ENTANGLED IN FLAG.

Aeronaut Dropped Into Passaic River and Was Drowned.

Turret Plates Stand the Test-Congress Adjourns-Noted Italian Auto Driver Killed-Batter Killed by a Pitched Ball - Mr. Cleveland Returns to Princeton.

Entangled in an American flag that he had waved as he made a parachuie drop of 2,009 feet from a balloon at Hillside park near Passaic, N. J., Frederick L. Wood, an 18-year-old aeronaut of New Haven, Conn., fell helpless into the Passaic river before aid less into the Passaic river and drowned before aid could reach him. The body has not been recovered.

A thousand persons cheered as the big balloon, filled with heated air, rose from Hillside park, an amusement resort, bearing the youthful aeronaut seated on a horizontal bar attached to the parachute. As the balloon astended, Wood unfolded an American flag, which he waved to the cheering hundreds below. A gentle northeast breeze soon carried the balloon and the aeronaut out of sight of the spectators.

Near Nuttley the balloon had risen to a height estimated at 2,000 feet and Wood decided to descend. Cutting loose the rope that held the parachute to the balloon and clutching the ropes of his horizontal bar. Wood plunged downwards. Slowly the great umbrella-like parachute began to open and with moderate speed began the long descent.

Scores of persons in Nuttley watched as he gally waved the big flag as he came down. Nearing the earth, Wood saw that he would probably fall into the Passaic river, and waving his flag as a last salute to scores of cheering spectators who had hurriedly gathered on the river bank, he prepared for a plunge into the water.

It was at this moment, when the parachute was only a hundred feet above the water, that a puff of air caught the flag and wrapped it around Wood's legs. The aeronaut struggled frantically though ineffectually to free himself and with his limbs still bound by the flag, plunged into the river. He rose to the surface and cried for help, but before the terror-stricken specta tors could lend their aid Wood sank and was drowned.

Turret Plate Stands the Test.

The biggest naval gun, the heaviest projectile and the highest explosive was totally wrecked. known, combined with close range and deadly aim, were allowed to work their full havor on the turret plate of TIONESTA, PA. the monitor Florida. The result is declared to be a victory for the turret construction and this notwithstanding the 11-inch hardened steel plate was blackened, broken, the seams of the turret sprung and the rivets and screws loosened and twisted.

It was not five minutes after the terrible impact that the finely balanced mechanism of the turret was being worked with perfect ease and the 12inch gun on the left side was trained at will. Inside the turret where stand the gunners and gun crew, the havoc was much less apparent than from the outside. Examination showed that of the many delicately adjusted instruments for fire control, sighting and operating the turret few, if any, were out of working order.

"If this had happened in battle the Florida would be fighting yet," said one of the rear admirals with enthusiasın.

Ther followed a futile attempt to destroy the newly designed fighting mast erected on the stern of the Florida. After five shots from the Arkansas' guns had gone ripping through it the mast still stood firm.

"Forty shots would not bring it down, and no enemy would waste ammunition and time shooting at it," was the expert comment.

It was predicted that all new ships would be equipped with battle masts of this design.

Talk of Sherman For Second Place. Congressman James S. Sherman returned from Washington to his home in Utica on Friday. Asked concerning the talk of his nomination for vice president on the Republican ticket,

Mr. Sherman said: "The constitution wisely, in my judgment, provides that the president and vice president must not be residents of the same state. New York has a candidate for president in the person of Governor Hughes. His candidacy has met with popular approval throughout the state and from the moment when Mr. Roosevelt was eliminated as a possibility I have been most heartfly in accord with that candidacy myself. We must go to Chicago determined to exert our best efforts for the nomination of Governor Hughes. If those efforts are not aaviling and then New York desires to present a candidate for vice president it would be entirely fit and proper for her to do so. "I have always felt that the two Ighest offices in the gift of the American people ought to seek the men *ether than that the men should seek either of them. Of course I cannot but be pleased with the suggestion that has been made in various quarters that my nomination would be a proper one and a popular one, but so far as being a candidate for the nomination of vice president, for the reasons I have assigned, I have no thought of announcing myself."

Congress Adjourns Till December. Congress adjourned sine die Saturday night. The galleries of both houses were crowded, most of the visitors being women, who showed the deepest interest in the proceedings on the floors, which were penetuated with frequent recesses.

President Roosevelt arrived at the senate side of the Capitol about 9 o'clock, accompanied by Secretary Root and Secretary Garfield. As soon as the senate learned unofficially of his presence a recess was taken for thirty minutes to enable the vice president and senators to pay their respects. The president's visit to the Capitol was to sign bills.

An hour after his arrival he had signed all bills presented to him, in cluding public buildings, the general deficiency and the government employes' liability bill.

Shortly before 10 o'clock the president signed the currency bill, passed In the senate that night. He present ed to Representative Wilson of Chicago the pen with which he signed the mensure.

Just before the senate adjourned Mr. Hale presented his statement regarding appropriations, which he characterized as an "alarming emount." He predicted a halt in the future in "these enormous expenditures."

