C. W. MORSE ARRESTED

Taken Into Custody on Arrival of Etruria at New York.

Corn Syrup Label—No Need of Extraordinary Term—Wisconsin a Unit For Bryan—Compliment to Men of Evans' Fleet—To Look For Modern Crusoe.

Charles W. Morse, financier and promoter of many gigantic combinations, including the so-called "ice trust" and a merger of nearly all of the great coastwise steamship lines, returned on Sunday from his very brief trip to Europe, and was arrested in his stateroom when the steamship Etruria reached Quarantine in the lower bay, held in custody until the ship was docked, and then was whisked away in an automobile to the home of Justice Victor Dowling of the supreme court, where he gave bond in the sum of $20,000 to answer to two indictments charging grand larceny and involving the sum of $100,000.

Mr. Morse was released and went home, where at night he gave out a statement asserting his innocence and asking the public to suspend judgment until he has had the opportunity of facing his accusers in court. He denied that his trip to Europe was a "flight."

He said he had gone abroad to sell stock in a large interest and to secure a fortnight's rest. Both purposes were spoiled by the publication of reports that he was a fugitive from justice, he declared.

Mr. Morse had received word by wireless telegraph that two indictments had been found against him, but he did not know he was to suffer physical arrest. The appearance of three detectives from District Attorney Jerome's office at his stateroom door took him completely by surprise. The officers had gone down the bay on a revenue cutter. Mrs. Morse met her husband at the pier and it was in her automobile that the journey was made with one of the detectives to Justice Dowling's home.

Justice Dowling held an informal court session in his library, Assistant District Attorney Kresel representing the prosecution. The bonds, which were signed by a surety company, had been prepared Saturday. Mr. Morse was required to sign two obligations of $10,000 each, and along with the representatives of the bonding company was put under oath to appear at any time he may be required.

Corn Syrup Label.
The following decision bearing on the pure food law was made public by Secretaries Wilson, Cortelyou and Straus:
"We have each given careful consideration to the labelling, under the pure food law, of the thick viscous syrup obtained by the incomplete hydrolysis of the starch of corn and composed essentially of dextrose, maltose and dextrine.
"In our opinion it is lawful to label this syrup as 'Corn Syrup' and if to the corn syrup there is added a small percentage of refined sugar, a product of the cane, the mixture, in our judgment, is not misbranded if labelled 'Corn Syrup with Cane Flavor.'"

It is understood that the decision also has the concurrence of the president and a majority of the pure food and drugs board. Dr. Wiley, chief of the chemistry bureau of the department of agriculture, dissented on the ground that the label should be "Glucose."

No Need of Extraordinary Term.
Following his conference with Presiding Justice Patterson of the appellate division of the First department while in New York, Governor Hughes in a letter to Attorney General Jackson announced that there is no necessity for granting the application made to him by the attorney general for the appointment of an extraordinary trial term of the supreme court, and the designation of a justice, for the trial of the action to test the title of George B. McClellan to the office of mayor of New York. "I have consulted with the presiding justice of the appellate division of the First department," says the governor, "and am informed that there are regularly designated trial terms which have no justices assigned to them at present, and that the action referred to can be tried at one of these terms, to which it has been intended that a supreme court justice from outside New York city shall be assigned."

Wisconsin a Unit For Bryan.
The Wisconsin delegation to the national Democratic convention was at the closing session of the state convention instructed to vote as a unit for William Jennings Bryan as the Democratic nominee for president first, last and all the time. The platform, which was unanimously adopted, reaffirms allegiance to the time-honored principles of Jeffersonian Democracy, declares hostility to the Republican national administration, charges that party with appalling abuses, and endorses William J. Bryan as the greatest living American statesman.

Finds Rich Friend a Thief.
When Jeremiah Kennedy turned on the light after catching a burglar in his cigar store at Alton Ill., he was greatly shocked by the discovery that his captive was one of his neighbors, a wealthy man with whom he has been on terms of close friendship for years. Kennedy's store has been robbed frequently in the last eighteen months. The thief never took anything but cigars. "Upon his promise never to rob another store, and to lead an honest and upright life, I told him that I would let him off this time, but if I ever caught him again I would punish him severely," said Kennedy.

