A DISPATCH from Harrisburg says there will be a demand from various there will be a demand from various a high stage as to preclude the notion of parts of the state for an amendment of lifting anything like a fair string of the the uniform primary election law so as to compel election boards to post the results outside the polling places when the count is finished. This would be a wise provision, but there are others. There should be some way devised to keep voters more in line with their own party. voters more in line with their own party affiliations. Under the present law there are no restrictions in this regard, and unless the voter is challenged the board is obliged to furnish the ballot called for, thus making it easy for one party to slip over and make the nominations for their opponents. This very thing was done in over and make the nominations for their opponents. This very thing was done in Eik county with such brutal effrontery as to make the law look absolutely ridiculous. The Democrats in that county had but one candidate for each office to be filled, so that but a few votes were necessary to nominate, thus leaving the vast majority of their voters free to take up the Democration for their voters free to take up paints. This very thing was done in mer. —Charley Cox has moved to Kismer. —Charley Cox has moved to Kisme the Republican side, which they did to the extent of nominating practically all of the ticket on that side of the house, The returns show that the Democrats polled less than 600 votes, while the Republican figures run up to more than 2,800. The Democratic ring had fake Republicans certified as candidates and then furnished the votes to nominate them over the legitimate candidates of the party. At the proper time they will pull these men off the Republican ticket leav-ing the Democrats a clear field at the fall election. That's the way things are done in Elk county, where Democracy rules

THE probabilities are that the Democrats of this district have nominated Wm. E. Rice as their candidate for President Judge. Members of that party voted for him on the Democratic ballot to the number of 15 in Forest county, and it is said be received quite a number also in Warren county, while no considerable number were cast for any other person on the Democratic ballot, thus making him the Democratic as well as the regular Repub-Democratic as well as the regular Repub-lican nominee. This is a compliment to Mr. Rice and we are sure it is most their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Miles moved Mr. Rice and we are sure it is most fitness for the high honor being thus recognized, and the office is taken out of the political slough.

RECENT DEATHS.

Emma K. Eppinger, wile of Oscar F. Miles, was born at Harlansburg, Lawrence county, Pa., July 25, 1867, and died at the family home, No. 7 Brook street, Warren, Pa., April 19, 1908, of tuberculosis, atter an illness of several months. She was united in marriage with Mr. Miles at Plain Grove, Pa., Nov. 27, 1890. who, with three children, Clarence Lloyd, Francis Dwight, and Josephine, survives. to Tionesta, which was their home until about two years ago when they moved to Warren.

Although it had been known tor some time that Mrs. Miles was dangerously ill, yet the news of her death came as a shock to her many friends who had hoped against hope that she might recover. It had seemed that she could illy be spared from her place in the home, where she delighted to live and move and dispense her ministrations of kindness to those by whom she was surrounded. Endeared, as she was, to all who knew her best, the loss of this friend and wife and mother seems irreparable, and the separation cannot be otherwise than deeply painful and afflictive. A gentle Christian mother, a prudent, faithful wife, a loyal, sympathetic friend, and a steadfast, consistent Christian were characteristics that combined to make her the beautiful woman that she was. There was no parade of shining was. There was no parade of siming qualities for public gaze, but quietude and gentleness were the elements of her nature, and she sought only for reward which remembrance of doing good always brings to the pure in heart. Her best qualities of mind and heart were directed to the making of her home the sanctuary from the troubles and cares of restless business life and of making it attractive. business life and of making it attractive and happy for her husband and little ones. To this home was given the priceless heritage of two sons and two daugh-ters (one daughter dying in infancy) and how well and faithfully the mother per-formed her vows unto the Lord, eternity alone can reveal. The church was an object of her affection, and when she first became a resident of Tionesta, in 1892, she identified terself with all the activi-ties of the Presbyterian church, of which she had been a member from young girl-hood, and relinquished her work there only as the cares of the home increased. Her work in the Christian Endeavor Society was especially helpful to the young others to live closer to the blessed Master

Louis was born in Jamestown, N. Y.,

October, 1883, and came to Tionesta with his parents in the fall of 1897, where he attended school for several years, and then entered the employ of the mantel factory, learning the trade of wood carver, at which he became very expert. Re-turning to Jamestown upon the closing of the factory here, he made frequent return visits to Tionesta, and on June 27th, 1996, was united in marriage with one of Tio-nesta's choicest young ladies, Miss Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Arner, who survives. His parents, three broth ers and four sisters, also survive.