The aggregate is larger than in any previous session and for the first time in the history of the country exceeds a billion dollars. The exact figures were $1,008 804,894, an excess of $88, 206,750 over the figures for the fiscal year ended June 30, 190s.

Noted Auto Driver Killed.

Emanuel Cedrino, the noted Italian automobile driver, was instantly killed on Pimlico racetrack at Baltimore Friday evening. He had been preparing for races in which he was to have taken part and was making some very fast miles. One had just been finished in 51 seconds and he had passed the grand stand and rounded the first corner of the track when spectators saw his car shoot into the air and turn an irregular somersault, landing on the track upside down

Those who rushed to the spot found Cedrino stretched on his back dead, with a big gash in the back of his head and portions of his brains scattered about. He was some distance from the car, from which he had apparently been thrown as it went over and it is supposed that his head struck the fence.

The accident appears to have been caused by the collapse of the front wheel on the right hand side of the car. It was a wooden wheel and small fragments were all that could be found after the accident. The tire was found partially intact. The machine

Would Annul Barge Canal Contract. The first legal steps have been take en by the Schenectady trades assembly in an effort to have annulled barge canal contract No. 14, on the ground that the provision of the labor laws relative to the eight-hour day has been violated. The contract in question covers work from Crescent to Rexford Flats. and from Yosts to Mindenville. It calls for an expenditure of $2.875,570.

The trades assembly has retained attorneys and has secured numerous affidavits to the effect that employes on the canal work included in the contract are worked nine hours a day. Copies of these affidavita have been served on the superintendent of publie works, state engineer, state treasurer and comptroller.

Batter Killed by Pitched Ball. In a game of baseball in Poughkeepste Charles Lempke, aged 44, was struck under the heart by a pitched ball and was almost instantly killed. Lempke was a member of the local Y. M. C. A. boys' nine, which was playing another juvenile team. Walter Spross, aged 18, was the pitcher. It was almost dusk when Spross made a wild pitch, the ball striking Lempke over the heart. He started toward first base, ran about fifteen feet and fell to the ground. Doctors stated that death was almost instantaneous. Mrs. Spross fainted when her boy told her of the accident.

Cleveland Returns to Princeton. Former President Grovvery Cleveland, who had been confined to the Lakewood hotel at Lakewood, N. J., two months with an attack of rhenmatic gout and acute indigestion, was sufficiently recovered from his illness to leave there Sunday for his home in Princeton. The trip was made in John Haya Hammond's large touring car, and Mr. Cleveland was accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland and Dr. G. Rowe Lockwood, who has been alternating with Dr. Joseph T. Bryant, the Cleveland family physician, in caring for the patient.

Island Becomes a Floater. Winsted, Conn., fishermen are getting camp chairs, sun umbrellas and smoking tobacco packed preparatory to taking a trip to Goose Pond in the Berkshires, word having been received from there that Floating island is affoat again after having been anchored fast for six years. High water dislodged the island, which is large enough to hold a small army. Fishermen cut holes in the island, and sit ting in easy reclining enairs beneath a sunshade, pall up fish as the island moves slowly before the wind from one end of the lake to the other.

Of the Founding of the City of Kingston, N. Y.

Great Military and Civic Parade Was Started by a Signal From President Roosevelt at Washington - Sham Battle Re-Enacted Storming of Esopos Stockade by Indians In 1663.

Kingston, N. Y., June 2. - After a day devoted to outdoor festivities, including a military and civic parade started by a signal from President Roosevelt in Washington, a parade of automobiles, a sham battle and an address by Governor Hughes, the city of Kingston last night closed the celebration of the 250th anniversary of its founding as a settlement, with undiminished fervor, by the flare of rockets and the glow of set pieces in a fireworks display at Kingston Point park.

Except for a slight shower while the three mile parade was being re viewed by Governor Hughes, weather conditions were faultless, and no visi tor has left Kingston without pleas ant memories. The stand from which Governor Hughes reviewed the parade was canopied, but thousands of sightseers who packed Kingston academy campus and surrounding streets protected themselves under the trees or under raised umbrellas. The shower lasted but three minutes.

Governor Hughes received an enthusiastic ovation, and his remarks concerning home rule were particularly applauded. Just before he began to speak the governor's salute was fired by the Second battery.

Rev. Hough Houston, presiding elder of the Kingston district of the Methodist Episcopal church, made the invocation at the meeting where the governor spoke, and Samuel D. Coykendall presided. The benediction was by Rev. Charles Mercer Hall. son-in-law of ex-Judge Parker.

After the meeting, Governor and Mrs. Hughes and other notable guests were entertained at lunch in the spacious hall of school No. 7, and later attended the spectacular feature of the day-the attack on Esonus stockade, on the lowlands below the historic Senate house, the state's first Capitol.

Twenty-five thousand people lined the ridge fronting the lowlands, and spread over five acres of the low lands itself. The stockade, covered with paper, contained men and women, dressed in Dutch costumes, and the attack was by various tribes of the Order of Red Men. After a spectacular attack and resistance, the Dutchmen were killed and the women were carried away captives.