Compliment For Men of Evans' Fleet.
The navy department made public a letter to Admiral Evans from John J. Sleicht, deputy consul general at Rio de Janeiro, dated Jan. 20, of which the following is an extract: "We wish to congratulate you, sir, on the excellent character of the men of your great fleet. From every quarter there have come manifestations of the enthusiasm engendered by the evidences of the remarkably high standard of the personnel of this large body of men. We beg to request that our thanks be extended to the men and officers of the fleet for the manner in which all have co-operated with us in attempting to make the visit of the fleet a pleasant one for all concerned."

Another Game Protector Convicted.
Word was received at the office in Albany of the state forest, fish and game commissioner from Herkimer of the conviction of Charles N. Klock, who was on trial there, the charge being that while employed as a game protector he entered into a conspiracy to steal timber from state lands, and also withholding money paid in settlement for trespassing on the state forest preserve. Klock was sentenced to a term of imprisonment of not less than three years. Harvey N. Gaylord, also formerly employed by the state as a game protector and co-worker with Klock, was convicted of the same offense recently.

To Look For Modern Crusoe.
A man named Jeffs, whose home is in Connecticut, is believed to be stranded on one of the Galapagos or Tortoise islands, off the west coast of South America. A Connecticut person interested in Jeffs' case has asked the navy department to have one of the vessels of Admiral Evans' fleet stop at the island on the way from Callao, Peru, to Magdalena bay, and search for him, and that will be done. Jeffs is thought to be on the island of Santa Cruz, which also bears the name of Indefatigable. There is a lighthouse on one of the islands, which are said to be now nearly unpeopled.

Opposed to Semi-Monthly Payment.
Representatives of the Erie, Lackawanna, New York Central and Lehigh Valley railroads appeared before the senate judiciary committee at Albany in opposition to the Wemple-Pilley bill, designed to require semi-monthly payment of wages to railroad employes. They complained that recent legislative enactments had increased the cost of operating railroads and that the proposed legislation would unnecessarily add to the expenses. The bill was favored by representatives of several labor organizations.

Will Resist Tax on Salary.
Rear Admiral N. M. Dyer, retired, who commanded the cruiser Raleigh in the battle of Manila bay, will contest the right of the city of Melrose, Mass., to tax his salary, and announced his intention of carrying the case to the highest court in the country, although the amount involved is only $36 a year. Rear Admiral Dyer, who since his retirement has been a resident of that city, asserts that a naval officer is exempt from taxation on money received as salary from the government.

Financial and Appropriation Bills.
Congress will give its time this week to bills already before it. The senate will continue its consideration of the financial bill, while the house will proceed with the appropriation bills. As soon as it becomes apparent that debate is practically exhausted on the financial bill, Senator Aldrich will ask that a day be fixed for taking a vote on the measure, but he will refrain from any special effort to hasten a vote. He is hopeful of securing a ballot by the close of the present month.

To Use Steel Passenger Cars.
The Pressed Steel Car company of Pittsburgh is completing eighty-five steel passenger cars, the largest order ever placed for the Pennsylvania railroad. They will be used for the main line between New York and Chicago. All of them will be ready April 1. The new cars are steel throughout, no wood being used in their construction. They are 40 feet long and little heavier than wooden coaches.

Events of Current Week.
Developments in the Macedonian question; the arrival of the American battleship fleet at Callao, Peru; the reassembling on Thursday of the Portuguese chamber of deputies at Lisbon, when King Manuel will take the oath; political conventions and speeches by Secretary Taft, Governor Hughes and others, are among the events which will engage public attention during the week.

Work on Standard Pipe Line Stops.
Work of the Standard Oil company in laying its eight-inch pipe line from the Texas oil field to the Atlantic seaboard, after reaching a point north of Beaver Falls, Pa., and crossing the Beaver river, has ceased and oil is being unloaded from it into tank cars on the low grade division of the Pennsylvania lines for transportation east.

SANDERSON MEASURE

Attempt of Defense to Show He Did Not Charge Enough.

Although He Charged More Than Actual Measurement on Famous Bootblack Stand and Rostrums in Senate and House Caucus Rooms, Claims He Billied Other Articles Less.

Harrisburg, Feb. 18.—The defense in the state Capitol conspiracy suit against Sanderson and the former state officers, Snyder, Mathews and Shumaker, on trial in the Dauphin county court, showed, through the testimony of experts who had made measurements for Sanderson, that the contractor had charged in the aggregate for less square feet of furniture in the senate and house chambers than the measurements would have allowed.

