completed. The engineers are looking for natural drainage and it is expected the shaft will be 700 feet deep. The coal is the finest in the basin and is assured of a ready market from the