The attack was in miniature a representation of the attack made June 7 1663, when the then village of Esopus was destroyed and its inhabitants were either massacred or made captives.

A reception at night at the Kingston club closed the formal functions. At Kingston Point park an exhibition of fireworks attracted thousands, including many excursion parties from along the Hudson river, who did not attend the day celebration.

The military organizations left for their homes at night and during the night the torpedo and submarine flotilla left for New York. Governor and Mrs. Hughes remained until today.

All excursion trains and steamers made the time of their departure after 10 o'clock at night, until which time the entire city bore a truly festal appearance with impromptu parades and carnivals of undreamed-of originality Music, red fire, conviviality and confetti were everywhere.

Messages of congratulation to the city were received from President Roosevelt and Vice President Fair Keene's Celt Won Brooklyn Handicap. New York, June 2. - Cheered by more than 25,000 persons, Celt, a three-year-old colt, bearing the popular colors of James R. Keene, won the twenty-second running of the Brooklyn handicap, one of the classic events of the American turf, on the Gravesend racetrack. He did it easily and at the same time made a new record for the race and the Gravesend track, stepping the distance, one mile and a quarter, in 2:04 1-5. Fair Play, August Belmont's gallant three-year-old, which run a fine race against Colin on Saturday in the Belmont stakes, was second, and Master Robert was third.

Hearst Gains 89 Votes.

New York, June 2.- The contents of twenty-six ballot boxes had been resounted when the work of counting the ballots cast for W. R. Hearst and George B. McClellan in the last may oralty election ended for the day. The net result was a gain of 89 votes for Mr. Hearst. In the presence of the court ten boxes of the ballots were counted, giving Mr. Hearst a gain of four votes for the day. More than 1,-900 boxes remain to be counted.

Plague Continues at La Guayra.

Caracas, May 28, via Willemstad, June 1. - Notwithstanding President Castro's decree of May 23 in which it was set forth that because of the absence of any new cases of bubonic plague at La Guayra the port would be opened to traffic with the interior on May 29, great alarm is felt here for fear of the spread of the disease. The plague still continues at La Guayra, several cases being reported daily.

COPYRIGHTED BOOKS

May Be Sold by Retailers Below the Price Fixed by the Publisher.

Washington, June 2.-The supreme court of the United States decided three important copyright cases, the opinions being handed down by Justice Day. The first decision was in the case of the Bobbs-Merrill company vs. R. H. Macy & Company and Isidor & N. Straus, the decision being in faver of Macy & Company.

In this case the court dealt with the question whether the sale by a retail dealer of a copyrighted book below the price fixed by the publishers is hn infringement of copyright. The Bobbs-Merrill company published a novel and stipulated in a printed notice that it should not be sold for less than $1 per copy. The house of Macy & Company sold the work for 89 cents, and suit was brought accordingly in the circuit court of the United States for the Southern district of New York, but the bill was dismissed.

A like result followed when the case was appealed to the circuit court of appeals and the decision was in the same line. The suit was based on the theory that the right to dispose of a copyrighted work gives the owner the right to place restrictions on its sale.

The right of publishers to regulate the prices at which their books may be sold by booksellers and jobbers also was involved in the two cases of Charles Scribner's Sons vs. Isidor & N. Straus, doing business as Macy & Company, all of New York, which was against the former concern.

The suits were brought by the Scribners as representatives of the American Publishers' association, and they sought in the first of them to enjoin the defendants from selling their copyrighted books at prices below those fixed by the association and from buying any such publications from any one who is not a member of the association, on the ground that such a course is on infringement of copyright. In the second case the allegation was that Macy & Co. had sought to induce other dealers to violate their contracts with the publish-

The fact was brought out that the Publishers' association requires firms dealing in their copyrighted books to enter into a contract to maintain fixed prices for a year and not to sell to any one who would cut prices. The circuit court of appeals decided against the publishers in both instances, holding that the sellers had not agreed not to cut prices and there was no evidence of an effort to influence others.

One Man Is Dead, Another Dying and a Third Is Under Arrest.

Freeport, L. I., June 2.-One man is dead, another dying and a third is under arrest as a result of a fight between rival gangs of Italian laborers employed by a dredging company at Long Beach. The man under arrest was captured after he had held a crowd of pursuers at bay for bours from a hut in which he had barricaded himself, threatening to kill the first man that approached the stronghold.

After repeated attempts had been made to induce the Italian to surrender, Sheriff Foster, leaving a big force of deputies in guard behind. crept up to the door of the hut. Calling softly that he was a friend, the sheriff succeeded in getting the man to unfasten the door. Then he overpowered and disarmed him before a shot could be fired.

The dead man is Angelo Selici. He was shot twice in the head. The man in the hospital is Joseph Blainere. He has a bullet in his breast. Guiseppe Pinory was the name given by the man arrested by Sheriff Foster,