The experts testified that the measurements of furniture in the senate and house totaled 45,108 square feet. In his bill for this furniture Sanderson charged a total of 44,016 square feet.

By these figures it was shown that Sanderson had not collected from the state on 1,092 square feet of furniture for the senate and house. Whereas Sanderson charged the state $1,619.20 for the famous bootblack stand in the senate lavatory, which was supplied to him by a sub-contractor for $125, one expert testified that the actual measurements of the stand and the chairs on it were 64½ square feet, which at $18.40 per foot, the price paid by the state, makes a total of $1,186.80.

For the rostrums of the senate and house caucus rooms that Sanderson sold to the state for $90,748.80 and paid the sub-contractor $2,060, the expert testified measurements totaled 1,484½ square feet, which at $18.40 per foot should have made the bill $27,319.40, making a difference of $63,429.40 in favor of the contractor. The defense contends that, though Sanderson charged more for these articles of furniture than the actual measurement allowed, he billed other furniture to the state at less than the actual measurement, making the difference in the total number of feet 1,092 square feet in favor of Sanderson.

The trial was resumed after a recess since last Thursday. Charles H. Bergner of counsel for Shumaker, in his opening address to the jury, said Shumaker trusted to Architect Huston in certifying to the quality and quantity of the furnishings. Mr. Bergner also said the defense would prove that Huston's assistant, Stanford B. Lewis, had deliberately misstated facts in his testimony relative to Snyder and Mathews.

Closed Shop Principle Reinforced.
Detroit, Feb. 18.—Representatives of the Dredge Owners' Protective association, who have been in conference here for a week with delegates from the four labor unions of the Dredge Employes, completed wage agreements with all the unions. Wages remain practically unchanged from last year, but whereas last year the men practically declined to work overtime on any conditions this year the owners can secure overtime work by paying double wages or in some instances two and one-half times the regular wages. The closed shop principle was reinforced in the new agreements, a clause being added that when a non-union man is employed for a position for which no union man can be secured the non-union man must join the union within fifteen days; otherwise the union can at the end of fifteen days put a union man in the place.

Young Hargis Claims Self-Defense.
Lexington, Ky., Feb. 18.—In the defense of Beech Hargis, who it is expected will be indicted soon for the murder of his father, Judge James Hargis, the expenses will be paid out of the $50,000 which is the boy's share of his father's large estate. Counsel for young Hargis will claim self-defense, asserting that his father choked him and knocked out several teeth before the son fired.

Breach-of-Promise Suit Settled.
Marquette, Wis., Feb. 18.—Miss Alina Ladusler was married today in Menominee, Mich., to Julius Behrondt, whom two months ago she sued for $10,000 on a breach-of-promise charge when he married Miss Catherine Shannon of this city. Miss Shannon procured a divorce a week after her wedding, and thus paved the way for today's marriage.

Survivors of the Emily Reed.
Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 18.—A boat reached Tatosh light containing the first mate and two sailors of the sailing vessel Emily Reed, which was wrecked at Tillamook last Friday. They brought the body of the cook, who died Sunday. The mate and two sailors believe only one except themselves escaped.

W. L. Day Nominated.
Washington, Feb. 18.—The president has nominated W. L. Day, son of the associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to be United States attorney for the Northern district of Ohio. Mr. Day has just begun his second term as city solicitor of Canton, O.

HOUSES COLLAPSED.

Many Inmates Had Narrow Escape From Horrible Death.

Pittsburg, Feb. 18.—With a roar that was heard for blocks, the two brick dwelling houses, Nos. 22 and 24 Penn avenue, in the district inundated by the flood waters, collapsed early yesterday and fell into the street. A score of occupants, warned by the cracking walls, barely had time to escape before tons of brick and plaster tumbled into the streets.

U. C. Anderson was cut and bruised by flying debris and eighteen other persons narrowly escaped being crushed to death. All but Anderson rushed out in their night clothes just a moment before the three-story building fell in a heap. For some time great excitement prevailed as it was reported many had been buried under the ruins. Hurried calls for police reserves, ambulances and firemen were sent in and search of the ruins began.

Anderson's voice could be heard calling for help and frantic efforts were made to free him. He was found wedged between heavy timbers in the basement and entombed under tons of brick and plaster. After several hours' work he was released and sent to a hospital where it was later stated he would recover.

