OTHER IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Senator Raines Defines His Position on the Agnew-Hart Bills.

Albany, April 21.—Senator Raines, majority leader in the senate, took occasion last night to make an extended statement relative to his position in the matter of the Agnew-Hart bills, designed to abolish the legal protection of public gambling at racetracks, "on account of some matters I have read in the public prints and because of letters received, of which the following is an example."
Senator Raines then read part of a letter from Rev. Frank F. Rowland of Rochester, declaring that "A multitude of people in this great state" believed Senator Raines responsible for the defeat of the bills, on the ground that even though he voted for them it was through his influence that the vote on the bills was postponed, "which postponement gave the gambling element ample time to 'fix' the honorable members of the state senate who were on the fence."
Senator Raines reiterated the statement which he made at the time of the defeat of the bills, describing the history of the bills in the senate and showing that the opposition to the bills could have prevented a vote even so early as it was had but for the agreement to which he consented.
"The reverend gentleman who addresses me seems to consider," said Senator Raines, "that there is no public question whatever which compares in importance with that involved in the so-called anti-gambling bills. They seem to him to be so important that unless passed he is ready to lead a revolt against the Republican party."
Senator Raines read a letter from Charles Sprague Smith, managing director of the Ethical league of the state of New York, emphasizing the importance of the bill to create a commission for the investigation of the unemployed, expressing the opinion that "There is no question of equal importance," and that "the transit situation is second in importance, the racetrack gambling in comparison trivial."
"It would seem from this statement of Professor Smith," said Senator Raines, "that there are other questions at least as important as the one involved in the anti-racetrack gambling bills."

Boy Drowned in Well.

Quebec, April 21.—Henry Lessard, the 11-year-old son of Joseph Lessard of St. George, Lake St. John, met with a tragic death in a well on his father's farm a few days ago. A younger brother was playing at the well with him.
The deceased was playing with the pole that was in the well, and fell in. His little brother, seeing what had happened, seized the other pole and endeavored to raise Henry. His strength was unequal to the task, but he was able to hold his brother above the water for some time, while he shouted for help. His cries could not be heard by the neighbors and the parents had gone to church.
After having been suspended for what seemed a very long time through life and death, the unfortunate victim, who had said all the prayers he knew and asked his brother to pray with him, was compelled to relax his hold and dropped to his death.

Japanese Tourists Visit Exchange.

New York, April 21.—The visitors' gallery at the New York Stock exchange, which has been closed for more than two months, was temporarily thrown open for the accommodation of sixty members of the party of Japanese tourists who are making a trip around the world and who arrived in New York last week. The gallery was closed two months ago ostensibly for repairs. There were widely circulated reports at that time, however, that fears were entertained that some crank might gain entrance to the gallery. The Japanese party occupied seats in the gallery for about half an hour and watched with apparent interest the proceedings of the exchange.

General Manager of Munsey's Papers.

New York, April 21.—An arrangement was concluded by which Charles R. Grasty will become general manager of Frank A. Munsey's newspapers—the Baltimore News, the Boston Journal and the Washington Times. "A part of my purpose in the purchase of the Baltimore News," said Mr. Munsey, "was to add the man who built up that paper to my forces. When I took possession of the News I found a property without a soft spot in it. It was better in all respects than had been represented. Mr. Grasty's coming to me means no change in but simply an enlargement of the plans for daily journalism I have long had in mind."

Fleet Will Not Stop in England.

London, April 21.—It has been decided definitely that the American fleet of battleships will not call at any European port on its way home with the exception of certain points in the Mediterranean where it is necessary to stop for coal. This information is conveyed in the American reply to the invitation extended by Great Britain that the fleet come to England.

Two Excursion Trains Collided.

Melbourne, Australia, April 21.—Two excursion trains collided at Braybrook Junction, a village about seven miles west of Melbourne. Several carriages were telescoped and it is believed that twenty-seven people were killed and about 40 injured. The actual number has not been definitely ascertained, as the wreckage took fire and was almost completely consumed. Nineteen bodies have been recovered.

Fight of White and Negro Women.

Memphis, Tenn., April 21.—Following a desperate struggle between white and negro women growing out of a quarrel regarding the playing together of children of the two races, Mrs. James Wright of this city shot and instantly killed Lella Gordon, a negro. Mrs. Wright used a single-barreled shotgun. She reloaded the weapon and started in pursuit of Mary Davis, another negro, and fired at the Davis woman, but the charge went wild. Mrs. John Wright, a sister-in-law of Mrs. James Wright, who lives with her, received a bad beating at the hands of the negro women.

Chased by Angry Crowd.

Pittsburg, April 21.—Because he refused to divide $40 stolen money with his confederate who informed on him, Michael Zurakowski, aged 25, of 2335 Forbes street, was chased by an angry crowd half a mile to the Youghiogheny river, near Broadford, Pa., where he was drowned while trying to escape, last Friday afternoon.
This is the story told at the Oakland police station, where Michael Mawaks, aged 25, who was Zurakowski's partner, is being held for a hearing on a charge of larceny.
Michael Drygollo, a boarding house keeper of 2335 Forbes street, and half a dozen Russian Poles are the complainants. When arrested Saturday night by Officers Mooney Mawaks wore parts of clothing belonging to six men.
He and Zurakowski, idle for several months, it is alleged, stole several suits of clothing and $40 from Drygollo's boarding house last Friday night, and went to Broadford, near Connellsville.
The next day they quarreled about the division of the money, and Mawaks told a crowd of foreigners and a Baltimore & Ohio railroad watchman at Broadford station that Zurakowski had robbed a house in Pittsburg.
The foreigners chased Zurakowski, who ran to the Youghiogheny river and jumped in. He rose three times while his pursuers ran to the bank, and when he floated away frantic but unavailing efforts were made to rescue the body to recover the stolen money.
Mawaks returned to Pittsburg, and while on the South Side Saturday night he was recognized by Drygollo, with whom he formerly boarded, and who caused his arrest.

Easter Hat Delays Train.

Girl With "Merry Widow" 35 Inches in Diameter Sticks in Corridor.
Pittsburg, April 21.—There was much trouble at the East Liberty station of the Pennsylvania railroad Sunday morning and the Pacific express was delayed five minutes because the soulless corporation which makes Pullman cars builds their corridors so narrow that a woman cannot walk through them with her hat on.
A girl from New York started to get off at East Liberty wearing her new Easter hat. When she attempted to pass through the narrow passageway at the side of the car her hat became wedged and the more she tried to walk forward the tighter she stuck. The conductor angrily declared he would start the train with her still aboard.
The porter attempted to push her forward, but it was no use. Then it suddenly occurred to the young woman to remove the hatpins. The porter helped her lift the lid and it finally came off. When it had been turned sidewise she reached the platform and the express pulled out five minutes late.