"Louis" Swanson was one of the best young men of our acquaintance. Of a quiet, retiring disposition, steady and correct habits, morally upright and honorable, he was highly respected and greatly esteemed by all who knew him. While residing in Tionesta he united with the Presbyterian church, in the faith of which he remained steadfast and loyal to the end. The passing of so worthy a young life is a distinct loss to the community, and to the young wife thus be reft of her loving and devoted companion and to the parents and other relatives, the

WENTWORTH. John Harkness Wentworth, who died at the home of his son in Tionesta township, on Saturday, April 18th, 1908, was born at Meadville, Pa., July 14th, 1838, He was the son of John and Jane Finney Wentworth, who were early settlers of Crawford county. The family moved to Franklin, Pa., living there about two years, and removed from there to Tionesta township in 1848, his father having bought a farm on that high plateau known now as Smokey Hill, consisting of 500 acres, which was known to the early set-tlers as the Wentworth place and which No. 7, February term, 1968. Summon was subsequently subdivided into a veral in ejectment, small farms, one of which was owned by the subject of this sketch and another by his son, J. D. Wentworth, so both the pioneer father and son died on this original place, loved and respected by the community amidst which they had cast their lot and passed their useful lives. Mr. Wentworth was married in the year 1856 to Charlotte Church of Church Hill, with whom he lived happily until his death, and to this union were born several children, of whom only one survives, viz: J. D. Wentworth of Tionests township, and one sister, Mrs. Asa Lovegov of ship, and one sister, Mrs. Asa Lovejoy of Tionesta, Pa. The remainder of the family have gone to the great beyond, to fairer fields on high. His father was a man of more than average ability, very enterprising and withal a patriot, and under his lessons of patriotism his four sons all enlisted in defense of the old hag, Wilson F., who was killed at the battle of the Wilderness, Joseph B., who died a martyr of liberty in Andersonville pris-on, both of Co. G of the S3d Pa., to which company our subject belonged, and Jede-diab, known as "Jud," of the 4th Pa. Cav. John H. inherited the industriouscav. John H. During his useful life he filled with honor many offices of trust in his township. His daily walk and con-versation was upright. Honest and ear-nest in all things he was respected and beloved by his acquaintances and left his family a good example and a good name, family a good example and a good name, the best of all legacies. At the M. E. church an appreciative, fitting and eloquent tribute was paid to his memory by the Rey. W. O. Calhoun in the presence of his faintly, relatives, friends and com-rades of the G. A. Mothers' Club at Eudeavor.

The Mothers' Club of Endeavor, Pa., The Mothers' Club of Endeavor, Pa., met Thursday, 9th inst., at the parsonage. In answer to the roll call fourteen members responded and seven other ladies gave in their names as members of the band of workers. Mrs. Davis, a missionary who is resting from her labors, gave a beautiful Bible lesson. The subject for the meeting was "Our Failings," It was fully discussed by the members and many practical suggestions brought to bear on it. Mrs. Wheeler, who is bome from Washington, gave an account of the Mothers' Congress which met in Wash-ington in March. It was the first international congress ever held for the dis-cussion of child problems. Not only was every state in our union represented but delegates from at least a dozen nations were present. The child has become an item of national interest. That the child of today is the man or woman of tomorrow and works weal or woe to the nation of which he or she is a part can no longer be denied or ignored. This is the basic thought of mothers' meetings and clubs at the present day and is the fundamental principle or concern of this most im-portant congress of mothers at the capital city. Refreshments were served, after which Mesdames Davis and Wheeler and Miss Rice rendered some music. Each mother was impressed with the importance of the study of child nature.