Other buildings in the vicinity are in a dangerous condition and building inspectors are making a thorough examination of the places. At 10 o'clock the water in the rivers had fallen to recede slowly and by early afternoon it fell below the danger mark of 22 feet.

The body of one man was found floating in the river and two others are missing.

Over 20,000 men are temporarily thrown out of work. Thousands are living in the second floor of their homes and patrolmen in shifts are distributing the necessities of life. In one of the homes a woman gave birth to a child and it has been named Robinson Crusoe. To reach the house the physician had to use a skiff and ladder.

Conservative estimate the damage done to $2,000,000. However, the flood is disappearing.

SHOPS ARE RESUMING.

Wellsville, O., Feb. 18.—Nearly all the industrial concerns in this city have resumed operations after having been closed down for a number of weeks. The United States, Pioneer, Pattersons and the McNeel potteries have resumed, giving employment to over 750 men and women. The Wellsville plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company also has resumed, giving work to over 1,000 men. Extra labor is being employed on the Cleveland and Pittsburg railroad shop and extensive improvements of roadbeds, etc., have been started, which will give work to hundreds of laborers at once.

AFTERMATH OF FAILURE.

Suits Result From Collapse of Bank at Waynesburg—Coal Lands Sold.
Washington, Pa., Feb. 18.—As the result of complications incident to the Farmers and Drovers' bank failure in Waynesburg two suits have been started in the Greene county courts by the First National bank of Grafton, W. Va., one against G. F. Auld and the other against James L. Iams. The note on which the suits are brought is for $1,500 and purports to have been made by Auld. Iams is the payee.

The paper was indorsed to former Cashier J. B. F. Rinehart, who in turn indorsed to the Grafton bank. When presented for payment the note was protested.

To the bank failure was also due the sale by the Greene county sheriff of three tracts of coal land in Whitely township. He first tract, containing twenty-five acres, brought $116 an acre, the second, containing fifty-two acres, sold at $117 and the third tract, of twenty-five acres, brought $116. Spencer Kent purchased all three tracts. The coal was purchased from the original holders by Rinehart a few years ago at $125 an acre.

MURDER IS SUSPECTED.

Reading, Feb. 18.—The police and Coroner Strauser believe that Louis B. Clawson, who was found in the office of his shirt factory with a bullet hole in his temple, was the victim of an assassin and are searching for a young man who was seen to enter Clawson's office and leave the building hurriedly a short time later. The fact that five chambers of the revolver which was found in the office were empty and three bullet marks were found in the room leads the authorities to believe that Clawson was murdered.

DIVERSION OF NIAGARA.

Hearing on Bills to Exempt Companies Taking Water From Below the Falls.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The house committee on rivers and harbors gave a hearing on the Porter-Alexander bills exempting the Niagara Gorge Railway company and the Lower Niagara River Power and Water Supply company from the provisions of the act for the control and regulation of the waters of the Niagara river. These bills allow the companies named to divert water from points at a distance not less than one mile below the falls.

General F. V. Greene of Buffalo made an argument in behalf of the lower power company and Herbert P. Bissell, also of Buffalo, in behalf of the Gorge Railway company. The bills were opposed by J. Horace McFarland of Pennsylvania, at the head of the scenery-preservation movement, and by J. Winthrop Spencer, a geologist of this city. No action was taken by the committee.

Chairman Burton made public the following statement of his opposition to any project that would divert water from the Niagara stream:
"The act of 1906 enunciated the right and the intention of congress to exercise control over Niagara river and to preserve so far as possible the scenic grandeur of Niagara Falls and of the rapids below. As this is a boundary stream, no final solution of the problems involved can be had without international agreement. Rights to divert water were granted, but these rights were declared to be revocable and were to be strictly construed. They were granted in order to prevent confiscation of property rights and of serious injustice to those who in reliance upon charters granted by Canada or the state of New York had expended large amounts for the development of electrical power."

Trial of Cruiser North Carolina.
Washington, Feb. 18.—The official report of the trial of the new armored cruiser North Carolina off the Virginia capes Saturday night confirms the statement in the press dispatches that she averaged approximately 22.48 knots in her four hour speed trial. The acceptance of the cruiser by the government is now guaranteed. Although the speed made by the North Carolina is the best ever made by an American armored cruiser, English-built vessels of the same class have made much better records, running up to 24 knots an hour, and one of them, the Duke of Edinburgh, it was estimated, would make 27.75 knots.
